FOR GOOD ROADS IN MICHIGAN.

Association Formed at the Lansing Convention to Agitate the Subject.

Lansing, March 4.—The good roads convention was called to order by Gov. Pich Tuesday. The attendance was large, representing most of the counties of the lower peninsula. The largest delegation was from Saginaw, and was headed by William Webber, who was one of Michigan's representatives at the national good roads convention held at Atlanta last fall. Mr. Webber presided over Tuesday's session, and E. M. Hopkins, of Saginaw, was secretary. It was decided to form a permanent organization to be known as the Michigan League for Good Roads, and a constitution submitted by the national league was adopted. The plan includes a state league, with county and township branches, which will agitate the subject of good roads and pave the way for needed legislation next winter. Officers were elected as follows:

President—William L. Webber, Saginaw.
Vice President—William Appleton, Lansing.
Secretary and treasurer—E. M. Hopkins Saginaw.
Executive Committee—John McVicar, Detroit; Charles V. Deland, Jackson; Silas E. Woodworth, Pennville; H. G. Weeks, Allegan; S. S. Bailey, Grand Rapids; Dallas J. Dort, Flint; G. W. Howe, Port Huron; C. H. Peters, Saginaw; William Carpenter, Muskegon; William Crosby, Harbor Springs; Reuben Goodrich, Traverse City; William Chandler, Sault Ste. Marie.

President Webber will appoint a committee of five to draft amendments to the general highway laws and report at a meeting to be called by the executive committee.

CAUCUS LAW IS DEFECTIVE.

Attorney General Maynard Presents an Opinion.

Grand Rapids, March 2.—In an opinion interpreting the new caucus law, Attorney General Maynard declares that the law is so defective that it will not go far toward correcting the evils that exist. He holds that blank ballots of uniform size and color must be provided by the city committee and that none others may be used, the blanks to be handed to the electors and they to fill in the names when they enter the booth. It is unlawful for inspectors or committees to attempt to influence electors upon the choice of delegates or candidates for ward offices. Representative Kelley, who fathered the law in the legislature, says that, while the law is a blow at slates, there is nothing to prevent interested parties from having pasters printed for distribution among electors to be attached to the official ballots.

ATTACKED BY HIS HORSE.

Farmer Simmonds Minus His Upper Lip, Which Was Bitten Off by the Beast.

Onondaga, March 4.—Thomas Simmonds, a farmer living near here, went to his barn to attend to his horses. His favorite steed, called Charlie, proved refractory, and he seized the beast by the ears, determined to subdue him. A fearful battle between the horse and man followed, and before Simmonds could break away the horse had seized his upper lip in his teeth and bit away lip, mustache and all. Doctors say that Simmonds will probably live, but will be disfigured for life. The horse was a pet of the family, and his viciousness was so unlooked for that Simmonds had no time to protect himself.

ARM TORN FROM HIS BODY.

Frightful Accident Befalls a Detroit Car-Shop Workman.

Detroit, March 4.—A swiftly moving belt in the Michigan car works Tuesday afternoon caught Joseph Fleischmann's hand while he was at work and drew him toward the pulleys. He wound one foot and his other arm around a brace and held on while he shrieked for help. Before assistance could reach him his arm had been torn from the socket at the shoulder. He was taken to Grace hospital, and the doctors say that, notwithstanding the shock and loss of blood, he will probably recover.

Embezzlement Charged.

Bay City, Mich., March 3.—Alfred Mosher, Jr., of the failed lumber firm of Mosher & Son, was arrested Monday afternoon upon his return to the city on a warrant for embezzlement. Bert P. Wheelon, who was associated with Mosher & Son in a saw log deal, accuses him of using $33,614 for his own benefit, and asserts the agreement was that it should have been used in paying an indebtedness to the State savings bank of Detroit. Mosher will have a hearing Saturday.

Applies for His Ninth Divorce.

Niles, Feb. 29.—Alexander Rhimes has just made application in an Indiana court for his ninth divorce. Not many months ago he got his eighth divorce in the Berrien county court, and was soon afterward married to Miss Stella Bloomhagden, a pretty Michigan girl. Rhimes, who is now 75 years old, began his matrimonial career March 24, 1870, when he was married to a Detroit woman after a week's courtship.

FOUR MEN CLAIM REWARD.

Courts Asked to Determine Whose Title Is Best.

Grand Rapids, March 4.—Sheriff Stratton, of Allegan, Sheriff Gray, of Mount Pleasant, Engineer Zibbill, of this city, and George W. Crane, of Mount Pleasant, each claim the reward for the arrest of Jim Brown for the Kendallville train robbery in 1893. Brown was captured at Melbain last summer on suspicion of having helped to hold up the Chicago & West Michigan train near Pennville. He easily proved his innocence of that crime, but when in custody made a full confession of his participation in the Kendallville affair two years before, and further told where what was left of his share of the plunder was concealed, and about $3,500 was recovered. The Lake Shore railroad's reward of $1,000 for the arrest of any of the robbers was still standing, also that of the United States Express company of ten per cent. of all the plunder recovered. The four claimants each demand all the reward and the railroad and express companies have filed a bill of interpleader, asking that the four claimants be summoned into court and the rights of each be determined by a judicial decree.

MUST PAY HIS FINE.

Priest to Be Punished for Violating Marriage-License Law.

Lansing, March 4.—The supreme court has passed upon the Michigan marriage license law, declaring it constitutional. It was attacked by Rev. Father McGlaughlin, of Benton Harbor, who, in February, 1895, married a couple upon the representation of the groom that a license had been granted, but had not arrived by mail as expected. Subsequently it became known that the groom had a legal wife, and on a conviction of bigamy was later sent to state prison. The priest was then arrested for violating the marriage license law, convicted, and fined $100, and appealed to the supreme court upon the ground of unconstitutionality, but the court affirms the verdict in the court below and the law stands.

NO BIDDERS FOR LANDS.

Not an Offer for the 20,000 Acres Put Up for Sale in Michigan.

Lansing, Feb. 29.—At the state land office Friday 40 Agricultural college lands, recently restored to market, were offered at public sale. The offer included about 20,000 acres located in Antrim, Charlevoix, Kalkaska, Cheboygan Missaukee and Otsego counties. There were no bidders and not an acre was sold. The land will now be subject to private entry at prices appraised by the state board of agriculture. These prices range from $2.50 to $15 per acre. Much of the land is covered with hardwood timber. The failure to receive bids is believed to be due to the fact that the board appraised the land at too high a figure.

THE OTHER MAN WON.

Returned Convict Draws Straws for His Wife and Loses.

White Pigeon, March 2.—Edward Jordan, of Mottsville, has just completed a term of four years in the Jackson penitentiary. Jordan on his release returned to his home, where he expected to be affectionately greeted by his wife, from whom he had parted with vows of fidelity, but instead found her pledged to another. The sequel of the meeting was a proposition by Jordan to draw lots as to which one should claim his wife. This was done. Jordan lost and faithfully kept the unique compact. He parted with his lawful wife, while the divorce court and a second marriage will legalize the vows.

KILLS THE HORSES.

Fatal Effect of Eating Hay Supposed to Have Been Poisoned.

Niles, March 4.—All but two of the fifteen horses in Hudson & Johnson's livery stable at Stevensville have died, with symptoms of poisoning. Four weeks ago hay was bought from a farmer named Feathers. One by one the horses became sick, the doctors at first diagnosing the disease as lung fever. The first symptom was paralysis of the tongue, which extended to the stomach and lungs, while the blood became black as ink. It is said the hay was cut in an orchard where the trees had been sprayed. Feathers himself lost four horses.

Detroit Coroner Under a Cloud.

Detroit, March 1.—Prosecuting Attorney Frazer Saturday afternoon ordered a warrant issued for the arrest of Coroner Joseph Bettinger and his clerk, Harry Benzing, charging them with false pretenses in collecting money from the county for inquests that were never held. Officers soon found Benzing, and he was locked up. It is thought the coroner received warning, as he had not been apprehended.

Will Meet in Detroit.

Detroit, Feb. 28.—The democratic state central committee met here and selected Detroit as the place for holding the state convention to elect delegates at large to the national convention at Chicago. The date of the convention will be April 29. On the evening preceding the convention there will be a monster mass meeting to commemorate the birthday of President Monroe.

Shot by His Wife.

Houghton, March 4.—Frank Hahn met his wife in a saloon at Laurium Sunday night after several weeks' separation. He exhibited a revolver and she taunted him by saying if she had it she would shoot some one. He handed the weapon to her, and she fired five shots at him, inflicting serious wounds. Hahn may die. He has forgiven the woman.

Wants a Fog Signal.

Washington, Feb. 29.—Congressman Thomas, of Michigan, has offered a bill authorizing the lighthouse board to provide a steam fog signal for St. Joseph harbor. No appropriation is mentioned, and the cost of the whistle is left to be provided by the board.

The flower has been raised and owned entirely by a firm owning a large greenhouse near Reed's lake. The senior member of the firm has been engaged in the cultivation of flowers, and has bred many peculiar species. The "Murella" is one of the most beautiful carnations ever seen, being very large and of a deep red color. He has been working upon it for many years and brought it out only last year. Flint, March 2.—The city is excited over the sensational suicide of Walter K. Hough, of Lapeer, who was on Saturday placed in the Oak Grove asylum for treatment for insanity. Sunday Hough was permitted to walk out with Frank Klunn, an attendant. Outside of the city limits Hough attacked his attendant, declaring they must die together. After a hard scuffle Hough broke away and ran over a mile, pursued by several men. Suddenly he stopped, produced an ink eraser, plunged it into his neck several times, and expired within a few minutes.

HAD TO BE FED LIKE A BABY

A FEARFULLY AFFLICTED MAN

Suffering, Grief and Worry Fill His Cup to Overflowing.

From the Industrial News, Jackson, Mich.

Myron L. Root, a worthy workman, has lived for nearly twenty-five years in the city of Jackson, Mich., at 234 Adrian Ave., where he owns a happy home. His health had failed him for some years back, and the loss of his wife, two years ago, filled his cup of misery to overflowing. Grief and worry soon brought on a stroke of paralysis. A few weeks later he had a second stroke, which totally disabled him. He could not [illegible] head and had to be fed like a baby. The best medical aid was furnished him, and his friends did all they could for him, but human hands seemed powerless to give him relief.

Both physicians who were treating him told him, after a consultation, that there were no means of helping him. He was then but a mere skeleton, without power to move and scarcely strength enough to express his wishes. Death was truly much preferable to a lingering life of such misery and helplessness.

The marvelous cure, by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, of a woman afflicted similar to himself, which appeared in the Industrial News, was read to him, and although only a lingering spark of hope existed, he consented to give the medicine a trial, but insisted that another physician be called, in order to lay the matter before him. The physician was summoned and after a thorough examination of the patient and learning the history of the case, said that he could promise no relief and advised him to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which he had often known to succeed when everything else had failed. The pills were procured, and he took them according to directions, with the most wonderful result. At the end of two weeks he could walk, and at the end of four weeks, although weak, he was perfectly cured and is now able to do all kinds of light work.

A TERRIBLE RIDE.

From the Evening Times, Buffalo, N. Y.

Along one of the dismal roads in Western New York, a man and wife were driving as rapidly as the darkness and inclement weather would permit.

The rain beat down upon the rubber covering and found its way into every crack and opening.

The occupants of the buggy were Dean Jones and his wife, of Springville, N. Y. Everybody is familiar with the name. He is the well-known starting judge, who has become famous for his impartial and fair treatment of jockeys at the post.

It was about ten years ago that Mr. and Mrs. Jones took that fateful ride that came near costing her her life.

They were going from their home in Springville to Concadia, a ride of about seventy miles. Starting early in the morning, they rode to Scio, a distance of fifty-five miles, and from there started to Concadia. When about ten miles from their destination the storm overtook them.

Mrs. Jones' clothes were thoroughly soaked before town was reached. There was no fire in their hotel room and she became chilled to the bone before the little blaze, the attendant started, warmed the atmosphere.

From that time on Mrs. Jones was an ill woman.

Her trouble—well it was about everything with which human flesh can be afflicted. She had a strange, queer feeling in her head, that felt as if several shot were rolling around loose on her brain. Pen cannot describe the torture she suffered. Local doctors told her she had water on the brain.

A Times reporter called upon Mrs. Jones at her home, East Hill, Main Street, Springville, N. Y. She was looking the perfect picture of health and cheerfully told the reporter the story:

"Ever since that terrible wetting I received," said Mrs. Jones, "up to a year ago, I was an invalid. I had terrible neuralgia pains in the head which often went to my feet and [illegible] I was often in such a terrible state that I [illegible] chair before me to move about the house. I was very ill for five years, in spells, and never expected to get well. It was a blood disease, I guess. One of the doctors I consulted said I had clotted blood in my head, and perhaps I did. He could not cure me, neither could several other doctors I tried. I also used many patent medicines, but they did me no good.

"My complexion was a perfect [illegible] my ears were so transparent you could see through them. My blood was turning to water.

"Look at me now, do I look sick?"

The reporter was forced to admit that he had seldom seen a more perfect embodiment of health.

With pardonable pride, Mrs. Jones said: "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People did it.

"I can go anywhere now, while before I commenced using Dr. Williams' remedy I could not move out of the house.

"For three years, would you believe it, I did not even go to church. I was not able, confined to my bed, but could not leave the house.

"I heard of the pills quite a while ago, and decided to try them. I believe we were the first people to try them in the town, and now I know a dozen people that are using them. I recommend them to everybody and they always do good. The druggist, Mr. Prior, on Main St., had to send away and get a half dozen boxes for me. He did not keep them but now I believe he sells more than any other medicine.

It may be said right here that Mr. Prior was seen by a Times reporter and corroborated Mrs. Jones' statement.

"Wherever I go people say, 'Why, Mrs. Jones, how well you are looking. How did it happen?' and I always tell them 'Pink Pills did it.'

"I can't really tell you how many boxes the pills I have taken, but I am never without them in the house. I have not had the least touch of my old [illegible] months and feel as if I never had been in my life."

Mr. Jones came in while the reporter was present and strongly endorsed his wife's testimonial.

"You can readily imagine, he said, of my neighbors regard the remedy in this locality where we have had a wife and mother restored to perfect health."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not to be had upon as a patent medicine, but rather as a prescription. An analysis of their properties show that they contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, and the tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration, all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

A Midnight Visit to Haleakala, the "House of the Sun."

(Copyrighted, 1896, by Funk & Wagnalls Company, New York.)

Haleakala seemed only a stone's throw away, tho' it was really twelve miles to the peak. A cloud rested on the side as if it loved the mountain and would not [illegible] away to a mountain path, sometimes leading up a steep steady plain, then across a prairie, out up with deep gorges, or through a clump of trees. We crossed a ravine nearly one hundred feet deep, and scared up a flock of wild turkeys.

The ascent grew steeper and the air colder. At last, at about half past four, Olinda was reached. Olinda is the summer residence of Mr. H. P. Baldwin, the wealthy sugar planter. It is a large delightful house in a temperate region, surrounded by temperate flowers, and the grounds beautifully adorned. It is well furnished and left in charge of a Japanese, who, however, could not be found anywhere. We climbed in a window, made a fire in the range and prepared our suppers, while the guide took care of the horses. The house had a deserted appearance. Evidences of child occupancy could be seen in the dolls and toys and children's books of little tots, but this was winter, and the little ones were no doubt in their home down by the ever restless sea.

After supper we went to bed and slept until midnight, when we awoke, and, after lunch, saddled our horses and proceeded on our midnight journey to the House of the Sun.

Onward, and upward, step by step, and foot by foot, our sleepy horses stumbled through the darkness. From Olinda to the top of the mountain I was told that the rise was one foot to every six, and I believe that the statement is correct. But few words were spoken. If we were inclined to yawn or doze in our saddles, our horses stumbling on some round stone awoke us. Hour after hour we pressed on; sometimes over a bleak mountain wild, sometimes through a forest of dead trees blasted by the cold mountain winds.

Before starting, Mr. Colville had furnished me with an overcoat and gloves, assuring me that I would need them. I donned them on leaving Olinda, and now found my teeth chattering with the cold. I thought I would dismount and walk up the steep, but found after taking a dozen steps that I could hardly breathe. The atmosphere was so light that altho' our horses went on a walk they panted as if they had been running, and often we were compelled to halt and let them rest. My hat blew off once and I dismounted to get it. The exertion almost exhausted me.

Our guide showed evidences of bewilderment, and though he uttered not a word we knew he was lost. Mountain gorge after mountain gorge was crossed. Sometimes we threaded our way along a narrow shelf of rock on the mountain side, with a chasm five hundred feet deep on one side and a cliff fully as high on the other. My horse's foot struck a loose stone and set it rolling to the awful depths below.

At last the morning star arose. It looked double the size of a star. The purity of the atmosphere in this region would certainly make it a desirable place for astronomical observations. We halted to allow our horses to rest, and talked almost in whispers. A white object appeared among the rocks and coarse shrubbery. It was a wild bull. Wild cattle, wild deer and wild goats are common in the mountains of the Hawaiian Islands. At sight of us this one gave a snort and fled.

We pressed on and soon reached the summit, tired, chilled and benumbed, before the first tints of rosy morn began to appear. Our horses were turned over to our guide and I went into the stone house to build a fire, when one of my companions cried:

"It's coming. Let the fire go and hurry up."

Day had begun to dawn, and we ran, panting and stumbling, to the highest point of the peak which overlooks the vast crater, five miles in diameter. Right on the verge of that awful abyss we paused. I seized a stone weighing perhaps twenty pounds and threw it over into the dark crater. We wanted to hear it strike the rocky bottom. No sound ever came back. It was lost in the fall of thousands of feet.

The eastern horizon all spread out at our feet, was now a wonder of beauty. No pen can describe it, and no painter's brush do it justice. All the prismatic hues of the rainbow in an everchanging panorama were spread for thousands of miles below us. The orange glow here, the apple green there, the yellow gold and vermillion borders, while thousands of feet below were what seemed blue billows. These were clouds. As the day dawned they were ever changing, kaleidoscopic, and chameleon in beauty. One moment the clouds beneath were like blue billows, the next cold snow-banks with ships sailing in them; next they had taken an orange tint with flying angels among them, then animals, until the sun arose, and behold they were clouds.

As the sun mounted up into the heavens the clouds vanished, and the ideal beauty gave way to the real. Such a gorgeous scene was worth the night ride. It was worth more—it was worth crossing the ocean to behold. Five islands were in sight, and all the great island of Maui could be seen. The ships in the harbors looked like specks, the villages mere dots, the railroads mere threads, and those vast cane fields were only green spots the size of one's hand.

Haleakala is properly named the "House of the Sun." Space, however, will not permit a description of that wonderful crater in which the fires died perhaps a thousand years ago.

The Corporation Election.

Two tickets were again in the field this year, and as a consequence considerable interest in the election last Monday was manifested. This, however, was manifested more by the electors than by candidates who, with one or two exceptions, let the people work their own sweet will without let or hinderance. The people's ticket was elected with two exceptions, these two candidates on the corporation ticket getting in by 3 and 1 majority respectively. The officers chosen are certainly good ones and the affairs of the municipality will be in careful hands for the coming year. But the people will have to pay a good tax, just the same, and the users of city water will probably have the same shut off when they violate the rules, or at least it is to be hoped so.

The total number of votes cast was 395, with 4 thrown out on account of not being properly marked. The number cast last year was 344, with 18 counted out from informality. Our citizens are gradually being educated in the mysteries of the Australian ballot. The corporation ticket received 56 straight votes and the people's 93. We give below a table of the result. The first name given under each office was the candidate on the corporation ticket:

To Teachers and School Officers.

In order to awaken an interest in the beautifying of rural school grounds, the State Agricultural College offers to the first ten school districts in each county that make application, a collection of flower seeds, to be planted upon the school grounds and to be cared for by the children.

They will be selected with reference to their adaptability for the purpose and will be accompanied by directions for their planting and care.

We urge all persons interested in the schools, or in the welfare of the children to aid in instilling in the pupils a love of flowers and regard for the appearance of the grounds about the schoolhouses, as we believe that it will not only aid in cultivating in them a love of the beautiful, but it will be a means of interesting them in the work of the school room.

Applications should be made as promptly as possible, as we cannot promise to honor any received after the first of April. The seeds, with full directions, will be sent about April 15.

Crop Report for February.

The weather during February was favorable for wheat. The snow was in sufficient quantity throughout the month to afford the plant fair protection. In answer to the question, "Has wheat during February suffered injury from any cause?" 131 correspondents in the southern counties answer "yes," and 368 "no;" 64 in the central counties answer "yes," and 116 "no," and 9 in the northern counties answer "yes," and 89 "no." The averege depth of snow on the 15th of the month was more than four inches in the southern and central counties, and more than 10 inches in the northern counties. Near the close of the month a thaw occurred that reduced the snow to little more than a trace in the former two sections, and from that date to March 1st the ground has been bare. In the northern counties the average depth at the end of the month was nearly 5 inches.

The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed by farmers in February is 718,283. Of this amount 234,193 bushels were marketed in the first or southern tier of counties; 134,617 bushels in the second tier; 107,011 bushels in the third tier; 129,795 bushels in the fourth tier; 100,911 bushels in the fifth and sixth tiers, and 6,636 bushels in the northern counties. At twenty-four elevators and mills from which reports have been received, there was no wheat marketed during the month.

The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed in the seven months, August—February, is 6,707,118, which is 1,299,500 bushels less than reported marketed in the same months last year.

Live stock is in good condition. Considering the short hay crop stock is wintering remarkably well.

A GREAT BLUFF.

The Game was Backed by Boodle, But it Didn't Work.

When the Stimpson Computing Scale was first perfected the Computing Scale Company at Dayton, Ohio, recognized the fact that they would soon have in the market a competitor which, in a trial on merit, would soon outclass their scale and practically destroy their large business in that line, if left to establish its own reputation in the open market. With this in mind, the Dayton people have put forth every effort and used every means which money and the avenues of a well established trade put at their disposal, to crush the Stimpson scale before it could be generally put worth in the mercantile world be established. Almost every means, except the legitimate measures of fair competition, have been used to accomplish this end.

A suit for infringement was commenced. Circulars of different kinds were systematically sent, not only to the trade, but to the agents of the Stimpson Company, warning them against infringement and threatening prosecution. In fact, this was carried to the extent of making many warm friends for the Stimpson people among those who had the courage to try the scale and see its superiority and the utter absurdity of the infringement proceedings. By a liberal use of money a temporary injunction was obtained in California, enjoining the Stimpson Company from doing business there for the time. However, upon the arrival of the latter's representative in that territory the business was revived and their trade is rapidly increasing on the coast.

The manufacturers here, as well as every one who has looked into the matter knew that the Stimpson patent did not infringe and that the suit and entire attack of their competitors was a desperate game of bluff, which savored more of an attempt at blackmail than a legitimate means of asserting vested rights. That the Dayton Company knew this, is evidenced by the fact that they dare not follow up their suit in California and were very glad to make as graceful a back down as possible at Detroit, and pay up the costs before allowing the suit to come to an issue.

However questionable and unscrupulous were the tactics employed by the Dayton concern to crush their rival, they are the same methods which have been successfully used many times to rob inventors, manufacturers and people of most useful patents. But to the credit of the Stimpson Computing Scale Company and to the best interests of Tecumseh it did not work in this case. The company had carefully examined the value as well as the validity of the Stimpson patents before engaging in the manufacture of the scale and when satisfied of its worth were unmoved by either bluffs, threats or law suits.

The question of infringement was forever settled in the U. S. District court for the eastern district of Michigan last Monday by Judge H. Swan.

A decree was issued upon consent of the parties in the suit of the Computing Scale Co., of Dayton, O., vs. the Stimpson Computing Scale Co., of Tecumseh, Mich., from which we quote as follows:

That the Stimpson Computing Scale having two sets of computations, one on the computation plate and one on the poise as manufactured and sold by the defendant, is not an infringement of said patent."

"That the complainants bill be dismissed with costs."

Our Gentleman Dressmaker.

Having heard considerable comment on Tecumseh's gentleman dressmaker, we made him a call and were shown the finest and most elaborate hand-painted designs we ever had the pleasure of seeing. Mr. Deuel says those three plates cost more than any other plates published. They are from Paris and Berlin styles. Of course the Paris ones are far ahead of all others for fineness and display of material. "Yes, we often make up a garment just like the ideas given in the plates, but never make two alike." He showed one of a combination of a tannish brown combined with a very mild and pleasant shade of blue, which, he says is to be an Easter gown for one of Tecumseh's best. He had a very handsome waist of black crepon, made in a very stylish combination of satin and chiffon, which was especially handsome. Mr. Deuel says, "three things we pride ourselves on. First, our ideas are always original. Second, our fit and finish are the very best; and third, we never make a customer feel afraid of having some one else's gown made like her's, as we never duplicate any piece of work."

"What system do I use? Well, I use something no one else uses—one of my own. I draft every skirt on the goods, every one to fit the customer, and every piece of each garment is made to fit the customer; never had a pattern in my place of business. If you will come in some day I will show you how I draft and give you all the information you want. Prices? Well, prices are all right; not too high for anyone, but hardly high enough for me. Yes, I will stay here for some time; any way this spring."

Reduced rate will be made for those attending the Detroit Wheelmen's cycle show, March 11 to 14, and the Grand Council Royal Arcanum annual meeting at Jackson, April 14 and 15.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., March 6, '96.

If Congress is in earnest about wishing the belligerency of the Cubans recognized and steps taken towards the ultimate independence of Cuba it must take another tack, as President Cleveland served notice upon them in advance of the agreement between the House and Senate upon the exact form of the concurrent resolution, that he will pay no attention to that document, because it is not in accordance with his views as to the proper position this government shall occupy towards the Cubans. This notice which is in the form of a statement prepared and given out [illegible] is regarded as extraordinary in more ways than one. It would have been extraordinary had it been given out after Congress had finally acted upon the Cuban resolution. It is a new thing for the President to say to Congress in advance of its action that he will not be governed by it. The members of the Spanish lobby in Washington are much pleased at President Cleveland's attitude; they say it will deprive the Cubans of any benefit they might have received from the adoption of the resolution by Congress.

Congress has a weapon with which it can compel Mr. Cleveland to carry out its wishes in this matter. The vote upon the Cuban resolution showed only six Senators and Seventeen Representatives opposed to it. It will therefore be an easy matter, should Mr. Cleveland persist in refusing to act upon the concurrent resolution, to adopt the same in the form of a joint resolution. Should he veto it, Congress can easily pass it over his veto, provided, of course, that two-thirds of both House and Senate have the nerve to do so. The more conservative element in Congress favor waiting a reasonable time, to see if the President will act upon the concurrent resolution, before taking further steps, and that will probably be done, unless something new occurs to arouse the fighting blood of Congress.

Hon. Joseph Manley, of Maine, who is in charge of the Reed campaign for the republican Presidential nomination, has established his headquarters in Washington. He says of recent reports about New England opposition to Reed: "There is not the slightest doubt that Speaker Reed will secure the solid vote of New England. It is folly to talk of anything else. It is very easy to say that a man is not solidly supported in his own section. Everybody knows that there are warring factions among republicans in Ohio, and that if it were to come to a show down between Foraker and McKinley, the former would undoubtedly win. Nevertheless no one doubts that the Ohio delegation will be solid for its favorite son, and properly so. He is entitled to the vote of that state just the same as Gov. Morton is to that of New York, and Senator Cullom to that of Illinois. Mr. Reed will be quite as solid in New England as any other candidate will be in his own state."

The House Judiciary committee this week reported a bill that is in line with common, everyday business sense and ought to speedily become a law. It makes it unlawful for U. S. officials to purchase, directly or indirectly vouchers for witness fees in U. S. courts or any other claims against the government, and makes the penalty for violation removal from office and a fine of from $50 to $5,000.

The Senate committee on Privileges and elections has reported in favor of the Allen resolutions providing for an investigation by a select committee of the Senate of the last Alabama Senatorial election. The minority of the committee made a report against the resolution. As the resolution will be voted for by all the populists and all, or nearly all, the republicans its adoption is regarded as almost a certainty, unless the democrats resort to filibustering to prevent a vote.

It is expected, from the opinions expressed by members, that the House Ways and Means committee will look into the talk about this country being flooded with cheap manufactured articles, for the purpose of deciding whether any special legislation is necessary.

The action of Senator Gorman, in moving to reconsider the bill authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to charter vessels for naval purposes and to enlist 1000 additional men for the navy whenever in his judgement there is an emergency requiring such action, which was this week passed by the Senate, is making talk. Mr. Gorman says his object is to have the bill more carefully considered and to limit the time within which the Secretary of Navy may exercise the power given. It is thought the motion to consider will be defeated.

There is food for thought in the following apt and timely words spoken by Senator Palmer, of Ill.: "The Congress of the U. S. finds it an easy matter to attend to the affairs of other nations, but has shown itself utterly incompetent to deal with our domestic affairs. The grave questions of a deficiency in the public revenue and a crippled currency are pressing upon us for solution, and we acknowledge our inability to master them. But we can reach out and settle the affairs of other governments with ease and dispatch." Mr. Palmer isn't the only person who has noted the tendency of Congress to take a more decided stand upon the affairs of other nations than upon those of our own. But then it must be remembered that the citizens of other nations have no votes in the coming Presidential election.

Cadet Floyd Rogers, of the Orchard Lake military academy, has been promoted from the ranks to corporal. He stood third in the appointment of ten candidates.

Miss Carrie Alvord closed her winter term of school last Friday in the Dillingham district. She will teach the same school in the spring after a vacation of two weeks.

The item last week in regard to Otis Kishpaugh leaving the plow company would have been more comprehensive had the type been truthful and said Kingsworth instead of Kishpaugh.

The village election Monday was somewhat exciting, there being two contesting tickets in the field, the regular or Corporation and the Law and Order. The outcome was somewhat mixed and, although a majority of the old ticket was elected, there is every indication that, through a claim of irregularity in the counting, at least two of the Law and Order elects will be contested. Those declared elected, with ticket and majorities, are as follows: President, Wm. C. Rogers, c, 6; clerk, C. D. Cutting, l and o, 7; treasurer, John Mosher, l and o, 8; trustees, J. O. Fitzgerald, l and o, 1; Albert Tate, c, 3; Chas. F. Clark, c, 12; assessor, Addie St. John, c, 8.

PENTECOST.

A Good Field for Missionaries Here at Home—Star Gazing.

The aurora, Wednesday night, kept many observers up till a late hour.

The Herald's new departure—cut and gummed at the back—is appreciated by its many friends.

The Pentecost blacksmith shop has a new occupant, Mr. John Marshall. So, farmers, bring along your equines now, and your farming implements, etc., and get them ready for the spring campaign at hand.

Mr. Cafer, the new tenant on the Harrison Daniels farm, has just moved in. We understand he works the place for J. J Putnam, who holds the lease and will make it a sort of "base of supplies" in the way of fresh fruits, vegetables, milk, butter, etc., for his guests at his lovely place at Sand Lake.

A lady, shopping in a neighboring village Tuesday, saw three brothers, reeling drunk, on the street. And their mother is a widow, too. Talk about sending missionaries to the heathens! A little money expended in sending a missionary among our law-makers at [illegible] of many [illegible] be a good investment if it resulted in better laws regulating the drink traffic.

Mrs. J. M. Bixby passed away Monday, Feb. 9, having survived her husband just two weeks and one day. This is a sorely afflicted household. One daughter, Mrs. H Warner, lies very ill in the house of mourning, and Lawson L. Warner, the husband of another daughter, is quite sick in his own house a few rods from the Bixby home. Much sympathy is felt for them by the whole community.

SHOW YOUR COLORS.

That's what you want to say, voters, to every candidate who asks you to help elect him to an office. Do not be deceived by specious promises that mean nothing. If he comes to you and says you are too heavily taxed but that when he gets to be supervisor you will see easier times just ask how he proposes to set about it. Is he going to make easy sailing for the man who wants a license to run a saloon in your town? If so, oust him, "neck and crop," from your list of candidates. The heaviest tax we pay today is that laid upon us by the saloon, in the never-failing harvest of disease, poverty degredation and vice that always accompany that open door to perdition. Don't be in too great haste to vote for a new man, in the hope that you will be the gainer somehow. Remember the Frog of Aesop, who tired of useless King Log, begged for a new ruler. And when the new king, Stork, sailed down majestically in their midst they were filled with delight at sight of his gleaming eye, his proud bearing, etc., but when he "waded in" to the pool and began gobbling up the silly frogs their shrieks and groans of terror were useless, for they had all voted for "a change." So make your candidate "show his colors," and if piratical, sink him.

AN ACCIDENT.

Mr. Quintus Hummel, of 118 Michigan Ave., Detroit, tells a War Story of his own Experience, and the Result.

(From Detroit News.)

Our representative called at 118 Michigan Avenue, the residence of Mr. Quintus Hummel. Mr. Hummel is a veteran of the late war, and received, in the campaign, an injury which has given him much pain and suffering since. He belonged to a Michigan cavalry regiment and his horse becoming frightened one day reared up, throwing him backward. In falling he struck his spine on a sharp stone, inflicting a deep cut over five inches long. The injury affected the kidneys. About two years ago the left kidney started to bleed, and has been doing so ever since. Mr. Hummel, in a few pointed sentences, gave our representative the following account:

"The accident of my 'war days' left me in bad shape; pain in my back and spine rendered me almost useless, and I was compelled to give up work entirely. I could not turn over in bed without assistance. I have spent hundreds of dollars in various ways trying to find relief. Physicians have told me my spine was honeycombed for 13 inches. I had given up in despair, never hoping for relief, when a friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills, and they have done me a world of good. The pains have disappeared from my back, and the bleeding of my kidney has almost entirely stopped. I know I can never be entirely cured, as I would have to be 'a new man,' but Doan's Kidney Pills have done more to make me feel like 'a new man' than all the other things I have tried during past years. I have not had any recurrence of the pain or bleeding since taking them."

A BIT OF HISTORY.

BY ALBERT CLAYPOOL WHITE.

[It is the belief of many people that when Dr. Jameson crossed the Transvaal frontier at the head of a band of 800 freebooters, it was with the tacit approval of the British South African company; that if the British South African company found that Jameson and his expedition were successful, they would back him up with their wealth and their machine guns; that if the British government found the South African company was successful, they would back up the company with the forces of the British empire, and that another country would be gobbled up by Great Britain. All of these hopes have been baffled by the defeat of the Jameson expedition by the Boers. This recalls another expedition projected on similar lines in our own country about 100 years ago, when Aaron Burr went into the west, and, making Harman Blennerhassett's beautiful home his headquarters, began enlisting men for an expedition against the Spanish possessions on the Gulf of Mexico. He, too, led his men to believe that it was with the tacit approval of the United States government, and, if their expedition succeeded, the United States would back them up and make it a part of its territory. As a matter of fact, Burr designed to make himself dictator of the conquered territory. But there, too, events militated against the adventurer, and the Burr-Blennerhassett expedition failed. But it was a picturesque and most changeful time in American history, and it will not be uninteresting to recall it now.]

In the Ohio river, near the mouth of the Little Kanawha and about 14 miles below the old town of Marietta, lies Blennerhassett island. Perhaps no other spot along "La Belle Riviere" has such an interesting history.

It is almost 100 years since Harman Blennerhassett and his bride went to live in the great wilderness of the west. Blennerhassett was the son of an Irish gentleman, though his birthplace was at Hampshire, England. He was born in 1767, when his parents were on a visit to Hampshire. His family was among the most distinguished of the Irish gentry, and Harman enjoyed excellent educational advantages. After a preliminary schooling in England, he entered Trinity college, Dublin, where he graduated in due time with high honors. He then read law in the Inns of Court, and was admitted to the bar in 1790. At the death of his father, soon after, Blennerhassett received a large accession to his fortune.

With wealth, rank and intellectual powers of a high order, richly cultivated, he seemed to be on the threshold of a brilliant career. His friends desired him to enter politics, but that was not to his taste. His inclinations were for the quieter paths of literature. The excitement aroused by the oppression of royalty was in the very air in Ireland, and he turned to the United States as a haven of refuge. He sold all of his landed estates and went to England, where he married Miss Agnew, a daughter of the governor of the Isle of Man. Before leaving London he purchased a large and valuable library and an extensive chemical and philosophical apparatus. Through letters which he brought he and his wife became acquainted with many of the leading families in New York, and they were the recipients of flattering attention.

Hearing of the Eden-like islands in the Ohio river, he determined to visit that part of the country. Mr. and Mrs. Blennerhassett arrived in Pittsburgh in the autumn of 1797 and floated down the river as far as Marietta in one of the flat-bottomed boats then in use. He spent all of the next winter in studying the topography of the country and the habits of the people. The following spring he bought what was then called Backus island, and ever since it has borne his name. This island contained about 300 acres, and at the upper end a few acres were free from trees, presenting a natural lawn.

The new owner of this enchanting spot began energetically to erect a home. Slaves were bought and the upper part of the island was laid out and ornamented with exquisite taste. There were graveled walks and carriage ways, and a beautiful view of the river through an opening among the trees, and a flower garden of about two acres filled with flowering shrubs, both exotic and native. Arbors and grottos covered with vines were scattered here and there, and on the south side of the island was a kitchen garden, stocked with choicest fruits. Spacious outbuildings were erected and boat landings constructed for communication with the Ohio and Virginia shores. The house was like a palace, with two wings stretching out in either direction, and its inside finish was luxurious. When the house was completed, together with the adornment of the grounds, the sum of $60,000 in gold had been expended.

The mistress of this romantic home was a very beautiful woman. Her figure, tall and commanding, was molded in perfect proportions. Her manners were captivating, and at the same time full of dignity. She wrote and spoke French and Italian fluently, while her familiarity with English literature at once stamped her as a woman of culture and refined education. She was an accomplished horsewoman and she was also an accomplished housewife. She was very ambitious, and it was a great trial to her to have her husband waste his brilliant powers in obscurity. Vainly she urged him to enter as an advocate the higher courts of Virginia, but he preferred his books and music and the peaceful pursuit of scientific studies. Blennerhassett was a versatile genius, a man of great benevolence and intense sympathies, and in manners very courteous, mild and yielding. His virtues were of the amiable character, and he was easily duped by the designing. That he lacked ambition and loved ease was evident.

When the Blennerhassetts had finished their home and begun to live in earnest, if the lives of two idlers may be called living in earnest, their island became the center of the fashionable set of the community. The leading people of Marietta, Belpre, near by on the Ohio shore, and all of Wood county, in Virginia, made the Blennerhassett mansion the center about which all things in the fashionable world revolved. For eight years they dwelt there, entertaining all comers with open-handed hospitality, making frequent trips to the east to visit friends, as well as to make purchases. They entertained lavishly for the times and for the surroundings, and the fame of their hospitality reached far and wide.

Such was the island home, and such were its inhabitants, when the serpent entered this Eden and wrought its ruin. Aaron Burr was one of the most fascinating of men. A graceful man, of handsome aquiline features, with high mental endowments and in possession of rare conversational powers, he had the instincts of a vulture and was eternally scheming for his own personal gratification and aggrandizement, reckless of the ruin and misery his selfishness wrought. His career had been brilliant until when, as vice president of the United States during President Jefferson's first term, he imbrued his hands in the blood of Alexander Hamilton and brought upon himself the execration of his countrymen. It was then he formed the Napoleonic conception, and apparently feasible one, of wresting from Spain the empire of Mexico, and from the United States the vast and almost unsettled solitudes of the Mississippi valley, there to organize a magnificent empire, of which he was to be imperator.

Burr had heard of Blennerhassett, of his wealth, and of his influence over the rapidly-increasing population of the Ohio valley, and he resolved to enlist him in the enterprise. In the spring of the year 1805 Burr appeared upon Blennerhassett island and was the recipient of distinguished attentions at the hands of its hospitable owners. It is not my purpose to follow in detail the intrigues and intricacies of the dealings between Burr and Blennerhassett. Suffice it to say that both host and hostess were charmed. He was as artless as a child. Familiar with the secrets of state, he spoke of the prospect of war with Spain and of the ease with which the Mexicans with a little help might throw off the Spanish yoke and establish an independent government.

Having taken the first step, he went on his way. The next autumn, however, Burr and his beautiful daughter, Theodosia, made a short visit to the island, and in the following winter, Mr. and Mrs. Blennerhassett were lured east for the purpose of further interviews, and it is presumed that they entered into a sort of partnership for land speculation. Blennerhassett was incapable of treason, and it cannot be doubted, as it appeared afterward at the trial, that Burr adroitly veiled his real purpose from him by the projected land speculation.

In the summer of 1806, Burr came west, and active measures were taken to organize an expedition. The intriguer had such influence with Blennerhassett's wife that she readily persuaded her husband to pledge himself for the payment of expenses. Bateaux sufficient to carry 500 men were built and provisioned at Marietta, and Col. Burr visited many settlements in Ohio and Virginia to engage enterprising and hardy young men as recruits, and he speedily secured the required number. Each emigrant was required to bring a rifle and a blanket. The little colony was organized with military precision, for its leader was an accomplished soldier. Every one was to receive the gift of 100 acres of land. Burr told them that President Jefferson, who was very popular in the west, approved of the expedition. Confidently he assured them that, while their expedition was a peaceful one and its object the settlement of a vast tract of land purchased of Baron Bastrop, still there was the certainty of war between the United States and Spain, in which event Mexico would free herself, and his colony would have the molding of a grand empire on the foundations of democratic equality, and they might enrich themselves beyond the dreams of romance.

Meanwhile news of Burr's doings had reached the east, and President Jefferson became alarmed. He knew Aaron Burr thoroughly, and was well aware of his ambition and his powers of intrigue. The governors of Ohio and Virginia were called upon to suppress the expedition. The militia was called out, and the boats and stores were seized. A detachment of militia from Wood county, Va., landed upon the island, became drunk from the liquors in the cellar, and pillaged and burned the house and out-buildings. Burr and Blennerhassett were both arrested for treason, and were tried and acquitted.

In the next two years Blennerhassett lost his island home, and he found himself with a family upon his hands, but with his riches all gone, and in their place a mountain of debts. However, he learned enough to write a book, in which he involved not only Burr in treasonable acts, but also Gov. Alston, of South Carolina, Burr's son-in-law. Alston paid $10,000 rather than have the book published. Blennerhassett then undertook a cotton plantation near Natchez, but the war of 1812 ruined commerce, and he removed to Canada. Here he became bankrupt and was forced to subsist until his death upon the bounty of a sister. Mrs. Blennerhassett, thrown upon her own resources, returned to America to prosecute her claim for the destruction of her home on the Ohio island by the militia, subsisting meanwhile upon the income of a few shares of bank stock and the charity of her friends. She died, however, in 1842, just as she had her petition properly before congress.

Blennerhassett is now used as a picnic ground in the summer time, and is kept planted in the ordinary crops. There is little left to mark the site of the old mansion. The well, which is about six feet in diameter, was so well stoned up when first built that it is as good as new to-day, and the water is sweet and cool. As a last touch of iconoclasm, where the rounded lawn once lay is now a baseball diamond.—San Francisco Argonaut.

A DETECTIVE'S STORY.

The Sweetheart Robbed to Pay a Man's Courting Expenses.

"I was disgusted a few days ago at a case I worked up," remarked a detective to a Washington Star reporter. "A young lady who was possessed of considerable money and a number of jewels sent for me. She had been robbed of some diamonds valued at several hundred dollars. I finally found all but one pin, they having been pawned. I obtained a description of the man who borrowed money upon them, but for several weeks could not locate him. When I did his landlady said that he had left that morning and was going to Baltimore. I watched the depot, and was soon rewarded by seeing the man step out of a hack. I seized his arm and said: 'You are arrested!' 'What for?' he asked, in a tone that showed he was not much surprised, but greatly frightened. 'That will be explained at the station,' I replied. There was a feminine shriek from the hack, and, glancing into the vehicle, I saw it was my fair client. They had just been married and were starting on their wedding trip. I took in the situation at a glance, and then realizing that I was powerless under the new order of affairs, I said: 'I see now that you are not the man I want,' and let him go. Then he began to bluster, and, taking him aside, I gave him to understand I knew of his robbing the girl to pay the expenses of his courtship, and he quieted down very suddenly."

A LUNG BATH.

It Is a Wonderfully Refreshing and Health-Giving Practice.

Did you ever hold a watch and see for how many seconds you could keep a stream of air flowing from your lungs? If not, make the test, and you will find that no matter how small the stream, you cannot keep it constantly flowing in for more than 15, or possibly 50 seconds; but if you will try two or three times each day, you can double the time within two weeks. The boy or girl who will try this and keep it up regularly for a year, will not be likely to die of consumption, and should they ever become public speakers or singers, they will be very thankful that they commenced when young to take "lung baths." Harper's Young People, in speaking about breathing, says: "Did you ever think of taking a lung bath? One's lungs need cleansing as surely as do the hands and face. This is especially true after one has been in a crowded hall or church, breathing in so many impurities. How can one take a lung bath? By simply drawing a deep breath and then expelling the air from the lungs. You will feel wonderfully refreshed thereby and the general health will be improved."

Raffle for a Preacher.

A Georgia paper tells of a raffle for a minister that was recently held in Parrott, Ga., the loser being compelled to take him. The Methodist congregation was having a revival which had dragged its length along until the congregation had become worn out with church-going and providing for the preachers, who came from all around to assist in the cause. The last preacher that came was the straw that broke the back of the dromedary. No one wanted him, and a meeting of the stewards was held to consider how he was to be provided for. One of them proposed to draw straws for him, which was not agreed to, but finally the question was settled by a proposition to raffle the minister off, and this actually happened, the steward who made the lowest throw taking the unwelcome preacher and providing for his physical wants during the closing hours of the long religious services.

We are now in the midst of the maple sugar season, but unfortunately for Britton, the only sugar tree in the village is the one standing by the school building, and there are good reasons to believe that even that old monarch would produce a doubtful quality of sugar.

The regular monthly meeting of the ladies' aid society was held in the parlors of the church on Wednesday afternoon last and enjoyed a very pleasant time. Our villagers should not forget the fact that this society serve a supper at each of their regular meetings, at which time, for the small sum of ten cents, you have the privilege of buttoning your vest over a good square meal.

Every wheelman in the township should take an interest in appointing pathmasters on the day of election. You can do much towards bettering the condition of the roads by so doing. Arrange some definite plan of action and carry it out. Don't allow one of the old school pathmasters, who scrape the bottoms of the ditches up into the road, to be appointed. There are oceans of good gravel to be had, almost for the hauling. Lets have some of it.

Charlie DuBois, Will Underwood, Geo. Exelby, Will Britton, Geo. Smith and Geo. Britton went to Tecumseh on business, and as a side line, purchased so many raisins that it was train time before they could get them to the depot. However they made a sprint for it which broke all records; Smith and DuBois finishing tie, with Underwood five seconds behind. Charlie felt so good about it that he treated everybody out of Smith's raisins by mistake(?) and a kodak man secured the horrified expression on George's face after he had helped himself to a double handful of his own fruit.

By the destruction of Ogood's feed and cider mills by fire Saturday morning our village suffered the loss of an industry that it can ill afford to do without, and the farmers of the surrounding territory will feel its loss directly much more than the villagers. The mill has always done a good business, and was more than usually busy this season, the exceeding low prices for grain allowing the farmers to feed very freely. Of course our merchants all benefited more or less by the business. Mr. Osgood had no insurance on the property and the loss comes very heavy on him. That he has the substantial sympathy of all, is evidenced by the fast growing subscription bonus, which in the first hour or two went up toward the $200 mark.

Dearest father, thou hast left us—
Left us for the other shore;
But we soon will follow after,
For thou hast only gone before.

Gone before just o'er the river
Whence no traveler e'er returns,
And we hope e'er there to meet thee
On the resurrection morn.

How we watched around thy bedside,
Faithful watchers through the night;
Lest, while in the hour of absence,
Thy soul from hence would take its flight.

But there came the hour of parting,
When our hearts were wrung with grief;
And we saw thy life departing,
As we beheld thy fleeting breath.

Now thy room looks bare and vacant,
Father's chair is empty now,
Mother now is sad and lonely,
Sadness wreathes her furrowed brow.

But we, too, must hear the summons,
And how soon no one can tell.
So we bid thee, dear father,
Just a little while farewell.

A POLE AND FLAG RAISING.

An event happened in school district No. 7, township of Macon, Saturday, March 29, which we are always proud to mention. It was the closing day of a very successful term of school taught by Edward Miller. After a very interesting and appropriate program given by the scholars who did themselves and the teacher great credit; an address was given by J. D. Shull, of Tecumseh, followed by remarks by H. W. Stevens, both being very interesting and instructive. After this "America" was sung by all, followed by the raising of the Star Spangled banner by J. D. Shull. The music was furnished by the Macon Male Quartette. And when we pause and consider the history of our glorious old flag, through what clouds of dust and smoke it has passed, what storms of shot and shell, what scenes of fire and blood! How many heroes its folds have covered in death, how many have lived for it and how many have died for it, we can truly say that we hope these flag raisings will continue until every school in our land will float the stars and stripes and every boy and girl taught to love and honor the flag of our country.

Liver and Kidney Trouble.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla off and on for several years, and always with good results. It is the best medicine that I ever used. My trouble has been biliousness, torpid liver and more or less of kidney affliction. I was getting reduced in flesh, was weak generally, suffered with loss of appetite, and had pains in my back which I think came from my kidneys. I also had rheumatic pains in my arms and limbs and felt generally rundown. Hood's sarsaparilla always builds me up in a wonderful way. I know from my own experience that it is a wonderful medicine, and I cannot say too much in its praise." Mr. John A Behmlander, 609 Linn St., West Bay City, Mich. 1w

Here is a diamond, here a piece of charcoal. Both carbon; yet between them stands the mightiest of magicians —Nature. The food on your table, and your own body; elementally the same; yet between the two stands the digestion, the arbiter of growth or decline, life or death.

We cannot make a diamond; we cannot make flesh, blood and bone. No. But by means of the Shaker Digestive Cordial we can enable the stomach to digest food which would otherwise ferment and poison the system. In all forms of dyspepsia and incipient consumption, with weakness, loss of flesh, thin blood, nervous prostration the Cordial is the successful remedy. Taken with food it relieves at once. It nourishes, and assists nature to nourish. A trial bottle enough to show its merit 10 cents.

We consulted the best medical talent. They said there was no help for me, that I had organic disease of the heart for which there was no remedy. I had read your advertisements in The Graphic and a year ago, as a last resort, tried one bottle of Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart, which convinced me that there was true merit in it. I took three bottles each of the Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine and It completely cured me. I sleep well at night, my heart beats regularly and I have no more smothering spells. I wish to say to all who are suffering as I did; there's relief untold for them if they will only give your remedies just one trial." Seven doctors treated me with Mercury, Potash, etc. They helped me but could not cure me. Finally a friend induced me to try Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. Their New Method Treatment cured me in a few weeks. Their treatment is wonderful. You feel yourself gaining every day. I have never heard of their failing to cure in a single case."

Jesse Thayer, one of the oldest residents of the county, died at Clayton Sunday morning, and the funeral was held Monday morning at 10 o'clock. He was 90 years old in January, and at one time was a prosperous merchant in Medina.

The Telegram gets back at its esteemed contemporary in this manner: "The Telegram may need a wheelbarrow to help push Adrian. But people don't have to climb on a freight car to know what is going on, as is reported they do when the head push for some of its chief critics does his pushing."

The Hudson Post is guilty of the following: "A man who formerly resided in Adrian has composed a piece of music entitled 'The Arrival of the Hottentots.' He got the idea from attending an Adrian swell ball where the abbreviated costumes of the ladies reminded him of the full dress of an aristocratic Hottentot."

A large prairie schooner, says an exchange, passed through Osborn, Kan., bound west from Oklahoma last week bearing the inscription: "Oklahoma for starvation, Kansas for desolation, Texas for devastation, Nebraska for damnation. Going to Ohio to sponge on wife's relation. To H——l with democratic administration."

Monroe Democrat: Rev. J. P. Hutchinson, of Milan, in a recent sermon said: "To believe in a future state is not only reasonable, but is natural. The Yarubas, after losing their first born, would say on the birth of a second child, 'thou art come again.'" But suppose the lost first born was a boy and newcomer a girl, Elder?

James Schermerhorn, formerly of the Hudson Gazette, who has been serving on the editorial staff of the Detroit Evening News for several months past, has been appointed Washington correspondent of that paper, and has left to enter upon his new duties at the capitol. We congratulate brother Schermerhorn on his advancement.

Monroe Democrat: Royal Longley, of Raisinville, aimed a blow with an axe, with the intention of making the chips fly. There's many a slip betwixt the axe and the chip. Longley's foot took the clip, the axe going to the bone in its course, severing several arteries and veins. Dr. Knapp was the beneficiary of the painful accident.

Dundee Reporter: Some wicked galoot, who should now be keeping company with J. Wilkes Booth, attempted to wreck the Ann Arbor theatre train near Azalia, when returning from Toledo last Friday night by placing ties upon the track. The obstructions were discovered by the engineer in time to slacken his train and prevent a wreck, the ties being pushed off the track and upon the pilot, but no damage was done. Stones were also thrown at the train when passing the Azalia charcoal kilns. The dastardly work is charged to a gang of tramps that were in that vicinity that night.

Monroe Democrat: We understand that a new paper has been started in Monroe, "The C. E. Informer." Mrs. L. B. Bissell is the chief editor, and Alex. Grant is the printing firm. It is to be issued monthly, if possible; if not, then bi-monthly, or whenever sufficient material can be gathered for an issue. The first number was issued last week and was read last Sunday at the C. E. meeting, and contained editorials, pastoral letters, C. E. Dart's missionary notes, a column of "wants," letters from absent members, and reports of committees. It was an excellent piece of amateur work.

We have heard of all kinds of mean men, but it seems Holly has one that can go them all one better. The Fenton Independent says: "The meanest man yet hails from Holly. He had a well that needed cleaning, but fearing the treacherous quicksands at the bottom, he was afraid to undertake it. He hung his coat on a post near the well and went into hiding for a few days. His neighbors missing him, and finding his coat on a post near the well, surmised that he had sunk beneath the quick sands and they worked with a will to find his body. After the well had been thoroughly cleaned out in their efforts to find the body, the wretch showed up."

Monroe Democrat: Rev. J. P. Hutchinson, of Milan, in a recent sermon said: "To believe in a future state is not only reasonable, but is natural. The Yarubas, after losing their first born, would say on the birth of a second child, 'thou art come again.'" But suppose the lost first born was a boy and newcomer a girl, Elder?

A new variety of hard times croakers have sprung up in town. They make haste to repeat some groundless rumor, or even joke, to the effect that this or that business man is about to fail, etc. This is often done thoughtlessly, but it nevertheless has its evil effects, and does not tend to help the business or credit of any one. As a matter of fact the business men of Tecumseh have weathered the hard times of the last few years most successfully. Their stock in trade has been kept up to every requirement and, by square dealing and low prices, they have brought trade and business to our town. Be careful, neighbor, to assist rather than to harm a friend's business, especially in these times.

At the home of Mr. A. VanValkenburg in Franklin yesterday at high noon occured the marriage of his eldest daughter Ada to Mr. Will Swartz. The newly wedded couple will begin life anew on a farm in Adrian township.

H. W. McClure has bought an interest in the restaurant business of Robert Moir. The new firm will make a departure in the business by starting a cigar manufactory. Instead of retailing cigars, Ed McKinney will return from Chelsea and enable them to make new ones.

Cleo Hall has started to ride horseback, whether for health or not we are unable to say. He, however, took an allopathic dose of it Tuesday when he started a la John Gilpin for the low lands to scale lumber. He thinks of applying to the Armory people for some of their solution for the relief of sore muscles.

The "new girl" can find a little food for reflection in the following anonymous jingle: "Maud Muller on a summer night went out on her bike in the bright moonlight. She peddled around from six to ten on a trip that would fag the strongest men; but her heart was light and her spirit gay, for it wasn't work, 'twas not but play. Next morning, however, she'd a pain in her head; she was all played out and stayed in bed, while her mother hustled in the kitchen below—not to ride a wheel but make things go. Though the morning is hot and she worked by the fire, she didn't collapse with a punctured tire. Alas for the girl and the woman, see. Things are not as they used to be.

Farmers' Social Club.

The club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gillespie, as a notice in a recent issue announced.

The gathering was large, even if the weather was somewhat unfavorable, showing conclusively that the interest taken in the Club is sufficient to keep it in splendid condition.

The literary program was not performed exactly as had been arranged but enough work was carried out to make the time pass pleasantly. A question box took the place of the customary discussion, bringing a variety of questions before the club, some of which received more than ordinary attention.

The next meeting of the society will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Schreder, on Tuesday evening, March 24th.

One of the boys of the A room, who is undoubtedly a student in that great "school of experience," recently wrote an essay on the subject of corns. However we are pained to hear that the paper was rejected by the committee on program.

OBITUARY.

HULDA HOWE

Mrs. Hulda Howe was born in New York in 1831, and died in Tecumseh, Mich., March 5, 1896. Her husband, Harley D. Howe, died twenty years ago. Eight children were born to them, four of whom still live. Three sons, Asa, Joseph and Charles, of Tecumseh, and one daughter, Mrs. Lois Carney, of Wabash, Ind. Georgia Howe, her granddaughter, will greatly miss her, as she knows no other mother, having lost her own in infancy. Twenty years ago Mrs. Howe became a christian, and at the time of her death was a member of the Methodist church. She was remarkably consistent and happy in her christian life and work. Only those who knew her as a christian, knew her real worth. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. P. Varner at the Methodist church and the remains buried in the cemetery at Dundee.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

A Patriotic Sermon Based Upon "America for God."

America the Hope of the Christian World—Armed with the Spirit of Christ This Country is Invincible for God.

And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon.—Rev. xiii, 11.

Is America mentioned in the Bible? Learned and unlearned men who have studied the inspired books of Daniel and Revelation more than I have and who related them better agree in saying that the leopard mentioned in the Bible meant Greece, and the bear meant Medo-Persia, and the fourth meant Babylon, and the beast of the text coming up out of earth with two horns like a lamb, and the voice of a dragon means our country, because among other reasons it seemed to come up out of the earth when Columbus discovered it, and it has been for the most part at peace like a lamb, unless assailed by foreign foe, in which case it has two horns of strength enough, and the voice of a dragon loud enough to make all nations hear the roar of its indignation. Is it reasonable to suppose that God would leave out from the prophecies of His book this whole western hemisphere? No, no. "I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon."

Germany for scholarship. England for manufactories. France for manners. Egypt for antiques. Italy for pictures. But America for God!

I start with the cheering thought that the most popular book on earth to-day is the Bible, the most popular institution on earth to-day is the church, and the most popular name on earth to-day is Jesus. Right from this audience hundreds of men and women would, if need be, march out and die for Him.

Am I too confident in saying "America for God?" If the Lord will help me, I will show the strength and extent of the long line of fortresses to be taken, and give you my reasons for saying it can be done and will be done. Let us decide, in this battle for God, whether we are at Bull Run or at Gettysburg. There is a Fourth of July-ism way of bragging about this country, and the most tired and plucked bird that ever flew through the heavens is the American eagle, so much so that Mr. Gladstone said to me facetiously, at Hawarden: "I hear that the fish in your American lakes are so large that when one of them is taken out the entire lake is perceptibly lowered," and at a dinner given in Paris an American offered for a sentiment: "Here is to the United States—bounded on the north by the aurora borealis, on the south by the procession of the equinoxes, on the east by primeval chaos, and on the west by the day of judgement." The effect of such grandiloquence is to discredit the real facts which are so tremendous they need no garnishing. The worst thing to do in any campaign, military or religious, is to underestimate an enemy, and I will have no part in such attempt at belittlement.

This land to be taken for God, according to Hassel, the statistician, has 14,219,967 square miles, a width and a length that none but the omniscient can appreciate. Four Europes put together, and capable of holding and feeding, as it will hold and feed, according to Atkinson, the statistician, if the world continues in existence and does not run afoul of some other world or get consumed by the fires already burning in the cellars of the planet—capable, I say, of holding and feeding more than one billion of inhabitants. For you must remember it must be held for God as well as taken for God, and the last 500,000,000 inhabitants must not be allowed to swamp the religion of the first 500,000,000. Not much use in taking the fortress if we can not hold it. It must be held until the archangel's trumpet bids living and dead arise from this foundering planet.

You must remember that it is only about seven o'clock in the morning of our nation's life. Great cities are to flash and roar among what are called the "Bad Lands" of the Dakotas and the great "Columbia plains" of Washington state, and that on which we put our schoolboy fingers on the map and spelled out as the "Great American desert" is, through systematic and consummating irrigation, to bloom like Chatsworth park, and be made more productive than those regions dependent upon uncertain and spasmodic rainfall. All these regions, as those regions already cultivated, to be inhabited! That was a sublime thing said by Henry Clay while crossing the Allegheny mountains, and he was waiting for the stage horses to be rested, as he stood on a rock, arms folded, looking off into the valley, and some one said to him: "Mr. Clay what are you thinking about?" He replied: "I am listening to the oncoming tramp of the future generation of America." Have you laid our home missionary scheme on such an infinitude of scale? If the work of bringing one soul to God is so great, can 1,000,000,000 be captured? In this country, already planted and to be overcome, paganism has built its altar to Brahma, and the Chinese are already burning incense in their temples, and Mohammedanism, drunk in other days with the red wine of human blood at Lucknow and Cawnpore, and now fresh from the diabolism in Armenia, is trying to get a foothold here, and from the minarets of her mosques will yet mumble her blasphemies, saying: "God is great, and Mohammed is His prophet." Then there are the vaster multitudes with no religion at all. They worship no God, they live with no consolation, and they die with no hope. No star of peace points down to the manger in which they are born, and no prayer is uttered over the grave into which they sink.

Then there is is alcoholism, its piled up demijohns and beer barrels, and hogsheads of fiery death, a barricade high and long as the Alleghenies and Rockies and Sierra Nevadas, pouring forth day and night their ammunition of wretchedness and woe. When a German wants to take a drink he takes beer. When an Englishman wants to take a drink he takes ale. When a Scotchman wants to take a drink he takes whisky. But when an American wants to take a drink he takes anything he can get. [illegible] the statistics of how many [illegible] under the heel of this most [illegible] of the stories? How many [illegible] Holy may curse it [illegible] and the smoke of the [illegible] of the torment that ascendeth [illegible] forever and ever! Alcoholism, [illegible] not with hand unpitied to [illegible] even, for from that direction [illegible] get no help, but with right hand stretched down toward the perdition from which it came up—swearing that it will not cease as long as there are any homesteads to despoil, any magnificent men and women to destroy, any immortal souls to damn, any more nations to balk, any more civilizations to extinguish.

Then there is what in America we call socialism, in France communism, and in Russia nihilism—the three names for the same thing—and having but two doctrines in its creed: (1) There is no God; (2) there shall be no rights of property. One of their chief journals printed the sentiment: "Dynamite can be made out of the dead bodies of capitalists as well as out of hogs." One of the leaders of communism left inscribed on his prison where he had been justly incarcerated, these words: "When once you are dead, there is an end of everything; therefore, ye scoundrels, grab whatever you can—only don't let yourselves be grabbed. Amen!" There are in this country hundreds of thousands of the lazy scoundrels. Honest men deplore it when they can not get work, but those of whom I speak will not do work when they can get it. I tried to employ one who asked me for money. I said: "Down in my cellar I have some wood to saw, and I will pay you for it." For a little while I heard the saw going, and then I heard it no more. I went downstairs, and found the wood, but the workmen had disappeared, taking for company both buck and saw.

Socialism, communism and nihilism mean, "Too wicked to acknowledge God, and too lazy to earn a living," and among the mightiest obstacles to be overcome are those organized elements of domestic, social and political ruin.

There are also the fastnesses of infidelity, and atheism, and fraud, and political corruption, and multiform, hydra-headed, million-armed abominations all over the land. While the mightiest agencies for righteousness on earth are good and healthful newspapers and good and healthful books, and our chief dependence for intelligence and Christian achievement is among them, what word among the more than one hundred thousands words in our vocabulary can describe the work of that archangel of mischief, a corrupt literature? What man, attempting anything for God and humanity, has escaped a stroke of filthy wing? What good cause has escaped its hinderment? What other obstacle in all the land so appalling?

Our leader, like most great leaders, was born in an obscure place, and it was an humble home, about five miles from Jerusalem. Those who were out doors that night said that there was stellar commotion, and music that came out of the clouds, as though the front door of Heaven had been set open, and that the camels heard His first infantile cry.

Then He came to the fairest boyhood that mother was ever proud of, and from 12 to 30 years of age was off in India, if traditions there are accurate, and then returned to His native land, and for three years had His pathway surrounded by blind eyes that He illumined, and epileptic patients to whom He gave rubicund health, and tongues that He loosed from silence into song, and those whose funerals He stopped that He might give back to bereaved mothers their only boys, and those whose fevered pulses He had restored into rhythmic throb, and whose paralytic limbs He had warmed into healthful circulation, pastor at Capernaum, but flaming evangelist everywhere, hushing crying tempests and turning rolling seas into solid sapphire, and for the rescue of a race submitted to courtroom filled with howling miscreants, and to a martyrdom at the sight of which the sun fainted and fell back in the heavens, and then treading the clouds homeward, like snowy mountain peaks, till Heaven took Him back again, more a favorite than He had ever been, but, coming again, He is on earth now, and the nations are gathering to His standard. Following Him were the Scotch Covenanters, the Theban legion, the victims of the London Haymarket, the Piedmontese sufferers, the Pilgrim Fathers, the Huguenots and uncounted multitudes of the past, joined by about four hundred million of the present, and with the certainty that all nations shall huzzah at His chariot wheel. He goes forth, the moon under His feet and the stars of Heaven for His tiara—the mighty leader, He of Drumclog, and Bothwell bridge, and Bannockburn, and the one who whelmed Spanish Armada, "Coming up from Edom, with dyed garments from Bozrah, traveling in the greatness of His strength, mighty to save," and behind whom we fall into line to-day and march in the campaign that is to take America for God. Hosanna! Hosanna! Wave all the palm branches! At His feet put down your silver and your gold, as in Heaven you will cast before Him your coronets.

The very things that have been quoted as perils to this nation are going to help its salvation. Great cities, so often mentioned as great obstacles—the center of crime and the receptacle of all infamities—are to lead in the work of evangelization. Who give [illegible] to home missions, to asylums, to [illegible] to all styles of hu- [illegible] What place will do more than any other place, by reason of the Christian men and women and means, in the work of taking America for God? New York city. The way Paris goes, goes France. The way Edinburgh goes, goes Scotland. The way London goes, goes England. The way New York and a couple other cities go, goes America. May the eternal God wake us up to the stupendous issue!

Another thing quoted pessimistically is the vast and overtopping fortunes in this country, and they say it means concentrated wealth, and luxuriousness, and display, and moral ruin. It is my observation that it is the people who have but limited resources who make the most splurge, and I ask you, Who are endowing colleges and theological seminaries? Did you ever hear of Peter Cooper, and James Lenox, and sainted William E. Dodge, and the Lawrences, Amos and Abbott, while I refrain from mentioning living benefactors who, quite as generous and Christian, are in this assembly, at this moment planning what they can do in these days, and in their last will and testament in this campaign that proposes taking America for God? The widow's mite, honored of the Lord, is to have its part in this continental capture; but we must have more than that, and more right away. Many of the men that expect to get the blessing for bestowing the widow's mite will not get the blessing. In the first place, they are not widows, and in the next place, they have no "might."

The time is coming—hasten it, Lord—and I think you add I will see it, when, as Joseph, the wealthy Arimathean, gave for the dead Christ a costly mausoleum, the affluent men and women of this country will rise in their strength and build for our King, our Jesus, the throne of this American continent.

But now what are the weapons by which, under our omnipotent leader, the real obstacles in the way of our country's evangelization, the 10,000 mile Sebastopols, are to be leveled? The first columbiad, with range enough to sweep from eternity to eternity, is the Bible, millions of its copies going out, millions on millions—this, the monarch of books, that has made all the difference between China and the United States, between Africa and America; a book declaring in every style of phraseology that all nations are to be converted, and does not that include our nation? If the Apocalyptic angel is to fly across the continents, will he not fly across this continent? The worst insult I could offer you would be to doubt your veracity, and shall we doubt God's promise? Then there are all the Gospel batteries, manned by 70,000 pastors and home missionaries, over the head of each one of whom is the shield of Divine protection, and in the right hand of each one the gleaming, two-edged sword of the Infininite Spirit! Hundreds of thousands of private soldiers for Christ, marching under the one-starred, blood-striped flag of Immanuel!

They are marching on! Episcopacy, with the sublime roll of its liturgies; Methodism, with its battle cry of "The sword of the Lord and John Wesley;" the Baptist church, with its glorious navy sailing up our Oregons and Sacramentos and Mississippis; and Presbyterianism, moving on with the battle cry of "The sword of the Lord and John Knox."

And then, after awhile, will come the great tides of revival, sweeping over the land, the 500,000 conversions in 1857 eclipsed by the salvation of millions in a day, and the four American armies of the Lord's host marching toward each other, the eastern army marching west, the western army marching east, the northern army marching south, the southern army marching north; shoulder to shoulder! Tramp! Tramp! Tramp! Until they meet midcontinent, having taken America for God!

The thunder of the bombardment is already in the air, and when the last bridge of opposition is taken, and the last portcullis of Satan is lifted, and the last gun spiked, and the last tower dismantled, and the last charger of iniquity shall have been hurled back upon its haunches, what a time of rejoicing! We will see it, not with these eyes, which before that will be closed in blessed sleep, but with strong and better vision, when the Lord once in awhile gives us a vacation among the doxologies to come down and see the dear old land which I pray may always be the land of the text, mild and peaceful, inoffensive, but in case foreign nations assail it, having two horns of army and navy strong enough to hook them back and hook them down, and a voice louder than a dragon, yea, louder than 10,000 thunders, saying to the billows of Asiatic superstition and European arrogance: "Thus far shalt thou go, and no farther, and here shall thy proud waves be stayed!"

The man with a weight on his leg can't hope to win in the race. A man with a weight on his health can't expect to compete in life and business with those who are not handicapped. If his brain is heavy, and his blood sluggish, because of constipation, he will not succeed in doing anything very well. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all sickness. Symptoms of it are sallowness, listlessness, poor appetite, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, biliousness, and lassitude. Constipation can be cured easily and certainly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are not at all violent in their action, and yet they are more certain than many medicines which are so strong that they put the system all out of order. The great advantage of the "Pleasant Pellets" is that they cure permanently.

While no physician or pharmacist can conscientiously warrant a cure, the J. C. Ayer Co. guarantees the purity, strength, and medicinal virtues of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It was the only blood-purifier admitted at the great World's Fair in Chicago, 1893. 1w

Don't Mince Matters, but take all the help you can get. And you can get more of it, with Pearline, than with anything else that's safe to use. Everybody knows about Pearline for washing clothes. We talk more about that, because of all the wear and tear and labor it saves, by doing away with that ruinous rub, rub, rub. But don't let its help stop there. With anything that will wash at all, Pearline will save you something in the washing. Dishes, paint, woodwork, marble, windows, carpets (without taking up), milk cans, silver, jewelry, etc.—these are only some of the things that are washed best with Pearline. UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigorous, useful health, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Most women do not understand their own ailments, or the things that make them well or sick. The most frequent cause of sickness in women is the cause last looked for. Women will go to a doctor when she has been cold, or some acute digestive disturbance, but she hesitates and procrastinates when the trouble is with the distinctly feminine organism. And yet the latter is infinitely more serious. It is the most serious sickness that any woman can have. It is the most dreadful—the most dangerous. Its consequences are always serious, and go on right at the beginning because it is debilitating. It saps the life and strength and works on the nerves to such an extent that the whole body is disturbed. Appetite fails, the color goes from the face and cheeks sink into the cheeks. Irritability exceeds good temper and fretfulness takes the place of contentment. Little by little she becomes more and more miserable. A woman is killing herself with neglect as surely as if she were taking deadly poison. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable examination and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians had failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for 30 years. It isn't an experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain and infallible cure for all disarrangements peculiar to women. Those who care to know all about it, and to receive the best medical work ever prepared for the general public are invited to send twenty-one cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only and receive a copy of Dr. Pierce's thousand page book, "Common Sense Medical Adviser." COURTEOUS HINTS.

They Are as Forcible as Other Kinds—A Case in Point.

Perhaps there is no greater strain upon "neighborly feeling" than living next door to a poultry yard whose inmates are allowed to "run"—making exercise ground of the adjacent flower and vegetable gardens. A San Diego young lady who was subject to this annoyance politely asked her neighbors, says Youth's Companion, to keep his pets at home. She asked it several times, and still no attention was paid to her grievance. Finally she hit up on an ingenious method of protecting herself.

She prepared grains of corn by tying to them, with strong carpet thread, small cards bearing the words: "Please keep your chickens at home!" and distributed the grains about her flower beds.

The chickens came to feast as usual, and greedily swallowed the corn, not perceiving the thread until the card was against their jaws. Then they could neither swallow the card nor rid themselves of the swallowed corn.

Twenty or thirty of the marauders ran home, bearing the polite request to their culpable owner, who, struck with the method of the hint, promptly cut the threads and cooped up the birds.

This was forcible, but a delicate hint upon a like offense was conveyed from one aggrieved relative to another where stronger measures would have been out of place.

The suffering victim of hens was taken ill, and the perhaps unconscious offender slew his choicest birds and sent to the invalid. The invalid feasted thereon, and sent back a message of thanks to the effect that the fowl was delicious, and tasted of her violets!

VALUABLE COLOR TEST.

How the Course of Water in German Rivers Was Determined.

A color test on a large scale occurred recently near Geseke, Germany. The Volmed, the Waid and the Heder are three brooks which have their source near Geseke, and according to tradition their waters had subterranean connection with the Alme, a mountain stream whose bed is some five miles distant. Millers located on the lower Alme, says the Philadelphia Times, dumped refuse in certain eddies of the upper portion of the stream, and the millers on the Vormede, the Weid and the Heder claimed that by doing this the water supply of the latter streams was materially diminished. To determine the connection about four pounds of potassium fluorescinate was dumped into one of the Heder. This substance is marvelously powerful, and a solution containing one part in 10,000,000 shows a distinct fluorescence in transmitted light. Twenty-five hours later the Heder took on a beautiful dark green color, showing conclusively the connection between the two streams. An experiment at another point showed with equal clearness that there was a subterranean connection between the Waid and the Volmede, though in this case 44 hours elapsed between the depositing of the dye stuff in the Alme and the appearance of the coloration in the other streams.

Death of a Miser Whose Fortune Cannot Be Found.

Homer, March 10.—Harry Laker, an odd character who has resided here for more than 20 years, died of apoplexy Monday morning, aged 70 years. He came from England. Nearly all the time he has lived in barns. He was a hard and remarkably fast workman, and always had work, which kept him busy from daylight to darkness. Miserly in his habits, Laker laid up thousands of dollars in gold. His money is secreted somewhere, but the secret dies with him. Good clothes were often given him, but he refused to wear them, and he was always in rags. New garments were found in his haunt in an old barn here.

WOMEN MAKE TROUBLE.

Marriage of Michigan Notaries Public Complicates Matters.

Lansing, March 11.—County Clerk Forbes, of Kalamazoo, has notified Attorney General Maynard that several women notaries public of that county have married since receiving their commissions. Mr. Forbes desires to know what name they are to sign. He has advised them to sign "Mrs. John Jones, formerly Susan Smith," or whatever their present and former names happen to be, and wants to know if this will meet the requirements of the law. The attorney general will look into the matter before advising Mr. Forbes.

Free Silver Conference Called.

Lansing, March 7.—A free-silver conference will be held here March 21. It will be participated in by as many of the free silver democrats of the state as respond to the invitations which have been sent out by George P. Hummer, of Holland. It is understood that about 100 persons have been invited to the conference, the object of which, from Mr. Hummer's statement, is to pave the way for sending a free silver delegation to the democratic national convention.

Requisition Issued.

Lansing, March 7.—Gov. Rich has issued a requisition on the governor of Indiana for J. David Seibert, a young dentist who practiced here for several years. Detectives, who located Seibert in Indianapolis, say they have evidence that he knows something about the disappearance of $1,000 worth of opals and diamonds from the jewelry store of Wells & Morgan in January. He left Lansing, it is said, when the story of the robbery was published.

Regulators Stabbed.

Brown City, March 9.—A dozen men made a night raid on the residence of Chris Zeignhardt, five miles north of here, for the purpose of punishing Jo Shultz, who, they claim, had made serious threats against their children. The crowd broke down the doors, but were confronted by Zeignhardt, who stabbed John Foster in the arm and John Bowers in the chest. Shultz made his escape by the back door. Warrants are out on both sides.

Contest Over a Depot Site.

Lansing, March 10.—The Chicago & Grand Trunk Railway company is defending in the circuit court its title to its extensive depot grounds here. The title is attacked by James M. Turner, mayor of Lansing, his claim being that the buildings are on ground owned by him adjacent to those named in the company's deed. The company has been in possession for nearly 30 years, and claims it cannot now be disturbed.

Fine Steamer Launched.

Bay City, March 8.—The L. C. Waldo, a magnificent steel steamship built for the Roby Transportation company of Detroit, was launched from the Wheeler company's yards Saturday. The Waldo is one of the 400-footers which Wheeler & Co. will launch this year. Her dimensions are: Length over all, 400 feet; keel, 380 feet; beam, 48 feet; depth of hold, 28 feet.

Heroine Saves a Child's Life.

Dexter, March 11.—While skating on the mill pond, Pearl Walker, 12 years old, broke through the ice and would have drowned but for the heroic efforts of Miss Myrtle Bostwick, a teacher in the high school. She flung her cloak to the girl and stood part of the time in a foot of water, the ice sinking with her, until, with help, the drowning girl was rescued.

Cheap Telephones for Detroit.

Detroit, March 11. — The common council has passed an ordinance granting the Detroit Telephone company, which operates under the Harrison patents, a franchise for putting in a telephone system in this city. The object is cheaper rates, viz.: $35 to $50 per year, as against $50 to $72 charged by the Bell company.

Detroit's Coroner Captured.

Toledo, O., March 8. — Joseph Bettinger, Detroit's coroner, who was found short in his accounts and fled from the city, was arrested here by detectives, after a desperate fight. He jumped through a window in his endeavor to escape.

LED TO DEATH BY A TAUNT.

Jacob Shelineis Falls to the Floor After Showing His Capacity for Drink.

Manistee, March 10.—Jacob Shelineis is dead as the result of not being able to withstand a taunt as to his drinking powers. Shelineis was a good workman and four months ago stopped drinking at the solicitation of his employer. He kept his oath until some of his old companions scoffed at him for not being able to take a drink, and he started on a spree, which ended Saturday night in a river resort. A lot of his boon companions dared him to drink a beer glass of whisky, and he offered a wager that he could drink three. The bet was made, and he drank a beer glass three times full of whisky. He fell to the floor and died in two hours. The authorities are considering the bringing of serious charges against the saloonkeeper and the men who induced Shelineis to drink.

CROP CONDITIONS.

Wheat Has Suffered No Injury and Live Stock Is in Good Shape.

Lansing, March 10.—The March crop report says the weather last month was favorable for wheat, there being sufficient snow throughout the month to afford the plant fair protection. Two-thirds of the 600 correspondents report that wheat suffered no injury from any cause. The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed in the seven months, August to February, is 6,707,118, which is 1,299,500 bushels less than reported marketed in the same months last year. Live stock is in good condition. Considering the short hay crop stock is wintering remarkably well.

Frankfort, March 7.—The Bank of Frankfort, owned by Chandler Brothers, closed its doors Friday morning. William Chambers was made assignee. Much excitement was caused by the failure, though it was not an unlooked for event. For three months citizens had been losing confidence in the bank and many had withdrawn their deposits. R. Z. Chandler gives the following statement: Liabilities, $32,000; assets, $60,000; deposits, $19,000. With refernce to the cause of the failure he says he will make a statement later.

Indignation is felt here in consequence and a popular subscription will be made to secure the best lawyers obtainable to assist in the prosecution. The 3,000 miners in the city are to give one dollar each to this fund.

Village Elections.

Detroit, March 10.—Village elections were held throughout Michigan Monday. The issues were solely of a local character in nearly every town, and general politics cut scarcely any figure. "Citizens'" and "independent" tickets were numerous. Where party lines were drawn republicans were, for the most part, the winners so far as reported, but the democrats furnished a few surprises.

JUDGE KENDRICK HOLDS ON.

No General Election Occurs This Spring in Michigan.

Lansing, March 9. — The supreme court has filed an opinion of great importance to the electors of Michigan, in a case where the county clerk of Saginaw county sought to mandamus the secretary of state to compel him to order the election of a circuit judge in the Saginaw circuit to fill a vacancy. This is a year in which there are no state officers elected in the spring election, and some of the cities hold their charter elections at different dates. The court holds that this cannot be considered a general election, at which time only such vacancies can be filled, as all the people of the state do not participate. Judge Kendrick, the appointee of Gov. Rich, will, therefore, serve in the Saginaw circuit until his successor is elected at the full election.

MUSTERED OUT.

Soldiers at Marquette Pay the Penalty of Poor Discipline.

Lansing, March 7. — Company G, Fifth infantry, located at Marquette, has been mustered out of the military service of the state, and Capt. J. F. Ball has been directed to ship all stores in his possession to Quartermaster General Kidd at once. The muster-out order is the result of an inspection made February 19 by Inspector General Walsh, who recommended the disbandment of the company because of a "want of care of state property, total disregard for orders governing the drills and meetings of the company, internal dissensions, lack of all discipline, and a total ignoring of the recommendations and orders of the inspector genral made at a former inspection."

TO BE SOLD IN APRIL.

Second Mortgage Holders of the G. R. & I. Win a Victory.

Grand Rapids, March 9.—An order for foreclosure sale of the Grand Rapids & Indiana railway was granted Saturday in the United States court by Judge Severns. This is a victory for the second mortgage bondholders who began the suit, and cuts off third mortgage holders entirely. The date of sale is fixed for April 27. The amount of the second mortgage bonds, the basis of the suit, is $3,734,765. The sale ordered is subject to the first mortgage bonds, amounting to $6,157,645, and liens on the company's equipment, aggregating $356,554 more. The third mortgage bonds, on which little or nothing will now be realized, amount to $3,996,000.

CUT HER HUSBAND'S THROAT.

Bloody Deed of Mrs. John Keifer at Decatur.

During the night Mrs. Keifer arose, and, procuring a large butcher knife, returned to the side of the bed, where she commenced caressing her husband. Suddenly seizing him by the whiskers the woman drew the knife across his throat, inflicting injuries which are expected to prove fatal.

BURIED BY A GROUND SLIDE.

Fatal Accident While Men Are Working in an Excavation.

Marquette, March 11.—Thirteen men were engaged on an excavation contract on the line of the Ishpeming & Lake Superior railway Tuesday. One of the members jokingly alluded to the fact and the superstitious significance of the number 13. Less than an hour later the embankment caved in and a laborer named Olof Olson was buried beneath the ground slide. Before he could be reached life was extinct. Olson was unmarried and hailed from Depere, Wis.

Dropped Dead.

Muskegon, March 10.—Frank E. Dowler, aged 40 years, was preparing supper for his four young children at his home, 365 Clay avenue, when he fell over dead. Coroner Van Derlinde decided that death was the result of heart trouble. Mrs. Dowler was visiting in another part of the city at the time.

HAWAII, THE "PEARL OF THE PACIFIC."

The Ninth of a Series of Letters by John R. Musick.

The Two Great Coffee Growing Districts—How Coffee is Grown.

(Copyrighted, 1896, by Funk & Wagnalls Company, New York.)

Coffee is said to be the hope of the Hawaiian Islands, as it will bring emigrants of a class greatly desired. Many of the sugar plantations are of no advantage to the country save for the taxes they pay. One of the largest sugar plantations in Hawaii is owned by non-residents. The manager and every white man on this plantation are citizens of California, and every laborer is a Chinese or Japanese. The plantation has its own store which all the employees patronize, so that, year by year, every dollar of the products of this plantation of twenty thousand acres is sent out of the country to the United States, to China, to Japan.

Sugar plantations, it is claimed, must be conducted by large corporations; no small cane grower has ever been found who could successfully conduct the business. But with coffee it is different. Coffee is the "poor man's crop". From five to ten acres may be cultivated by one person, and a single crop has been known to yield five hundred dollars per acre.

Coffee lands would disgust even Connecticut farmers. How it would be possible to produce anything at all from the stone and lava would puzzle any one fully conversant with the stony lands of New England, and yet the best coffee trees are found growing out of this same rock and lava. A gentleman who has been making some scientific investigation into coffee-growing, says that lava-covered soil is the very best in which to plant coffee. This gentleman has a coffee plantation of forty acres, with over one thousand trees to the acre, and his trees yield two pounds to the tree. The blight, and the fungus which is the result of the blight, has injured the trees to a considerable extent, and at one time threatened the destruction of the industry, but it was discovered that by spraying young trees with resin water and potash, the blight could be destroyed. Then the ladybird was introduced, and has proven a destructive enemy to the blight.

There is great rivalry between the Puna and Kana districts in coffee-growing. The latter is the older district, and claims to produce a superior article and more to the acre. On the other hand Puna coffee-growers claim a better soil than Kana, and the work, so far as they have gone, is certainly promising. Puna district is, to a great extent, a wild unexplored region on the great island of Hawaii, and has but two thousand inhabitants, most of whom are natives living in their aboriginal style in grass huts. The district is capable of supporting in comfort and prosperity one hundred thousand people, as it has been discovered that in these Islands one acre of good land will support eight people.

The Puna district is about ten miles wide and fifty long, so one can understand what an enormous population it is capable of sustaining. Puna, like most of Hawaii, is a very rocky and sterile. The northern part is covered with a dense lauhala forest, and is very thinly inhabited.

This district is covered with ancient lava flows. The only flow of recent date is that of 1840, which flowed under ground for many miles, and then burst forth in the woods and went down to the sea, overwhelming a small village in its course. In the course of this flow may be found lava vases and trees made by the hot tide rushing like an avalanche down the mountain side, and striking a tree with such force as to splash the molten lava up one side, sometimes to the height of a hundred feet, where it cooled and hardened, and, after the wood burned out in the center, it left a lava tree.

There is something remarkable about the fertility of Hawaiian soil. Lava flows are soon covered with ferns, which are great fertilizers. Then follows a dense growth of forest vines and thickets forming an impenetrable jungle so that one is compelled to cut his way through.

Deep unfathomable chasms and caverns are quite abundant in Puna. Some of these caverns extend miles underground with many branches leading off from the main entrance. It is not safe to venture into a cave without a competent guide.

Mr. Wright, of the Wilder Steamship Company, has incorporated a coffee association with a paid up capital of $6,000 for the purpose of opening up the coffee country in Puna. The company has purchased three hundred acres of the best coffee lands in Puna, to be divided into ten acre lots, and it is intended to induce industrious Americans of small means to emigrate to the islands and engage in coffee-growing. It is proposed to give them one plantation in return for improving one for the company. The company itself will have one hundred acres in coffee, fifty in cocoa, ten to twenty in citron roots, and will utilize the balance of its three hundred in fine apples and guava for jelly.

Kana, the rival of Puna, is about as barren and sterile a country as it has ever been my lot to see. One travels over miles and miles of blackened rocks and lava flow, most of it in this portion of the Island being the rugged flow called by the natives 'aa." On the first day we crossed the flow of 1887. This is black, but after a travel of ten hours, the color changes. The flow is older, and trees are found growing on it. Occasionally the dead branches of monster ohia trees could be seen sticking up from the lava which overwhelmed it in past years, the top branches white and glistening like the bones of a skeleton.

After we had passed the black lava flow of 1887, which extends about ten miles beyond the Kahuka Ranch, the trees became more abundant, and soon we were in forests of ferns and ohia trees. The road here is through the lava, and straight as an air line railroad. Where there are trees the road is cut directly through them, and if there are no trees the road is equally as discernable by the leveling down of the lava, which is piled in a wall on either side.

For hours at a time we wended our way up hill and down, the roadbed often choked with great stones over which the tired horses could hardly step. Whenever there was a smooth bit of road, the guide uttered a shout: "Wic-ke, wic-ke!" and put the horses at a gallop. This was only for a short time, however, for there is not a strip of good road fifty yards in length in all Kana, after you have left the sugar plantations.

People in Hawaii seem to have no more idea of miles than they have of the cardinal points of the compass, and that is nil. When we were half a day's journey from a village or plantation and I asked the distance, the answer would be: "Oh, it is too far!" If the place was only two or three miles away, the answer would be: "Oh, it's not too far." White men seem to have succumbed to this custom of the natives. I asked a Norwegian the distance to Hookenia, and he answered:

"Four hours."

"But how many miles?" I asked.

"I don't know," he answered. "We never reckon distance by miles but by the hours it takes to reach a place. It may be eight, may be twelve miles, may be six, but all the same it will take you four hours to make it."

At Hookenia I met several coffee-growers.

"You want to know somethin' about coffee, do you?" said a man in linen ulster and broad brimmed Panama hat.

"Yes, I have come all the way to Kana to see the celebrated Kana coffee, which is said to be the best in the world."

"Let me tell you somethin', young man," the gentleman said, advancing to me and laying his hand on my shoulder. "I have the only coffee plantation on the island." He had the air of a millionaire of vast importance, as he stood with his hands in his pockets and a look of superiority on his face.

"How large a plantation have you?" I asked.

"Well, I have four acres of bearing trees," he answered, but I am going to plant forty more."

Hookenia is on the coast, and back of it is a great forest in which wild coffee trees are growing. These wild coffee trees are valuable, as they have been known to yield three pounds of coffee to the tree. Two miles and a half from Hookenia by the Mauka road one comes upon the Morgan & McStocher plantation, which, tho' it has only forty acres in coffee, yields twenty thousand dollars worth per annum.

Tho' it was late December when I rode up to the manager's house and dismounted, the day was as hot as one in August in the temperate zone. Mr. J. M. Davis, the owner of the plantation, was reclining on the plazza in his shirt sleeves, in a steamer chair.

"So you have come to look at my coffee, have you?" he said, starting to his feet on my approach. "Well, come in and have a cool drink. This delightful weather must be a little hard on you northerners until you get used to it. I am a New Yorker myself, but I think this the healthiest country in the world."

After a few moments rest we took a stroll through the coffee trees, and then went to the mill and looked into a great box in which several thousand pounds of coffee had been put. "By the next steamer we ship one hundred and fifty bags," said Mr. Davis.

After leaving this plantation the road for miles led through a forest of wild coffee, ferns, and ohia trees. Thousands of Japanese were busy gathering coffee, and piles of bags of freshly picked coffee were lying at every mile. There was coffee everywhere, until it seemed as if there was enough to supply the world. The bushes grew so dense on each side of the road that we could not see ten paces in to them, but the chattering of Japanese as they picked the berries could be distinctly heard.

We passed the Claighall plantation, owned by a Scotchman, father of the crown princess who, since the revolution that overthrew monarchy, has lived in Scotland. This plantation contains seventy acres, and produces some of the finest coffee berries I have ever seen.

Passing through the famous orange orchard of Mrs. Greenwell, at Kalu Kalu, where grow the finest oranges in the world, we arrived at sunset at Kailua. This town is in the heart of the coffee country, and is the shipping point for the Hawaiian Tea and Coffee Company, the McDougal, Moller, Judge Clarke, Dr. Capron, and Bartlett plantations. Many of these plantations are well established and yield thousands of pounds annually, while others are just beginnig to bear. In five or six years tons will be shipped to the pounds now taken from Kailua.

It is said that an Englishman has succeeded in photographing at one end of a wire objects exposed between two vacuum tubes at the other end of the wire.

The Ten Mile Race.

Last Wednesday night the 10 mile foot race came off at Armory hall according to advertisement. Much interest had been manifested in the event as the boys had been training quite thoroughly and had made some very enviable records previous to the race. About 300 spectators witnessed the match among whom were a number of ladies. The performance was conducted in a refined and gentlemanly manner throughout. The audience watched the running with close attention and even the small boy was content to look on and keep quiet. In fact not only the character of the performance but the order preserved among the audience was much more refined and decorous than that of the average show. It is a source of satisfaction that an evening of interesting and legitimate sport can be witnessed, even by ladies, in a becoming and respectable manner. Compared to a ball game, horse race, or the majority of theatre shows, the foot race was like a drawing room recital.

Mr. Smith was evidently very much surprised before the first mile was finished by Westcott in 4:57, and when his followers averaged better than 5:20 the winner of above 80 similar races thought he had struck a gang of professionals. However, he kept his pace and finished in excellent form in 59:40. "Cow Boy" Smith is certainly a famous runner and as a long distance pedestrian has few equals in the world. He could probably have made better time Wednesday night had he been pushed but to have beaten the 10 would have been out of the question, for money or glory.

Capt. Kyle offered $1.00 each to the boys making better than 5:20 and considerable credit is due him and the company for the pains taken to put on so good and well conducted a race. The records of the members of the home team are as follows:

Westcott	4:57
Pritchard	5:04
Bowen	5:20
Gillen	5: 6
Anderson	5:16
Hoag	5:23
Coddington	5:13
Pattison	5:17
Meade	5:23
Smith	4:55

Smith finished without apparent fatigue and made a few remarks in praise of the spirit and excellent running of our boys, saying that, in nearly 90 races of like character run by him, he had never met so fast a team. He made a proposition to run the winners a five mile race under similar conditions for 40 and 60 per cent. He is to run the five miles without intermission and they to run one half each. The challenge was accepted and the date fixed for next Monday evening. This bids to be a much more exciting race than the former as Smith can spurt in a five mile heat, so can the boys, as they run one half mile each.

Old Comrades Meet.

Last week a pleasant and unexpected reunion occurred at the residence of Mr. Thomas Hanly. Word was received that on Wednesday, March 11, comrade C. C. Stowell, Sheridan's bugler, who resides at Cygnet, Ohio and who visited here four years ago with his old friend and comrade, Corporal Francis M. Cole, of Crawford Co., Pa., would reach Tecumseh at noon. These comrades were lads 12 and 14 years old when they went to the army, comrade Hanley being wagon master of the 18th N. Y., Cornings light Cav., he was known by all the boys and his army life was rehearsed to the utmost by the comrades, who well remembered his dreadful exposure in fording rivers, sleeping in the rain and caring for the sick. It occurred at one time in the hospital at Thibodanville, Louisiana, that comrade Cole was sick unto death for the want of food: in the evening after all was quiet, he motioned to comrade Hanley to give him something to eat. Soon a cup of bread and milk was brought to Cole, who ate and revived. The same program was carried out next day and comrade Cole survived and lived to come home. Twenty-five years rolled by when, by chance comrade Hanly read: "Wanted—the address of some of the 18th N. Y. boys, by Francis M. Cole." An answer was sent signed Thomas Hanly, Tecumseh, Mich. A letter soon came saying, "Tom, are you alive? It seems like hearing from the dead. Do you remember of giving a boy some bread and milk?" From that time the comrades have kept up correspondence, and long have they desired to look once more in to each others faces. At last it was their privilege to meet in the days of peace in the land over which the flag they fought to save proudly floats. These comrades were surprised by meeting another comrade, Sargeant Charles Blake, of Ogden Center, Mich., who was notified to come over and join with them. It was the first time so many of the 18th N. Y. had met comrade Hanley, who feels so thankful for the privilege especially since his sight has become so dim. None can tell the feelings of comrades as they meet and part except the Great Commander of them all, although it is to hoped there may be many more before the shadows of life shall pass away. The surprise occurred Thursday evening when a large detachment of the [illegible] Post and Corps marched in and [illegible] Thomas and his three visiting comrades prisoners. The evening was indeed an enjoyable one and the whole war was fought over again.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., March 13, '96.

The Senate has this week, in the language of the showmen, been playing to standing room only. The play might have been called "The Cuban bluff; or, explaining after the act." It is rather difficult to say which of the Senators took the star part, or whether the play was tragedy, comedy or farce, but inasmuch as it at times had traces of all three it should probably be classed as melodrama. The plot of the play runs something like this: The legislative branch of Uncle Sam's household being of the opinion that old lady Spain is cruelly mistreating Cuba, her orphan protege, declares that Miss Cuba is old enough to fight back and that her right to do so should be recognized by Uncle Sam, and moreover that he should ask old lady Spain to grant the orphan her freedom. While the coordinate branches of the legislative branch are determining just how this declaration is to be worded, the Spanish minister, who plays the heavy villian, rushes to the middle of the stage and charges three Senators with having made mistatements, and Senator Hale comes forward as his leading support. The play should have called for the heavy villian to get the g. b. in this act, from the Executive, but he didn't get it, the Executive having concluded to make his a thinking part only. Then Senator Hoar got the cue and jumped all over the Foreign Relations committee, the Cubans, and things generally, until Senator Morgan rattled his sword and gave him a turn or two and Senator Chandler gave him a little comedy business about making flesh of the Armenians and fish of the Cubans. Other Senators said their say between times, all of which was a great free show for the galleries, even if there was no logical ending to it. But why it took place is more than anybody can say. The time for debate on these resolutions was before they were adopted by the Senate. It was an absolute waste of time to defer action on the report of the Foreign Relations committee when it was well known that its report had been practically agreed to when the Senate adopted the resolutions.

Senator Teller is entitled to the credit of having made the most common sense summing up of the diplomatic "break" made by the Spanish minister, in publishing a criticism of statements made by Senators during the debate on the Cuban resolutions, and it adds to his credit that the words were spoken during a time of unusual extitement on the floor of the Senate, caused by Senator Hale having had the Spanish minister's criticism read by the clerk of the Senate, as a part of his remarks against the Cuban resolutions. Mr. Teller said: "Twice in the history of this country have we sent home the ministers of a great country, one of France and one of Great Britain, for a very much less offense than the one the Spanish minister has been guilty of. For fear that some one will say that I am criticizing the administration for not sending him home, I want to say that under the circumstances, considering the friction that has arisen in Spain, if I had been the President of the United States, I should not have sent him home, but I should have suggested very kindly to him, through the Secretary of State, that a repetition of that conduct would necessitate his leaving the country."

The subsidy which has been provided for special mail facilities between Boston and New Orleans, via New York, Washington and Atlanta, in every post-office appropriation bill since 1873, was kept in the present bill by the House by a vote of 116 to 93. This appropriation is this year $196,000. It has more than once been asserted in Congress that this subsidy was given to the railroads without getting anything in the way of mail facilities that would not be had without it, and three Postmaster Generals have condemned it; but Congress has believed it to be right and proper, and has stood by it all these years.

A sub-committee of the Senate committee on Territories has unanimously reported to the full committee in favor of the Catron bill for the admission of New Mexico to Statehood, and its friends think a majority of the committee will agree to its being favorably reported to the Senate. But even if reported and passed President Cleveland's recent remarks about the territories and new states indicate that it would be vetoed.

Senator Kyle, chairman of the committee to establish the University of the United States, has favorably reported the bill providing for the establishment of a National University at Washington, to be non-sectarian and non-partisan, and to be open to all competent to take its instruction. The bill carries a preliminary appropriation of $15,000. The idea of a National University was first advanced by George Washington, and it has been more or less talked about ever since, and bills for the purpose have been before many Congresses.

An Honest Man's Story.

Greenvillage, Pa., Jan. 23, '96.

Dear Sir:—Thank God there is a medicine that will cure catarrh. Mr. Pretzinger, I used your sample box of catarrh cure which you sent me. The first night I used it it helped me. May God bless you for your kindness. I used the little box you sent me and about half of a 50 cent jar. They keep it in Chambersburg. I have told a great many people about your medicine. Hon. 'Squire Britton, brother-in-law to me, is using it; he says it is helping him very much; he has catarrh very bad. Mrs. G. D. Ludwig, daughter of me, is using your medicine. I use it in the evening before retiring to bed and am feeling better now than I have for the past five years. My head is clear and I have more energy for work and business. Before I used your medicine I felt many a time that I did not care whether I was living or dead; I had no energy; I did not care for anything. I had catarrh over sixty-seven years; mother had catarrh and it turned into consumption; she died in her sixty-fourth year. I have a farm up at Strasburg, seven miles from Greenvillage. On nice days I drive up to the farm and work. Mr. Pretzinger, I think it would pay you to have it put in all the Franklin county papers as I am a reliable, honest man, so the people say, middling well acquainted over the county.

Yours truly,
GEO. K. ZOLLINGER.

A BACK BLOW.

The Weapon Small—but None More Certain or Effective.

In these times when backs are lame, when almost every other one we meet has now and then, or all the time, a back that aches or pains—"a weak back," "a bad back," a back that makes their life a misery to bear—and still they go on day by day in pain and suffering. Now 'tis the easiest thing in the world to give this played out back "a blow" that will settle it, and put in its place a new one equal to any. It's just like this: hit at the cause; most backaches come from kidney disorders. Reach the kidneys, start their clogged-up fibres in operation; when this is done you can say good-bye to backache.

Here is a case from Battle Creek: Mr. Josiah M. Shoup lives at 51 Broad Street, he was a member of the Battle Creek police force for many years. As a member of the force he served the city well, but the rough weather he was often subjected to laid the foundation of kidney disorder, which has troubled him very much. Here is what he says about it:

"About three years ago, while on the police force, I contracted from exposure a kidney trouble, which has since given me no end of trouble. The pain was right through my kidneys and across the small of my back; if sitting down and I wanted to stand up, I had to arise very slowly and gently to avoid increasing the pain; I had such tired-out feelings all the time, and I was steadily getting worse. About two months ago, hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box. Their action and effect was most complete, they removed the old aching pains for good. I can now get around as quickly as a [illegible] Doan's Kidney Pills are certainly [illegible]ted."

A Remarkable Advertisement.

This issue of the Herald prints a remarkable advertisement from a remarkable newspaper—The Chicago Record. The Record is Chicago's leading morning newspaper in point of circulation. In fact, next to The New York World it claims the largest morning circulation in America—160,000 a day. It is but fifteen years old, yet it has made a record of achievement within that comparatively short period. It has a way of doing new and strange things. Its latest enterprise is the institution of a competition among the authors of the world for the best original stories of a type which it calls "mystery stories." A year ago it offered $30,000 in cash prizes to authors for the best stories of this kind. The award of prizes has just been made, and the publication of the first prize story, which won for its author $10,000, is announced in The Record's advertisement in this issue.

The old man who looks out at the world with clear and healthy eyes cannot help feeling great gratification at the thought that his children have inherited from him no weakness nor tendency to disease. The healthy old man is the man who has throughout his life kept his digestion good and his blood pure. Not one in a thousand does do it. Germs go through the healthy body without effect. Let them once find lodgment or let them find a weak spot, they will develop by the million and the blood will be full of them. Instead of giving strength to the tissues, it will force upon them innutritious matter, and the man will lose flesh and the more susceptible he is to disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the only medicine that absolutely and infallibly cures all blood diseases, and almost all diseases are blood diseases. It isn't a medicine for some one particular so-called disease. It is a medicine for the whole body. It forces out all the germs of disease, and replaces impurities with rich, red blood. 1w

Poisons engendered by food fermenting in a dyspeptic stomach are the direct cause of rheumatism, gout, bronchitis, liver and kidney complaints, asthma, pneumonia and many nervous ailments.

These results are prevented by the use of the Shaker Digestive Cordial, a remedy discovered and prepared by the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, N. Y. It is in itself a food and has power to digest other food taken with it. Thus it rests the diseased stomach and finally masters the worst cases of dyspepsia. It acts promptly and fresh strength and increase of weight soon follows. The first dose, taken immediately after eating, abates the pain and distress so dreaded by dyspectics. Trial bottles—enough to prove its merit—10 cents.

OBITUARY.

Sarah A. Morgan, wife of the late John N. Morgan, was born Feb. 11, 1813, on the banks of the Susquehanna river in Columbia Co., Penn., and died Tuesday night, Feb. 25, 1896, aged 83 years and 13 days. She came to Michigan with her parents in 1832, this making her one of the pioneers of this place. She was united in marriage to John N. Morgan Oct. 26, 1837. They began life's work on the farm in Saline township adjoining the one on which she died. To this union three children were born, two of whom survive her. She was the only daughter and surviver of a family of ten children. She united with the Free Will Baptist Church of Macon in 1845, of which she has since been a faithful member, although poor health has kept her at home for some years past. In her early pioneer days, when the country was new and not supplied with a physician, it is remembered that she acted as nurse and ever helped with a willing hand, going miles through the woods to take care of the sick. Her end was peace. Her mind was calm reposing upon the Saviour's breast. Although she is missed and in that home there is a vacant chair, we only have to think she has passed on before. Her funeral services were held at her home Friday, Feb. 28, conducted by Rev. D. H. Ramsdel. Her remains were laid by the side of her loved companion in the Macon cemetery, in sure and certain hope of a resurrection to eternal life.

Weak, Irritable, Tired

"I Was No Good on Earth."

Dr. Miles' Nervine strengthens the weak, builds up the broken down constitution, and permanently cures every kind of nervous disease.

"About one year ago I was afflicted with nervousness, sleeplessness, Creeping sensation in my legs, Slight palpitation of my heart, Distracting confusion of the mind, Serious loss or lapse of memory. Weighted down with care and worry. I completely lost appetite And felt my vitality wearing out, I was weak, irritable and tired, My weight was reduced to 160 lbs., In fact I was no good, on earth.

A friend brought me Dr. Miles' book, "New and Startling Facts," and I finally decided to try a bottle of DR. MILES' Restorative Nervine. Before I had taken one bottle I could sleep as well as a 10-yr.-old boy. My appetite returned greatly increased.

When I had taken the sixth bottle My weight increased to 176 lbs., The sensation in my legs was gone; My nerves steadied completely; My memory was fully restored. My brain seemed clearer than ever. SNATCHED FROM THE GRAVE. A Warning from the Living. "At 13 I learned a bad habit. Tried four doctors and nerve tonics by the score without benefit; emissions and drains increased. I became a nervous wreck. A friend who had been cured by Drs. Kennedy & Kergan of a similar disease, advised me to try them. I did so and in two months was positively cured. This was eight years ago. I am now married and have two healthy children."—C. W. LEWIS, Saginaw.

VARICOCELE CURED. "Varicocele made life miserable. I was weak and nervous, eyes sunken, bashful in society, hair thin, no ambition. The 'Golden Monitor' opened my eyes. The New Method Treatment of Drs. Kennedy and Kergan cured me in a few weeks.—I. L. PETERSON, Ionia.

EMISSIONS CURED. J. P. EMERSON relates his experience. "I lived on a farm. At school I learned an early habit, which weakened me physically, sexually and mentally. Family doctors said I was going into 'decline' (consumption.) Finally 'The Golden Monitor,' edited by Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, fell into my hands. I learned the TRUTH and the CAUSE. Self-abuse had sapped my vitality. I took the New Method Treatment and was cured. My friends think I was cured of consumption. I have sent them many patients, all of whom were cured. Their New Method Treatment supplies vigor, vitality and manhood."

SYPHILIS CURED. "This terrible blood disease was in my system for eight years. Had taken mercury for two years, but the disease returned. Eyes red, pimples and blotches on the skin, ulcers in the mouth and on tongue, bone pains, falling out of hair, weakness, etc. My brother, who had been cured of Gleet and Stricture by Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, recommended them. They cured me in a few weeks, and I thank God I consulted them. No return of the disease in six years."—W. P. M., Jackson.

The Celery Industry.

Comparisons are odious, especially invidious comparisons, and who among our celery growers has not heard the remark, in a surprised tone of voice: "Why, do you grow celery about Tecumseh?" I supposed Michigan celery was grown only at Kalamazoo."

In order to relieve the festive foreigner of any excuse for his ignorance, and incidentally to assist the readers of the Herald who are celery culturists, we wish to gather material for a comprehensive article on the business. We therefore ask our readers to reply to the following interrogations, and as soon as the necessary information is gleaned, a directory of growers and a compendium of the industry will be forthcoming.

1. How many acres do you annually plant? (Average)
2. How many will you plant in 1896?
3. What varieties do you culture?
4. What variety is your main crop?
5. What proportion of your entire crop is this variety?
6. Is your business chiefly by express or frieght?
7. What proportion is done by each method?
8. How many bunches did you ship in 1895?
9. How many will you ship in 1896? (Estimate.)
10. What are your principal shipping points?
11. What per cent of your sales are made on commission?
12. What per cent on bona fide basis?
13. Please append names of other growers in your vicinity.

Prompt replies to these queries will be greatly appreciated and in return for the anticipated kindness we will endeavor to give the celery industry of our community the attention it deserves.

OBITUARY.

GARLINGHOUSE.

Died, at her home near Napoleon, Mich., on Wednesday, March 11, 1896, Mary Jane, wife of David Garlinghouse. Mary Jane Crego was born April 22, 1819. In early life she became a christian and united with the Methodist church, and has always remained steadfast in her faith in Christ and in her allegance to the church of her choice. In October, 1839, she was married to Rev. Levi Warriner, who died April 13, 1858. To them were born four children, but one of whom is now living, Mrs. Emma French, of White Rock, Oklahoma. In October, 1867, she was united in marriage with David Garlinghouse, then a resident of Macon, Lenawee Co., Mich. In this home she has always had from husband and grown up children the full measure of love and respect due a true wife and mother. In the spring of 1871 they removed to a farm west of Napoleon, Jackson Co., which has since been their home. In the autumn of 1894 she suffered a stroke of paralysis, from the effects of which she never fully recovered. On Monday, March 9, a similar attack rendered her entirely helpless, and, after two days without regaining consciousness, the time came when loving hearts and willing hands could do no more. The bereaved husband, bending under the weight of more than four score and ten years, has the sympathy of all who know him, in his sorrow.

After making a complete circuit of the globe, Owney, the world-renowned post-office dog, has returned to Albany, his native city.

AMBULANCE ON WATER.

Steam Launch Added to the London Hospital Service.

The managers of the Metropolitan asylums board, London, have just passed upon plans for an ambulance launch for river service. Her dimensions, says the Philadelphia Record, are as follows: Length between perpendiculars, 60 feet; breadth, 12 feet 6 inches; depth, four feet; draught of water when fully equipped, two feet eight inches. The hull is built of Siemens-Martin mild steel throughout to board of trade requirements for passenger certificate. She is built in five compartments. In the fore part of the vessel is a cabin for the accommodation of the staff and for visitors proceeding to visit patients in the hospital ships in Long Reach, Dartford, and is capable of accommodating about 20 persons. In the after part there is a cabin fitted up as a hospital, with four berths—two being fixed and two portable—and with all the necessary requirements for carrying four recumbent patients. Both of these cabins are heated with steam and are provided with suitable skylights and all the necessary fittings for a boat of its class.

The machinery is fixed amidships and is of the triple-expansion type, with surface condenser, and capable of driving the vessel at a speed of ten knots. A water-tight trimming tank is built at the fore end of the vessel of sufficient capacity that when filled with water it will bring the vessel to an even keel of two feet eight inches.

A HOLY TERROR.

But the Little Battenburgs Love Her All the Same.

The ruler of Balmoral castle, according to the Strand Magazine, is not the queen, but the housekeeper, a Mrs. Mussens, a typical personage of her class, gowned always in rustling black silk, lace-trimmed apron and white cap. She and the queen are said to be excellent friends, and many a gossip have they had together when affairs of state have been laid aside.

Mrs. Mussens also stands high in the favor of the little Battenbergs, who are sure to seek her out as soon as they have landed at the castle, for she fairly idolizes the little ones and keeps many a treasure in her apartments with which to regale them.

To the world at large Mrs. Mussens is a holy terror. Her word is law, and she enforces it at the point of the bayonet or the broomstick. It is said that once the queen wanted a certain maid to whom she had taken a fancy detailed to the care of her own room, but the housekeeper remonstrated, telling her majesty that it was quite out of order and she really must not spoil the servants by undue notice. The queen was wise enough not to insist, and "dear Mrs. Mussens" won the day.

Railroad Outwits the Farmer.

Hamburg, March 18.—The excitement over the right of way of the Toledo & Ann Arbor through the Beach farm shows no abatement. The railroad people have added more men and the steam shovel to their force. Beach swore that he would not allow them to remove a cottage he placed upon the right of way, but the men moved it Tuesday afternoon, and there was no blood shed. Beach and his wife were before the justice at the time charged with assault. Both pleaded guilty and paid fines.

Menominee River Log Cut.

Menominee, March 18.—A careful estimate of the amount of logs cut on the Menominee river and tributaries during the winter places the same at upward of 400,000,000 feet against 374,000,000 for last season. Roumania is the highest taxed country in the world. Every bottle of foreign wine has to pay a shilling duty. A case of whisky went from the army and navy stores the other day. South Africa's Joan of Arc.

Cecil Armitage, a young Englishman in Ashantee, tells of a strange West African "Joan of Arc," who is equipping an army for King Prempeh. Her appearance is more impressive than beautiful, and, unlike the famous French Joan, whose features we know, this dusky amazon is said to have only one eye, one ear and one arm and to wear her hair hanging long. With one touch of her magic wand she can bring armies together, and in an engagement a brass pan is placed before her, into which all the bullets of the enemy can conveniently fall without hurting her brave soldiers.

Cleanly Japanese Tramps.

A traveler in Japan says that the Japanese tramp takes his hot bath daily if he has a fraction of a cent to pay for it, or his cold bath if he hasn't a cent. He carries a comb, toothpicks, a razor and a toothbrush in a little bundle. A few Japanese tramps might well be introduced as missionaries in the American brotherhood, whose members do not seem to appreciate what cleanliness is "next to."

General A. W. Greeley, in considering "The Personal Side of Washington" in Ladies Home Journal, will bring to the interesting light as a son, husband, neighbor, business man, slave owner (there were nearly all Virginia land-owners in his day), and Christian, with reference to the charges that Washington was neither a dutiful nor loving son.

Last Saturday Zach Snell's boy and Frank Slater's boy were walking across the dam which spans the tail race at the Mills Mills, when the Snell lad lost his balance and fell into the water. The water is quite swift and he went down stream rapidly. The other boy ran to a house near by for his mother, and Frank Slater succeeded in pulling the drowning little chap out. Dr. Howell was called and after a time consciousness was restored. 'Twas a rather frigid bath from which there is probably no desire to repeat.

The lecturer, with the aid of an able assistant, made use of many wonderful and brilliant experiments; and though the lecture lasted over two hours, the attention paid was intense. All present were more than pleased. It was a most pleasant entertainment, and we trust the professor will come again to our city.—Republican Gazette, Lima, Ohio.

The March Arena contains a magnificently illustrated paper written by Justice Walter Clark, LL. D., of the Supreme Bench of North Carolina on "Mexico in Mid-Winter." Incidentally the able jury discusses the silver question as it was brought to his attention during his recently extensive trip throughout our Sister Republic under the auspices of The Arena.

From our exchanges we learn that F. A. Kotts, Manchester's popular dentist, is soon to move to Toledo. The genial doctor is well known here, having done work for many of our citizens who know him to be a skilled workman. He is an up-to-date dentist, thoroughly equipped for the most difficult operations, and not only uses the most improved methods but has invented and manufactures several instruments which are appreciated by the profession. Toledo is to be congratulated in securing his services, and his friends in this region predict for him a lucrative practice.

The April McClure's will contain what is about the first really authoritative and direct account yet given of Professor Rontgen and his discovery of the cathode rays. Immediately on the announcement of the discovery, the editors of the magazine cabled Mr. H. J. W. Dam, of London, to hasten to Wurzburg, and talk with Professor Rontgen in his laboratory, and learn all there was to learned of the new marvel in photography. The paper will be illustrated with a portrait of Professor Rontgen and numerous photographes by the new process. A supplementary article by Cleveland Moffett will tell what has been done in America with the cathode rays.

Samuel Stewart, a Raisin farmer whose mind is beleived to be unbalanced, was taken in to custody by Turnkey Haviland and deputy Sheriff Lards Tuesday afternoon, at the request of Stephen Bowerman, who desired the man placed under bonds to keep the peace, Stewart having threatened to to kill Mr. Bowerman and son Hiram. Stewart's lease of Samuel Satterthwaite's farm expired on the 15th, and he became enraged when Mr. Bowerman, the prospective tenant, proceeded to fill the ice house Tuesday morning. Stewart would have burned the ice house had not his wife prevented. He is confined in the county jail awaiting a further investigation of the case.—Adrian Times

Mr. A. W. Slayton, of Tecumseh, Mich., a large wholesale lumber merchant, arrived in our city last evening accompanied by his son. He said that he told his manager before he left home that he would look around a few days and see whether it would be advisable to open up a large lumber yard. After having been here a few hours he wrote back to his manager to come at once, for Fitzgerald was all right and just the place for them. He will open up a large lumber yard in a short time and do an extensive business. His son will also engage in business. Mr. Slayton was more than pleased with the prospects for Fitzgerald and expects great things from the colony.—Fitzgerald, (Georgia,) Enterprise.

Last Friday was issued No. 1, Vol. 1, of the Britton Citizen, by Chas. H. Goodrich, editor and proprietor. This is the first paper ever printed in Britton, and comes to hand with a fresh, newsy appearance. Mr. Goodrich recently published a paper in Dundee. He is an old Tecumseh boy and formerly worked on the Herald.

The five mile contest at the Armory next Monday promises to be even more exciting and interesting than the ten mile race. Smith knows what he has to meet. He will run for 60 per cent, and he will run to win. In a five mile race he can do some spurting without loosing wind. The boys are satisfied they can do some sprinting too in half mile heats, and they say Smith will have to lower the records if he wins.

The March number of Electric Power is filled with interesting reading matter. Mr. A. J. Wurts, who has been working with lightening arresters, gives the results of his experiments made during the summer of 1895. The lay reader will also enjoy reading Mr. Reginald Gordon's paper on Electric Static Induction, in which he explains the use of certain instruments, all of which can be made for a small outlay. Engineers and station men find food for thought in various papers by Prof. F. B. Crocker, Mr. Geo. F. Sever, Mr. F. M. Pederson, who write on practical subjects, such as Mechanical Connections between Dynamos and Motors, Dynamo Design and Construction of Dynamo Fields. The scientific reader will find Dr. Fred Bedell's paper on Magnetic Circuit of considerable interest. The editorials deal with the Rontgen rays, with storage battery application, etc.

The conditions which have served to retard the development of American-Asiatic trade in the past, are ably set forth by Mr Barrett, together with some timely and valuable suggestions as to how American interests may best avail themselves of the "Asiatic Opportunity."

The friends of P. J. Keeling are rejoiced to learn that our benevolent though sometimes tardy Uncle Sam has at last seen fit to increase the pension of one who so fully deserved it. An especial effort has lately been made to bring this about with the result of back pay to the amount of $2,500 and a regular increase of from $12 to $72 per month. This is certainly an instance where the application of a liberal pension law was well deserved.

The number of Harper's Bazar to appear on March 21, will contain a variety of fashions for the spring wardrobes of ladies and children. Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

A Discussion Apropos of the Parting Blizzard of Winter.

The Warmth of Christ's Righteousness and Love—How the World Shall be Heated—The Benign Power of Saving Grace.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage took a timely topic during the recent freezing storms that swept the country, apparently as the parting blizzard of winter. He took for his text:

Who can stand before His cold?—Psalm cxlvii. 17.

The almanac says that winter is ended and spring has come, but the winds, and the frosts, and the thermometer, in some places down to zero, deny it. The Psalmist lived in a more genial climate than this, and yet he must sometimes have been cut by the sharp weather. In this chapter he speaks of the snow like wool, the frost like ashes, the hailstones like marbles, and describes the congealment of lowest temperature. We have all studied the heat. How few of us have studied the power of the frost! "Who can stand before his cold?" This challenge of the text has many times been accepted. October 10, 1812, Napoleon's great army began its retreat from Moscow. One hundred and fifty thousand men, 50,000 horses, 600 pieces of cannon, 40,000 stragglers. It was bright weather when they started from Moscow, but soon something wrathier than the Cossacks swooped upon their flanks. An army of arctic blasts, with icicles for bayonets and hailstones for shot, and commanded by voice of tempest, marched after them. The flying artillery of the heavens in pursuit. The troops at nightfall would gather into circles and huddle themselves together, for warmth; but when the day broke, they rose not, for they were dead, and the ravens came for their morning meal of corpses. The way was strewn with the rich stuffs of the east, brought as booty from the Russian capital. An invisible power seized 100,000 men and hurled them dead into the snow drifts, and on the hard surfaces of the chill rivers, and into the maws of the dogs that had followed them from Moscow. The freezing horror which has appalled history was proof to all ages that it is a vain thing for any earthly power to accept the challenge of my text: "Who could stand before His cold?"

In the middle of December, 1777, at Valley Forge, 11,000 troops were, with frosted ears and frosted hands and frosted feet, without shoes, without blankets, lying on the white pillow of the snow bank. As during our civil war the cry was: "On to Richmond!" when the troops were not ready to march, so in the revolutionary war there was a demand for a wintry campaign until Washington lost his equilibrium and wrote emphatically: "I assure those gentlemen it is easy enough seated by a good fireside and in comfortable homes to draw out campaigns for the American army; but I tell them it is not so easy to lie on a bleak hillside, without blankets and without shoes." Oh, the frigid horrors that gathered around the American army in the winter of 1777! Valley Forge was one of the tragedies of the century. Benumbed, senseless, dead! "Who can stand before His cold?" "Not we," say the frozen lips of Sir John Franklin and his men, dying in Arctic exploration. "Not we," answer Schwatka and his crew, falling back from the fortress of ice which they had tried in vain to capture. "Not we," say the abandoned and crushed decks of the Intrepid, the Resistance and the Jeannette. "Not we," say the procession of American martyrs returned home for American sepulture, De Long and his men. The highest pillars of the earth are pillars of ice—Mont Blanc, Jungfrau, the Matterhorn. The largest galleries of the world are galleries of ice. Some of the mighty rivers much of the year are in captivity of ice. The greatest sculptors of the ages are the glaciers, with arm and hand and chisel and hammer of ice. The cold is imperial and has a crown of glittering crystal, and is seated on a throne of ice, with footstool of ice and scepter of ice. Who can tell the sufferings of the winter of 1433, when all the birds of Germany perished? Or the winter of 1658 in England, when the stages rolled on the Thames, and temporary houses of merchandise were built on the ice? Or the winter of 1821 in America, when New York harbor was frozen over and the heaviest teams crossed on the ice to Staten Island? Then come down to our own winters, when there have been so many wrapping themselves in furs, or gathering themselves around fires, or threshing their arms about them to revive circulation—the millions of the temperate and the arctic zones who are compelled to confess: "None of us can stand before His cold."

One-half of the industries of our day are employed in battling inclemency of the weather. The furs of the north, the cotton of the south, the flax of our own fields, the wool of our own flocks, the coal from our own mines, the wood from our own forests, all employed in battling these inclemencies, and still every winter, with blue lips and chattering teeth, answers: "None of us can stand before His cold." Now, this being such a cold world, I am glad that the God of the frost is the God of the heat; that the God of the snow is the God of the white blossoms; that the God of January is the God of June. The question as to how shall we warm this world up is a question of immediate and all-encompassing practicality. In this zone and weather there are so many fireless hearths, so many broken window panes, so many defective roofs that sift the snow. Coal and wood and flannels and thick coats are better for warming up such a place than tracts and Bibles and creeds. Kindle that fire where it has gone out. Wrap something around those shivering limbs. Shoe those bare feet. Hat that bare head. Coat that bare back. Sleeve that bare arm. Nearly all the pictures of Martha Washington represent her in courtly dress as bowed to by foreign embassadors; but Mrs. Kirkland, in her interesting book, gives a more inspiring portrait of Martha Washington. She comes forth from her husband's hut in the encampment, the hut 16 feet long by 14 feet wide—she comes forth from that hut to nurse the sick, to sew the patched garments, to console the soldiers dying of the cold. That is a better picture of Martha Washington. Hundreds of garments, hundreds of tons of coal, hundreds of glaziers at broken window-sashes, hundreds of whole-souled men and women, are necessary to warm the wintry weather.

What are we doing to alleviate the condition of those not so fortunate as we? Know ye not, my friends, there are hundreds of thousands of people who can not stand before His cold? It is useless to preach to bare feet, and to empty stomachs, and to gaunt visages. Christ gave the world a lesson in common sense when, before preaching the Gospel to the multitude in the wilderness, He gave them a good dinner. When I was a lad I remember seeing two rough woodcuts, but they made more impression upon me than any pictures I have ever seen. They were on opposite pages. The one woodcut represented the coming of the snow in winter, and a lad looking out at the door of a great mansion; and he was all wrapped in furs, and his cheeks were ruddy, and with glowing countenance he shouted: "It snows! it snows!" On the next page there was a miserable tenement, and the door was open, and a child, wan and sick and ragged and wretched, was looking out, and he said: "Oh! my God, it snows." The winter of gladness or of grief, according to our circumstances. But, my friends, there is more than one way of warming up this cold world, for it is a cold world in more respects than one, and I am here to consult with you as to the best way of warming up the world. I want to have a great heater introduced into all your churches and all your homes throughout the world. It is a heater of divine patent. It has many pipes with which to conduct heat; and it has a door in which to throw the fuel. Once get this heater introduced, and it will turn the arctic zone into the temperate, and the temperate into the tropics. It is the powerful heater, it is the glorious furnace of Christian sympathy. The question ought to be, instead of how much heat can we absorb? how much heat can we throw out? There are men who go through the world floating icebergs. They freeze everything with their forbidding look. The hand with which they shake yours is as cold as the paw of a polar bear. If they float into a religious meeting, the temperature drops from 80 above to 10 degrees below zero. There are icicles hanging from their eyebrows. They float into a religious meeting, and they chill everything with their jerimiads. Cold prayers, cold songs, cold greetings, cold sermons. Christianity on ice! The church a great refrigerator. Christians gone into winter quarters. Hibernation! On the other hand, there are people who go through the world like the breath of a spring morning. Warm greetings, warm prayers, warm smiles, warm Christian influence. There are such persons. We bless God for them. We rejoice in their companionship.

A general in the English army, the army having halted for the night, having lost his baggage, lay down tired and sick without any blanket. An officer came up and said: "Why, you have no blanket. I'll go and get you a blanket." He departed for a few moments and then came back and covered the general up with a very warm blanket. The general said: "Whose blanket is this?" The officer replied: "I got that from a private soldier in the Scotch regiment, Ralph McDonald." "Now," said the general, "you take this blanket right back to that soldier. He can no more do without it than I can do without it. Never bring to me the blanket of a private soldier." How many men like that general would it take to warm the world up? The vast majority of us are anxious to get more blankets, whether anybody else is blanketed or not. Look at the fellow-feeling displayed in the rocky defile between Jerusalem and Jericho in Scripture times. Here is a man who has been set upon by the bandits, and in the struggle to keep his property, he has got wounded, and mauled, and stabbed, and he lies there half dead. A priest rides along. He sees him and says: "Why, what's the matter with that man? Why, he must be hurt, lying on the flat of his back. Isn't it strange that he should lie there? But I can't stop. I am on my way to temple services. Go along, you beast. Carry me up to my temple duties." After awhile a Levite comes up. He looks over and says: "Why that man must be very much hurt. Gashed on the forehead. What a pity. Stabbed under his arm. What a pity. Tut, tut! What a pity! Why, they have taken his clothes nearly all away from him. But I haven't time to stop; I lead the choir up in the temple service. Go along, you beast. Carry me up to my temple duties."

After awhile a Samaritan comes along, one who you might suppose through a national grudge might have rejected this poor wounded Israelite. Coming along he sees this man and says: "Why, that man must be terribly hurt. I see by his features he is an Israelite, but he is a man and he is a brother." "Whoa!" says the Samaritan, and he gets down off the beast and comes up to this wounded man, gets down on one knee, listens to see whether the heart of the unfortunate man is still beating, makes up his mind there is a chance for resuscitation, goes to work at him, takes out of his sack a bottle of oil and a bottle of wine, cleanses the wound with some wine, then pours some of the restorative into the wounded man's lips, then takes some oil and with it soothes the wound. After awhile he takes off a part of his garments for a bandage. Now the sick and wounded man sits up, pale and exhausted, but very thankful. Now the good Samaritan says: "You must get on my saddle, and I will walk." The Samaritan helps and tenderly steadies this wounded man until he gets him on toward the tavern, the wounded man holding on with the little strength he has left, ever and anon looking down at the good Samaritan and saying: "You are very kind; I had no right to expect this thing of a Samaritan when I am an Israelite; you are very kind to walk and let me ride."

Now they have come up to the tavern. The Samaritan, with the help of the landlord, assists the sick and wounded man to dismount and puts him to bed. The Bible says the Samaritan stayed all night. In the morning, I suppose, the Samaritan went in to look how his patient was and ask him how he passed the night. Then he comes out—the Samaritan comes out and he says to the landlord: "Here is money to pay that man's board, and if his convalescence is not as rapid as I hope for, charge the whole thing to me. Good morning, all." He gets on the beast and says: "Go along, you beast, but, go slowly, for these bandits sweeping through the land may have left somebody else wounded and half dead." Sympathy! Christian sympathy! How many such men as that would it take to warm the cold world up? Famine in Zarepthath. Everything dried up. There is a widow with a son and no food except a handful of meal. She is gathering sticks to kindle a fire to cook the handful of meal. Then she is going to wrap her arms around her boy and die. Here comes Elijah. His two black servants, thes raven, have got tired waiting on him. He asks that woman for food. Now, that handful of meal is to be divided into three parts. Before it was to be divided into two parts. Now, she says to Elijah: "Come in and sit down at this solemn table and take a third of the last morsel." How many women like that would it take to warm the cold world up?

Count that day lost whose low descending sun
Views from the hand no generous action done.

It was His strong sympathy that brought Christ from a warm Heaven to a cold world. The land where He dwelt had a serene sky, balsamic atmosphere, tropical luxuriance. No storm blasts in Heaven. No chill fountains. On a cold December night Christ stepped out of a warm Heaven into the world's frigidity. The thermometer in Palestine never drops below zero, but December is a cheerless month, and the pasturage is very poor on the hilltops. Christ stepped out of a warm Heaven into the cold world that cold December night. The world's reception was cold. The surf of bestormed Galilee was cold. Joseph's sepulcher was cold. Christ came, the great warmer, to warm the earth, and all Christendom to-day feels the glow. He will keep on warming the earth until the tropic will drive away the arctic, and the antarctic. He gave an imitation of what He was going to do when He broke up the funeral at the gate of Nain and turned it into a reunion festival, and when with His warm lips He melted the Galilean hurricane and stood on the deck and stamped His foot, crying, "Silence!" and the waves crouched and the tempests folded their wings.

Come in by the great Gospel fireplace. Notwithstanding all the modern inventions for heating, I tell you there is nothing so full of geniality and sociality as the old-fashioned country fireplace. The neighbors were to come in for a winter evening of sociality. In the middle of the afternoon, in the best room in the house, some one brought in a great back log with great strain and put it down on the back of the hearth. Then the lighter wood was put on, armful after armful. Then a shovel of coals was taken from another room and put under the dry pile, and the kindling began, and the crackling, and it rose until it became a roaring flame, which filled all the room with geniality and was reflected from the family pictures on the wall. Then the neighbors came in two by two. They sat down, their faces to the fire, which ever and anon was stirred with tongs and readjusted on the andirons and there were such times of rustic repartee, and story-telling, and mirth as the black stove and the blind register never dreamed of. Meanwhile the table was being spread, and so fair was the cloth and so clean was the cutlery they glisten and glisten in our mind to-day. And then the luxury of orchard and farm yard was roasted and prepared for the table, to meet the appetites sharpened by the cold ride. Oh! my friends, the Church of Jesus Christ is the world's fireplace, and the woods are from the cedars of Lebanon, and the fires are fires of love, and with the silver tongs of the altar we stir the flame and the light is reflected from all the pictures on the wall—pictures of those who were here and are gone now. Oh! come up close to the fireplace. Have your worn faces transfigured in the light. Put your cold feet, weary of the journey, close up to the blessed conflagration. Chilled through with trouble and disappointment, come close up until you can get warm clear through. Exchange experience, talk over the harvests gathered, talk all the Gospel news. Meanwhile the table is being spread. On it, bread of life. On it, grapes of Eshcol. On it, new wine from the kingdom. On it, a thousand luxuries celestial. Hark! as a wounded hand raps on the table, and a tender voice comes through, saying: "Come, for all things are now ready. Eat, oh, friends! drink, yea, drink abundantly, oh, beloved!"

My friends, that is the way the cold world is going to be warmed up by the great Gospel fireplace. All nations will come in and sit down at the banquet. While [illegible] the fire burned. "[illegible] the cold, come in out of [illegible]

Ask Some Questions about Pearline, of any woman who uses it. Ask her what she thinks of it, and whether it's quite safe to use, and if washing and cleaning is any easier with it. Ask her how the clothes look and last, when they're not rubbed over the washboard. Ask her how it would seem to go back to that eternal rub, rub, rub, now that she has got rid of it. If she has used Pearline faithfully, and just as directed on every package, she'll probably have one question to ask you: "How in the world do you manage to get along without it."

After Acute Bronchitis

CURED BY USING

A PREACHER'S EXPERIENCE.

"Three months ago, I took a violent cold which resulted in an attack of acute bronchitis. I put myself under medical treatment, and at the end of two months was no better. I found it very difficult to preach, and concluded to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. The first bottle gave me great relief; the second, which I am now taking, has relieved me almost entirely of all unpleasant symptoms, and I feel sure that one or two bottles more will effect a permanent cure. To all ministers suffering from throat troubles, I recommend Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—E. M. BRAWLEY, D. D., Dist. Secretary, Am. Bapt. Publication Society, Petersburg, Va.

$10,000 for Women

$1,000 for the One who Guesses Best.

A year ago The Chicago Record offered $30,000 in cash prizes to authors for the best "stories of mystery." The stories were so called because it was required that a mystery should run through the entire story and be disclosed only in the last chapter.

The award of authors' prizes has just been made. Stories from all parts of the English speaking world to the number of 815 were entered in the competition. Twelve cash prizes were offered for the twelve best stories. The first prize was $10,000, and was won by Harry Stillwell Edwards, of Macon, Ga. His story is entitled and its publication will begin in The Chicago Record on March 23, and continue in about 30 daily installments until completed. "Sons and Fathers" is beyond all question the great story of the year. There will be an interval of a week or more between the publication of the last installment containing the explanation of the mystery and the immediately preceding chapter, during which period the guesses will be received.

To still further promote popular interest in this remarkable story, THE CHICAGO RECORD offers $10,000 in 889 cash prizes for the 889 guesses which shall come the nearest to being true and complete solutions of the mystery in the story. The $10,000 are divided as follows:

To the reader from whom The Record receives the most complete and correct solution in all its details of the entire mystery of the story, as it shall be disclosed in the last chapter when published	$1,000
For the second best solution	500
For the third best solution	300
For the fourth best solution	200
For the next 5 nearest best solutions, $100 each	500
" " " 10 " " " 50 "	500
" " " 20 " " " 25 "	500
" " " 50 " " " 20 "	1,000
" " " 300 " " " 10 "	3,000
" " " 500 " " " 5 "	2,500
In all 889 prizes, amounting to	$10,000

Full particulars as to the details of the conditions governing the awarding of these prizes will be published in THE CHICAGO RECORD. The principal rules are as follows:

1. But one solution can be entered by a reader. It is immaterial whether the reader subscribes for the paper direct to the office of publication, or whether it is bought from the local newsdealer. The contest is open, under the specified conditions, to all who read the paper.

2. The explanation of the mystery may be made in the reader's own words, in the English language, and without any attempt at "fine writing," simply giving as many of the facts that go to make a "complete and absolutely correct solution of the entire mystery" as the reader may be able to discover.

3. The $10,000 will be awarded, under the conditions announced, according to the best judgment of the judges appointed by THE CHICAGO RECORD, and they will have complete control and final decision, beyond any appeal, in all matters relating to this unique contest.

And last, but not least,

Only Women and Girls may Guess.

THE CHICAGO RECORD is pre-eminently a family newspaper, and its daily installment of a high-grade serial story is a feature intended to specially commend it to the home circle. To emphasize—and advertise—the fact that THE CHICAGO RECORD is a newspaper peculiarly suitable for woman's reading the further condition is made that the $10,000 in prizes shall be paid only for explanations or guesses sent in by women and girls. All may read, but only WOMEN and GIRLS may guess.

A SPECIAL OFFER!

To make it easy for all who are not now taking the paper to become acquainted with THE CHICAGO RECORD and its great $10,000 prize story without committing themselves to a full term subscription in advance, the publisher makes a special offer to mail THE RECORD to any address, post-paid, for 10 days, beginning with the first chapter of the story, FOR 10 CENTS, in coin or postage stamps.

The story begins March 23, and it is desirable that subscriptions should be received as far in advance of that date as possible, but all subscriptions on this special offer received up to April 1 will be filled, but none after April 1.

THE CHICAGO RECORD is Chicago's leading morning daily. In fact, with a single exception, it has the largest morning circulation in America—160,000 a day. It is a member of The Associated Press and "prints all the news from all the world." It is independent in politics and gives all political news with judicial impartiality, free from the taint of partisanship. It is Chicago's family newspaper. Prof. J. T. Hatfield, of the Northwestern University, writing to the Evanston (Ill.) Index, says:

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test, and after a wide comparison with the journals of many States and countries, that THE CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."

The Journalists' class paper, published in New York, called Newspaperdom, says:

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as THE CHICAGO RECORD."

Forward your subscription as early as possible, so that your name may be entered on the subscription list at once and the paper be sent you without delay and in time for the opening chapters of the RECORD'S GREAT $10,000 PRIZE STORY. Address

Two heads are better than one—but three or four are better still. Let all the family join in the search for the explanation of the mystery in "Sons and Fathers," but remember "only women and girls may guess"—and win the 889 prizes.

The man with a weight on his leg can't hope to win in the race. A man with a weight on his health can't expect to compete in life and business with those who are not handicapped. A man who spends two-thirds of his time in business, and one-third of his time being sick, cannot be expected to accomplish more than two-thirds as much as the man who attends to business all the time. If his brain is heavy, and his blood sluggish, because of constipation, he will not succeed in doing anything very well. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all sickness. It isn't considered sickness by most people, but it is just the same. It is serious sickness, because it causes almost all of the ill-health of mankind. Symptoms of it are sallowness, listlessness, poor appetite, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, biliousness, and lassitude. Constipation can be cured easily certainly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are perfectly simple, perfectly safe. They are not at all violent in their action, and yet they are more certain than many medicines which are so strong that they put the system entirely out of order. The great advantage of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets" is that they cure permanently. You don't have to keep on taking them. You don't acquire a "pellet habit." Take them regularly for a while, and you are cured permanently. After you have taken them only when you find yourself suffering from indigestion. There are no other medicines offered for the same purpose which druggists make a bigger profit on. For this reason, some druggists rather sell the other things. If your health is of more importance to you than the druggist's prosperity, you will insist on having what you ask for.

The News Condensed.

Important Intelligence From All Parts.

CONGRESSIONAL.

The Proceedings of the First Session.

In the United States senate on the 11th the time was occupied in discussing the Cuban belligerency resolutions. Senator Hoar spoke at length against their adoption, and Senator Allen (Neb.) offered a joint resolution authorizing and requesting the president to make a thorough and rigid investigation into the present state of war in Cuba. In the house the post office appropriation bill was passed.

In the United States senate on the 12th Senators Sherman and Hill were the conspicuous figures in the Cuban debate, the New York senator forcibly urging the mercenary character of the pending resolutions, while Senator Sherman upheld them with another graphic arraignment of Spain and Gen. Weyler....In the house the committee on territories reported favorably the bill for a delegate from Alaska. The contested election case of Aldrich vs. Robbins, from the Fourth Alabama district, in which the republicans recommended the seating of Aldrich, occupied the greater part of the session, but no action was taken.

The excitement of the Cuban debate gave way in the senate on the 13th to Mr. Cockrell's elaborate speech favoring the free coinage of silver. A bill was introduced appropriating $50,000 for the erection of a statue of Abraham Lincoln at Gettysburg, and favorable reports were made upon the bill for the admission of New Mexico as a state and upon the joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States providing for the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people. Senator Peffer presented a petition asking congress to make the 5th day of April (Resurrection day) a national holiday....After two days' debate the house by a vote of 172 to 59 unseated Gaston A. Robbins from the Fourth Alabama district, and decided that his republican opponent, W. F. Aldrich, was elected and entitled to the seat. Bills were introduced requiring the officers of American steamers to be citizens of the United States and repealing the laws exempting from tonnage duties vessels from countries which extend similar exemptions to our vessels.

In the senate on the 16th Senator Lodge spoke at length in favor of his bill to restrict immigration, Senator Pugh talked in support of the silver amendment to the tariff bill and Senator Morgan made an appeal for the Cuban insurgents....In the house a bill was passed prescribing punishment for mutilating coins and for altering or passing mutilated or lightened coins. Bills were introduced for the deepening of the channel of the Fox river from Green Bay to Depere, Wis., and for the establishment of a life-saving station at Port Huron, Mich.

Washington, March 18.—In the senate yesterday Senator Morgan (Ala.) occupied almost the entire session, speaking in support of the Cuban resolutions. Senator Pugh (Ala.) spoke in favor of the free coinage of silver. In the house the bill to amend the administrative tariff act of 1890 was passed. A bill was favorably reported authorizing the transmission in the mails, with one-cent stamps, of written messages on private mailing cards, such cards to be sent openly in the mails, of no larger size than the ordinary postal card. An adverse report was made on the bill to change to the 4th of March the time for the convening of congress. A favorable report was made on the bill providing an educational test for the admission of immigrants.

WHEN REPTILES RULED.

There Was a Time When the Globe Was in Their Possession.

There was a time "in the wide revolving shades of centuries past" when the globe was wholly in the possession of walking, swimming and flying reptiles," says an exchange. Being the dominant type, they divided naturally into three great classes.

In the oceans they became gigantic, paddling enaliosaurians; on dry land—or, rather, wet land, for the whole surface of the globe was doubtless a quagmire at that time—they became monstrous, erect dinosaurians, some of which had legs 15 feet or more in length.

Those which inhabited the regions of the air were the terrible flying pterodactyls. For a vast but unknown length of time these awful creatures literally ruled the earth. Then one by one they died out in the face of the younger and more vigorous fauna until at the present time only a few miniature alligators and crocodiles, a few toy snakes and skulking lizards and geckos remain as reminders of the enormous reptilian types that once crowded land and sea.

The Modern Flat Building.

"You know, it's old enough and familiar enough," said a flat dweller, "but it's striking all the same, to hear the whistle blow in the kitchen, from somebody in the cellar at the elevator, and may be at the same time to hear the bell ring from somebody at the front door. The servant throws up the door to the elevator shaft, to be ready to receive the things that the man is sending up from below, and she swings around and presses the button and opens a door far away and in still another part of the house. All simple enough, but it interests me all the same. It seems sort of like running the steamer from the bridge; or like throwing the levers in the switch house and controlling sw es far away; it seems like business; it's modern and up to date."

SHOT THEIR FATHER.

Bay City Man Wounded by His Sons in Defense of Their Mother.

Bay City, March 16.—Richard Monks was shot by his two sons, Willie, aged 15, and Grant, aged 19, Sunday, one 38-caliber bullet, struck Monks in the right arm pit. The other shot, a 32-caliber bullet, struck Monks in the right forearm, and broke the bone. Both boys are in jail. Richard Monks, the victim, said his boys and wife have been arrayed against him for a long time, and that when he entered the kitchen his wife began screaming. This brought the boys into the kitchen and they shot. The doctors say that the wounded man has a bare chance for recovery. Grant Monks has this to say of the shooting:

"My father has been disgracing us by keeping company with another woman. He has threatened to kill us all. Sunday morning when I got up to make a fire I saw a large-bladed knife lying on the reservoir. I went back to bed and presently I heard mother scream for help. We both jumped up with our revolvers and saw father carrying mother toward the bed in the back room. I thought he had the knife in her breast and we both shot. I thought he was killing mother and did not propose to let him. I did not shoot to kill him, but to disable him."

RATES FOR FRUIT MEN.

Western Michigan Dealers Secure a Reduction.

Grand Rapids, March 16.—C. N. Rapp has returned from New York, where he went representing the fruit growers of western Michigan to procure more favorable rates for peaches in baskets east of Buffalo and Pittsburgh. The present rate to Buffalo is second class, and beyond it is double first. The traffic managers agreed to make a reduction, but the extent of the cut was not announced, although it was intimated that it would be down to second class. This would admit Michigan peaches to the eastern markets at a substantial profit.

Promising Oil Fields.

Newport, March 16.—Since the farmers commenced leasing land to the oil companies through Berlin township the interest has been great, but when the special train bearing experts stopped at Strong's section and decided to sink a well immediately near the sawmill, excitement reached a white heat. Thus far about 15,000 acres of land have been leased near Newport, and all the indications are that in the near future Berlin township will become one of the best oil fields in Michigan.

Frozen to Death.

Kalamazoo, March 13. — The dead body of Perry Grigsby was found in the barnyard at James Day's farm, near Trowbridge. He was frozen to death. He had been drawing wood during the day and fell or was thrown from the wagon and wandered to the place where he was found. The team went home. He was about 38 years old, and left a wife and four children.

Marquette, March 17.—Elmer E. Halsey, recently appointed receiver of the United States land office here, has assumed his position in place of Rush Culver, who resigned a year ago because of dissatisfaction with the ruling of Secretary Hoke Smith in a case involving one of the upper peninsula land grants.

Mine Finally Shows a Profit.

Ishpeming, March 16.—At the annual meeting of the Ropes Gold Mining company it was shown that the mine was operated for the past year at a profit of about two cents per ton. The profit is very small, but as it was the first year in 15 that the mine has not run behind the stockholders are encouraged.

LOVER'S DEADLY WORK.

Murders His Sweetheart, Shoots Her Mother and Sister, Kills Himself.

Benton Harbor, March 14.—Miss Gertrude Bailey, residing with her parents near this city, was murdered at her home Friday by her jilted lover, Archie Belanger, who had been formerly employed on the Bailey farm. He left there several weeks ago to return to his home in Illinois. Friday morning he arrived in Benton Harbor from Chicago to visit the girl. On arriving at the home of Miss Bailey he was refused admission, when he became enraged, and, forcing his way into the house, he immediately drew his revolver and shot Miss Gertrude through the heart, killing her instantly. Not satisfied with this deed he turned the weapon upon the dying girl's sister and shot her through the neck, inflicting a serious wound. At this juncture the mother of the two girls entered the room, only to be shot at by the lover. The ball passed through the mother's hand. Young Belanger then went a short distance from the house, where he again employed the weapon in taking his own life, and he was later found dead with a bullet in his brain. A note requesting that he be buried by the side of Miss Gertrude was also found near the body.

MINISTERS KILLED BY GAS.

Michigan Divines Suffocated in a Room in a Boston Hotel.

Calumet, March 13.—John J. Ruoppa, a missionary, and Abram Heitmen, pastor of the Finnish Lutheran church, both residents of Calumet, left last week for Boston to attend a religious convention. Telegrams from the Boston city hospital gave information of the death of both from gas poisoning. They occupied the same room and left the gas turned on after the light was extinguished.

Boston, Mass., March 17.—Lawyer Oscar J. Larson, of Calumet, Mich., arrived in Boston, to investigate the death of the two Finnish preachers who were overcome by gas at a hotel last Sunday and later died at the city hospital. When the news of their death was telegraphed to Calumet, coupled with the inquiry in regard to the amount of money they had with them, their friends suspected foul play, and Mr. Larson was sent here to investigate the matter. The lawyer is satisfied that there was no foul play. All the money they had with them has been accounted for, Mr. Larson will return home and the two bodies will be taken to Calumet for burial.

BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT.

Harrison T. Ledyard, of Grand Rapids, Sued for $20,000 Damages.

Grand Rapids, March 18. Margaret J. Tate began suit in the circuit court by capias Tuesday against Harrison T. Ledyard for a $20,000 solace to her damaged affections. She is the pretty daughter of the janitor of a business block owned by Ledyard, and in which he had his office. He paid her, as alleged, ardent attentions, gave her many gifts, and finally won her affections. It is asserted that he promised to marry her after the death of his wife, ill with an incurable disease, but he has been a widower a year and has steadily refused to keep his promise. Ledyard is well known as a capitalist, property owner and a club member, and belongs to one of the oldest families in the city.

Marquette, March 16.—Dean G. Mott Williams on Sunday announced in St. Paul's Episcopal church that he had accepted the bishopric of Marquette Episcopal diocese, and that he Saturday sent a letter to Bishop Williams, of Connecticut, containing his formal acceptance. He will be consecrated three weeks hence.

SILVER DEMOCRATS.

They Perfect a State Organization at Lansing.

Lansing, March 13.—The conference of free silver democrats which was held here Thursday in response to a call issued by George P. Hummer, of Holland, was attended by 25 persons all told, including the representation from this city, which constituted one-fifth of the entire number. The greater portion of the conference was conducted in secret, and the result was the formation of a permanent state organization, with Charles S. Hampton, of Muskegon, as chairman, and George P. Hummer secretary. There was also appointed an executive committee, consisting of

S. P. Hummer, C. P. Black, Lansing; Spencer J. Fisher, Bay City; Charles S. Hampton, and George N. Davis, Grand Rapids.

John W. McGrath, Detroit; Thomas E. Barkworth, Jackson; John B. Shipman, Coldwater; Charles H. Kimmerle, Bailey; W. F. McKnight, Grand Rapids; C. P. Black, Lansing; Justin R. Whiting, St. Clair; Wellington R. Burt, Saginaw; D. W. Goodnow, Ludington; Charles S. Hampton, Petoskey; Hiram B. Hudson, Mancelona; Rush Culver, Marquette.

The members of the conference issued an address to the democrats of the state charging that at a recent secret meeting steps were taken to capture the state so as to send an anti-free silver delegation to the national convention and urging all democrats to attend the primaries, to the end that this alleged conspiracy may be thwarted.

IN HIS WIFE'S ARMS.

A Sufferer from Grip Suicides at Port Huron, Mich.

Port Huron, Mich., March 18.—Special Customs Officer John Denneny committed suicide Tuesday noon by shooting himself in the forehead with a revolver. He had been suffering with the grip and had threatened to shoot himself. His wife hid his revolver, but he found it and went into the sitting-room where his wife was sitting. She begged him to give her the weapon. He refused, but told her he would not hurt her. While her arms were around his neck and she was still pleading with him Denneny put the revolver to his forehead and fired, dying instantly. His wife fainted as the shot was fired, and the couple were found lying together by neighbors who had heard the shooting and rushed into the house. Denneny had been identified in many important captures of smugglers.

Eleven clubs are expected to join the association at its permanent organization in May. After the association is organized its members will probably unite in giving the greatest musical festival the west has ever enjoyed.

HUSBAND AND WIFE SHOT.

Wounded by a Man Guarding Goods They Had Mortgaged.

Detroit, Mich., March 18.—Fred Seifferlein and his wife were shot by Emil Defaw at Leesville, a suburb of this city. Seifferlein will probably recover. His wife's wounds are thought to be fatal. Both are in the hospital and Defaw is in jail. Defaw was on guard at the Seifferlein residence all night to prevent the removal of some mortgaged goods, but the exact cause of the shooting is not yet known.

Molders Fight.

Kalamazoo, March 17. — Saturday night a nonunion molder, who works for Clarage & Son, was attacked by half a dozen drunken men, among whom was one union molder. Bay City, March 16.—The majority of members of the First Presbyterian church voted Sunday to accept the resignation of Rev. W. H. Clark, D. D., as pastor. Dr. Clark came here from Philadelphia five years ago. The First Presbyterian church is one of the largest and wealthiest in Michigan.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Cailloutte, Druggist, Beaversville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at Baker & Hall's drug store. 2

THE DEADLY CIGARETTE

A BUFFALO VICTIM'S TERRIBLE CONDITION

Health Destroyed. Chas. Roderick Feared Death. How the Habit was Overcome and His Life Saved.

From the Evening Times, Buffalo, N. Y.

Charles Roderick, of No. 137 East Genesee St., Buffalo, N. Y., a hale and hearty lad, stood leaning carelessly against the banister at the head of the stair.

He was dressed in his working clothes. His trousers, shirt and hands were covered with paste, for they were papering at his home. He looked the perfect picture of robust, manly health.

"Yes," he said to the Times reporter, stretching his arms and expanding his chest, "I'm as strong as an ox now, but you ought to have seen me a year ago. Why you really wouldn't have known me.

"I am almost ashamed to say it, but I was addicted to the cigarette habit. The smoking of these little things and tobacco chewing bore me right down.

"I grew worse and worse. Each day, each week saw my step more feeble, my form more emaciated, until friends predicted an early grave.

"I was unable to continue my work as a steam fitter.

"I tried everything. No man ever had better medical treatment than I did, but 'twas no use.

"Just imagine a young boy like me (he is about twenty years of age) afflicted with almost all the illness known. My heart was bad, very weak and given to palpitating. I was always costive, and, oh my, so weak. I was continually spitting blood and gasping for breath. So bad did this become that I was afraid to go to sleep for fear I would choke to death.

"I believe I told you I had the best of medical treatment. Six doctors—I don't care to put their names in print—all treated me without success, and I became about discouraged."

Mr. Roderick mentioned the doctors by name to the reporter and all were among the most prominent in the city, living on Main, Delaware, Franklin, Genesee and other fashionable thoroughfares.

"About a year ago I took my first box of the medicine that has saved my life.

"I tell you frankly that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the best medicine I have ever taken.

"I took five boxes of Pink Pills, just one less box than I had had doctors, and was a well man. And the pills only cost me 50 cents a box at that.

"I don't like newspaper notoriety," said Mr. Roderick, as the reporter turned to go, "and wouldn't let you use my name if it wasn't because I want others to be benefited by my discovery."

COVERED WITH STRANGE SPOTS.

From the Times, Owego, N. Y.

Having been informed that Mr. Harlin Scott, of the town of Candor, Tioga Co., N. Y., had received great benefit from the use of Pink Pills, a reporter of the Owego Times drove out to Mr. Scott's farm and found that gentleman hard at work and apparently in the best of health. On making inquiry as to the truth of the report, Mr. Scott was very enthusiastic and cheerfully furnished the following affidavit:

"Harlin J. Scott, being duly sworn, says that he is a farmer living in the town of Candor, Tioga Co., State of New York. Had formerly lived in Caroline, Tompkins County, N. Y. For several years was afflicted with a disease of the skin, in which brown spots and sores appeared upon his face, neck and body. At times suffered a burning, prickling or itching sensation that was terribly annoying and disagreeable, especially so when perspiring, and was unable to work. Consulted the local physicians, who said my liver and blood was diseased. His prescriptions did not [illegible] me. I took blood remedies recommended by druggists, with no help. A friend called my attention to Pink Pills for Pale People. I purchased a box of a druggist in [illegible] February, 1894. The first box had a beneficial effect. Have continued to take them and there is scarcely any spots or pimples on my body. I can now work hard—my action causes no annoyance. I sleep well and am confident that my recovery is due to Pink Pills. HARLIN J. SCOTT.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 18th day of May, 1895.

MR. COULTER'S COURAGE.

DOVER, CLARE CO., MICH., June [illegible]
To the DR. WILLIAMS' MEDICINE Co.

This is to certify that I have been a sufferer from that dreaded disease rheumatism for many years. In the fall of '95, on the day of November, I was taken down with the rheumatism and was not out of the house again until the 28th of March, '96, from that time on I have suffered beyond description with that dreaded disease. In the winter I could look for from three to six weeks that I could not get out of the house and two different times since I was first taken with it I have been perfectly helpless for weeks at a time, so I had to be handled like a blanket. I tried almost everything I could hear of but they did me no good. The doctors could not reach my case, and after I saw what wonderful things Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for my wife in a case of paralysis, I made up my mind to try them for my rheumatism; and I must say to the credit of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that they have done for me what the doctors and all the medicines have failed to do. In the spring of '94 I took three boxes of these pills and was in the best summer that I have for years. But during the winter I caught cold and my rheumatism returned, and this winter I commenced on a half a dozen boxes and have taken them, and must say that I have had more rheumatic pain this spring than I have had before, since I was first taken down in the fall of '68.

I do not claim that I am entirely cured, but I do believe that they will drive it entirely out of the system, and I hope that Dr. Williams' Pills will find their way into all homes and do for others what they have done for us. Respectfully yours, JAS. W. COULTER.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have an enormous sale. An analysis of their properties shows that they contain in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. There are no ill effects following the use of this wonderful medicine. It can be given to children with perfect safety.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

HAWAII, THE "PEARL OF THE PACIFIC."

The Tenth of a Series of Letters by John R. Musick.

Hawaiian Holidays and How They are Observed.

(Copyrighted, 1896, by Funk & Wagnalls Company, New York.)

The Hawaiian holidays are twelve in number, and are a strange mingling of American, European, and Asiatic civil and religious observances. January 1st is a holiday, being New Years day; January 17th is a holiday in celebration of the downfall of monarchy; February 12 is Chinese New Years; March 17, Kamehameha III's birthday; Good Friday; May 24, birthday of Queen Victoria; May 30, Decoration Day; June 11, Kamehamaha Day; July 4, Birthday of the Republic and American Independence; November 28, Recognition of Hawaiian Independence; Thanksgiving Day and Christmas. If all she holidays are kept as Christmas, the Hawaiians will not soon forget the several events they celebrate.

I left Kailaua on December 23, 1895, on the Inter-Island Steamer W. G. Hall, for Honolulu, and was surprised to find the steamer crowded with people of all possible shades of complexion and stations in life, all bound to Honolulu to spend the holidays. The school teacher from Hawaii, the clerk and plantation manager from Maui, all bo rded the Hall for the capital city. Quite a gay party of fair and dark ladies and gentlemen were assembled on the deck of the steamer as she plied the waters, and guitars and banjos were brought out, singing and instrumental music being the order until a late hour.

By daylight on the 24th we were at the dock in Honolulu. The day was as worm as one in July. Men went about in white duck suits and straw hats, many of the natives were bare-footed, and, so far as the weather was concerned, there was no indication whatever of Christmas. But the shops displayed the usual amount of Christmas toys, the churches were decorated with Christmas trees, and it only lacked cold weather and winter garb to make one sure it was Christmas indeed.

When evening came on I walked out on the streets and found them all brilliantly lighted up, and the shop men doing a thriving business. Fort street and hotel street, and other principal streets, were thronged with men, women and children so that one could scarcely squeeze his way through. It almost reminded one of Fourteenth and Twenty-third streets, New York, during the holiday trade.

Shop windows were filled with toys, trinkets, and holiday presents, some displayed with the most excellent taste.

Articles of bright colors seemed to attract the natives most. The Hawaiian loves the beautiful, the gaudy, the brilliant. He does not always display the most approved of tastes in the selection of colors, for blue and pink, red and yellow are liable to be mingled promiscuously in the makeup of his or her dress.

An incident attracted my attention which will illustrate what it is to be in a tropical country during the Christmas holidays. I saw a great throng of natives gathered in front of a confectionery shop on Fort street, who seemed to be greatly excited and talking rapidly in their native language, the object which was attracting their attention being evidently on the sidewalk. One put his finger forward as if to touch some object and suddenly jerked it away again as if the creature was alive and had bitten him. I pressed forward to get a glimpse of the wonder and it proved to be--a large square cake of ice. That ice attracted more attention than anything on exhibition that evening. In the center of it was frozen some California fruit, and the natives stood around it, occasionally touching it with their fingers, until it melted entirely away, which was late in the night.

Christmas was celebrated here more as Fourth of July than Christmas. The Kanaka boy does not know how to celebrate if he cannot make a noise, and firecrackers are his heart's delight. He discharges them by the bunch in imitation of the Chinese, and not singly as the American boy does. All night long on Christmas Eve the firecrackers were popping, and they continued during all the next day. There were services in all the churches and Sunday schools similar to such services in the United States on Coristmas Day. The native churches had their Christmas trees, the different American and the European churches their trees and appropriate ceremonies. The Chinese and Japanese Christian churches, in imitation of their white brothers, also had Christmas trees and devotional services.

I attended the Japanese M. E Church Christmas tree. The hall in which the services were conducted was beautifully decorated with a large fern tree in one corner, orhamented with candles and tinsel paper, and loaded with pretty presents. The entertainment began by singing by the Japanese. The music was familiar but the words were not. Then K. Kahasaki, one of the Japanese workers, read a chapter from the Bible in his own language. This was followed by prayer from S. Nishi, an opening address by A. Iwamoto, a hymn, "Yes, Jesus Loves Me," by seven Japanese boys; this followed by recitations in Japanese and English by several little boys. H. Nakano, a boy not over twelve or fourteen years of age, delivered an address in English to the Americans present, which might have done credit to one much more advanced in years.

After the benediction came the presentation of gifts. This was novel, amusing, and expensive to a congregation as small and poor as the Japanese, as in addition to the special gifts on the Christmas tree for individual friends, they provided gifts for visitors and all, and the house was well crowded with visitors. The pastor of the church, Rev. H. Kihara, delivered an address to his people in Japanese, and he was followed by Rev. H. W. Peck, of the Methodist church. Then four young Japanese went through the audience and distributed little rolls of paper about the size of a pipe-stem. When unrolled each paper was found to have a number on it, there being a corresponding number on each package brought for distribution. Some of the presents were quite costly and others cheap. The calling off of numbers of packages and distribution of presents caused quite a little flutter of excitement, as there was considerable incongruity in the directions they went, many grown men drawing tin horns or sewing baskets, while some ladies received cavalry spurs. My prize was a set of doll dishes, while Mrs. Jenkins, from New York, who was on her way on a missionary tour to Japan, drew a boy's sword. I asked her if she proposed to take Japan with the sword in the way Mahomet established his faith.

Hawaii is truly a missionary country. The influence of the missionary is felt on the streets, in the stores, shops and offices. Honolulu has saloons, but there is little visible drunkenness. I don't remember having seen any man under the influence of liquor, except a few sailors. The enemies of the present government contemptuously call it the "missionary government," because most of the officials and heads of departments are the sons of missionaries.

During the latter part of Christmas week the rumor got abroad that President Dole was going to begin the new year by granting a free and full pardon to all the remaining political prisoners. The rumor proved to be well founded. President Dole, who is one of the kindest men I ever met, had determined to set free the remaining prisoners. At 9:30 on New Year's Day, the eight prisoners were called from their cells into the prison yard, and there heard their pardons read with great interest.

"The Republic is stronger today than ever, was the universal opinion. That act of clemency on the part of Dole will heal over the old sores, and we will soon be a united people," said one of the spectators.

President Dole's New Year reception was held in the Council Chamber of the Executive building, and was one of the most important and magnificent events in Honolulu society the writer has had the pleasure of witnessing. President and Mrs. Dole showed that courtesy, dignity, and at the same time democracy due from the heads of a republic and leaders in society. Mr. and Mrs. Dole are in the prime of life, gifted with strong common sense, and what he possesses in executive ability she has as a leader of society. Mrs. Dole is a graceful and beautiful lady, noted for kindness of heart, and is as much admired as her excellent husband. Like him, she is one of the few people in this world whose head cannot be turned by high political or social positions and honors. Among the distinguished visitors were the foreign ministers and consuls in the city. During the afternoon Mrs. Dole, Mrs. Paul Newman, Mrs. Lawrey, and several other ladies received the young men of Honolulu in Y. M. C. A. hall. Refreshments were served from twelve to two, and from three to five hundred persons were present, including the principal business men of the city.

In the evening a concert was given in the same building, which was attended by a large and appreciative audience, and was in every way a success. The Y. M. C. A. orchestra of twenty members, rendered some excellent music.

On the whole, holidays in Honolulu, after all, do not so materially differ from holidays in the United States. In intelligence, morality, and sobriety Honolulu will favorably compare with any city of its size in America.

Death of Mrs. Geo. Shuart.

The Jackson Morning Patriot of Mar. 14, contains a notice of the death of Mrs. Geo. Shuart, of that city, from which we take the following extract. The deceased was a daughter of Elery Sisson, lived many years in this vicinity, and will be remembered by many friends here.

"Mrs. Susan Shuart, wife of George Shuart, died at the residence, 332 East Main street, at 7:15 Friday morning of inflammation of the bowels, aged 52 years. Mrs. Shuart was a member of Central City Hive No. 92, L. O. T. M., and leaves a host of friends to mourn her loss. She was of an energetic, ambitious disposition, a tireless worker and a faithful friend to all who were fortunate enough to know her. In addition to the large circle of friends she leaves to mourn her loss, a husband and two daughters, Mrs. B. Bradley and Mrs. Dan Rice, a son Homer, and three grandchildren left to her care by the death of her eldest daughter. The funeral will occur Sunday, at 2 p. m. at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Bradley, 614 South Blackstone street. The Lady Maccabees will attend in a body."

Great Five Mile Race.

About 300 people were gathered at the Armory Monday night to see the second foot race between Will A. Smith, the great long distance runner, and ten of our own boys, and no one went away disappointed either with the race or the manner in which it was conducted. The agreement for this second event was that Mr. Smith should run 5 miles without a stop and that the ten men who defeated him in the ten mile race last week should each run one half mile. The opinion of the people seemed to be that the cowboy would be too much for the local sprints in five miles, but it proved quite the contrary as our boys finished over three fourths of a mile in the lead.

By request Mr. Smith gave an exhibition one mile heel and toe walk, finishing in 7 minutes, 15 4-5 seconds.

After a few minutes rest the race proper was called and the men took their positions. Pritchard was the first local representative, and he set a pace which the cowboy found a little too hot and he dropped back half a lap. Every man had his speed with him and made a good gain. Several lively brushes took place on the long stretches which added interest to the race, and at the finish the two Smiths came over the line together after a hot struggle for first place, although Will A. had 19 laps yet to go to finish his five miles.

At the close of the race Mr. Smith made a neat little speech, in which he complimented the boys on their running and Capt. Kyle on his management. He said in substance that although defeated he was better pleased with his treatment here than in any other sporting event in which he ever figured. It is safe to say that he has left many friends here who appreciate his good qualities.

Time of running was as follows:

Pritchard	2:20
Pattison	2:22 2-5
Bowen	2:12 3-5
Anderson	2:12
Gillen	2:26 4-5
Hoag	2:18 4-5
Coddington	2:23 2-5
Meade	2:25 1-5
Westcott	2:19
Smith	2:10 4-5
	23:10 3-5
Smith	28:46 2-5

To complete the evenings sport Mr. Smith gave an imitation of the gait of ten of the champion runners and walkers of the world.

Both races have been well conducted, well patronized, gave good satisfaction to all, developed some excellent racing qualities among our local talent, gave Co. C a small lift and furnished an agreeable diversion at small expense, and best of all, it has been shown that a good race can be given without gambling, put up jobs, or a disorderly, rowdyish house.

What Are We Doing?

The members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union have often to reply to the following remark: "I would join your Union if I could see any results of your work." All who attended Mrs. Law's lecture on Tuesday evening in the Baptist church, learned many things which were the direct work of the W. C. T. U. Among them these, the founding of the State Industrial School for Girls, at Adrian, was the work of the white ribboners of Michigan, championed by Mary T. Lathrop and Aunt Laura Haviland and worked for by every local union in the state. The bills passed by almost every state in the union making Scientific Temperance Instruction in the schools a law, was the result of hard work by the W. C. T. U. led by Mrs. Mary H. Hunt. White ribboners throughout this nation have, by their unwearied efforts, caused those monstrous and scandalous Age of Consent statutes to be so raised and amended in nearly every state that our boys and girls are better protected from fiends in human shape. Matrons have been appointed to care for female prisoners in many of our penitentiaries and reformatories. Missionaries provided to look after and help emigrant women and girls when they land on our shores, and save them from the pitfalls our nation licenses to destroy them. And who has not read of our heroic round the world missionaries? These are only a very few of the forty departments of work engaged in by the Organized Motherhood of the World, whose motto is, "For God and Home and Native Land."

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., March 20, '96.

The Senate, in delaying final action upon the Cuban resolutions is, of course, not doing so to please the Spanish lobbyists, but their Spanish employers think they are earning their money. The Senate committee on foreign relations sat down hard upon the proposition to send the Cuban resolutions back to conference by directing Senator Sherman to get a vote upon them as soon as possible. How soon that will be depends upon how many more Senators want to make speeches on the subject.

Senator Vest made the hit of the week in a semi-humorous speech in favor of Senator Cannon's resolution directing Secretary Smith to carry out the law by opening the 2,000,000 acres in the Uncompahgre Indian reservation, in Utah, to the public. He started out by calling attention to the administration's disposition to misunderstand the western people and threw the entire Senate into laughter by the following reference to President Cleveland's speech at the New York Home Missionary meeting: "Our President stood with Dr. Talmage on one side and the Rev. Sheldon Jackson on the other, and gave us a new version of that blessed old missionary hymn which we have heard so often in our childhood.

From Montana's sinful mountain;
From Utah's wicked plains;
They call us to deliver
Our land from Error's chains.

As was expected the House made the resolution censuring Ambassador Bayard the basis for a partisan discussion.

According to the present programme, President Cleveland will shortly extend the civil service rules so as to cover about every employe of the Federal government outside of members of the Cabinet and Judiciary. If done, the administration which will come into power next March would have practically no patronage to distribute. This does'nt strike the politicians favorably. In fact it does'nt strike anybody except the present office-holders and those who are dependent upon them, very favorably. While there never was any sense in a wholesale change in the small-fry officials of the government everytime there was a change of administration, it squares with both common sense and good business ideas to have those filling executive positions in political sympathy with the administration. If President Cleveland makes the proposed blanket extension of the civil service rules it will be the first step towards the total abolition of those rules by his successor.

The fact is not likely to be overlooked by foreign nations that the Naval appropriation bill for the fiscal year beginning July 1, next, which was this week agreed upon by the House committee on Naval Affairs, carries more money for the increase of our navy than has been carried in a single bill since the war. The building of four battleships and fifteen torpedo boats are provided for in the bill. The new boats are all to be built by contract, and to meet any emergency that may arise for hurrying them the Secretary of the Navy is authorized to spend as much of the total appropriation as in his judgement may be necessary during the coming fiscal year.

Representatives of nearly all the railway labor organizations were given hearings by the House labor committee this week. They all spoke in favor of the bill of Senator Voorhees, giving any railway employ who is arrested for contempt of court the right to appeal to any other court and to a trial by jury; also the bill introduced by Representative Erdman, of Pa., providing for a national board of arbitration to settle disputes between railways and their employes, and Representative Phillips' bill to create a national non-partisan board to look after the interests of employers and employes and make recommendations for their mutual benefit.

The giving of a dinner and reception in honor of Secretary and Mrs. Olney, by the British Ambassador, this week, was something very unusual for Lent, and the presence as guests of the Venezuelan minister and Sir Stafford Northcote, M. P., who was formerly Lord Salisbury's private secretary, naturally resulted in originating lots of gossip connecting the affair with the Venezuelan question. In order to quiet the gossip it was given out that the entertainment was the regular annual dinner and reception always given by the Ambassador in honor of the Secretary of State and his wife, and which was not given this year at the usual time because the Embassy was then in mourning on account of the death of Prince Battenburg.

The report that Senator Pugh and Hon. Don M. Dickinson, ex-Postmaster General, had a row because the former spoke slightingly of the President was not true. The men did exchange hard words, but the only cause was that the latter was under the influence of something which made him forget the proper manners of a gentleman. The incident occurred in the dining room of a well known restaurant and was all over in two minutes. It began through Representative McWilliam, of Tenn., offering to introduce the two men who, strange to say, didn't know each other.

A WONDERFUL ESCAPE.

Related by a Keeper of the Michigan State Prison at Jackson.

(From the Jackson Citizen.)

Mr. A. E. Wing resides at 612 N. Jackson Street, Jackson, Mich. He is a keeper in the Michigan State Prison, a man of sterling integrity, and whose word is beyond dispute. He tells the following story of a wonderful escape, and the incidents connected with the dangerous position in which he was placed. He says, some months ago my attention was attracted by a swelling of my groins, which began to increase in size to such an extent that I was alarmed. It spread down my legs to my feet, and I was bloated from my waist down, so badly that I could not pull my pants over my legs, and I had to open my shoes fully two inches before I could get them on. Even my face became puffed up; and my whole system seemed affected. I could hardly drag myself upstairs to unlock my men. I consulted a physician, one of the best in the city. He said the swelling was caused by an irritation of the kidneys, and I commenced treatment with him. But I seemed to be getting worse. I was strongly urged by a friend to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and I finally consented. After the first week I commenced to see a change, and felt much better. This was encouraging, and I continued their use. I took five boxes in all, with the happy result that I was completely cured. I have never heard of any medicine which had such a pronounced and radical effect, and yet not affect the system generally and leave it in such a good condition. I feel better now than I ever did. After the effect was once established the swelling gradually disappeared until it was entirely gone. I regard Doan's Kidney Pills as a most wonderful agent in the curing of any form of kidney disorder.

Attractive Women.

Why is one woman attractive and another not? The most admirable and attractive thing about an attractive woman is her womanliness. Everybody admires a womanly woman. She must have health, of course, because without it she would lose the brightness of her eyes, the fullness of her cheeks and her vivacity. Real health must mean that a woman is really a woman. That she is strong and perfect in a sexual way, as well as in every other. That she is capable of performing perfectly the duties of maternity. Some are born with what is called "constitutional weakness." Those who do not enjoy perfect health, need only take the proper precautions and the proper remedy to become perfectly well and strong. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure any derangement of the distinctly feminine organism.

Is it "overwork" that has filled this country with nervous dyspeptics?—that takes the flesh off their bones, the vitality from their blood, and makes them feeble, emancipated and inefficient? No, it is bad cooking, overeating of indigestible stuff, and other health-destroying habits.

The remedy is an artificially digested food such as the Shaker Digestive Cordial. Instead of irritating the already inflamed stomach, the Cordial gives it a chance to rest by nourishing the system itself and digesting other food taken with it. So flesh and strength return. Is not the idea rational? The Cordial is palatable and relieves immediately. No money risked to decide on its value. A 10 cent trial bottle does that.

MACON.

A Week of Caucuses—Another Death—Peronal Mention.

The way of the transgressor is hard boys.

Mrs. Clara Pennington was an Adrian visitor last Monday.

Good sheep are being bought in this section at 3c per pound.

The W. C. T. T. met at the home of Mrs. Maria Sickley on Friday afternoon.

Darius Hennershot having rented his farm will return to the old homestead for the present, at least.

We are very thankful that the head lines "Macon Music" etc, have disappeared from the Herald columns.

The L. O. T. U. and K. O. T. M. of Macon will give a maple sugar social at the old Reformed Church on Tuesday eve March 31.

This is Caucus week and some of the prospective candidates are already becoming genial and more than usually ready to shake hands.

The Exhibition at the Baptist church comes to late for this week's report, but Prof. Randell is an expert in this line and we have no doubt of its success.

We omitted last week to mention the removal of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon to Bedford, Mich. They are old residents of Macon and will long be remembered among us.

Public spirited citizens are collecting money for the construction of a portable platform to be used at socials, political meetings etc. It is a worthy project and should be heartily supported.

Married, at the residence of the bride's parents in Milan township, on Wednesday, March 11, 1896, by Rev. J. A. DeSpelder, Mr. Ralph Hendershot, of Macon, and Miss M. Anna Craig, of Milan.

The prohibition caucus was held at the town hall Wednesday, the republican Thursday, and the democratic Friday. It is odd that we still continue to select candidates for town offices because of their opinions upon tariff and finance when the important question would seem to be whether they are properly qualified or not.

On Friday last occured the death of Miss Lavina Laugau. The funeral was held at the house on Sunday morning, the sermon being preached by Rev. J. DeSpelder. The deceased had been an invalid for many years, but by their generous and cheerful devotion, her brother and sisters did all that was possible to make life pleasant for her.

OBITUARY.

On the 8th of March, 1896, at his home in Macon, Mich., Mr. Thomas A. Liddel departed this life, aged 63 years, 7 months and 10 days. Deceased was born July 28, 1832, in Florida, Montgomery Co., N. Y. In 1835 he came to Michigan with his parents, who settled in Macon, in which vicinity his after life was spent. It was always a matter of interest to hear him speak of his boyhood experiences and especially of his school days, for the time of his childhood was also the time of the childhood of the settlement. On March 5, 1856, he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Ann Richart, of Macon, who with three daughters, survives him. Mr. Liddel's sterling character was recognized and honored by his neighbors. His kindness and generous dealings have often gladdened the hearts of those who needed help. He was a consistent member of the Reformed church of Macon. In the new edifice of said church the funeral services were held on Tuesday, March 10, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends, the Rev. J. A. DeSpelder preaching the sermon from the text, 2nd Tim., 2:11. Thus, one by one, the early settlers and their children are departing. May their helpfulness and devotion be held in lasting remembrance, and their good example be emulated by their successors on life's stage of action.

HEART DISEASE, like many other ailments when they have taken hold of the system, never gets better of its own accord, but Constantly grows worse. There are thousands who know they have a defective heart, but will not admit the fact. They don't want their friends to worry, and Don't know what to take for it, as they have been told time and again that heart disease was incurable. Such was the case of Mr. Silas Farley of Dyesville, Ohio who writes June 19, 1894, as follows:

"I had heart disease for 23 years, my heart hurting me almost continually. The first 15 years I doctored all the time, trying several physicians and remedies, until my last doctor told me it was only a question of time as I could not be cured. I gradually grew worse, very weak, and completely discouraged, until I lived, propped half up in bed, because I couldn't lie down nor sit up. Thinking my time had come I told my family what I wanted done when I was gone. But on the first day of March on the recommendation of Mrs. Fannie Jones, of Anderson, Ind., I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart and wonderful to tell, in ten days I was working at light work and on March 19 commenced framing a barn, which is heavy work, and I hav'nt lost a day since. I am 56 years old, 6 ft. 4½ inches and weigh 250lbs. I believe I am fully cured, and I am now only anxious that everyone shall know of your wonderful remedies."

Dyesville, Ohio. SILAS FARLEY.

The Advance says Blissfield will soon loose its opera house and laments the lack of public spirit which will allow this calamity to happen.

A republican club has been organized at Blissfield with A D Gilmore as president. We have not as yet learned their choice for president or their position on the Pingree question.

J. T. Everett, of the Ypsilanti schools, has been chosen principal of the Grass Lake schools. Prof. Everett may fill a long felt want there as he is the fourth to try it this year; and then again he may not fill it.

Press: Between the disclosures of Brailey by the Times and Pollasky by the Telegram our new railroad enterprises promise to be mere conjectures. Each project seems to be hit by a Trail. The two T's are pushing things.

The deputy game warden who has jurisdiction in the vicinity of Wampler's lake declars that he will arrest all violators of the law should any festive sports attempt to use the unlawful spear and jack on that or adjacent lakes.

A prominent young newspaper man of Ann Arbor was recently mistaken for the Baptist clergyman of that city. The extreme piety and simple but deep seated religion exemplified in the lives of the University city has its effect on even the most abandoned citizens.

The Monroe Democrat tells how an old Tecumseh boy got there in this wise: "Dr. Hayne was re-elected a member of the Dundee village council, without trying. It turns out that a few persons worked very hard to "lick" him, but the doctor did't know it. Wait till she can get at them with his pill case!"

Jackson Patriot: Judge of Probate Hammond Tuesday appointed C. C. Pond, J. R. Moffett and Jno. O. Gunnison a committee to condemn lands for the use of the C. J. & M. railroad, the lands being a part of the Ann Filley estate. The committee is to meet next Monday at 10 o'clock.

Telegram: A prominent Adrianite was at Weston yesterday and met J. S. Bralley, of Wauseon, who is at work securing right of way options on the proposed Lima Northern railroad. He stated that he would try and be in Adrian this week. The options are being secured over the line recently surveyed striking the Wabash this side of Seneca.

The Addison Courier thus speaks of Rev. Hageman's call to that town: Rev. J. C. Hageman, of Dundee, has declined the call to the pastorate of the Congregational church here. It is a disappointment to the society since an amount sufficient to pay the salary had been pledged and other steps taken to re-establish the regular work of the church.

Judge Robbins has appointed the following county soldiers' commission, whose duty it is to furnish relief to needy veterans: Wm. C. Street, Adrian, term of 3 years; Albert H. Boies, Hudson 2 years; H. W. Stevens, Tecumseh, 1 year. The entire relief fund is in charge of the county treasurer, and cases must be reported to the nearest member of the commission. This is under the new law.

Ypsilantian: The Light Guards are considering the project of constructing a $5,000 armory, the hall of which will supply the long felt need of an opera house. The proceeds of the play, "The Volunteer," which will be given by the Light Guards in Cleary Hall next week Thursday and Friday nights, will form the beginning of this fund. Everybody should attend the performance and help the good cause along, and at the same time get his full money's worth in enjoyment.

The following record as given in the Monroe Democrat rather beats Clinton and Britton both: "Mr. and Mrs. Lamkin Wickenheiser of Maybee, have scored a remarkable record in this, that twice within fourteen months and eight days, they have become the parents of twins, a boy and a girl in each case. The last set was born March 9th. All the youngsters are 'as smart as June grasshoppers,' the mother is doing well and the father better than could naturally be expected under the circumstances."

The Liberty farmer's club of Jackson county in force assembled has unanimously declared, resolved and decided against the practice of the board of supervisors of that county of allowing too large salary and fees to certain officials. They will support no candidate unless he declares flat footed for cheaper county administration. It will be well when close times compel the tax payers of every county to scrutinize more closely the cost of running the affairs of the shrievalty.

Exchange: Every column in a newspaper contains from ten to twenty five thousand distinct pieces of metal; the displacement of one of which would cause a blunder or typographical error. And yet some people think it strange when they can find an error in a newspaper. When they see a word with a wrong letter in it, or a misplaced letter, they are sure they could have spelled the word right and are happy for a whole day and go around telling how the editor made a mistake.

"The Stimpson Computing Scale Company of Milan, has beaten the Dayton, O., Computing Scale Company in the United States court at Detroit. The Dayton Company brought suit for infringement of patent. Judge Swan 'weighed' the evidence and 'computed' that justice belonged in the 'scale' of the Stimpson Company." Thus saith the Democrat of Monroe concerning the the victory of the Stimpson Computing Scale Company. But say, brother, we think the Stimpson Company is located at Tecumseh at present.

Chas. Goodrich, of Dundee, has acquired and removed the corpse of the Dundee Ledger to Britton, where he will attach a galvanic battery to the remains and set them kicking, under the name of the Britton Gazette. Once there was a Britton Eagle and when it finally fell off its perch, from starvation, it was so poor that it lodged in the air and had to be knocked down with a pole. Then there was a Britton Journal, but it passed into the stomach of the Deerfield Times, where it is now in process of deglutition. Now follows the Gazette. Better success to it.—Monroe Democrat.

Adrian Press: The U. S. court at Detroit, Judge Swan presiding, has dismissed the bill filed against the Stimpson Scale Co. of Tecumseh, for infringement of patent, and the Evening News says there can be no appeal. We are glad to learn that this important industry is not to be in any way harmed by a question upon the validity of its patents. It is a most remarkable piece of mechanism, and now that any doubt about its being an infringement has been swept away, we predict increased orders for it. We believe only one is in use here, which is at the store of A. C. Clark, and a brief glance will convince any one of its excellence and worth. Good for the Stimpson Company. Since writing the foregoing, we learn that scales are in use here at Bowerfind's bakery and Betz's grocery.

HARDING.

Anna May Harding, daughter of the late Rev. A. W. and Julia J. Harding, was born at Sharon, Mich., July 5, 1874, and died in Tecumseh, Mich., March 24, 1896. When she was two years old her parents came to Tecumseh and settled on a farm north of the village. She took a course in the schools here, graduating in the high school Class of '91, at the age of seventeen. For some time she was employed as cashier and bookkeeper by the Avery grocery firm, after which she took a course in the business college at Ypsilanti, fitting herself for office work as a stenographer and typewriter. In the fall of '93 she accepted a position with the Jackson Grocery Co., of Jackson, Mich., which position she filled until about one year ago, when her health failed and she returned to the home of her brother, Arthur. Early in life she became a christian and a member of the Methodist church. At the time of her death she was a member of the Epworth League of the First Methodist Church of Jackson. She was a person of great force of character, and had a great many friends among those who knew her. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. P. Varner, assisted by Rev. Howard Field, of Weston, at the home of A. B. Harding.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father, in His infinite wisdom, has seen fit to call to her reward Miss Anna Harding, an active member of the Epworth League of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of this city, and who, by her every day life, proved her loyalty to the cause of our Saviour, therefore be it

Resolved, That we extend to the members of the bereaved family our sympathy and consolation in this, their hour of sorrow and affliction, knowing that they already have the higher comfort that comes from Christ Jesus. And be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the sorrowing family of Miss Harding and that the same be duly entered upon the records of the league.

MAY ACT WITH POPULISTS.

Powerful Bimetallic Organizations Would Make Victory Certain.

Referring to the consolidation of the American Bimetallic League, the National Bimetallic Union and the National Silver Committee, the Weekly Tribune of Callaway, Neb., says:

"The new organization resolved to support the party declaring in its favor; but declares that in the event of nonsupport by either of the great parties, the Union will put its own ticket in the next campaign."

Then that paper waxes indignant over the supposed fact that the American Bimetallic Union has turned the cold shoulder on the Populist party.

The National Bimetallist is anxious that no misapprehensions may arise with reference to the attitude of the consolidated organization, and it will therefore say to one and all of its readers, that it has taken no such action as that mentioned above. It has adopted no such resolutions, made no such declaration and in fact has thus far proposed nothing in the world but a campaign of education. It has no disposition to ignore the Populist party, or any other. There are populists, republicans and democrats connected with it and they are all working together in perfect harmony for the common cause, namely, the complete restoration of bimetallism in the United States.

AN ADDRESS.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 2, 1896.

To the Bimetallists of Nebraska:

We, the undersigned members of the executive committee of the Nebraska Silver League, have been directed to enroll in one organization, so far as possible, all of the believers in bimetallism at 16 to 1. This is not a new party, but an association of the friends of free silver, regardless of party affiliation, for the purpose of bringing the money question clearly before the voters of the state. Gold standard advocates are already organized for the purpose of propagating the gold standard idea. We cannot hope to make a successful resistance to them unless there is some channel through which literature upon the subject may be conveyed directly to the voters, and there is no reason why differences of opinion upon other political issues should prevent co-operation in educational work among those who believe in the restoration of the gold and silver coinage of the constitution.

The unconditional repeal of the Sherman law, the veto of the seignorage bill, the refusal of the treasury department to coin the silver bullion now on hand, the repeated attempts to retire the greenbacks and treasury notes in the interest of a national bank currency, the issue of interest bearing bonds in general and the execution of the Rothschild's contract in particular—all parts of a comprehensive scheme to fasten the monometallic system upon the people of the United States and make gold the only legal tender money—have made it certain that the money question will, for the time being, at least, be one of the most prominent issues before the people. The election of 1896 may determine whether this nation will return to the bimetallic principle or place itself in the absolute control of the money changers.

Bimetallism means a return of prosperity to the producers of wealth—a prosperity which will reach and benefit all classes of society; the gold standard means an indefinite extension of the present financial depression, with enforced idleness among the laboring classes and gross injustice to all debtors. We have no fund with which to employ organizers and must appeal to the common people to make of the silver cause the only contribution within their power, namely, friendly interest and a helping hand.

This is not a secret organization, but an open warfare in opposition to the financial policy which Mr. Carlisle once called an international conspiracy against the welfare of mankind, and which Mr. Blaine once declared would prove "distressing to millions and utterly disastrous to tens of thousands."

We shall as rapidly as possible appoint county committees, and these county committees will in turn organize precinct clubs. We are very much gratified at the hearty support already given to this league, and we confidently rely upon the masses of the people of Nebraska, republicans, populists, democrats and prohibitionists alike to aid this movement, which has for its purpose the defense of their rights and interests.

County papers will please copy.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

BLEW OUT THE GAS.

David McKelver and William Hunt Asphyxiated in a Michigan Hotel.

Marquette, March 23.—David McKelver and William Hunt were asphyxiated by gas at the Bay View hotel Saturday night. It is believed that they blew out the gas. Both men were laborers of middle age and unmarried. Hunt at one time is said to have admitted that his name was assumed and that his real name was Hargraves. His motive in concealing his identity lay in the alleged fact of his flight from his home in Adlington, Lancashire, England, to avert threatened unpleasant consequences of a liaison with a young woman. His family connections there are said to be highly respectable, and he is said to have been the owner of an estate worth $50,000.

RIOT IN HOLLAND.

Mob of Angry Men Turns Loose and Rescues a Prisoner.

Holland, March 23.—About midnight Saturday night a crowd of over 100 men, composed of some of the best citizens of this city, caught Frank Sloter, a young man about 20 years of age, tied him securely to an electric light pole on Main street, directly opposite the City hotel, and gave him a sound horsewhipping. Sloter was charged with being the correspondent of a sensational paper that had printed scurrilous items from this city.

Holland, March 24.—A riotous mob of men tried Monday night to rent the opera house for the purpose of holding an indignation meeting over the public horsewhipping of Frank Sloter Saturday night. As the hall was in use, the mob turned loose in Main street. Guns were fired and threats and wild speeches were made against the city officers. When things were getting hot Marshal Vaury attempted to arrest a man, and the crowd rallied to support the fellow. The marshal called on Alderman Lokker for help, and with Deputy Sheriff Keppel they succeeded in jailing the man after being struck several times with clubs, stones and fists.

The mob went to the jail and threatened to burn it or break it open unless the man was released. To save bloodshed City Treasurer Brusse made a speech to the members of the mob, promising to release the man if they would disperse. The mob would accept no promises, and the officers were finally compelled to release the prisoner. The man was hoisted on the shoulders of his friends and carried back uptown, where the mob still made night hideous. Excitement is at white heat and a lynching is threatened.

BUILDING BLOWN T S.

Terrific Explosion of Powder. Much Damage at Dowagiac.

Dowagiac, March 23.—The frame building containing the grocery store of Gates & Ritter was blown to atoms Sunday afternoon. The roof was thrown high in the air. Beshore's Floral Emporium, on one side, and Fangs' saloon, on the other, were slightly damaged. The plate glass in the building was hurled across the street. Many windows opposite were broken. The cause was the ignition in some unknown way of some powder on the ground floor. No one was injured. Damage not yet estimated.

Niles, March 24.—The explosion in the grocery store of Baits & Ritter at Dowagiac Sunday, which caused a loss of $5,000, is believed to have been the work of malicious persons, who used explosives. The firm had no knowledge of powder being stored in the building.

GRANTED A PARDON.

Gov. Rich Thinks John McDonald, a Life Prisoner, Is Innocent.

Lansing, March 24.—Gov. Rich has granted an unconditional pardon to John McDonald, who has served six years in the Marquette prison on a life sentence for murder. The governor's action is based on the unanimous recommendation of the pardon board and his own firm conviction that McDonald is innocent. McDonald was convicted at Marquette in 1890 of killing Mollie Beveridge in a shanty near Matchwood. Maggie Redpath, who was shot at the same time the Beveridge woman was killed, was not produced as a witness. She now makes affidavit that Duncan Beveridge did the killing after a quarrel with his wife, and that she received the second bullet intended for the murdered woman. Her story is believed.

PEACHES WILL BE PLENTIFUL.

Michigan Growers Say Their Crop Will Break the Record.

Benton Harbor, March 23.—Investigation shows that the prospects for a large crop of peaches and small fruit trees throughout the Michigan fruit belt this season were never better. The trees have passed through the winter in perfect condition, the temperature at no time during the winter dropping lower than 10 degrees below zero. There have been no warm spells to start the buds, and a cold snap now would do no harm. Growers say that if peaches get through the month of April safely the crop will be the largest on record. Many new orchards will come into bearing this season and the peach acreage will probably be larger than ever before. The success of the fruit growers in securing more favorable freight rates to points east of Buffalo and Pittsburgh will make a material difference in their profits, as the eastern market will be the outlet for the surplus crop.

Grand Rapids, March 21.—The prospects for a heavy peach crop in western Michigan were never more favorable than this year. The trees have come through the winter in perfect condition, the weather having been steady and cold throughout and at no time severe. Unless late frosts injure the buds, the crop will be a record breaker.

STATE LEADS IN DIVORCES.

Wayne County Alone Averages One to Every Six Marriages.

Detroit, March 24.—Rev. J. M. Patterson preached in the Westminster Presbyterian church Sunday night on "Divorces." From 1867 to 1888, he said, Michigan had granted one divorce to every 12 marriages, but Wayne county had made a much more remarkable record. Chicago and San Francisco weren't in it with Detroit. From January 1 to March 18, the Wayne circuit court has granted 67 divorces, and the county clerk had issued 422 marriage licenses. This was an average of one divorce to six marriages. In San Francisco the average was one to seven, and in Cook county, one to 13, one to 1,428 in Norway, and one to 9,932 in Ireland. Mr. Patterson found that some of the reasons were prevalence of "free love" ideas, deception before marriage, hasty and clandestine marriages and the growing independence of women; but the supreme reasons, in his estimation, were the ease with which divorces could be secured, and the permission to marry after being divorced.

May Go to Grand Rapids.

Grand Ledge, March 25.—The executive committee of the State Fair association met the directors of the West Michigan association in this city to discuss the holding of the next state fair here. The state committee, in view of the success of the fair of last year, is anxious to return, the West Michigan society is willing, and the basis for the division of the profits was agreed upon. No conclusion was reached, however, as the state committee must submit to the general committee for ratification. It is believed to be certain that the state fair will move here.

Excellent Prospects for Fruit.

Grand Rapids, March 25.—The West Michigan Fruit Growers' association, made up of practical fruit growers in this part of the state, met Tuesday, and after comparing notes came to the conclusion that fruit prospects were never so bright as this year. In some localities peaches were damaged by frost, but these were exceptional and the damage was thought not sufficient to make much difference. Apples, cherries and plums were reported in perfect condition and the small fruits were protected by the heavy snow fall.

Boy Kills His Brother.

Niles, Mich., March 25.—Frank Gough, aged 15, son of John Gough, of Watervleit, was shot and instantly killed by a younger brother—Albert, who is 13 years of age. The parents were away at the time of the shooting, and it is supposed that the boys quarreled, when Albert shot his brother. Neighbors found the younger brother sweeping up the victims brains. Albert claims the shooting was an accident.

What one Grocer says:

—"I hire clerks who can sell the goods that I tell them to sell—and of course I tell them to sell the goods on which I make the most money. If they can't do it, I won't have them. That's what I hire them for." This is an actual fact related by a grocer to our salesman—and it's a common fact; we have it daily. So, when they tell you that some washing-powder is "the same as" or "as good as" Pearline, it's because it pays a larger profit. Too large, altogether, if clerks can be hired to make people take things they don't want and know nothing of, instead of a tried and proved article like Pearline. 391

THE old man who looks out at the world with clear and healthy eyes cannot help feeling great gratification at the thought that his children and his children's children have inherited from him no weakness nor tendency to disease. The healthy old man is the man who has throughout his life kept his digestion good and his blood pure. Once in a while you find such a man who has never taken any medicine. That man has lived a perfectly natural life. Not one in a thousand does do it. Sometimes very slight indiscretions or carelessness pave the way for serious sickness. The germ theory of disease is well authenticated, and germs are everywhere. This need make no difference to the perfectly thy man. Germs go through the thy body without effect. They are ed along rapidly and thrown off before have time to develop or increase. Let once find lodgment or let them find a spot, they will develop by the million the blood will be full of them. Instead h, life-giving properties, the blood will sluggish, putrid tide of impurity. In- of giving strength to the tissues, it force upon them unwholesome and ritious matter, and the man will flesh. The more flesh he loses and the er he becomes, the more susceptible to disease. His trouble will become plicated and serious consequences will w. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Dis- ry is the only medicine that absolutely infallibly cures all blood diseases, and st all diseases are blood diseases. It a medicine for some one particular lled disease. It is a medicine for the e body. It forces out all the germs of se, replaces impurities with rich, red d, feeds the tissues and makes strong, hy flesh.

Chicago Tribune, Traitor!

* * * In short, these silver monometallists are monomaniacs, and furnish the strongest possible proof that they ought to be so designated, since it is the eternal harping on one string that is the distinctive feature of monomania.—Chicago Tribune.

Of all the newspapers published in this broad land the Chicago Tribune has distinguished itself, in holding to the utterly false idea that "gold has a fixed, unchangeable value." Without argument, but by abuse and mere assumption, it has reiterated this idea in a thousand different ways. According to its own definition of a monomaniac, it fits that paper to a nicety. What bimetallists demand is not silver monometallism or gold monometallism, but bimetallism. We demand the fair use of each metal as full legal tender money. There is nothing like this fair use of silver to destroy the abnormal fall in the value of silver, as now measured by gold.—National Bimetallist.

Weak

Worn out, nervous women, receive criticism where they should have sympathy. They cannot help being nervous, if their blood is impure.

When the blood fails to feed the nerves upon proper nourishment what can you expect but nervous prostration, debility and nervous headaches?

If the cause is found in impure blood, the cure must be in making the blood pure. This is just what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, and it has proved the true nerve tonic because it is the true blood purifier, and the solace, comfort and defender of thousands of housewives, teachers, clerks and other sufferers of of both sexes. Just read this letter:

"I think it is my duty to tell what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me and my family. Two years ago I was in a weak, nervous condition and had dreadful palpitations or jumping of my heart, followed by sinking spells, which would last for several minutes. Sometimes it would seem as though I would never come out of them. I was treated by the best physicians, but only for a little time did they help me. I seemed to be growing worse instead of better. I would often seem hungry, but when I ate, no matter how little, it would cause me such misery that I was often wicked enough to wish myself dead. I had that languid, all-gone feeling and suffered awful distress in my stomach. I had given up all hopes of ever being well, when my mother wished me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I consented, to please her, and before I had taken the whole of one bottle I could see I was improving, and soon was indeed very much better. Its effects have been truly wonderful and I hope this letter may be the means of helping other suffering men and to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and be benefited by it. We have used Hood's Pills in our family and find them very excellent, especially for constipation. We give Hood's medicines great praise, and if anyone complains of feeling badly, I say 'You should take Hood's and only Hood's.'" MRS. KITTIE SMITH, 326 Dane Street, Waterloo, Iowa. Remember that

The Hazzard Circular.

This one issued by an agent of London Capitalists to the New York capitalists in 1862:

Slavery is likely to be abolished by the war power, and chattel slavery destroyed. This, I and my European friends are in favor of, for slavery is but the owning of labor and carries with it the care for the laborer, while the European plan, led on by England, is for capital to control labor by controlling the wages. This can be done by controlling the money. The great debt that capitalists will see to it is made out of the war must be used as a means to control the volume of money. To accomplish this the bonds must be used as a banking basis. We are now waiting for the Secretary of the Treasury to make the recommendation to congress. It will not do to allow the greenback, as it is called, to circulate as money any length of time, as we cannot control that.

A. C. Fisk's New Book.

We have just received a copy of a unique volume, on the silver side of the money question, by Col. A. C. Fisk. Time has only permitted a hasty glance at it, but it appears to merit a careful reading. Colonel Fisk is an original thinker, a man of force, a clean and pungent writer. Anything which comes from his pen is almost certain to be good reading, both entertaining and instructive. We shall make it a point to examine it more carefully, and give it a more extended notice a week or two later.—National Bimetallist.

Send for "The Great Conspiracy." Read it. Then send it to some one you know who is not an advocate of silver. Write to-day National Bimetallic Union, 134 Monroe street, Chicago.

READY FOR ACTION.

Silver Party Will Now Absorb the Best Elements of Two Old Parties

A meeting of the executive committee of the American Bimetallic League was held at the rooms of the league, Sun building, Washington, D. C., January 21, 1896, at which, after some discussion pertaining to the union of the various silver organizations of the country under one head, and some further discussion as to recommendations to be made to the conference to be held on the 22d instant, it was resolved that the arrangements between the presidents of this league, the National Bimetallic Union and the National Executive Silver Committee, to unite these and other organizations under one head for more efficient work in the silver cause under the name of the "American Bimetallic Union," be and the same is hereby ratified and approved.

The officers of the united organizations are: Gen. A. J. Warner, president; Hon. R. C. Chambers, first vice-president; Hon. H. G. Miller, second vice-president; E. B. Light, general secretary; Elmer C. Warner, secretary for Washington, D. C.; Geo. P. Keeney, secretary for the Pacific coast; Thos. G. Merrill, general treasurer; Eugene Davis, treasurer for Washington, D. C.; Hon. Thos. J. Clunie, treasurer for the Pacific coast. Executive committee: A. J. Warner, Ohio; R. C. Chambers, Utah; Henry G. Miller, Illinois; J. B. Grant, Colorado; Joseph Battell, Vermont; Wm. M. Stewart, Nevada; Marion Butler, North Carolina; Thos. G. Merrill, Montana; Jas. M. Turner, Michigan.

Thus the "more perfect union," of the three principal bimetallic organizations of the country is consummated. That the "American Bimetallic Union" will be a potential factor in the great struggle for silver restoration goes without saying.

The organization as above set forth could scarcely be improved upon. Not only is the personel of its officers unexceptionable, but geographically and politically they are about as evenly divided as practicable.

The executive committee consists of four Democrats, three Republicans and two Populists. Their names will be a tower of strength in all parts of the country.—National Bimetallist.

Send for "The Great Conspiracy." Read it. Then send it to some one you know who is not an advocate of silver. Write to-day National Bimetallic Union, 134 Monroe street, Chicago.

Will Soon Be on the Run.

The bold efforts of the gold press to belittle the Washington convention are highly indicative of the uneasiness in the money centers at the rapid growth of the American bimetallic sentiment that thrives on business failures and bond issues.

Condensed Testimony.

Chas. B. Hood, broker and manufacturer's agent, Columbus, Ohio, certifies that Dr. King's New Discovery has no equal as a cough remedy. J. D. Brown, proprietor St. James Hotel, Ft. Wayne, Ind., testifies that he was cured of a cough of two years standing, caused by La Grippe, by Dr. King's New Discovery. R. F. Merrill, Baldwinsville, Mass., says that he has used and recommended it and never knew it to fail and would rather have it than any doctor, because it always cures. Mrs. Hemming, 223 E. 25th St., Chicago, always keeps it at hand and has no fear of croup, because it instantly relieves. Free trial bottles at Baker & Hall's.

The suspension bridge at Niagara is to be replaced with a steel arch bridge.

A Preacher.

Of Waterloo, Ind., Rev. S. P. Klotz, writes: "I have been afflicted over 20 years with dyspepsia or sour stomach. Have tried different remedies without much benefit. A 10c bottle of Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin gave me great benefit. Have taken nearly one large bottle and feel like a different person." Sold by Orr & Temple. mar

HAWAII, THE "PEARL OF THE PACIFIC."

The Eleventh of a Series of Letters by John R. Musick.

A Journey to the Great Volcano.

Of course, no visitor to the Hawaiian Islands fails to see the great volcano Kilauea. The journey to this volcano can now be made very comfortably. The Wilder Steamship Company runs a line of steamers from Honolulu to Hilo which there connect with a stage. This stage takes one to the Volcano House, about three miles from the crater.

On Dec. 10, I boarded the Kinua, a steamer of the Wilder line, for Hilo. The next morning we were at one of the ports on the northern part of the island called Wahumacoua, where there was a large sugar plantation for which our ship was bringing some heavy machinery As the vessel was anchored half a mile from shore, the transportation of that ponderous machinery to land was an interesting sight. Two of the boats were lowered and lashed together with ropes and heavy beams of timber. Then the great iron rollers and cylinders were let down by means of a steam derrick and placed on the two boats, which were then rowed ashore by the native sailors.

The water in this bay is so clear that we could see pebbles on the bottom at the depth of forty or fifty feet. Schools of fish, some weighing twenty to thirty pounds, could be seen swimming about the ship. The natives on board cast over hooks and caught one fine large fellow.

When the cargo for this port had been all taken ashore, we continued our voyage down the coast of the great island which, with its miles of stone fences and brown earth, seemed a barren waste. But as we proceeded the scene changed. Huts and mills in abundance, with green pastures, cane fields, and forests succeeded barren wastes. Then soon, as we steamed along the shore, the snow-capped peak of Mauna Kea arose before our vision, in strong contrast with the tropical sun and summer breeze that fanned our cheeks.

During the afternoon we passed the landing called Panilo, where Minister Stevens's daughter, an estimable young lady, was drowned. Miss Stevens had been visiting some friends at this place, and was taking the vessel for Honolulu when the boat which was conveying her to the ship was overturned by the surf and she was drowned in fifty feet of water. A native sailor afterward dived to the bottom and recovered her body.

We arrived at Hilo at about eight in the evening, and going ashore I was taken in a hack to the Hilo Hotel, kept by a Portugese named Joseph Vierra. From here to the Volcano House one goes over a fairly good road through the Puna district in a stage, which makes the trip every other day.

On the morning of December 14th we boarded the stage and left Hilo. In the suburbs we halted to pick up a Japanese woman who was going up the road, and at the bridge beyond Hilo we took a native man and an empty goods box on board Then the four horses on the stage swept down the road, through a lane with rich cane fields on either side.

After a few miles the cane fields disappeared, and we plunged into vast forests of ahia wood mingled with which wild coffee was growing. Occasionally we passed a narrow path leading into the dense jungle, and whenever one glanced down it, the shanty of a Japanese might have been seen snugly hidden away like a ground-bird's nest.

The stage carried the mail, and I was surprised at the manner in which this was distributed by the driver. At every path along the way he gave a blast on his stage horn, and threw off a letter or paper. Sometimes there was a post-box at the roadside, and as he whirled by, the stage driver deftly dropped into it the mail for the owner of the plantation.

One practise in Hawaii might teach a valuable lesson to the United States, and that is the employment of convict labor on public roads. Hawaii has some of the best and some of the worst roads in the world. Some of her broad turnpikes over the mountains are due to convicts working out their fines or years of penal servitude, which is certainly more profitable than hiring them out to a corporation. If a man violates the laws, it makes no difference whether he commits a misdemeanor or felony he must serve the spunky little republic by digging on the road.

At four o'clock the Volcano House, Mr. Peter Lee, proprietor was reached. One has all the evidences of the near proximity of a volcano on approaching the house. Steam was issuing from the seams in the lava-crusted earth along the roadside, and when we gained the higher ground we could see for miles about us. There were a thousand fissures in the earth from which hot steam and smoke were issuing, while far off to the west the smoke from the eternal fires of Kilauea gave it the appearance of Dore's paintings of Dante's Inferno. Below the Volcano House, not three hundred paces away, are vast sulphur banks from which issues vapor in continuous streams Mr. Lee, the proprietor has built a bath house, and conveys the sulphur vapor to it, the healing properties of which he declares are unequaled.

The Volcano House is a large, commodious country inn, with accomodations equal to such places in the United States. It is a great pleasure resort, and patronized extensively by invalids. Although it could seem that one could almost stand on its porch and throw a stone into the crater, it is three miles away.

My guide whose name was Albert, was a strange mixture of nationalities. He was born in Japan, his mother was a native of the Gilbert Islands, and his father a Frenchman. He had been reared in California and was only temporarily in Hawaii. Tho' a very intelligent fellow, he was unable to solve the problem of his nationality. I tried to, but soon gave it up.

Mounting my horse in the court in front of the house we began the descent. By a zigzag course we wound our way down the cliff into the first crater, which is over three miles across, our path sometimes leading along the side of the cliff, and the projecting rocks almost grazing our knees as we passed. We gained the second plain or great crater at last. This plain is covered with dark lava plains which in the distance looks like a congealed quagmire.

Once upon this plain we entered a path made across the lava. In places ferns were growing out from the seams in the crust. As we pressed on over the chasm-riven surface we came upon a wider, deeper crack spanned by a bridge. There is a story connected with this chasm, the guide said. One day a party of tourists left the Volcano House and went to see the crater, which was then active. While they were there the island was convulsed with an earthquake. Mr. Lee, fearing some harm had befallen his guests, ran to the lava flow to find this awful chasm from thirty to fifty feet deep. He was very much alarmed for his guests until he saw them coming across the lava flow. They had scarcely felt the earthquake at all, but they had to go about a mile above to cross the chasm.

Half a mile from the Lake of Fire, as the second crater is called, we came upon a small corral made of lava, in which we left the horses, and, armed, with stout sticks, proceeded over the plain of hard, glaring lava, through the seams of which sulphurous steam constantly hissed.

At last we gained the side of the lake. The crater was inactive, and had been so for a year [since Mr. Musick's visit, this volcano has been in eruption. According to the newspaper reports, the flow of lava began on January 5], but far down into its hollow depths the faint glow of fires or heated stones could be seen while the rumbling of subterranean thunders reached our ears. The fires were a thousand feet below us and almost hidden by dense clouds of sulphurous smoke. From the fissures of stone on the side, the quivering air bore evidences of heat. There the guide lighted his pipe by the fire of the volcano, and I thrust my walking staff a few inches into the apperture. Tho' the stick was green wood, in a few moments it was ablaze; the heat was so intense that one could not remain long at this place.

Going around to the north side we found great flow holes, where the lava was piled up in a thousand fantastical shapes. One of these cones looked like an elephant reared on its hind legs, the trunk and head being quite well formed.

When active, the volcano of Kilauea is one of the earth's greatest natural wonders. In the lake or second crater the lava is continually boiling in a furious manner, throwing up jets and fountains, sometimes to the height of seventy-five feet, dashing against the banks in fiery waves and throwing up clouds of molten spray, making one of the grandest, most awe-inspiring sights imaginable.

From the lake we went to the great sulphur cave. Tho' the thermometer stands at over one hundred in this cave we entered it, penetrating our way through the boiling, hissing steam. Stalactites of sulphur and alum hang like golden and silver icicles from the dome of the cavern. It was too hot to remain long, so we hastened out, mounted our horses, and returned to the Volcano House.

Farmers' Social Club.

The club held the closing meeting for the winter season a few evenings ago at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Schreder. Attendance good. The literary program was nicely carried out in a gratifying way. The essay by Miss Ellen Fisher was particularly good, the title of which was "Shadows." The recitations by Ralph Gillespie and Margaret Schreder and the humorous article read by Mrs. G. R. Schreder each came in well in their turn. Messrs. Bowen furnished excellent music and the recital of "Mr. Pickwick's Dilemma," by the young people was equal to the rest of the program.

As this was to be a social evening in every particular, the usual discussion gave place to a box supper, carried out on the leap year plan. As soon as the program was over the ladies were anxious to purchase the boxes, supposed to have been prepared by the gentlemen, and feast on the contents. It is hardly necessary to say that the boxes were filled to the covers with the dainties of the season, or that the ladies enjoyed the privilege of sampling some one else's cooking, but we can not help sympathizing with the owners of the boxes that failed to find purchasers, owing to the scarcity of ladies.

The club will not assemble for a regular meeting again until May. The place of meeting to be at Mr. John Fisher's residence. Date of meeting and program given later.

E. L. GROUP MEETING.

Held at the M. E. Church Wednesday, April 1.

The members of the Epworth League have every reason to be satisfied with their meeting here Wednesday. About 200 visiting delegates were entertained from Adrian, Albion, Clinton, Manchester, Weston, Blissfield, Deerfield, Ridgeway, Clayton, Macon and Tipton.

The Auditorium of the church was neatly decorated with the league colors, red and white. Each delegate wore a white badge with the letters E. L. printed thereon in red. Dinner and supper were served in the church parlors, and taken as a whole the group meeting may be justly called a success.

The morning session was opened by music followed by prayer by Rev. C. M. Brown. B. C. Day welcomed the delegates and was responded to by Rev. H Cansfield, of Ridgeway. Next came greetings from the other young peoples' societies of the city and the song "Throw Out the Life Line," preceded the first paper entitled, "Devotional Work," by Ella Norris, which was taken up in a strong and progressive manner.

Miss Bertha Taylor's paper "Importance of Literary Work" found ready support.

Miss Mary Eaton, president of the home league read a "History of the League," telling of its growth and making some very pertinent suggestions as to how its influence may be more effectually felt. This paper completed the forenoon meeting.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

After a song service, Rev. B. S. Hudson conducted devotional exercises. Carl Varner rendered the "Burial of Moses" in a pleasing manner. A chorus of 45 members of the Junior League sang "When Jesus Came to Bethlehem."

Miss Edna McClue, superintendent of the Junior League, read an excellent paper entitled "The Little Wheel."

Miss Grace Simmons gave a recitation, following which Raymond Gould read a paper on "Sin: Its Results and Remedy."

Rev. E. B. Bancroft, of Adrian, next addressed the meeting on "The Value of the Bible." It was an able literary and historical effort which could have interested its auditors for double the time taken.

Miss Emily Stephens, of the Deerfield League, then read a paper, "Spiritual Department," which was justly appreciated by all, showing careful, earnest thought and painstaking preparation. Do all the good you can, in all the ways you can, and to all the people you can. Give your hearts to your work. Make our church a power in the land, but love every church that has the salvation of the soul as its purpose.

After music by C. W. Back, daughter and son, of Blissfield, Presiding Elder Davis of Detroit, made a few well chosen remarks, encouraging the work already done and the meeting adjourned with a song.

EVENING SESSION.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. G. E. Williams, of the Friend's church, after which the M. E. quartette rendered a song in a fine manner. Ex-president B. C. Day repeated his paper by request. The Epworth League Has Its Origin in Divine Power. The world is a unit, we stand or fall together.

Miss Grace Parmenter, of Blissfield, gave a fine recitation, "Over the Line."

Rev. D. H. Ramsdell, of Clinton, addressed the meeting on the "Elements of Character, Faith, Hope and Charity." Have faith in yourself, in men, in truth, in God, but have an honest, sensible faith. Hope is akin to faith, but greatness is in Charity.

Consecration service was conducted by Rev. J. P. Varner. Elder Davis and B. L. Baxter made brief addresses to the league, and after the song, "When the Roll is Called up Yonder I'll be There," Rev. C. M. Brown pronounced the benediction.

Announcement.

At the request of several of my old clients and friends, I have concluded, while my health is what it now is and has been for some years past, except a brief illness in March last, to offer my services to the public as counselor at law and solicitor in chancery. Criminal and commercial law I will not practice, nor any other branch of law where I cannot fix and control my own time; but if any of my friends should desire my counsel in these matters in connection with W. J. Ingersoll, attorney, who will attend to the detail of the business, it will be at their service.

Our Forests.

Labor Commissioner Morse will this year make an investigation of the amount of forest remaining in Michigan. Supervisors will be asked to inquire into the amount, in acres, of timber in their townships at the time of taking the assessment. Michigan was formerly famous for its timber—both in quantity and quality. Now our pine is nearly all gone and enormous inroads have been made on our hardwood forests. Many people ascribe the climatic changes in our seasons to the removal of the forests. The investigation is most important, and every person should be interested in assisting to make it accurate.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C. March 27, '96.

Silver men in Congress express themselves as being delighted with the latest financial phase of the campaign for the republican Presidential nomination. When the Ohio platform was put out they were alarmed over the prospect of another straddle by the national convention, but the declaration of the New York convention for gold, which it is understood is to be followed by all the eastern states, has caused them to believe that the St. Louis convention will take a decided stand one way or the other, and that is what they say they want to see. As the St. Louis convention will be the first one held its financial plank will be very important to the other conventions, if it isn't a straddle.

There are tricks in parliamentary tactics as well as in other trades, and the Senators who have been filibustering to prevent a vote on the Cuban resolutions fell into one when they allowed the resolutions to be sent back to conference. They might, if so disposed, have staved off a vote for the rest of the session by tiring the Senate out with talk every time an attempt was made to get a vote. But when the resolutions were sent back to conference their power was gone. The conference had only to agree to the original Senate resolutions and to get that agreement ratified by the House to end the matter so far as Congress is concerned.

Senator Platt was doubtless engaging in a little bluff when he offered that resolution providing for the adjournment of Congress on May 2, but it has been clear for some time that the leaders on both the republican and democratic sides had made up their minds that the appropriation bills would be about all the legislation accomplished at this session and were working to bring about adjournment as early as possible. The administration is also anxious for an early adjournment. That the people want legislation doesn't count with any of them, it seems.

Senator Davis, of Minn., has had to stand considerable joking from his colleagues this week, because of the sudden ending of his Presidential boom. He has taken it good naturedly. His personal friends knew of his intention to withdraw several weeks ago.

Things in school appear uproarously funny which would not raise even a smile from the scholars elsewhere. Congress is in that respect a school, the only difference being that the scholars are all grown-up and the teacher has no power to punish those who are refractory. Senators Peffer and Chandler had a little controversy over the item in an appropriation bill which provides for barbers for the Senators, which excited shouts of laughter. Senator Chandler said Senator Peffer was independent of barbers, but that most of his colleagues were not. The barbers were not stricken out. The boys in the House end also had their fun, Amos Cummings playing the role of fun-maker-in-chief. Mr. Cummings took the bill providing a penalty for selling liquor under a false brand as a text. He said he favored the bill not as a protection to the government revenue, but because of his experience in buying "for a sick friend" a bottle of a well known brand of brandy. Instead of being what he had bought it for the compound in the bottle turned out to be a mixture of wood alcohol, whisky and strychnine, which his sick friend's doctor said would kill at forty rods. He was opposed to selling such stuff, and the House agreed with him and passed the bill.

"Much ado about nothing" just fits the debate in the House which preceded the passage of the bill, already passed by the Senate, repealing the law which forbids ex-Confederates holding commissions in the U. S. army. There was only one opponent of the bill—Representative Boutelle, of Maine,—but he can talk a lot when he gets started, and it takes very little to start him.

The total amount carried by the Naval Appropriation bill, which was this week reported to the House, reaches the goodly sum of $31,611,034. Still there are people who believe that this country will never engage in another war.

Sub-committees have been appointed by the House and Senate Pacific Railroads committees, for the purpose of trying to agree upon one bill to be reported to both House and Senate for the settlement of the debts due the government from those roads.

Gen. Thomas Lincoln Casey, U. S. A., retired, who died suddenly Wednesday afternoon, left a reputation such as few engineers, especially those in the public service, have attained. Among the notable public works of which he had charge were the Washington monument, the State, War, and Navy Department building, and the new National Library building, now almost completed. It is said of him that he never in any work done under his supervision exceeded his advance estimates of the cost. Although on the retired list, Gen. Casey was by special act of Congress drawing the full pay and allowances of a brigadier general in active service, in return for his services as superintendent of the Library building.

Dear Sir:—Thank God there is a medicine that will cure catarrh. Mr. Pretzinger, I used your sample box of catarrh cure which you sent me. The first night I used it it helped me. May God bless you for your kindness. I used the little box you sent me and about half of a 50 cent jar. They keep it in Chambersburg. I have told a great many people about your medicine. Hon. Squire Britton, brother-in-law to me, is using it; he says it is helping him very much; he has catarrh very bad. Mrs. G. D. Ludwig, daughter of me, is using your medicine. I use it in the evening before retiring to bed and am feeling better now than I have for the past five years. My head is clear and I have more energy for work and business. Before I used your medicine I felt many a time that I did not care whether I was living or dead; I had no energy; I did not care for anything. I had catarrh over sixty-seven years; mother had catarrh and it turned into consumption; she died in her sixty-fourth year. I have a farm up at Strasburg, seven miles from Greenvillage. On nice days I drive up to the farm and work. Mr. Pretzinger, I think it would pay you to have it put in all the Franklin county papers as I am a reliable, honest man, so the people say, middling well acquainted over the county.

Yours truly,
GEO. K. ZOLLINGER.

TOO MUCH WORK

For a Healthy Existence.—That's Why the Kidneys so often Fail

Nature has provided a certain amount of work for every organ of the human body; overtax them and disease eventually follows. There is not one portion of our organism that is so overworked as the kidneys; on them is placed the important function of filtering the blood of the impurities which naturally form in the regular action of life and digestion. The kidneys are consequently termed the sewerage of the system; clog up this sewer, and the blood becomes tainted with poisonous uric acid, which brings on disease in many forms. The back is the first to show this stoppage. From there comes the warning note; it should be heeded, and the kidneys receive prompt attention. Doan's Kidney Pills will right the action of the kidneys quickly, relieve the back of pains and aches, and cure all troubles of kidneys and bladder. Read the following:

Mr. Wm. Nelson is a well-known business man of Kalamazoo, he resides at 822 Portage Street, and his business is that of a grain buyer. He says:

"For five years I have suffered from an inability to urinate, which resulted from what was said to be a stoppage of the bladder. During these years I have taken mineral and electric baths and used other means in expectancy of getting better, but they all proved unavailing. Some months ago I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, which I had heard highly recommended, and I can now say that the flattering reports were not greater than they deserved. I got better right along, and I am free from any trouble now. I feel better than I have done for three years past. If Doan's Kidney Pills were well known all over they would do an immense amount of good."

RUINED BY A CONTRACT.

An Iron Founder Undertakes Something Outside of His Line.

The founder of the Vendome column in Paris met with financial ruin in his contract. The French government, when it decided to erect the notable column, entered into a contract with an iron founder, says the Philadelphia Record. He knew nothing whatever of modeling or casting in bronze. The government agreed to supply him with cannon captured from the Russians and Austrians during the campaign of 1805, in quantities sufficient to found the monument. The contractor, knowing nothing of the phenomena which the fusion of bronze offers, found when two-thirds of the column was completed that he had used up all his metal. Sufficient bronze had been given him to complete the monument, and he was responsible for the entire amount. Finding himself face to face with bankruptcy he melted up his scoriae and mixed the metal with cheap refuse which he purchased, and so completed the founding. The castings, however, were found to be so full of flaws that the work was stopped, and the founder ruined. The moldings of the different parts of the bas-relief were so badly executed that the chiselers who repaired the defects removed no less than 70 tons of bronze. They received for their labor £12,000, to which was added the 70 tons of bronze, which became their perquisites. The whole transaction was very, very French.

BROKEN WIRE.

How the Telegraph Operator Tells Where the Break Is Located.

Perhaps the greatest of all mysteries, to the uninitiated, about telegraphy is the fact that when a wire is broken or damaged the operator, sitting in his office, can tell exactly where the accident has occurred.

The explanation, however, is very simple. It requires force to send electricity through a wire, just as it does to pump water through a hose. The longer the wire is the greater is the force required. This force is measured; but, instead of calling it pounds, as in the measuring the pressure in a boiler, electricians call the units of electrical force "ohms."

Suppose a wire between two offices is 150 miles long, and that, on a stormy night, it gets broken somewhere. The telegraphist knows that when the wire was sound it takes just 2,000 ohms to send a current through, or 14 ohms per mile. He now finds that he can send a current with only 700 ohms. He divides 700 by 14, and finds that the break in the wire is 50 miles from his end.

When the wire is under the sea a curious thing happens. The electricity decomposes the sea salt, and a new salt is formed on the broken ends of the wire; and until that is cleared away by what is called a zinc current, acting for ten or twelve hours, no measurement can be made.

Nature Plaints of Negroes.

A writer in Progress Artistique, in discussing the music of south Africa, says the races living there possess to an astonishing degree the faculty of assimilation and imitation. They reproduce with surprising fidelity the songs of birds, cries of animals and the various sounds of nature. Child-people, they receive in their otherwise obtuse brains impressions of freshness and vivid intensity. Their long solitary wandering upon hills and prairies, united with fleeting association with foreigners, results in a species of melodic nature plaints, as one might imagine, a developed monkey music.

Pointed and Witty.

A lawyer residing in the north of England and noted for his laconic style of expression sent the following terse and witty note to a refractory client who would not succumb to his reiterated demands for the payment of his bill: "Sir, if you pay the inclosed you will oblige me. If you do not I shall oblige you."

Agony

The wonderful cure related below is by no means unusual with Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has given health to suffering children, even when health seemed impossible. The secret of its success is that it purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood.

"I wish to tell of a wonderful cure effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Five years ago my little boy was suddenly seized with a severe lameness, apparently in his right knee, which some physicians said was rheumatism, while others said it was hip disease and that it was

Incurable

During the next winter and spring he became rapidly worse. We took Jimmie to a specialist, who said it was hip disease. At this time the affliction became so severe that we could not move him without causing screams of agony. He became reduced in weight to 30 pounds, and was but a shadow of his former self. We had about given up hope when we read of a cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla of a similar case. We resolved to try this medicine. Jimmie was decidedly improved after taking the first bottle. He was even after the second. We have since used over a dozen bottles of the medicine, and the change has exceeded our expectations. James is now able to walk without the aid of crutches and goes to school every day. He has been wonderfully cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla." J. O. RUNDELL, Oakley, Michigan.

Druggist C. C. Tubbs says he knows the Rundell boy has been wonderfully

by Hood's Sarsaparilla and that Mr. Rundell is thoroughly reliable. He has a good sale of Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills, both of which are giving perfect satisfaction. He says Hood's Pills seem to be the coming family cathartic.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other. Insist upon Hood's, because

Did you ever stop to think what indigestion really means? It means simply that your stomach is tired. If our legs are tired, we ride. The horse and the steam engine do the work. Why not give your stomach a ride; that is, let something else do its work? Foods can be digested outside of the body. All plants contain digestive principles which will do this. The Shaker Digestive Cordial containes digestive principles and is a preparation designed to rest the stomach. The Shakers themselves have such unbounded confidence in it that they have placed 10 cent sample bottles on the market, and it is said that even so small a quantity proves beneficial in a vast majority of cases. All druggists keep it.

From LaGrippe.

How Dr. Miles' Nervine Restored One of Kentucky's Business Men to Health.

NO DISEASE has ever presented so many peculiarities as LaGrippe. No disease leaves its victims so debilitated, useless, sleepless, nerveless, as LaGrippe.

Mr. D. W. Hilton, state agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Kentucky, says: "In 1889 and '90 I had two severe attacks of LaGrippe, the last one attacking my nervous system with such severity that my life was despaired of. I had not slept for more than two months except by the use of narcotics that stupefied me, but gave me no rest. I was only conscious of intense mental weakness, agonizing bodily pain and the fact that I was hourly growing weaker.

When in this condition, I commenced using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. In two days I began to improve and in one month's time I was cured, much to the surprise of all who knew of my condition. I have been in excellent health since and have recommended your remedies to many of my friends."

AROUND ABOUT US.

Clippings and Condensations From our County Contemporaries.

A marriage license was granted Aaron G. Taylor of Tecumseh, over in Ann Arbor this week, the party of the other part being Abbie A. Wright of Ypsilanti. That's right.—Adrian Press. It was, but it isn't now.

They propose to raise the minister's salary at Hamburg tomorrow evening, by giving a concert. In other words they will sing for his salary.—Ann Arbor Courier. Well that's better than letting the minister whistle for it.

The people of Petersburg are rejoicing over the prospects of oil and a new electric road. The road between there and Toledo has been surveyed. Active operations have been commenced in drilling for oil near the town and considerable capital interested.

Ten Tecumseh soldier boys ran ten miles in 52:24, beating Comboy Smith, who ran the distance in 59:40. If they only could fight as well as they can run, we wouldn't be afraid to send them against Johnny Bull or the Spaniards. —Exchange. Running is part of it, friend. Don't you know we've got to catch 'em?

The Page Fence Giants' car which has been refitted during the winter, started for Chicago last Tuesday morning. The team is under the management of A. S. Parsons with Wilson, Miller and Holland as pitchers. Gradam is behind the plate. The team will play in various cities and return to Adrian on Decoration day to engage with a team from South Bend on May 30 and 31.

Blissfield must be on the pig according to the Advance: "The Sun editor is becoming reckless and is willing to bet a stick of gum, that no town twice the size of Petersburg, can produce their equal. It says 20 men in one block there weigh 4,391 pounds. We have boasted considerably about Blissfield being a great hog market, but this would look as though our record was in danger."

Prof. F. E. Wilcox was very much surprised Monday evening when a number of his friends dropped in on him. It was on account of his twenty-fourth birthday. He was the recipient of a number of presents among which was a picture of Clare Kimball's parrot. Those present report a pleasant evening.—Clinton Local. Was the professor an apt pupil or doesn't the parrot swear?

The Evening Telegram pertinently remarks: "An oft told story comes from the vicinity of Hudson: An advance agent of a lightning rod concern got Mr. Bushman to sign, as he supposed, a $15 agreement. When the lightning rod men came on, they brought enough stuff to protect everything, down to the pig pen. The agreement proved to be for $300. The deluded man settled for $40, after considerable bantering and warmer temperature about the collar.

The Kamera Club, consisting of twenty members, spent Tuesday evening very pleasantly at the home of Miss Alice Barnes. During the evening a picture of the club was taken by flashlight, and judging from the varied expressions of face there revealed, one might infer that a prayer meeting, a Pingree Banquet and a Fourth of July celebration were in progress at the same time.—Ypsilantian. Look pleasant. How do you like it yourselves?

"The stately, dignified movements of the drill were enhanced by the Grecian robes in which the girls were dressed."—Adrian Telegram. The above refers to the exhibition given by the Women's Physiculture Club, of Adrian college. The "Grecian robes" handed down to us in chisled marble, were such as to discourage the use of the cathode ray.—Monroe Democrat. That's a rather bare assertion.—Ann Arbor Courier. It is, however, the next thing to naked truth.

Get your drug store and presence of mind together for banana season is coming and the cat is as festive as ever. Chloroform and ammonia killed a centipede and saved a cat at Springfied the other day. The centipede dropped from a bunch of bananas upon the cat, and at once buried its poisonous fangs in the animal's legs. Its mistress, with rare presence of mind, dropped chloroform on the insect, which succumbed, and then she applied ammonia to the cat's leg.

Last week the People's church celebrated its third anniversary. This organization is without creed and each member has the right to his own opinions. It grew out of the unity movement some years ago, when its pastor, F. V. Hawley left the Baptist faith and has since built up this church.

We looked long and earnestly at the following from the Adrian Press before we concluded that the first gentleman's last name was spelled right, and then only because it would be pretty rough to call one fellow such names and let the other fellow go free: "Adam Pool of this city, and Ed. Agan of Wampler's Lake, last Monday walked from the lake to the city, a distance of 18 miles, in 3 hours and 55 minutes. For the very bad condition of the roads, on that day, this must be considered a most remarkable achievement, especially since neither had made any preparations, or been in practice for pedestrian feats, and on this occasion a bicycle would not have been "in it." If any one thinks he could discount the boys in this walk, they would like to hear from him."

The Manchester Enterprise tells this one: "Ham Kingsley had for a visitor at the electric light station last Sunday evening a large cat that belongs to Shultz the miller. Tommy had been alone all day and was glad to see some one around, so he followed Ham, about, purring and rubbing against him to show his pleasure. When the waterwheel was started in motion and the big dynamo belt began runing around the six-foot pulley on the horizontal shaft, it made a noise unfamiliar to Ham 's ear and he stooped over to make an examination; just then Tommy ran in front of him and the tip of his tail was caught in the big belt and with a whiz and a whir-r the cat made the circumferance of the pulley before he realized what had happened. There was a lot of cat music there for a while and Tommy's tail was the most prominent part of the cat. Ham, was convulsed with laughter as the cat scampered about more excited than hurt and he sa s he would have given a dollar to have someone there to help him laugh." We have known from childhood that Thomas cats were full of electricity and serenades but we never before heard of one trying to create his own moonlight or electrify a village with his "tale."

THE LAST.

And Perhaps Most Popular.

Despite the threatening weather last Saturday night, an unusually large audience gathered at the opera house to hear Prof. J. B. DeMotte in his great scientific lecture on electricity. This was the last entertainment on the Star Course, all of which have given the most complete and universal satisfaction, but, despite the interest and charm possessed by the entertainers of former nights the patrons of the course were waiting with eager interest the coming of the favorite of last year. Much was expected of Prof. DeMott and every anticipation was realized. Electricity, though possessing great fascination as an experimental study, is rather of an abstruse and unattractive topic for popular discussion. Yet in the hands of the lecturer assisted by his beautiful and original illustrations, the subtle fluid gave up its most hidden secrets in a manner at once patent and interesting to the most casual listener.

The mile stones of civilization were illustrated and marked as the improvements in methods of locomotion were made. The discourse was prospective as well as retrospective, and as this is the age of steam, so would the next century be the age of electricity. Of special and pertinent interest was the practical explanation of the Reontgen ray.

Prof. DeMotte is an earnest, christian gentleman interested in the uplifting of humanity. He is one of the foremost students of science in the world. In his public work he most happily brings the results of laborious research to the people in such a manner that they not only are valuable to them as so much scientific knowledge acquired, but that they may be used as a means of enlivening and bettering their character and condition. Prof. DeMotte has been with us a second time to meet with augmented favor and appreciation from the patrons of our course. Should he be secured for future engagements here, a most hearty welcome is assured.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 84 Mill St., South Gardener, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up, saying: "Your boy won't live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to the use of Dr. King's New Discovery, and knows it to be the best in the world for Lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at Baker & Hall's Drug Store. 4

The Albuquerque (N. M.) Daily Citizen, of March 21st contains the following notice in which the name of a former Tecumseh boy plays a prominent part: "Tomorrow morning, at 10 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 418 south Arno street, on the Highlands, George C. Gainsley and Miss Lyda Wright will be joined in the bonds of happy wedlock, Rev. Foulks, of Highland Methodist church, officiating. Only the intimate friends of the contracting couple will witness the ceremony that binds these two young people together and starts them out on life's journey side by side."

The Presidential campaign upon which the country has already entered presents the most complex political situation which has been witnessed in the United States since the Civil War. The republican and democratic parties are shaken to their centers by clashing opinions upon the silver question. The populist party, and the possibility if not probability of a distinct free coinage party with a presidential ticket of its own, serve to increase the confusion and perplexity in which even intelligent and candid observers find themselves. It is at such a time that the reader of Public Opinion appreciates the value of a paper that gives him a fair, unbiased, well proportioned statement from week to week of the facts and of the drift of discussion. Public Opinion gives its readers a great deal more than this, but this is the thing for which it will be especially sought during the next eight months. Send a postal card to the Public Opinion Co., New York City, for sample copy and premium offers, or call at this office for information.

The fire bell rang with such vim this morning that the hammer flew out of it, but not until it had summoned the de- partment to Charlie Saul's house on Bid- well street. At the executor's sale of the real estate of Wm. Pilbeam, the sale of the house and ten acres in this village, was ad- journed until Saturday, April 4, at 1 o'clock, at the office of Chas. Burridge. Someone will secure a bargain, for it is bound to go far below its real value.

Of all the accessories which were ever called into service as a means of fooling people on the first of April, the monopo- ly of the Western Union telegraph sys- tem was perhaps the most daring and effective. This was done here last Wed- nesday, and several recipients of tele- grams and even cable dispatches eagerly planked down a quarter and tore open the envelope to read some sweet message from the king of Ireland, Pingree, or Susan B. Anthony. But the dispatches were so intensely original as to give away the jolly joker, and revenge was swift even before fools day had slipped away. The alphabetical trickster was peacefully dreaming of telegraph sys- tems and the startled and easy marks of his cunning, when he was called from his downy couch to investigate an alarm of burglary turned in from his office. Now his wits were gone. The astute and gigantic intellect that had conceived and dared to execute a scheme so brilliant, forgot everything. For- got the time of night, the time of year, his poor victims, and barely dressing but heavily armed, rushed down street to see what villianous burglar could be striking matches in his office at eleven o'clock. It was an awful thing for any- body to do—to strike matches in one's office on April fool's day. It wasn't right, and the friends of the telegraph magnate thought so too. They had all been apprised of the burglary by tele- gram and were all there to assist their unfortunate brother. So he just left it in their hands. He had perfect confi- dence in their valor to defend his property. Didn't even stop to give them instructions or explain matters, but flew home and looked at the clock to see that April first had not yet ex- pired.

In the April Magazine Number of The Outlook there will appear an article on William H. Prescott, by Kenyon West. It will be in commemoration of the cen- tenary of the great American historian, who was born May 4, 1796. The article will be enriched by numerous portraits and other illustrations contributed from the private collections of members of the Prescott family, who have been in- terested in Kenyon West's tribute to Prescott. Among these are Mr. Arthur Dexter, of Boston, the nephew of the historian; Mrs. Roger Wolcott's grand- daughter, who lives also in Boston; and Mr. Linzee Prescott, of Greenwich, Conn., who is the son of Prescott's eldest son.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

ENDS HIS LIFE.

Cleveland Commission Merchant Kills Himself in Detroit.

Detroit, March 30. — William E. Striebinger, a commission merchant, whose place of business is at No. 29 Euclid avenue, Cleveland, committed suicide Saturday night. He was found dead in a room in the Randolph hotel Sunday afternoon. He left a note addressed to his wife, in which he bade his family good-by, after stating that he had spent all his money in speculation. He poisoned himself by swallowing some powders, the remains of which were found by his bedside. Three pawn tickets and 75 cents were all of value that were found in his pockets.

The mortgage bonds against the Detroit, Lansing & Northern, on which the suits are based, aggregate $1,150,000, and those on branch roads bring the total up to about $2,225,000. The bill asks for the appointment of a receiver.

VETERANS MEET.

State Encampment of the G. A. R. in Session at Saginaw.

Saginaw, April 1.—The grand army encampment department of Michigan convened here Tuesday morning. Department Commander Daboll's report showed that on January 1, 1896, the number of members in good standing was 16,766. Death removed 342 members from the rolls during the year 1895, and 4,253 were suspended for non-payment of dues. Six new posts were mustered in. Gen. Daboll recommended that the Sons of Veterans be admitted to membership in the posts as a means of perpetuating the order of the G. A. R. now obviously diminishing in number, owing to the inroads of old age.

The department is in good financial condition, having $1,800 in the treasury.

Topics Discussed at Session of the Schoolmasters' Club.

Ann Arbor, March 30.—The meeting of the Michigan Schoolmasters' club closed here Saturday. In the morning "History" was the topic of discussion, and it was decided that American history ought to be a required part of every high school course. A committee was appointed to consult teachers of history all over the state and make up a list of books to constitute a uniform library of history for the schools of the state. The afternoon session of the club was devoted to "The Teaching of English Grammar and Its Place in the Curriculum." All existing text-books in grammar were warmly condemned by Prof. Hinsdale, of the University of Michigan, and others. The club voted to recommend to the state association of school superintendents that a uniform time for the spring vacation be adopted. Over 200 educators have been present at this semiannual meeting of the club.

A JURIST GONE.

Death at Chicago of T. R. Sherwood, Ex-Chief Justice.

Kalamazoo, March 25. Lyman M. Gates, guardian for Judge T. R. Sherwood, received a telegram from Chicago Saturday evening announcing Judge Sherwood's death, which took place in the afternoon. About four years ago Judge Sherwood met with his daughters to Chicago to reside. About five years ago the judge was stricken with apoplexy, which was the beginning of the illness which terminated as stated above. The stroke was immediately followed by paralysis of the brain. Judge Sherwood went with his daughters to Chicago to reside. He had been a resident of Kalamazoo since 1852, with the exception of the last four years of his life. He was always prominent in political and judicial circles, and in 1883 upon a union ticket (democratic and national) was elected justice of the supreme court of the state. In 1888 and 1889 he served as chief justice, his term expiring December 31, 1889.

The male portion of the citizens are almost unanimous for his removal, believing that a younger man should fill the place.

FIGHT OVER THE SPARROW CASE.

Michigan Insanity Commission Statute to Be Tested Thoroughly.

Lansing, March 28.—Miss Henrietta Sparrow, sister of E. W. Sparrow, the capitalist, was ordered removed to the Michigan asylum at Kalamazoo by Judge Cowles. A medical commission reported that she was suffering from paranoia and that the charges of cruelty made by the unfortunate woman against her brother and sisters were delusions. The case was appealed.

Lansing, March 30.—The sensational Sparrow insanity case has led to the raising of a question of the utmost importance and the supreme court will be asked for a decision in the matter. Miss Sparrow's attorneys claim the right to appeal to the circuit court and to a trial by jury, notwithstanding the fact that the medical commission provided by law has declared her insane. For this reason the probate judge has refused a demand for a commitment to an asylum and the supreme court will be petitioned for a mandamus to compel him to issue it. The claim is that these proceedings are held under a special act which provides for no appeal and that the general law providing that all decisions of the probate court may be appealed from is abrogated thereby.

STAND BY THE REGULARS.

Homeopathists Join the Boycott Against the Kalamazoo Hospital.

Kalamazoo, March 30. — The homeopathic physicians of this city have decided to stand by the staff of Borgess hospital, who resigned several days ago in a body. Saturday Dr. A. B. The doctors say they will either break the hospital or compel the removal of Rev. Frank O'Brien, of St. Augustine's Catholic church, who is blamed for the trouble. Bishop Foley is expected to reach the city in a few days to investigate the trouble.

TO LINK THREE TOWNS.

Kalamazoo, Battle Creek and Lansing to Be United by an Electric Road.

Chicago, Ill., March 28.—By a sale closed by Chicago officers of the General Electric company Thursday the longest electric railway in the world is assured. The sale was to a syndicate of capitalists in Battle Creek and Kalamazoo, Mich., and consisted of the electric street car line of Kalamazoo. The buyers already own the plants at Battle Creek and Lansing, Mich., and will connect the three towns. This will make a straightaway line of 75 miles. An additional spur three miles long will be built to Gull lake, the largest inland lake in Michigan and a popular summer resort. The company will equip the line in the most modern style known to the electric world and the General Electric company is already figuring on some of the appliances. The main points sought are to have it a high speed road and to this end a 65-pound "T" rail will be used. The line will be a strong competitor of the Michigan Central in the carrying of passengers, mails and light express.

The leading spirits in the enterprise are Maj. L. M. Downs, a capitalist of Battle Creek, and F. N. Rowley, cashier of the First national bank of Kalamazoo. Their associates are J. B. Wyckoff, L. M. Gates, J. W. Osborn, D. B. Merrill and E. E. Downs. Several of them are practical railroad men.

It is understood that all of the contracts for construction are to be placed in Chicago. The rails are to be furnished by the Illinois Steel company, the cars will probably be built by the Pullman or Wells-French company, and the General Electric company will submit figures on electrical supplies.

An electric line 20 miles long, running from Saginaw, Mich., to a suburb, has just been equipped by the General Electric company. A speed of 40 miles per hour is guaranteed.

You Must Be Mistaken if you think you've used Pearline and have any fault to find with it. It must have been something else. That sometimes happens. Because Pearline is so well known and so popular, it has become a household name. People say "Pearline" when they mean anything that may claim to help in washing.

Perhaps you haven't noticed — and that's just where the trouble is. If you've been using the worthless or dangerous imitations, no wonder you're out of patience.

But don't make Pearline suffer for it. Don't give up the good, because your disgusted with the poor.

A SPECIFIC

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

Why is one woman attractive and another not? It isn't entirely a question of age or features or intellect. The most admirable and attractive thing about an attractive woman is her womanliness. Everybody admires a womanly woman. Everybody doesn't realize just what it is that makes her womanly. She must have health, of course, because thout it she would lose the brightness of r eyes, the fullness of her cheeks and her vacity. Health brings all these things e health means more than most people ak of. Real health must mean that a man is really a woman. That she is ong and perfect in a sexual way, as well in every other. That she is capable of rforming perfectly the duties of materni-. Upon her strength in this way depends a large extent her general health, her od looks and her attractiveness. Some men are born stronger than others. me are born with what is called "constitutional weakness." It is easier for some men to retain health and strength than is for others. Some seem able to do anything they like, whenever they like, without serious results. Still, there is no reason why women should not enjoy perfect alth. Those who do not, need only take e proper precautions and the proper remedy to become perfectly well and strong. r. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure y derangement of the distinctly feminine ganism. It is absolutely certain. There e some who have neglected themselves long that a complete cure is next to impossible, but even these will find comfort d improved health in the use of the "Favorite Prescription." It has cured hundreds women who have received no relief whatever from years of treatment with good sicians. It is absolutely unique in the tory of medicine. Such a remedy can discovered only once. There is nothing the world like it, nor has there ever been. undreds of things that every woman ought know, are contained in Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, which will be sent absolutely e on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to ver cost of mailing only. EARTHLY PARADISES.

Portions of the Earth That Approach Climatic Perfection.

For an inhabitant of the north temperate zone the most nearly correct climate would probably be the island of Tasmania, which enjoys warmth without heat and freshness without cold, and moreover possesses a climate so equable that the average temperature ranges from 44 to 63 degrees, giving a mean of about 52. In addition to this, or possibly in consequence of it, and the purifying effect of the sea breezes, there is practically no disease save what the inhabitants are responsible for. There are many groups of islands in the South Pacific which fully deserve the name of earthly paradise, but they have the fault of being too much like paradise. The valley of Cashmere in northern India and of Quito in Ecquador possess climates which are almost perfect, but they suffer the disadvantage of a great distance from the sea. Australia is too dry and New Zealand too damp to approach perfection; but Tasmania possesses the happy mean which affords health and comfort without the danger of degeneration which is the penalty of more luxurious climes. Of places near home, the Isle of Man probably most nearly fulfills the conditions of the question. Although so much farther north, its average temperature is almost as high and quite as equable as that of the Isle of Wight, but it possesses the additional advantage of freedom from the fogs, which are the greatest disadvantage of the shores of the English channel.

TESTING CHRONOMETERS.

The Interesting Process of Adjusting Watches for Temperature.

Before a first-class watch is sold it has to go through a variety of tests or "adjustments," and one of the most important is the adjustment for temperature.

Chronometers are adjusted for temperatures varying from 50 degrees to 90 degrees, as a rule, but some makers —especially in France—cool them down to zero, and often they are heated to 120 degrees. Beyond this point it is dangerous to heat them, as the oil would be liable to injury, and even the works might suffer.

Pocket watches are adjusted for temperatures varying from 35 degrees to 95 degrees. The process consists in putting the watch in a close-fitting case, and placing this in a cold room, or a refrigerator with ice, and leaving it there for some time, altering the works so as to make it keep regular time. Then it is very gradually heated, great care being taken not to let the moisture in the warm air condense upon it.

Next it is put in a specially constructed oven, and heated to 90 or 100 or 120 degrees, the machinery being again adjusted to go regularly. Chronometers are usually kept a week in the cold chamber, then a week in the hot, and again a week in the cold chamber. After that they are ready to make voyages to any port between the equator and the poles without losing or gaining a minute.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

The Divine Mission of the American Newspaper Press.

It Is the Greatest Agent of Civilization—The Wise and Successful Editor a Mighty Power Throughout the Land.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage took "The American Newspaper Press" as the subject of a recent sermon in Washington, basing his remarks on the texts:

"And the wheels were full of eyes."—Ezekiel, i., 18. "For all the Athenians and strangers which were there spent their time in nothing else but either to tell or to hear some new thing."—Acts, xvii., 21.

What is a preacher to do when he finds two texts equally good and suggestive? In that perplexity I take both. Wheels full of eyes? What but the wheels of a newspaper printing press? Other wheels are blind. They roll on, pulling or crushing. The manufacturer's wheel, how it grinds the operator with fatigues, and rolls over nerve and muscle and bone and heart, not knowing what it does. The sewing-machine wheel sees not the aches and pains fastened to it—tighter than the band that moves it, sharper than the needle which it plies. Every moment of every hour of every day of every month of every year there are hundreds of thousands of wheels of mechanism, wheels of enterprise, wheels of hard work in motion, but they are eyeless. Not so the wheels of the printing press. Their entire business is to look and report. They are full of optic nerves, from axle to periphery. They are like those spoken of by Ezekiel as full of eyes. Sharp eyes, near-sighted, far-sighted. They look up. They look down. They look far away. They take in the next street and the next hemisphere. Eyes of criticism, eyes of investigation; eyes that twinkle with mirth, eyes glowering with indignation, eyes tender with love; eyes of suspicion, eyes of hope; blue eyes, black eyes, green eyes; holy eyes, evil eyes, sore eyes, political eyes, literary eyes, historical eyes, religious eyes; eyes that see everything. "And the wheels were full of eyes."

But in my second text is the world's cry for the newspaper. Paul describes a class of people in Athens who spent their time either in gathering the news or telling it. Why especially in Athens? Because the more intelligent people become, the more inquisitive they are—not about small things, but great things.

The question then most frequently is the question now most frequently asked—What is the news? To answer that cry in the text for the newspaper the centuries have put their wits to work. China first succeeded, and has at Pekin a newspaper that has been printed every week for 1,000 years—printed on silk. Rome succeeded by publishing the "Acta Diurna," in the same column putting fires, murders, marriages and tempests. France succeeded by a physician writing out the news of the day for his patients. England succeeded under Queen Elizabeth in first publishing the news of the Spanish Armada, and going on until she had enough enterprise, when the battle of Waterloo was fought, deciding the destiny of Europe, to give it one-third of a column in the London "Morning Chronicle," about as much as the newspaper of our day gives of a small fire. America succeeded by Benjamin Harris' first weekly paper called "Public Occurrences," published in Boston in 1690, and by the first daily, the "American Advertiser," published in Philadelphia in 1784.

The newspaper did not suddenly spring upon the world, but came gradually. The geneaological line of the newspaper is this: The Adam of the race was a circular or news-letter, created by Divine impulse in human nature; and the circular begat the pamphlet, and the pamphlet begat the quarterly, and the quarterly begat the weekly, and the weekly begat the semi-weekly, and the semi-weekly begat the daily. But alas! by what a struggle it came to its present development! No sooner had its power been demonstrated than tyranny and superstition shackled it. There is nothing that despotism so fears and hates as a printing press. It has too many eyes in its wheel. A great writer declared that the king of Naples made it unsafe for him to write anything but natural history. Austria could not endure Kossuth's journalistic pen, pleading for the redemption of Hungary. Napoleon I., trying to keep his iron heel on the neck of nations, said: "Editors are the regents of sovereigns and the tutors of nations, and are only fit for prison." But the battle for the freedom of the press was fought out in the court rooms of England and America, and decided before this century began by Hamilton's eloquent plea for J. Peter Zenger's "Gazette" in America, and Erskine's advocacy of the freedom of publication in England. These were the Marathon and Thermopylæ in which the freedom of the press was established in the United States and Great Britain, and all the powers of earth and hell will never again be able to put on the handcuffs and hopples of literary and political despotism. It is notable that Thomas Jefferson, who wrote the Declaration of American Independence, wrote also: "If I had to choose between a government without newspapers or newspapers without a government, I should prefer the latter." Stung by some base fabrication coming to us in print, we come to write or speak of the unbridled printing press; or, our new book ground up by an unjust critic, we come to write or speak of the unfairness of the printing press; or, perhaps, through our own indistinctness of utterance, we are reported as saying just the opposite of what we did say, and there is a small riot of semicolons, hyphens and commas, and we came to speak or write of the blundering printing press; or, seeing a paper filled with divorce cases or social scandal, we speak and write of the filthy printing press; or, seeing a journal, through bribery, wheel round from one political side to the other in one night, we speak of the corrupt printing press, and many talk about the lampoonery, and the empiricism, and the sans-culotteism of the printing press.

But I discourse now on a subject you have never heard—the immeasurable and everlasting blessing of a good newspaper. Thank God for the wheel full of eyes. Thank God that we do not have—like the Athenians to go about to gather up and relate the tidings of the day, since the omnivorous newspaper does both for us. The grandest temporal blessing that God has given to the nineteenth century is the newspaper. We would have better appreciation of this blessing if we knew the money, the brain, the losses, the exasperations, the anxieties, the wear and tear of heartstrings involved in the production of a good newspaper. Under the impression that almost anybody can make a newspaper, scores of inexperienced capitalists every year enter the lists, and consequently during the last few years a newspaper has died almost every day. The disease is epidemic. The large papers swallow the smaller ones, the whale taking down 50 minnows at one swallow. With more than 7,000 dailies and weeklies in the United States and Canadas, they are but thirty-six half a century old. Newspapers do not average more than five years' existence. The most of them die of cholera infantum. It is high time that the people found out that the most successful way to sink money and keep it sunk is to start a newspaper. There comes a time when almost every one is smitten with the newspaper mania, and starts one, or have stock in one he must or die.

The course of precedure is about this: A literary man has an agricultural or scientific or political or religious idea which he wants to ventilate. He has no money of his own—literary men seldom have. But he talks of his ideas among confidential friends until they become inflamed with the idea, and forthwith they buy type and press, and rent composing room, and gather a corps of editors, and with a prospectus that proposes to cure everything, the first copy is flung on the attention of an admiring world. After awhile one of the plain stockholders finds out that no great revolution has been effected by this daily or weekly publication; that neither sun nor moon stands still; that the world goes on lying and cheating and stealing just as it did before the first issue. The aforesaid matter-of-fact stockholder wants to sell his stock, but nobody wants to buy, and other stockholders get infected and sick of newspaperdom, and an enormous bill at the paper factory rolls into an avalanche, and the printers refuse to work until back wages are paid up, and the compositor bows to the managing editor and the managing editor bows to the editor-in-chief, and the editor-in-chief bows to the directors, and the directors bow to the world at large, and all the subscribers wonder why their paper dosen't come. The world will have to learn that a newspaper is as much an institution as the bank of England or Yale college, and is not an enterprise. If you have the aforesaid agricultural, or scientific, or religious, or political idea to ventilate, you had better charge upon the world through the columns already established. It is folly for anyone who can not succeed at anything else to try newspaperdom. If you can not climb the hill back of your house it is folly to try the sides of the Matterhorn.

To publish a newspaper requires the skill, the precision, the boldness, the vigilance, the strategy of a commander-in-chief. To edit a newspaper requires that one be a statesman, an essayist, a geographer, a statistician, and, in acquisition, encyclopediac. To man, to govern, to propel a newspaper until it shall be a fixed institution, a national fact, demand more qualities than any business on earth. If you feel like starting any newspaper, secular or religious, understand that you are being threatened with softening of the brain or lunacy, and throwing your pocketbook into your wife's lap, start for some insane asylum before you do something desperate. Meanwhile, as the dead newspapers, week by week, are carried out to the burial, all the living newspapers give respectful obituary, telling when they were born and when they died. The best printer's ink should give at least one stickful of epitaph. If it was a good paper, say, "Peace to its ashes." If it was a bad paper, I suggest the epitaph written for Francis Chartreuse: "Here continueth to rot the body of Francis Chartreuse, who, with an inflexible constancy and uniformity of life, persisted in the practice of every human vice, except prodigality and hypocrisy; his insatiable avarice exempted him from the first, his matchless impudence from the second." I say this because I want you to know that a good, healthy, long-lived, entertaining newspaper is not an easy blessing, but one that comes to us through the fire.

Again, a good newspaper is a useful mirror of life as it is. It is sometimes complained that newspapers report the evil when they ought only to report the good. They must report the evil as well as the good, or how shall we know what is to be reformed, what guarded against, what fought down? A newspaper that pictures only the honesty and virtue of society is a misrepresentation. That family is best prepared for the duties of life which, knowing the evil, is taught to select the good. Keep children under the impression that all is fair and right in the world, and when they go out into it they will be as poorly prepared to struggle with it as a child who is thrown into the middle of the Atlantic and told to learn how to swim. Our only complaint is when sin is made attractive and morality dull; when vice is painted with great headings and good deeds are put in obscure corners; iniquity set up in great primer and righteousness in nonpareil. Sin is loathsome; make it loathsome. Virtue is beautiful; make it beautiful.

Another step forward for newspaperdom will be when in our colleges and universities we open opportunities for preparing candidates for the editorial chair. We have in such institutions, medical departments, law departments, why not editorial departments? Do the legal and healing professions demand more culture and careful training than the editorial or reportorial professions. I know men may tumble by what seems accident into a newspaper office as they may tumble into other occupations, but it would be an incalculable advantage if those proposing a newspaper life had an institution to which they might go to learn the qualifications, the responsibilities, the trials, the temptations, the dangers, the magnificent opportunities of newspaper life. Let there be a lectureship in which there shall appear the leading editors of the United States, telling the story of their struggles, their victories, their mistakes, how they worked and what they found out to be the best way of working. There will be strong men who will climb up without such aid into editorial power and efficiency. So do men climb up to success in other branches by sheer grit. But if we want learned institutions to make lawyers and artists and doctors and ministers, we much more need learned institutions to make editors, who occupy a position of influence a hundredfold greater. I do not put the truth too strongly when I say the most potent influence for good on earth is a good editor, and the most potent influence for bad is a bad one. The best way to reinforce and improve the newspaper is to endow editorial professorships. When will Princeton, or Harvard, or Yale, or Rochester lead the way?

Another blessing of the newspaper is the foundation it lays for accurate history of the time in which we live. We for the most part blindly guess about the ages that ante-date the newspaper, and are dependent upon the prejudices of this or that historian. But after 100 or 200 years what a splendid opportunity the historian will have to teach the people the lesson of this day. Our Bancrofts got from the early newspapers of this country, from the Boston News-Letter, the New York Gazette and the American Rag Bag and Royal Gazetter and Independent Chronicle, and Massachusetts Spy" and the Philadelphia Aurora, accounts of Perry's Victory, and Hamilton's duel, and Washington's death, and Boston massacre, and the oppressive foreign tax on luxuries which turned Boston harbor into a teapot, and Paul Revere's midnight ride, and Rhode Island rebellion, and South Carolina nullification. But what a field for the chronicler of the great future when he opens the files of a hundred standard American newspapers, giving the minutiæ of all things occurring under the social, political, ecclesiastical, international headings! Five hundred years from now, if the world lasts so long, the student looking for stirring, decisive history will pass by the misty corridors of other centuries and say to the libraries: "Find me the volume that give the century in which the American presidents were assassinated, the civil war enacted, and the cotton gin, the steam locomotive, and telegraph, and electric pen, and telephone, and cylinder presses were invented."

Once more I remark, that a good newspaper is a blessing as an evangelistic influence. You know there is a great change in our day taking place. All the secular newspapers of the day—for I am not speaking now of the religious newspapers—all the secular newspapers of the day discuss all the questions of God, eternity, and the dead, and all the questions of the past, present and future. There is not a single doctrine of theology but has been discussed in the last ten years by the secular newspapers of the country! They gather up all the news of the earth bearing on religious subjects, and then they scatter the news abroad again. The Christian newspaper will be the right wing of the apocalyptic angel. The cylinder of the Christianized printing press will be the front wheel of the Lord's chariot. I take the music of this day, and I do not mark it diminuendo—I mark it crescendo. A pastor on a Sabbath preaches to a few hundred, or a few thousand people, and on Monday, or during the week, the printing press will take the same sermon and preach it to millions of people. God speed the printing press! God save the printing press! God Christianize the printing press!

When I see the printing press standing with the electric telegraph on the one side gathering up material, and the lightning express train on the other side waiting for the tons of folded sheets of newspapers, I pronounce it the mightiest force in our civilization. So I commend you to pray for all those who manage the newspapers of the land, for all typesetters, for all reporters, for all editors, for all publishers, that, sitting or standing in positions of such great influence, they may give all that influence for God and the betterment of the human race. An aged woman making her living by knitting, unwound the yarn from the ball until she found in the center of the ball there was an old piece of newspaper. She opened it and read an advertisement which announced that she had become heiress to a large property, and that fragment of a newspaper lifted her from pauperism to affluence. And I do not know but as the thread of time unrolls the unwinds a little further, through the silent yet speaking newspaper may be found the vast inheritance of the world's redemption.

WHISKERS FROM THE SEA.

Something Concerning the Formation of a Curious Marine Growth.

There is a marvelous marine growth called sertularia which has the appearance of a delicate bush, although its slender stalks or fibers are built up by thousands of minute animals, something as the coral polyp builds up the coral. It is found, says the New York Sun, in clumps and bunches on wreckage and stones and elsewhere, and sometimes it is torn loose in storms and driven ashore. The many thousands of tiny creatures which have built it up and inhabit it die, and the dead bush is called a skeleton. Its fibers shrink some now and they are even finer than they were. They may be a foot in length; sometimes nearly two feet. They are brown, some bunches being dark and some of a lighter shade.

As the children of the carpenter adorn themselves with shavings from their father's workbench, so do the children of the fishermen with the sertularia cast up from the sea. Its fibers are pretty nearly straight, so they cannot be made to serve as ringlets, as curly shavings do, but the girls take the longer, finer bunches, which are usually the lighter in shade, and make of them long brown tresses. The boys make great mustaches of the sertularia, and flowing Dundreary whiskers and sober beards. In wandering along the shore one might come upon a stranded boat hauled high above the tide with her side stove in, perhaps, so that she would not float, but occupied by a dreaming youth in sertularia beard and mustache, who imagined her a gallant ship and himself her bearded commander.

Lord Bacon was a walking encyclopedia. He was a master of all the knowledge of his time and remembered it to the minutest detail. He rarely made a note of anything, trusting to his memory all the particulars of the complicated legal cases brought before him, and seldom was it found at fault.

HAWAII, THE "PEARL OF THE PACIFIC."

The Twelfth of a Series of Letters by John R. Musick.

A Mysterious Plantation Owner.

(Copyrighted, 1896, by Funk & Wagnalls Company, New York.)

Next day, with a guide and horses, I set out from the Volcano for the great Kona district, the land of stone and coffee. Hour after hour we trudged on over the stony earth, relieved occasionally by groves of trees, and now and then evidences of civilization and former occupancy in the form of an empty beer bottle at the roadside.

That night we reached Pahala, which is a village plantation of between eight hundred and a thousand inhabitants. Of these, two at least are white, the others being Japanese, Chinese, and natives; I say but one white man and one white boy. The great whistle at the plantation mill blew shortly after our arrival, and an army of Japanese, men and women, came in from the fields with hoes on their shoulders, and went to their miserable little huts.

These Japs are all brought to the islands on the contract labor system. They are called coolies and are but little better than slaves. Their importation is beneficial only to the large plantations, but an injury to the islands, as they labor for twelve dollars a month and board themselves. It is said that a Japanese can live on one dollar per month, sending the remainder to Japan.

I was informed that I must lodge with a Chinaman. The thought was unpleasant, but it was either with the Chinaman or out on the street. A Chinese cook prepared my supper, and I was then shown to my room which was situated in a cow lot in close proximity to a pig sty. It was a small house with two rooms, and the one on the "monka side" I was to occupy. My room was eight by ten feet, had a square table, a wash basin, towel, pitcher, saucer with soap in it, a mirror which by actual measurement was four by six inches, a hard-bottom chair, a steamer chair with sailor's mattress on the floor and a mosquito netting over it. I was informed that this gorgeous apartment had been rented to another party who had kindly consented to occupy less commodious quarters for my accommodation.

The apartment was supplied with fresh reading matter in the form of a copy of the Hawaiian Gazette one month and two days old. Dingy, dark, musty with opium fumes, the place seemed a fit abode for robbers and cutthroats. The darkness and dinginess of the apartment were strongly suggestive of pitfalls and assassination, while, as if in mockery of the surroundings, some one had pinned on the wall the motto: "Nearer, my God, to Thee." The aroma of the pig sty was highly flavored with the oder of saddles, freshly oiled harness and a smoky kerosene lamp, which had not been cleaned and trimmed more than once in its lifetime.

At last I ventured to lie down on the bed. The apartment next to mine was occupied by Celestials, but for what purpose I never knew, the sounds issuing from it being sometimes suggestive of a sausage factory, sometimes of a laundry, dyeing works, or planing mill. This adjoining apartment was certainly no larger than my own, but, after nineteen Chinamen of all ages had entered it, I became tired of counting, and sought peace in sleep.

At last the sausage-mill ceased, the laundry grew quiet, the wheels of the planing-mill ran more smooth, and the mosquitoes, having satisfied their wants at my expense, I slept until rosy morn; I might have slept longer had not a cow poked her head in at my only window and awakened me by an unearthly bawl. My landlord provided me a breakfast from which a Washington Square tramp would turn with contempt, and then charged me Delmonico prices for his "accommodations."

To saddle up and leave Pahala was a luxury. I changed guides here. Taking a native boy named Harry with me, I started on a three days' journey through Kona to a place called Kailua.

At noon we reached the village of Waiohinu (sparkling water), where we met Mr. Meinecke, a German gentleman, who has a store and a coffee plantation. On learning it was our intention to stop at the Kuhuku ranch, the home of Colonel Norris, he assured us that it was very doubtful if that individual would entertain me, as he was bitterly opposed to white men. Ten miles beyond his ranch, however, was a deserted house in which we had better stay, if Colonel Norris refused to accomodate us.

We set out for Kuhuku and reached it at 4 p. m. By this time dark clouds obscured the skies and chilling winds, sweeping down from snow-capped Mauna Loa, portended a coming storm. The ranch is a small village of houses and barns enclosed in walls of stone. We soon came upon a Chinaman and Kanaka skinning a bullock that had just been slain, while standing near them with a long stick in his hand was an old man whose tall form was slightly bent, and his hair and beard a yellowish white. His eyes were sunken and sinister, and there was a "never-smiled-again" expression on his face.

"Is this Colonel Norris?" I asked, approaching him and extending my hand. He made no answer and only looked at me. I then remembered the colonel sometimes feigned deafness, so I wrote on a card, asking:

"Can myself and guide stay at your ranch?"

"No," he answered, while his eyes flashed with fire. "You are a missionary, a white man, an annexationist."

"I am neither; I am an author," I answered.

"You can't deceive me," he cried, striking his stick on the ground. "You are a preacher and a missionary, a white man opposed to royalty and in favor of annexation. You stole all the land of the natives."

I tried to assure him that I had never stolen an inch of Hawaiian soil save what clung to my boots, that I was not a missionary, and being an American citizen, had no interest in their political wrangle over annexation, or the queen. But he was obdurate. In vain I appealed to his humanity, to the fact that he was a white man himself, that he had 186,000 acres of the natives' land, more than all the missionaries combined, yet it was no use. I had to go.

For ten miles our course lay across the black lava flow of 1887. This flow is black as charcoal and hard as flint, with sharp bristling points on every square foot, on which not a vestige of vegetation can be found. The blackness is relieved only by the white bleaching bones of animals which have perished in crossing it. On, on, and on, through the gathering gloom of night and a threatening storm, we pressed for ten miles. Then we entered a forest where the trees grew far apart, and the ground was covered with bunch grass and ferns. At last when our tired horses were almost ready to sink from exhaustion, we came upon the deserted house, and, overcome with our exertion, threw ourselves on the floor and slept, regardless of the howls of wild dogs on the mountains.

Colonel Norris is a mysterious man. Some say he is from Virginia, and was a colonel in the Confederate army; others that he is an Englishman. He has no relatives, is immensely rich, has a large account in the Bank of England, and will allow no woman, or child, or white man on his premises, unless assured of his immoral character, opposition to the missionaries, and loyalty to ex-Queen Lilioukalana.

Township Election.

The township election Monday was very warm, both parties working hard to win. Although the republicans carried everything, it was a hard fight, the majorities being cut down considerably from last year. The whole number of votes cast was 622. The 1st precinct inspectors were H. W. Stevens, G. W. Frazier and Jehiel Davidson; clerks, D. T. Hall and Geo. S. Field. 2d precinct inspectors, J. W. Wightman, M. L. Root, Jas. Heck; clerks, A. O. Howard and B. F. Steinhoff.

The number succeeding each name shows the plurality; when there are two numbers, the second shows the plurality for same office last year:

Clippings and Condensations From our County Contemporaries.

They are after the deas in Ann Arbor, the marshall pulling a couple a week ago Sunday night. Five culprits were corraled and fined $50 by Justice Gibson.

Elmer Hatt and Walter Gilbert got in some fine work on Summit citizens' chicken coops and then got in jail for 40 days, to settle for the use in poultry.

The Page Fence Co. have added five young buffalo to their already large and interesting zoological collection. They expect them to arrive from Chicago about the 15th.

Michigan Messenger: The little 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Reynold, of Medina, was found dead in bed Friday morning. She weighed only nine pounds, and grew just three inches since birth.

The physiology class in Hudson killed a cat the other day in the interest of science. Keep that class away from Tecumseh. Don't you know, there are nineteen old maids living inside of two blocks in this town.

A piece of horseradish root put into a jar of pickles will keep the vinegar from losing its strength, and the pickles will not be as liable to become soft or moldy. This is especially good for tomato pickles.—Jackson Patriot. Yes, and a healthy onion in the ice box will strengthen a jar of butter immensely; while, if properly handled, it will induce strength enough to clear out a whole church full of people.

A new paper is being issed by the pupils of the west side high school in Hudson. "The Tattler," a large eight-page periodical, was read last Friday afternoon by Lulu White and Ralph Lickley, who were managing editors last month. This wonderful paper can be obtained for the very reasonable price of 35 a year, or 4½c for a single copy, or by your presence once a month you may hear it read, and thus get the contents free.

Democrat: The "blanket charter" under which Monroe is now doing business, knocks all the existing justices of the peace down stairs on the 4th of July and provides for the election of but two justices to fill the place of the usual four. One of the new justices will hold his office for the term of two years, and the other for four years and a justice of the peace will therefore be elected every two years, to hold the office four years.

The Times reports a scheme which might be used to advantage on many safes at present: This announcement is pasted on the safe at the Wabash frieght house: "This safe used for books and papers only. If you find it locked, turn three times to the right, stop at 20, turn twice to left and stop at 30, turn twice to right and stop at five." The safe was blown twelve years ago, when $23 was secured, and again two years later, when $18 was taken.

Monroe Democrat: A Chelsea girl quotes Tennyson these days, "Awake and call me early, call me early, mother dear, tomorrow is to be the gladest, merriest day in all the glad New Year, for I'm to be Queen Esther in the opera house, my dear, and I'm really feeling nervous and my feet won't track I fear."—Ann Arbor Argus. Beautiful lines—those of Tennyson! But perhaps the most touching he ever wrote were those beginning: "In the spring a deeper crimson comes upon the robin's breast. In the spring the gentle bed-bug seeks the leg that tastes the best."

It will be of interest to local knights to know that their commandery is in such a flourishing condition. The Messenger states that the Adrian Commandery Knights Templar has now the largest membership in its history. This was the report made at the annual meeting last evening by Eminent Commander W. H. Barrett, whose term of office has just expired. Fifteen were knighted during the year. This is said to be the most work done by any commandery in the state with the exception of Detroit and Damascus, of Detroit.

Hudson Gazette: The construction gangs of the contractors on the C., J. & M. extension have been making hay at a rapid rate while the sun shone during the past week. Track layers are at work, and the present indications are that the line will be opened for freight traffic within three weeks. Superintendent Flanders, of Toledo, has moved his headquarters temporarily to Addison, where he is able to personally superintend the work. This extension will open a valuable new territory to the C., J. & M. railway, and give it several more important connections.

Morenci Observer: The "brother-in law social" at the M. E. church Wednesday night was mastodonic, humoristic and in fact the cake capturer of the season in the social line. The "brothers-in-law" displayed an adaptability to the requirements of the occasion which affords encouragement to the idea that man in general will be equal to the emergency if, as is prophesied, the existing condition of the sexes shall be reversed and the male shall become a strictly domestic animal. The "brothers-in-law" rattled the dishes in lively fashion, but did not themselves get "rattled," supplying the wants of several hundred fifteen-cent chicken-pie eaters with a grace (not grease) and an expedition fully up to the "quee's taste" standard.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., March 27, '96.

The Senate seems bound to have its weekly excitement, in connection with Cuban affairs, even if the Cuban resolutions are not still before it. Senator Call this week introduced a resolution which would mean, if it were adopted, nothing more nor less than a declaration of war against Spain. It provided for the sending of a big naval force to Cuba at once to protect citizens of the U. S. and prevent the violation of treaty obligations, and directs the President to inform Spain that the U. S. will by force intervene if there be further occurrence of murder and outrage or the putting to death of prisioners of war. Of course the adoption of such a resolution was simply out of the question, but it served to keep the subject uppermost.

Senator Butler, of N. C., thinks the making of mortgage and other notes payable in gold is an entirely unnecessary hardship forced upon borrowers by capitalists who loan money, and in order to put a stop to it he introduced a bill requiring the acceptance of current legal tender funds in payment of notes, bonds or other private obligations. He said this idea had been favored in both republican and democratic platforms, and that this was a good time to make party promises into a law. In answer to Senator Hill's question, Senator Butler said that his bill did not propose to interfere with existing contracts, and added emphatically: "I do not believe in breaking contracts." The bill was sent to the Finance committee.

The McKinleyites had their innings this week, and if the republicans in Congress had represented the nominating convention it would have been a comparitively easy matter to have stampeded it in McKinley's favor. But the panic was soon over, although the scare remains. It is said that from this time on Speaker Reed's candidacy is to antagonize McKinley.

Mr. C. P. Huntington returned to Washington this week, and it is reported that he has paid off and dismissed the most of his lobbying force, because he has become satisfied that no Pacific Railroad legislation will go through Congress at the present session. This seems a little strange, perhaps, in view of the statement that the subcommittee of the House and Senate Pacific Railroad committees which has been discussing the matter, has practically agreed upon the main points of a bill to be favorably reported to the Senate. But nobody knows any better than Mr Huntington, with his long experience with legislative bodies, state and national, the difference between getting a bill through and having it reported from a committee. It is just possible, too that he may have been given a tip from some of his friends among the Congressional leaders. At any rate this report chimes in with the views of veteran observers who have nothing to do with Huntington, but who base their belief that there will be no Pacific Railroad legislation at this session upon the well know anxiety of the controlling men in Congress to secure an early adjournment, and their knowledge that the railroad bill would be debated for weeks if it was once taken up, especially in the Senate. A bill may be reported and placed on the calendar of both House and Senate before adjournment but even that is not certain.

Some day or other (it may be hastened by a terrible accident at the present building) Congress will probably decide upon a site for a new Government Printing office. It was announced the other day that the House committee on Public Buildings and Grounds had agreed upon a site, but before anybody had an opportunity to congratulate anybody else the inevitable squabble made its appearance in that committee. It might not be a bad idea for Congress to provide for the building and leave the selection of a site to some outside man, who is beyond the reach and influence of real estate sharpers.

A delegation of sugar growers were in Washington this week to ask Congress for legislation that will prevent the German Sugar growers driving them out of business, owing to the export bounty paid by Germany on sugar. They did not ask for much, only that a duty equal in amount to the export bounty be put upon German sugar, but that is more than they are likely to get from this Congress. According to this delegation the German sugar growers are taking advantage of the war in Cuba, which has cut off our supply of Cuban sugar, to attempt to drive all the sugar growers in the United States into bankruptcy, and in order to help them the German government is contemplating an increase of the export bounty on sugar.

The patronage of the U. S. Senate is to be hereafter equally divided among the individual Senators, no matter which party has a majority in that body. This agreement was reached this week between the republican and democratic Senators, and as soon as the arrangement can be put into operation the patronage will be divided in the following ratio, republicans 44-89's, democrats 39-89's, and populists 6-89's. Under this agreement the Secretary and Sergeant-at-Arms nominated by the republican caucus get left, as the present occupants of those positions will keep them.

A GRAND TRIUMPH.

(From the Grand Rapids Press.)

The following incident would be hard to believe if it had not occurred right here in Grand Rapids, and investigation by our representative has placed it beyond the reach of doubt. These are the facts in detail: Mr. J. H. White of No. 25 Hadley Place, has been an instructor in penmanship in different business colleges for the past fourteen years. He says: "Last October I was suddenly taken ill. I consulted a physician, who said the pain was from 'gravel' stones; gradually grew worse; the pain was in my back and side. My back swelled up in a great ridge, and I finally grew so bad that I was taken to bed, as helpless as a child. I passed blood, and when the pain was at its worst I was like one crazy. The doctor injected morphine to give me relief, but further than that he said he was powerless, and nothing would do me any good but a surgical operation. I believe my flesh was literally cooked in the attempts to relieve my agony, everything was used, mustard plasters, turpentine, hot cloths and all such things. I was in this condition, given up by the doctor, and almost out of my mind with suffering. I commenced taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and really I felt easier in 20 minutes. After about two hours I had a passage of urine, and passed blood and some 'gravel' stones which greatly relieved me. I rapidly improved. I took in all six boxes, and I feel to-day entirely well. Mine has been a wonderful case. I feel that I cannot say anything strong enough for Doan's Kidney Pills. My great wish is that they may become well known. They will prove a boon to mankind.

The things that people see are inside of them and not outside. No two persons see the same thing exactly alike. One woman may look at a beautiful landscape and see all the beauty and restfulness and grandness that there is in it. Another one will look out at the same scene and see nothing. The man who is perfectly well and vigorous enjoys life to the full. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes people well. There isn't anything miraculous about it—it is the most natural thing in the world. It simply puts the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver, the bowels, in perfect order and thereby makes the blood pure and rich. All diseases live and thrive on impure blood. Keep a stream of pure, rich, red blood flowing into a diseased spot, and the disease will not stay. A man lives on pure, rich blood, and disease dies on it. Spring Time

Is when nearly everyone feels the need of some blood purifying, strength invigorating and health producing medicine. The real merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is the reason of its widespread popularity. Its unequalled success is its best recommendation. The whole system is susceptible to the most good from a medicine like Hood's Sarsaparilla taken at this time, and we would lay special stress on the time and remedy for history has it recorded that delays are dangerous. The remarkable success achieved by Hood's Sarsaparilla and the many words of praise it has received, make it worthy of your confidence. We ask you to give this medicine a fair trial. 1w

The process of electro-zincing is preferred in England to galvanizing, especially for the tubes of boilers for marine work. The adhesion of the zinc to the iron is considered superior to that obtained by the old process.

If we could trace Dyspepsia to its source, it would lead back to our kitchens. In fact, the secret of good health is good cooking. If well cooked, foods are partially digested; if poorly cooked, they are less digestible than in their raw state. If you are a victim of faulty cooking; that is, if you suffer from Dyspepsia, the rational cure must be looked for in an artificially digested food, and a food which will at the same time aid the digestion of other foods. Such a preparation virtually rests the tired digestive organs, thereby restoring them to their natural strength.

The Digestive Cordial, as prepared by the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, is just such a preparation, and a single 10 cent bottle will convince you of its value. If your druggist doesn't keep it, he will be glad to get it through his wholesale house.

Laxol is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil. 1w

Itching

If there is one thing more than another which gratifies us, it is the great volume of hearty thanks which come from grateful parents for the cures Hood's Sarsaparilla has effected upon their children. The agony of despair turns to unspeakable joy as mothers and fathers see dreadful sores and eruptions gradually yield to the potent purifying power of this great medicine, and bright boys and girls given perfect health. Read this:

When six months old the breaking out healed on his body, but his head, face and arms were a terrible sight. I passed many sleepless nights holding his little hands to keep him from scratching his face. I cannot tell what he suffered with the sores. One doctor attended him a year without avail. No one thought he would ever get well. He was almost a year old when I commenced to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla. He soon grew so much better that

Just as one of our leading merchants was starting for home on his bike last Saturday, his better half 'phoned him to bring home some sugar. The l. m. being quite an expert wheelman, thought he could do it "just as easy," so with a dollars worth of granulated he started out, but had not proceeded far before he came to grief. The heap was a sweet mixture of l. m., bike, and sugar. People passing the spot shortly after wondered what made the air smell so like burned matches.

OBSERVATION.

We frequently hear it said that we try to maintain too many societies, that all look to our church for support. The one of least importance and at the same time occupying considerable valuable standing room, is known as the Admiration Society. They meet once a week, on Sunday, at the foot of the stairs in the vestibule of the church, immediately after the morning service. Their chief aim seems to be to admire one another and at the same time obstruct the passage to the Lecture room, used for the Sunday school, and the different class rooms located on that floor. If the "parasite" can not be got rid of, let there be a room fitted up for their especial use and the janitor see that they occupy it, thereby conferring a great favor to a worshipful congregation.

The following delegates were elected to represent the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at the district convention, to be held in Ann Arbor, April 14, 15 and 16: Mrs. Dr. Hamilton Mrs. Jno. Linton, Mrs. Dr. North and Mrs. B. Hurry.

Last Wednesday evening the local chapter of the Eastern Star entertained the Jackson chapter of that order. About sixty members from the Central City came down on a special train to enjoy the hospitality of and witness the work as exemplified by their sisters and brothers of Tecumseh. The Grand Worthy Matron as well as members of the order from Manchester, Clinton, Adrian and Dundee also participated in the meeting which was much enjoyed by all.

An exchange says "e" is the most unfortunate letter in the English alphabet, because it is never in cash, and never out of debt and never out of danger. The aforesaid exchange forgets that the letter "e" is never in war, but always in peace. It is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no bread, no meal, no water, no gospel, no hades, no heaven, no newspapers and no advertising. It is always in marriage, and yet remains in single blessedness.—Telegram. And without it editors would be shorter than ever, news no good, the case deficient, and the shears and paste pot handicapped.

The following is an item that is hustling around the circuit of newspaper exchanges: "A Monroe blacksmith sighted a gun over his shoulder. It struck the trigger of a gun thirty feet behind him; the shot from that struck the trigger of a gun thirty feet in front of him: the shot from that struck the trigger of another gun thirty feet behind him; and the shot from that went through an apple on the top of his own head. It is thought to be the greatest shooting feat on record." "Who's the blacksmith?" did you ask? Well, now, the Democrat is under bonds to always conceal and never reveal his name. There is nothing he so much fears as that he may at any time be snatched from the bosom of his family and exhibited in a dime museum. As to its being "the greatest shooting feet on record," it is not so, as the shooting was nearer the head.

As the outcome of careful and intimate observation on the part of a trained student of political institutions, the little book entitled, Constitutional Government in Spain, J. L. M. Curry, late minister of the United States at Madrid, should have a careful reading (or re-reading) at the present time. The complex nature of the problems that at home confront the Spanish government, and therefore must be taken into account in any fair criticism of Spain's colonial and foreign relations, has not elsewhere, we think, been more compactly and intelligently stated. In regard to tendencies of life and thought in the peninsula, Mr. Curry is authority for a number of statements that contravene the popular impression, or the impression that the insurgent press and partisans have sought to create. We note specially on page 132 the following: "With all the undoubted drawbacks the drift in Spain is . . . hopefully towards constitutional principles, promoting the general good while conserving individual rights. Under the tuition and guidance of Liberals and Republicans the advance must be towards democratic government, towards the recognition of that "perfect liberty which is bound only by the equal liberty of every other."

Harper's Magazine for April contains the concluding chapters of the story of "Joan of Arc," showing the maid and conqueror as at last the martyr. The frontispiece is an engraving, by Florian, of the mural painting by Lenepveu in the Pantheon of Paris—a striking representation of the execution of Joan. An engraving is given of Fremiet's statue, and other illustrations of the closing scences of the imprisonment and martyrdom from drawings by Du Mond. A poem by Katrina Trask (author of "Under King Constantine"), entitled "A Night and Morning in Jerusalem," beautifully illustrated by Mowbray, is a special feature. "Mad Anthony Wayne's Victory," by the Hon. Theo. Roosevelt, a bright contrast to the disastrous defeat of St. Clair, already described by the same writer in the February Harper's, is a clearer revelation than has yet been made public of the relation of British commanders in the Northwest to the Indian wars of that period.

The fullest and most reliable account of the Cuban insurrection that has yet found its way into periodical literature appears in the April Review of Reviews from the pen of that veteran journalist and war correspondent, Murat Halstead, who has only recently returned from an extended sojourn in Cuba. Mr. Halstead's article embodies much fresh and important material of the greatest interest—for example, the proclamation made by General Gomez in December last, Gen. Weyler's statement in reply to questions of Mr. Halstead concerning Spanish policy in Cuba, and specimens of the work of the press censor, besides a vast amount of statistical data impossible to obtain except by personal visitation and inquiry. Mr. Halstead has had access to all sources of trustworthy information on both sides of the present contest, and has utilized the knowledge thus gained with the skill of the practised writer of current history. His whole aim has been to get at the truth and present it impartially. The portraits of Cuban leaders which accompany Mr. Halstead's article are all reproductions of photographs or of drawings made in the field from life. The portrait of General Gomez, which serves as the frontispiece of the magazine, is considered the best ever published.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

VOTERS TURN OUT.

Michigan Cities and Towns Choose Their Officers.

Democrats Show Surprising Gains in Some Sections, Which Are Offset by Republican Victories at Unexpected Points.

Detroit, April 7.—Substantial democratic gains were made in many of the townships, city and village elections which were held throughout the state Monday. Many cities boast democratic mayors, a luxury they did not njoy before. The republicans, on the other hand, wrested several towns from the democrats. The trend of the election favors the republicans. For an off year the vote is considered unusually large. The Free Press (democratic) claims that towns in many sections that never returned a democratic candidate switched Monday and elected in some instances, complete democratic tickets. The free silver folks did not meet with much encouragement. In one instance the silverites elected their mayor, the rest of the ticket chosen being democratic. In certain districts where the populists formed a fusion with the democrats their tickets went through. A synopsis of the results follows:

In Grand Rapids the entire republican ticket was elected by majorities of from 200 to 1,200, excepting Stow (rep.), for mayor, who is believed elected over Stebbins (dem.) by less than 100 majority. Samuel Dickie, chairman of the prohibition national committee, was elected mayor of Albion by 13 plurality over McCutcheon (dem.), the issue being between the prohibition and liquor elements. In Bay City the democrats elected the recorder. The council will be a tie. Kalamazoo, Owosso, Benton Harbor and Muskegon went republican by decisive majorities.

Sault Ste. Marie elected all republicans a reversal of the result of a year ago. Manistee, Flint, Grand Haven, Stanton, St. Ignace, Marshall, Traverse City and Coldwater elected democratic mayors in some cases reversing last year's majorities. There was but one ticket at Marquette. Escanaba elected Gallup (rep.) by 800 majority. In Battle Creek the democratic candidate for mayor, Frank Turner, a free-silver Independent, defeated Fred H. Webb, the republican candidate, by 76 majority. The remainder of the republican ticket was elected by majorities ranging from 641 to 882.

In Negaunee and Ishpeming complete victories for the labor ticket are reported. Republicans elected their entire city ticket at Lansing, but by greatly decreased pluralities as compared with last year. Jackson republicans were also successful. The democrats made a sweeping victory at Saginaw, electing William B. Baum mayor by 1,900 majority and carrying the entire city ticket and 11 out of 17 aldermen. The A. P. A.'s captured the republican convention and put an A. P. A. ticket in the field, so that the issue was fairly drawn in this, the home of Congressman Linton, the leading A. P. A. in the country. The result is very disastrous to the order, as it has hitherto been a power here, and the democrats have not carried the city since the order was established. In Wayne county, of which Detroit is the county seat, the democrats are jubilant over the fact that the returns show that several additional democratic supervisors were chosen by handsome majorities.

At Petoskey the democrats overcame an adverse majority of 250 and elected E. L. Kose mayor by 12 majority. The entire republican ticket, except justice, was elected at Allegan and Alpena. Ann Arbor went republican by about 500 majority. With three tickets in the field at Big Rapids James Shields, people's candidate for mayor, was elected. In Cadillac the contest was marked by a struggle between sound money and free silver people. A remarkably large vote was polled—965, against 609 last year. The republican ticket was elected throughout, though the free silver people elected two aldermen. Republican majorities were reduced materially. Democrats made a clean sweep at Cheboygan and Decatur. At Dowagiac the democratic candidate for mayor was successful. Eaton Rapids went republican by an unprecedented majority, against democrat and local option tickets. Greenville republicans elected all of their candidates except city clerk. The offices were pretty evenly divided at Hastings. Hillsdale reports a republican victory, and Holland democrats were successful. Democratic candidate for mayor was elected at Ionia. At Iron Mountain the entire citizens' ticket won. Menominee republicans elected mayor and treasurer. At Monroe all of the city officers except mayor were elected by the democrats; a proposition to bond the city for $25,000 for a municipal water plant was defeated. The democrats elected their ticket in Mount Clemens and Mount Pleasant, while the republicans were victorious in Tenitwater, St. Joseph, West Bay City and Ypsilanti.

Proceedings of the Annual Convention at Ionia.

Ionia, April 4.—The annual convention of the Michigan Christian Endeavor union was held here. The report of the secretary showed a gain since last year of 335 societies and more than 16,000 members, the society now having 66,000 members in the state. Among those who addressed the convention was Dr. Clark, the world's president. The missionary spirit is dominant here, and 20 have signified their willingness to go to foreign lands as missionaries. Much rivalry was manifested between representatives from Port Huron and Jackson for the next annual convention. Jackson finally won. Officers elected are:

President—William H. Strong, of Detroit.
Vice President—Prof. G. P. Cider, of Ann Arbor.
Secretary—Flora B. Roberts, of Lancre.
Treasurer—H. O. Fanning, of Grand Rapids.
Junior Superintendent—Mabel Bates, of Traverse City.

Divide the Business.

Grand Rapids, April 5.—An important traffic deal has been completed by the Grand Rapids & Indiana road on the one side and the Chicago & West Michigan and Detroit, Lansing & Northern on the other, by which the roads cease to be competitors on through business. The Grand Rapids & Indiana abandons its connection with the Michigan Central and turns all its Detroit & Chicago through business over to the West Michigan. The Chicago & West Michigan abandons all through passenger business to the north and the Grand Rapids & Indiana will have its old monopoly on the resort business to Petoskey and Mackinaw this summer.

Convict Confesses His Crime.

Marquette, April 7.—Frank Lieski, a convict doing a 15 years' sentence in the Marquette branch state prison for highway robbery at Detroit, confessed that he had a hand in the mysterious murder of Frederick Chauvin at Detroit six years ago. Chauvin was an aged miser who had accumulated a large hoard, which was generally believed to be concealed about his house. One morning he was found dead, his body mutilated, and no money could be found on the premises.

It is alleged the first member of the family to die contracted the disease from his cows, which also died of the malady. The state board of health will make an investigation.

Tuberculosis in Michigan.

State Encampment Meets at Saginaw—Gen. Shakespeare Honored.

Saginaw, April 3.—Gen. William Shakespeare, of Kalamazoo, was elected department commander of the Michigan Grand Army of the Republic. The other officers chosen are: Senior vice commander, L. W. Lyon, Saginaw; junior vice commander, J. O. Bellaire, Grand Rapids. Greenville was chosen as the place for the next encampment. The Woman's Relief corps chose Mrs. Manda J. Halsted, of Concord, president; Mrs. Nellie Prince Quimby, of Saginaw, senior vice president, and Mrs. Minnie Lewis, of Muskegon, junior vice president.

Gen. Shakespeare, who was elected department commander, is 52 years old. He was the first person in Kalamazoo county to enlist in the war. He was then only 17 years of age, but had his name enrolled before President Lincoln made his call for 75,000 troops. The company was not mustered, but three days later Charles S. May received authority to raise a company, and he was again the first to enlist. Young Shakespeare was wounded three times in the service. At Jacksonville, Miss., July 1, 1863, he had both his legs broken by bullets, one in two places. He draws a total disability pension—$72 per month.

WANT LINTON TO RUN.

American Protective Association Favors Him for the Presidency.

St. Louis, April 8.—The American Protective association has sprung a decided surprise in political circles by taking up William S. Linton, of Michigan, as its choice for president and arranging for a vigorous campaign. This is all the more surprising because it was understood that the order would have no particular choice for president and that its votes would be divided between McKinley, Reed, Allison, Morton and Harrison. The launching of Linton's boom was determined upon at a recent meeting of the national advisory board of the American Protective association. The association has established headquarters in St. Louis at 613 Pine street, from whence Linton literature will be sent broadcast throughout the country.

Consecration of Bishop Williams to Take Place May 1.

The bishop of Chicago will preach the sermon. The bishops of Fon du Lac and Tennessee will be presenters. The object of holding the ceremony in Detroit is threefold. First, to avoid the greater expense of getting the necessary prelates to Marquette; second, to assure sufficient accommodation for all who come; and third, to avoid ostentatious display here, in view of the trouble which was created by Bishop Williams' election.

Vote on the Eight-Hour Day.

Iron Mountain, April 7.—The several branches of the Northern Mineral Workers' Progressive Union in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota voted Sunday on the proposition to demand an eight-hour workday, but the result of the balloting will not be known until the general convention is held in Ishpeming, on April 14. The vote of the union here is believed to have been favorable to the movement. The movement at this time is extremely vigorous, and should a strike follow the demand every mine in the Bessemer pool, recently organized, will shut down indefinitely.

Tilden Mine Closes a Shaft.

Ishpeming, April 6.—The Tilden mine at Bessemer closed down one shaft Saturday night and let out 200 men. The real reason for the suspension is difficult to learn, but there are good grounds for the belief that a resumption of work at the Tilden with a full force of men will take place in a short time.

Receiver for a Michigan Road.

Grand Rapids, April 4.—In the United States court an order was made appointing Charles M. Heald receiver of the Detroit, Lansing & Northern railway. Complete Recovery by the Use of

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. HAWAII, THE "PEARL OF THE PACIFIC."

The Thirteenth of a Series of Letters by John R. Musick.

(Copyrighted, 1896, by Funk & Wagnalls Company, New York.)

The Island of Kauai is sometimes called the Garden Island of the group. It is one vast flower garden between ninety and one hundred miles in circumference. Vegetables, however, are not grown very successfully there. The island is said, by geologist, to be the oldest of the group. One thing is certain, Kauai has better roads than any of the other islands, and after wandering through the stony, pathless forests of Hawaii, one finds the roads of Kauai delightful garden paths.

On January 6, 1896, the little steamer Mikahola lay at her dock in Honolulu Harbor. At 1 p. m. I alighted from the carriage, walked up the gragway, and took my position on the Captain's bridge to watch the process of loading mules.

This is an interesting sight. The vessel has a derick rigged on the deck, and a broad belt is passed under the mule to which a hook is attached above his back. As the engine starts, the mule is lifted from his feet and landed on deck, much to his disgust. One of the most amusing incidents I have ever witnessed was getting a vicious mule on board this vessel.

This mule was brim full of his Satanic majesty, and flashed more brimstone from his eyes than the great volcano is doing today. His heels were light and played with the rapidity of lightning about among the natives, and when they began to put the belt under his body, he smiled in his sardonic way, and seemed to be saying: "Just see me buck when they tighten that cinch." He seemed to be laboring under the delusion that a saddle was being placed on him. At last the belt was fixed, the hook inserted in the ring, and the mate blew his whistle to start the engine.

"Puff, puff—rattle, rattle," the belt began to tighten and the mule thought it time to "buck." He elevated his back until it grew round, and all four of his feet left the ground at the same moment. Now came the surprise. He expected to land flat-footed in such a way as to completely paralize everything, but the cinch tightened, and his muleship swung high in the air, until such a look of disgust and amazement came over his countenance as would make a fortune for a farce comedian. His gyrations, kicks and struggles in mid-air soon ceased, and he was gently lowered to the deck. He seemed to "have it in for" the mate, for every time that personage came in sight the mule's heels flew out like springs towards him.

Before we reached Diamond Head the supper gong sounded, and the passengers hurried down to finish the meal before we entered the channel, as the chances were we would not enjoy it an hour later. The channels between the islands are never smooth, and seem to be more dreaded by the inhabitants of the islands than a voyage to Japan or San Francisco. The vessels which ply between the islands are small, the sea "choppy," and if one can make the tour of the islands in them without getting seasick, he is proof against that malady. I had made seven ocean voyages without feeling any of the disagreeable effects of seasickness, and had begun to boast myself a born sailor, but, alas, the channel between Kauai and Oahu took the conceit out of me.

At three o'clock in the morning the steward rapped on the door of my stateroom and said we were entering the port of Nawiliwili. I had not the slightest idea where I was to land, but somehow instinctively felt that this must be my destination. I awoke sleepy and cross, dressed hurriedly, seized my traveling-bag and artist's portfolio, and left the stateroom just as the anchor was dropped.

Three ladies, myself, seven Japanese and fourteen Chinamen were the passengers to disembark. The harbor was not very rough though the water was slightly undulating. We were compelled to climb down a rope-ladder and enter a boat manned by a crew of dusky Hawaiians. This feat, in the night, is not pleasant, especially when boat and ship are bobbing in different directions.

As soon as the mail was brought off the omnibus took us to the hotel at Likue, about one and a half miles from the landing. I was shown to my room and informed that Dr. E. C. Goodhue, the government physician at Koloa, would call for me during the forenoon. Shortly after breakfast he came to take me to Koloa as his guest.

The ride from Likue to Koloa was delightful. The day was fair, the roads, but for the red soil, might remind one of New England. The kukua trees, or screw pines, and wild breadfruit grew on every side. On the way we paused at the Kauai Industrial School which was established by Dr. J. S. Smith and his sister. There are sixty boys in attendance at this school, where they are not only given a good English education, but are taught useful trades, such as carpentering, blacksmithing and farming.

As we reached the beautiful village of Koloa with its great old sugar mill, I noticed in front of one of the larger and better houses the glorious "Stars and Stripes" flying. Supposing it to be the office of an American consul, I asked the doctor and he replied that it was his own flag which he raised every time an American landed on the island. One will never know how to appreciate America and our glorious flag until he sojourns in a foreign land.

"Come to my house and stay as long as you like," said the United States consul at Hilo. "We will feast your eyes on the flag and the American coat of arms, and talk of America. I am never so happy as when I find myself in the presence of an American citizen."

On the afternoon of my arrival the doctor, his wife, Dr. Crane, and myself went to the Spouting Horn, which is not more than a mile and a half from Koloa. This is one of the wonders of Kauai. The ledge of lava-like rock which extends over acres along the seashore is penetrated by many caverns into which the waves of the sea rush with wonderful force. There is an orifice in the rock large enough for an ordinary man to crawl through, and the water, driven in by the surf, is forced through this hole, sometimes to the height of sixty feet. The expulsion of the water is accompanied by a hollow roar as the air is forced through an apperture near the horn. Near the horn is a large rock known as The Pulpit, and about one hundred paces in the opposite direction is the Boiling Kettle, which is simply a large hole into which the water is continually rushing in and out, just like boiling water.

The Oberammergau Passion Play.

The little village of Oberammergau was first brought to the notice of the outside world forty years ago, when it was discovered that away up in the Tyrolese Alps, a little band of peasants were playing, with little dramatic art, the "The Passion of our Lord." This little village, as its name indicates, is over, or above, the river Ammer and about fifty miles from Munich.

This play is given every tenth year during the Sundays of summer and on Wednesdays and Fridays beside. From five to seven hundred of the villagers are needed to take the parts and choruses and for this they receive no remuneration whatever, except for the week day performance, where those who are wage earners, being too poor to afford to lose the time, are allowed from the proceeds an amount equivalent to the sum they would have earned at their respective trades. All receipts of the play are religiously devoted to the improvement of the church and village. No person is allowed a part whose life is not morally pure, and to be chosen for the leading roles is considered above all earthly honor; while to be refused any part is deemed such a disgrace as to drive some of the simple folk to dementia.

It is no uncommon thing for the peasants of Tyrol to make pilgrimages on foot, for fifty miles, sleeping en route in the open air, with a piece of black bread for sustenance, to see this play, and consider themselves happy in being allowed the privilege. From eight in the morning until six in the evening, six thousand people sit without fatigue and "shudder and weep together over the tragedy of the atonement" as given by these humble people. The play is a great incentive during the intervening years, to the villagers, to live in such a way that they may be thought worthy to bear a part in this great event. It is said, that from habitual meditation on the characters they are to take, they come to resemble in feature and expression those whom they imitate. The play begins with Adam and Eve in the garden and ends with the Ascension and each scene is preceeded by tableaux from the prophecies. Two hundred years of studying and meditating on the scenes of the Bible has wrought a refining transformation on these rude peasants, and raised them above their neighbors spiritually.

When some years ago, for pure motives of gain, it was intended to produce this play upon a New York stage, by actors whose living is made behind the footlights, public opinion justly regarded it as sacrilege, and it was prohibited. But to these Bavarian peasants it is the faithful discharge of a sacred covenant made with God for His protection, and is done reverently and solemnly, and can in no way offend the most devoted follower of the humble Nazarene, whose life they strive to imitate. It is only from the recent rush of American and European visitors to Oberammergau with their open purses and their bidding for seats, that anything sacrilegious or iconoclastic is to be feared.

The Ideal Panacea.

James L. Francis, Alderman, Chicago, says: I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as an ideal panacea for coughs, colds and lung complaints, having used it in my family for the last five years, to the exclusion of physician's prescriptions or other preparations.

Rev. John Burgus, Keokuk, Iowa, writes: I have been a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church for 50 years or more, and have never found anything so beneficial, or that gave me such speedy relief as Dr. King's New Discovery. Democrats who paid high taxes last fall and who may be disposed to worship Pingree will please remember that Detroit's debt has increased about five millions under the potato mayorality. A nice governor he'd make!"

Monroe Democrat: A lady of Dundee had a wart on her nose and all effort to induce the wart to occupy a modest place in society failed. Try as she might, it was always ahead of her to greet a friend. Was she to be presented to a stranger, the wart insisted on being first introduced. Moreover, the owner of the wart was unable to convince herself that it was in the least degree ornamental, and this, together with its brazen obtrusiveness into society, at last aroused her to such a pitch that she seized a pair of shears and snipped it off—an act of shear desparation. Then followed erysipelas of the nose and a serious experience from the effects of which the lady is just recovering. The wart, however, is no more.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., April, 10 '96.

President Cleveland has not had a happy week of it. First came the long delayed Cuban concurrent Congressional resolutions, which call for some action on his part, whether they get it or not; then one of his children was taken down with measles, and last, and probably most worrying of all, he hears that the probabilities of the silver democrats controlling the Chicago Convention are increasing every day. It is not believed that the virtual repudiation of the Carlisle boom by the silver democrats worried him any.

Senator Tillman, of S. C., left Washington yesterday to fill engagements to speak in Louisville, St. Louis and Denver, and, according to congressional talk, to launch his boom as a Presidential candidate on a silver platform. Mr. Tillman has already stated, and will probably reiterate it on his trip, that he intended to bolt the Chicago convention if it failed to adopt a platform satisfactory to the silver men.

Senator Teller, of Colorado, has introduced a bill to compel all national banks to keep up their reserves in their own vaults instead of loaning it out at interest to the banks in the great money centers. He said that last September no less than $200,000,000 which should have been in circulation, through the small banks, was thus tied up in New York city. Senator Hoar, of Mass., said the reform sought by Senator Teller was badly needed and that he hoped the bill would pass.

The Indians are making a sturdy fight to prevent congressional action upon the bill recommended by the Dawes commission, providing for allotment in severalty of the lands in Indian Territory etc. and it looks like they might succeed. What the Indians think of this bill was voiced by Mr. S. Miller, an educated Creek, who is now in Washington, when he said: "It is in violation of the most sacred treaties on the part of the government and tribes. It can have no other effect than the pauperization of our people and their extinction will soon follow. The allotment of lands in severalty, especially, will prove a curse instead of a benefit, for whatever conditions may be imposed, at the end of a few years a small number of people will own all the land and the masses will be beggars."

Notwithstanding the open opposition of the administration, the House Military committee has favorably reported the joint resolution providing for the promotion of Gen. Miles to be Lieut. General. It is believed that slurs thrown at Gen. Miles by certain persons because he made his start in the army as a volunteer, instead of with a West Point diploma, have largely increased the chances the joint resolution has for being adopted. Plain everyday men have never conceded the superiority claimed by those officers who have been educated at the expense of the government over all others who served in the army. If a man has natural ability and talent in that line there can be no doubt that the system of education at West Point tends to make a better soldier of him; but he is a careless reader of recent history who asserts that he is necessarily the superior of the volunteer officer. Hundreds of cases could be cited to prove the contrary.

The question of whether the government should adopt the metric system of weights and measures does not seem to contain anything humorous, but when the bill providing for the adoption of that system on July 1, 1898, was before the House Representative Otey, of Va., kept the House in a roar of laughter, during his short speech against the bill. He started out by saying that it would be as easy for him to learn German or Sanskrit as the metric system. He then fired a few humorous squibs at the table of the metric system, ridiculing the linear and cubic measurements, their derivatives and nomenclature, and said he had not found the wet measure. Then assuming a judicial pose he continued: "Where's your measure of whisky? How many listers are there in a drink? I venture to say Kentucky will have something to say about the adoption of this new fangled system. Her delegation will be solidly opposed to it. I am not surprised that we are referred to Africa as one of the progressive countries which has adopted this system." The bill was recommitted.

Not a little amusement followed the expressions of two democratic Senators, who are both known as administration men, on the President's probable action on the Cuban resolutions. It was in the Senate lobby. A group of Senators were discussing probabilities when Senator Gray, of Del., said: "Mr. Cleveland may be relied upon to do what he thinks right." Senator Lindsay, of Ky., retorted with more or less vehemence: "He may be relied upon to do what he d—— pleases."

Senator Butler, of N. C., has introduced a joint resolution in the Senate which many think ought to be put through. It provides for a constitutional amendment to limit the vote power of the President by giving Congress the right to pass measures over a veto by a majority vote, instead of the two-thirds vote now required.

GOT THE BACKACHE?

If You Have, Here's the Way to Rid Yourself of the Weariness and Pain Attending It.

Some people suffer with headaches, many people are worn out and weary all the time, many more people have lame back and backache. Few people understand the real cause of their aches, and fewer yet know how easily they can find a cure. Just a word of explanation before we prove that what we say is true. The back is the k -note of the kidneys. It aches; that's a sign that the kidneys are not working properly; it is lame; another sign, the kidneys are out of order. The kidneys, you know, are the filters of the blood, but filters sometimes get clogged up. This means in their case that the blood courses through the entire system impregnated with poisonous uric acid, bringing on many a disorder which, if neglected, means disease perhaps incurable. And now about the cure:—Don't take our word for it; read what others say:

Mr. David C. Oaks is proprietor of the well known hardware and paint shop at 220 East Main Street, Kalamazoo. Mr. Oaks has suffered a great deal from kidney ailments; he described his condition and cure as follows: "I had a bad, lame back, which I suppose was caused by my kidneys; was confined to my bed during bad attacks. I might say, from time to time, I have been in that condition for years. The urinary organism was affected, urine being scanty, highly colored, and difficult in passage. I was in a bad shape when I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, about which I had heard. I have used now two boxes of them, and the pills have removed all the pain and trouble. There was a marked improvement right from the first, and it has continued right along. Doan's Kidney Pills are the right thing in the right place."

"As an act of justice and for the benefit of other mothers who may have afflicted children, I write this. About the first of February, 1892, my daughter Zola, then three years old, contracted sore eyes of the worst form and in a few weeks was entirely blind, being unable to tolerate light of any kind. She suffered and cried until I was almost heartbroken. The best eye specialist in the county treated her for months, but the

became worse. Then I took her to a specialist in Indianapolis, who said he could do nothing. I came away with a heavy heart. I met my father's physician, Dr. Berryman, who examined Zola's eyes, and told me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I began to give it as directed and wash her eyes with warm water. Soon I began to notice improvement, and now, having given the child over a half dozen bottles, her eyes are greatly improved and she can see as well as any one. She is five years of age, and goes to school. When she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, she had to eat her meals in a darkened room, but now

The Ponce d... that he m... over the fo... of perpetual you... He died searchi... for it. The fountain he was looking for was an impossibility, unnatural and chimerical. The nearest thing to the fountain of perpetual youth is a fountain of perpetual, perfect health. Health keeps people young. Sickness makes them old. Health means first of all, strength and regularity in the digestive functions. Put indigestible matter into the stomach, and it is likely to find lodgment in the bowels. It will stop their action. Poisonous, refuse matter, which should have been thrown off, is retained in the body, and as it cannot go any place else, more or less of it gets into the blood. That's constipation. It is such a wonderfully simple thing that people do not regard seriously. They let it run on, let it grow worse, become chronic, and show itself all over the body in fifty ways before they consider it important. Constipation causes nine-tenths of all human ailments. Its first symptoms do not seem very serious, but when they are very disagreeable. A few of them are sour stomach, flatulence, heartburn, distress after eating, foul breath, coated tongue, dizziness, palpitation of the heart, sick and bilious headaches, general lassitude and debility. When any of these symptoms show themselves, you should immediately take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, according to directions. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules, made on purpose to cure constipation. They do this perfectly and quickly, and they are the only preparation in the world that will do it. There are plenty of medicines that will give relief as long as you keep on taking them, but you want stop. They don't cure; they give merely temporary relief. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets give immediate relief and produce a permanent cure.

HARRISON WEDS.

Ex-President and Mrs. Dimmick United at New York.

The Ceremony Employed Characterized by Much Simplicity — Ex-Secretary Tracy the Best Man — Bridal Party Leaves for the West.

New York, April 7.—The long-talked-of marriage of ex-President Benjamin Harrison and Mrs. Mary Scott Lord Dimmick took place at five o'clock p. m. on Monday at St. Thomas' church, the rector of which, Rev. J. Wesley Thomas, performed the ceremony, which was most simple in character.

Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy, formerly secretary of the navy, was Gen. Harrison's best man. Mrs. Dimmick had no bridesmaids, but was escorted up the aisle by her brother-in-law, Lieut. John F. Parker. The ceremony was witnessed by only 36 guests, including a representative of the press. The members of Gen. Harrison's cabinet were invited with their wives, and were present with the exception of ex-Postmaster General Wanamaker, ex-Secretary of the Treasury Charles Foster, and ex-Secretary of the Interior John W. Noble, who were unavoidably prevented from attending.

Mr. Daniel M. Ransdell, ex-marshal of the District of Columbia, and E. F. Tibbott, private secretary to Mr. Harrison, acted as ushers.

The Ceremony.

As the bridal party approached the chancel Gen. Harrison came down the steps to the floor to receive his bride. With a frank movement she extended her right hand, which the groom clasped in his left. Then the couple marched up the step to the center of the altar, where they knelt a moment in prayer. Gen. Tracy and Lieut. Parker followed, the former standing to the right of the groom and the lieutenant to the left of the bride. It was a pretty picture, beautiful in its simplicity. The reading of the Protestant Episcopal ceremony was at once begun. Both faced the minister and listened intently to his words. When the usual question was propounded to the groom: "Wilt thou have this woman to be thy wedded wife," etc., the general responded in subdued, almost inaudible tones. When the same question was put to the bride she answered in a clear, musical voice. Lieut. Parker gave the bride away.

Bridal Party Departs.

After the ceremony the bridal party was driven to the house of a friend of Mrs. Dimmick below Fourteenth street, where refreshments were served. Traveling gowns were donned there, and the party went direct to the Pennsylvania railroad station in Jersey City, where the private car of Vice President Frank Thompson, attached to the 7:50 p. m. train, west, was waiting. A wedding supper was served aboard the car.

The groom's gift to his best man was a walking stick, which Gen. Harrison had prized for years, owing to associations connected with it. Its history dates back to the civil war, and Gen. Tracy is said to have long desired to possess it.

The Honeymoon.

Gen. Harrison's honeymoon will be spent at his home in Indianapolis, where his old residence has been renovated and refitted for the occasion.

Later the couple will go to the Adirondack mountains, where a cottage has been secured for the summer season.

Mrs. Dimmick is a decided brunette, and 37 years old, just 25 years the junior of the ex-president. She has a charming personality, and is gifted in many arts. She was born in Pennsylvania and was married in 1881 to Walter E. Dimmick, a young lawyer, who died of typhoid fever three months after the wedding ceremony. Mrs. Dimmick is a niece of Mrs. Harrison, the ex-president's late wife, and figured prominently in white house affairs during the last year of Mr. Harrison's administration.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 8.—Gen. Benjamin Harrison and his bride arrived at their home in this city last night.

What They Are Doing at the National Capital.

Important Measures Under Consideration in the Senate and House —Bills and Resolutions Passed.

Washington, April 2.—Senator Call (Fla.) offered a joint resolution in the senate yesterday directing the sending of an adequate naval force to Cuba to put an end to barbarities and instructing the president to notify Spain that the United States will forcibly intervene unless murder and outrage cease. The post office appropriation bill was further considered.

Washington, April 3.—The post office appropriation bill served to bring out some sharp discussion in the senate yesterday on the propriety of abolishing country post offices and absorbing them as branches of city offices. After a speech by Senator Elkins advocating subsidies and other means of extending American commerce on the seas the bill went over. The Indian appropriation bill was reported.

Washington, April 7.—The senate spent the entire time yesterday on the post office appropriation bill, but did not complete it. A message announcing the action of the house on the Cuban resolutions was received. A favorable report was made on the bill to create an additional judge for the Sixth judicial circuit, composed of the states of Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Washington, April 8.—In the senate yesterday the post office appropriation bill was passed. A joint resolution was introduced providing for an amendment to the constitution to limit the veto power of the president so as to make it competent for the two houses to pass bills over a veto by a majority vote.

THE HOUSE.

Bills Introduced and Petitions and Resolutions Presented.

Washington, April 2.—An amendment to the sundry civil bill providing for the purchase and repair of the house in which Abraham Lincoln died was adopted in the house yesterday.

Washington, April 3.—In the house yesterday the sundry civil bill was passed, as was also a bill to reimburse A. P. Brown, late postmaster of Lemars, Ia., for losses sustained by robbery.

Washington, April 4.—The house yesterday revived the agitation of the question of Cuban belligerency in connection with the conference report of the Cuban resolutions. Mr. Hitt (Ill.) spoke at length in favor of the insurgents, and Mr. Bouteile (Me.) argued against the resolutions. Speaker Reed made a ruling that a majority of the members of the house who are living at the time any question of a quorum comes up shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. At the evening session private pension bills were considered, and 38 were passed.

Washington, April 6.—With the exception of an hour given over to miscellaneous business at the beginning of the session, the entire day and night sessions in the house on Saturday were devoted to a discussion of the wisdom, expediency and justice of adopting the resolutions recognizing Cuban belligerency and tendering the friendly offices of the United States for the settlement of the trouble.

Washington, April 7.—The house yesterday adopted the report of the house conferrees on the Cuban resolutions. The resolutions thus adopted recognize Cuban belligerency and recommend the friendly intervention of President Cleveland looking toward Cuban autonomy. The vote stood 213 to 27. It was received with tumultuous cheers. The river and harbor bill ($10,330,560) was passed and a bill was favorably reported to tax and brand filled cheese.

Washington, April 8.—In the house yesterday the time was passed in discussing a bill to fix the standard of weights and measures by the adoption of a metric system on and after July 1, 1898.

Fatal Prize Fight.

Haverhill, Mass., April 6.—During a prize fight Saturday night between Arthur Bradley and Richard Ingram, the latter received a chance blow on the vein under the right jaw which rendered him unconscious, and from the effect of which he died two hours later. All of the spectators and participants are under arrest.

Famous Race Track Closed.

Hartford, Conn., April 6.—Charter Oak Park, the scene of many of the most important trotting races in the country during the past 25 years, was sold at auction to Henry Kennedy for $19,000, the stockholders having voted to close up the affairs of the association. The original cost was $150,000.

Will Become a Citizen.

New York, April 8.—Frederick Booth-Tucker, the new commander of the Salvation Army in the United States, declared his intention yesterday of becoming a citizen of the United States and took out his first naturalization papers in New York.

Strange Death of a Child.

Creston, Ia., April 8.—Hilda, the five-year-old daughter of Charles Johnson, tried to climb into a large box. She had her head over the edge of the box when the lid came down, catching her head and slowly strangling her to death.

La Grippe in St. Louis.

St. Louis, April 8.—An epidemic of la grippe prevails in this city, and scores of persons are prostrated by the disease. Ex-Gov. Francis is confined to his residence with a severe attack of pneumonia.

Exports of Specie.

New York, April 8.—The exports, exclusive of specie, from New York for the week were $6,721,132, against $7,333,345 for the same week of 1895.

SPRING ELECTIONS.

They Are Held in Several of the Western States.

Party Lines Drawn in Some Places and in Others Local Issues Prevail—The Results as Told by the Telegraph.

Cincinnati, April 7.—Township and municipal elections were held throughout Ohio Monday in nearly all the cities and townships of the state. The elections seem to have been generally quiet with a light vote except in many of the smaller municipalities where local issues made the contests close and hard fought. Only a portion of the returns have been received up to this hour (midnight), but enough is known to indicate a general republican victory. Of course there were a number of places where partisan considerations did not enter into the canvass. All municipal officers including school trustees and town councilmen were voted for.

At East Liverpool woman suffrage won. Recently the school board discharged teachers for reading the Bible on opening school. The women employed carriages Monday and 2,400 votes were cast by women in the town, defeating all members of the school board who voted for the discharge of teachers who read the Bible.

In Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., April 7.—City and township elections were held throughout Michigan Monday outside of Detroit. Universal interest was manifested in the elections in a general way and a very large vote was polled in most places. While the issues, as a rule, were purely local ones, the democrats generally developed unlooked-for strength, and in many cities which for years have returned republican officials their ticket has been elected in whole or in part.

In Iowa.

Des Moines, Ia., April 7.—The city election in Des Moines resulted in a republican victory for the entire ticket, except two aldermen out of nine. The majority for the ticket ranged from 1,000 to 2,500. The ordinary majority for the republican party is 200. In Keokuk the republicans elected four out of six aldermen, a gain of one.

In Illinois.

Chicago, April 8.—In the election here Tuesday for town officers and aldermen the republicans carried all of the seven towns by majorities ranging from 1,000 to 4,000. The campaign for aldermen was not strictly on party lines, being more of an effort on the part of reputable citizens to oust the old gang which has controlled the council, regardless of politics. Of the 34 aldermen elected, only eight are men who were opposed by the municipal voters' league. The remaining 26 may be said to fairly represent the respectable element.

In Illinois Towns.

John C. Garver, of Rockford, republican nominee for circuit judge of the Thirteenth judicial district to succeed Judge Cartwright, was elected Tuesday by a large majority over James W. Allaben, of Polo, democratic nominee.

Town elections were held throughout Illinois Tuesday. As a general thing republican victories are reported. At Monmouth a surprise was caused by the election of William Ellenburger, a college student, over his republican opponent. Republican gains are reported in Danville, Charleston, Sigel, Mattoon, Champaign, Urbana, Lacon, Vandalia and Princeton. In Salem the entire democratic ticket was elected, where the republicans were successful a year ago. At Mount Sterling a free-silver ticket was in the field. No license carried at Yates City. A municipal election was held in Quincy. The democrats elected five aldermen and the republicans three.

In Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, April 8.—A heavy vote was cast at the municipal election Tuesday. The republican city ticket, William G. Rauschenberger for mayor, Charles W. Milbrath for treasurer, and William J. Freibrantz for comptroller, were elected by pluralities ranging from 1,500 to 2,500. The labor vote was very large. The balance of power in the common council and board of supervisors will be in the hands of the republicans by a small plurality. Large democratic gains are recorded in all wards of the city.

In the state at large R. D. Marshal is reelected associate justice of the supreme court. In the Eighth judicial circuit E. W. Helms (rep.) is probably elected judge, and in the Thirteenth Warham Parks (rep.) probably defeats J. J. Dick (dem.). In the four other districts the incumbents are reelected without opposition. The following cities and towns were carried by republicans:

Delavan, Peshtigo, Platteville, Elkhorn, Mauston, Ripon, Monroe, Plymouth, Edgerton, Brandon, Sparta, Washburn, Shell Lake, Tomah, Black River, Blue River Falls, Waukesha, River Falls, Baraboo, Whitewater, Fountain City, Neillsville, Manitowoc, Chippewa Falls.

The following went democratic: Kewaunee, Mineral Point, Mayville, Durand, Chilton, Fort Atkinson, Fox Lake, Oconto, Jefferson, Antigo, Watertown, Fond du Lac, Prairie du Chien, Hurley, Boscobel, Cedarburg, Ahnapee, Horicon, Columbus, Sturgeon Bay, Depere.

Results Elsewhere.

Omaha, Neb., April 8.—Town elections were held throughout the state Tuesday, the voting in most places being for or against liquor license. The election resulted generally in favor of license.

Topeka, Kan., April 8.—Returns from cities of the second class, where there was any opposition to the republican ticket, show republican victories in some places over fusion tickets. In many places the issue was the "joint" question, and so far the temperance sentiment is victorious irrespective of party.

To Be Expelled.

London, April 7.—A Daily News special states that the sultan of Turkey has issued an order to expel all Christian missionaries from Armenia.

GUNS THAT WERE GOOD.

Interesting Experience of a Prominent Michigan Man in Tropic Lands.

The following letter from Dean C. Worcester, A. B., the well-known Assistant Professor of Zoology and Curator of the Zoological Museum at the Michigan University, Ann Arbor, will be read with a great deal of interest by every sportsman:

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 8, 1896.
Parker Bros., Meriden, Conn.:

Gentlemen—I have long intended to write you my experience with your shotguns, thinking it might be of some interest to you.

I was a member of the Steere Scientific Expedition to the Philippine Islands, in 1887-1888, and used one of your $65 guns for collecting. The Philippines, as you are doubtless aware, lie wholly within the tropics, reaching to within five degrees of the equator. By using different loads I killed everything from sun-birds (the size of our humming-birds) to monkeys, deer and wild hogs. Much of my shooting was done with extremely heavy charges; the climate was such that in spite of every precaution gun would turn red with rust over night; my gun was in daily use in the rainy season it was alternately soaked and roasted, and I had numerous nasty falls, giving the gun some severe knocks, but at the end of a year the gun was as good, if not as handsome as when I bought it. Two other members of this expedition shot Parker guns, which gave perfect satisfaction. [illegible] guns subjected to [illegible] treatment, fell to [illegible] ture caused the wood to warp and split.

The Mo[illegible] Expedition, 1890-1893 [illegible] Mr. Frank S. Per[illegible] and [illegible] Parker shotguns [illegible] guns were now in [illegible] from our first trip [illegible] used daily for two [illegible] months for collecting [illegible] mines and Borneo. [illegible] this most severe [illegible] tight, and seemed to [illegible] and close as ever. I sold [illegible] guns before starting for [illegible] more than it cost me [illegible] to a friend who had [illegible] down with typhoid [illegible] not that both are [illegible] yet.

The shooting [illegible] of your guns need no endorsement from anyone. I fail to see how their wearing qualities could possibly be put to a severer test. No one who has not collected in tropical jungles can understand how severe the test was.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) DEAN C. WORCESTER.

This is certainly very strong testimony, and coming from a man of the experience and judgment of Prof. Worcester, its value is placed beyond cavil. No more severe test has ever been given than that described above. While other guns fell to pieces, the Parker guns stood the test without a break. Further comment on the superior excellence of Parker guns would seem to be superfluous.

PARIS DRESSMAKERS.

There Are Enough of Them to Form a Good Sized Town.

Paris is the city where the dressmaking trade flourishes as it does in no other spot in the world. In 1830 the number of couturieres, as given in the Annuaire du Commerce, the commercial directory of those days, was only 158. There were besides 67 shops for the sale of ready-made feminine apparel, but there were none, as there are to-day, which sold lingerie or certain articles exclusively.

In the Bottin (as the Paris directory is familiarly known) of 1895 there are 1,636 couturieres and 296 commercial houses for the sale of ready-made garments, besides many establishments which manufacture and sell jupons de desous or under-petticoats alone. The number of working dressmakers in Paris is estimated at 65,000.

In all France, according to M. Georges Michel, the industry of manufacturing the various articles of woman's dress is in the hands of 81,400 male and 143,648 female owners of shops or factories. These furnish employment to 700,801 persons, of whom over 500,000 are women.

In addition to these there are 925,855 persons who make their living from industries which are tributary to that of the manufacture of feminine apparel. The total value of the product of this labor from so many hands is estimated at £50,000,000.

A GREAT SNAKE COLONY.

An Australian Enthusiast Has a Fine Collection of Venomous Reptiles.

Mr. J. McCrackie Smith, an eminent bacteriologist of Sydney, Australia, is the proprietor of probably the greatest collection of snakes in the world, says the New York World. He is in the business partly for scientific purposes and partly for business. He advertised some time ago for 500 venomous reptiles, but one publisher refused to permit the advertisement until he had satisfied himself of the sanity of the scientist.

The different species of venomous snakes in Australia, so far as known, number 42, and Mr. Smith has specimens of all of them. The poison extracted from the reptiles is largely used in the Pasteur institute in Paris.

Mr. Smith is an enthusiast on the subject of snakes, and regards them as the most wonderful of living creatures. He has in his collection serpents that have gone nearly a year without food and are still fat. He has injected some of their own poison into them without the slightest ill-effects to them. As a result of his investigations he has established the fact that a non-poisonous snake is not affected in any way by the poison of the venomous species.

"Why," said Smith, "it does not kill one of its own species while it is so fatal to other creatures is one of the mysteries of the Almighty which we cannot unravel."

MADE FROM NIGHTMARES.

Methods Used by Artists Who Design Popular Grotesque Posters.

People who dine late at night in a certain uptown restaurant may have noticed a well-dressed, wild-eyed, haggard-faced, dyspeptic man devouring night after night with apparent relish dishes which only the ultra brave have courage to eat more than once a month. That man is an artist, says the New York World, and eating indigestible food is a part of his business, for he is a maker of posters. Since the use of grotesque posters, built on the lines of Aubrey Beardsley's phantom fancies and on the principle of Chimpanzee Johanna's savage sketches, has become general as a means of advertising newspapers it is no more than right that the world should know how the designs are conceived.

The case of this wild-eyed, haggard-faced, dyspeptic artist alone will be cited. His may or may not be the method used by all the better poster makers. Every night he goes to this uptown restaurant, eats a welsh rabbit, a cold broiled lobster, two cream rolls and a dish of ice cream and drinks a quart of cheap claret. Then he goes home, drinks two glasses of ice water, retires and the nightmare does the rest. In the morning he sketches the horrors he saw in his dreams and finishes them as the orders for posters pour in. He is making a fortune in the business.

A Tottering Spire.

It is reported that the spire of Salisbury cathedral, in the south of England, is tottering. When the cathedral was begun, in 1220, there was no thought of erecting a spire on the central tower. That was an afterthought, and the architect who designed the tower strained the strength of the original substructure to the utmost. It has always had to be carefully watched, and the means taken to strengthen it by iron bands and ties have only added to the weight. Of late the stonework has been decaying rapidly, so that the spire is in great danger of collapsing.

GENESIS OF A "CRANK."

The Effect of Large Ideas Upon Small Minds.

One of the most interesting of psychological studies, says the Century, is the effect of a large idea upon a small mind. A large idea entering a large mind balances and dignifies it; its effect upon a small mind is often completely upsetting. The man becomes intellectually top-heavy and unsteady.

When one becomes observant of this phenomenon he finds much to amuse and again much to deplore. He is amused, for instance, to notice the result of this overloading throughout a long career. Where a subject is thus acted upon by a succession of ideas, each embodying an important truth which the man is incapable of carrying, his receptivity to impression proves to be his bane. The sudden realization for the first time of a fundamental principle makes a monomaniac of him. Another sudden realization of still another fundamental principle and he is spinning off at a new tangent.

But there are times when this effect of large ideas upon little minds is most mischievous and deplorable. Thus is bred the race of incurable cranks in philosophy, theology, art and politics. The word "crank" has been maliciously misused for purposes of cynical ridicule, but it is too descriptive a name to be set aside. The congenial crank is always started on his career of inutility by this application of a big idea to a small brain. The most tiring thing about him is his self-complacency, owing to his knowledge of the fact that better men have been miscalled by his own accurately descriptive cognomen.

APPLICATION OF A FABLE.

A Sheep's Skin Hides the Form of a Human Wolf.

The story of the ass who clothed himself in a lion's skin in order to pass himself off as the king of beasts is well known, but the tale of the thief who got inside a sheep's skin to be better able to carry on his nefarious trade has yet to be told, says the London Telegraph. Early one morning two policemen, who were on duty at the slaughter houses of Paris, were astonished to see a sheep endeavoring to effect an entrance into the inclosure where creatures of its kind were doubled when a man's hand protruded from beneath the stolen fleece. Their curiosity became intensified and they carefully followed the sham animal, who stopped at the pen which inclosed the real article, and with great coolness chose the two largest and fattest of the flock.

Still observed by the watchful guardians of the law, this plagiarist of an ancient fable proceeded to kill and cut up his capture, and was on the point of making off with his booty when he found himself in turn the spoil of the law and was quickly marched off to the police station, where he gave his name as Eugene Lassots. From his account he made a good living out of his occupation by selling the meat to various butchers. For some time, at least, it is to be hoped, that the animals at the abattoirs will cease to be sent to an earlier death by the depredations of this latest wolf in sheep's clothing.

THE LETTER "T."

A French Graphologist Says That It Indicates the Writer's Character.

A French graphologist has discovered that character can be read from the letter "t" alone. He claims that the vertical line represents the fatality of life, and the horizontal bar the influence human will exercises upon this fatality.

In addition, he claims that the higher part of the vertical line—that projecting above the horizontal bar—has indications of the amount of ideality contained in the make-up of the writer, and that the inferior part of this line corresponds to the practical and material part of the man's character.

For instance, the optimist crosses his t's with a line that slopes upward from the earth to the sky, as it were. The poet often crosses his t's quite above the vertical line; in other words, in the sky.

The pessimist crosses his t's with a downward sloping stroke. The line, which commences at the ideal portion of the letter, descends little by little until it is lost among the sad realities of earthly existence.

The practical man, it appears, always steers a middle course, and crosses his t's neither in the ideal nor in the material, but exactly midway between the two.

Snowballs Rolled by the Wind.

Passengers on the Flint River division of the Flint & Pere Marquette railroad who came to Flint, Mich., recently reported observing a strange phenomenon in large, level fields not far from the city, says the Chicago Tribune. Hundreds of snowballs, some of them of colossal size, have been rolled together, it is thought, by the action of the wind. The fields were covered with them, and nature accomplished in one night what it would take a large force of boys several days to do.

He Never Drank.

Old Mr. B——, who lived in Bangor several years ago, was called "very close," but grasping as he was he never would accept intoxicating liquor of any kind. One day he was asked to drink by several of the neighbors at the village store, where drinks were sold at ten cents each. "No, I thank ye," he replied; "I never drink, gentlemen. But if it's all the same to you I'll take a gimlet instead."

A Dog with Artificial Teeth.

It is said that a dog in Mulliken, Mich., possesses and uses daily a full set of artificial teeth. The dog is very old, and is a family pet. When it lost its teeth recently its owner, according to the story, had the local dentist make the animal a full set of teeth, and they are said to be a perfect working success.

HIS LEG IS PULLED.

That Is How a Southern Congressman Regards His Lot.

"Some people may think that a congressman saves a pile of money out of his salary," said a well-known southern congressman, who was talking to a Washington Star reporter on the vicissitudes of running for office, and especially for congress, "but a man has to be a small walking bank to accommodate the large number of his 'friends' and supporters who need a little money for some urgent matter. In my state we have to make campaigns and appear before the people at meetings. Well, I have never attended a meeting but that I did not have some kind of a subscription poked into my face. Somebody wants something for a church and for missionary purposes or for helping some fellow who has been burned out.

"You can't avoid subscribing, and have to head the list with the largest sum. Then about the time you think you are through with having your leg pulled some lazy fellow will walk up and say: 'How do, gineral? I had ter quit my work ter come out and hear you terday, and I thunk yer mout giv' me a dollar.' While you have the greatest contempt for the man, you give him the dollar.

"When you leave the meeting you are out anywhere from $25 to $50. These are just a few instances of what a candidate has to spend money for. After he gets through the campaign and is elected he has to furnish every dead beat from his district who should happen to come to Washington with money. I've actually given them money and railroad tickets to get home and have them go back and work against me."

IRONY OF FATE.

It Pursues Two Eminently Respectable Ladies Who Could Not Agree.

Not long ago there were two ladies stopping at the same boarding house. They were single ladies, be it said, and both highly respectable. But for some reason, says the Minneapolis Times, known only to themselves, they "couldn't get along," and matters went between them from bad to worse till they "quit speaking."

They both got tired, of course, living in the same house with a mortal enemy, and finally both determined to move. Arrangements were made, and, as luck would have it, both moved the same day. Lady No. 1 loaded up her household goods in the morning, and in the afternoon a dray pulled up and carried away the trunk, shawlstraps, and other effects of lady No. 2.

Lady No. 1 was just composing herself to view the surroundings of her new lodging place, when a wagon stopped at the front door and began to unload a collection of articles unmistakably feminine. She sized up the trunk and went downstairs, filled with a horrible suspicion, to interview the landlady.

Her suspicions were true. They had moved into the same house.

There is no more to the story. Of course, they should have made up their differences and lived in peace and charity ever after. But they did not. Lady No. 2 never got her trunk inside of the house.

DEAF MUTES DANCE.

A Jumping Mummy on the Piano Keeps the Step for Them.

A social club of deaf mutes exists in Warsaw since 1885, and as there are a large number of persons thus afflicted in the capital of Russian Poland, the club is doing very well. During the last week of carnival the club arranged a ball, and in order to enable the member to dance to the music in time, a very curious plan was adopted, which proved quite efficient. A large paper doll was rigged up on the piano, and the player, also a deaf mute, who furnished the music, which, of course, could not be heard by the members of the club, used a pedal to make the paper figure move up and down in time with the piece played. A large sign alongside announced the character of the dance, and thus it became possible for the deaf mutes to enjoy the dances as if they were not afflicted with their organic shortcomings. Besides that, they were spared the agony of those who could hear, for some wag had tampered with the piano, which was frightfully out of tune, even the player never noticing that fact. The deaf mutes danced into the early morning hours and unanimously voted the entertainment a magnificent success.

DEAD, YET ALIVE.

An Interesting Enoch Arden Case in an English Court.

A curious Enoch Arden case, in which the lord justice of appeal had to intervene in order to bring a man to life again legally, has just been decided in England. Forty-two years ago a woman married a sailor in the British navy, who deserted, went to the United States and was not heard of again for 26 years. Six years after his disappearance she married another man, with whom she lived for 18 years, but from whom she at last obtained a judicial separation and alimony in 1892. The second husband pleaded that his marriage was null, as her first husband was alive at the time, but the jury in the divorce court found that the man was dead. Last year husband No. 2 discovered husband No. 1, brought suit again and produced him in court, where he was fully identified, but the judge held that as a jury had declared he was dead, he could not admit that he was alive and dismissed the suit. The appellate judges seem to be of his opinion, for they refused to allow the appeal and annul the marriage on the ground of the man's being alive till the second husband had given security that he would pay the woman an allowance.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no wiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters and aids digestion. Old People find it is an excellent appetixer just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents per bottle at Baker & Hall's drug store. 3

The old theory that we owe our digestion chiefly to the stomach is being discarded, experiment having shown that this organ may be completely removed from the living animal. It is now believed that the real function of the stomach is to render harmless all substances injurious to the bowels, the real digestive organs.

A stimulant is often needed to nourish and strengthen the roots and to keep the hair a natural color. Hall's Hair Renewer is the best tonic for the hair. 1w

A physician reports as the result of experiments that cottonseed meal may form a satisfactory article of human food if mixed with two-thirds white corn meal and then baked or fried, either as batter or dough. It is asserted that this mixture gives a combination almost identical in composition and nutritive ratio to wheat.

Constipation is the cause of all sorts of serious disorders of the blood. Strong cathartics are worse than useless. Burdock Blood Bitters is Nature's own remedy for troubles of this sort. 1w Lenardson Bros. have been making some substantial and convenient improvements in their hardware store. The east store has been thoroughly cleaned, painted, etc. In addition to this the store has been fitted up with new and commodious dry goods shelving, which increases the capacity of that side four-fold. It might also be added that the shelves are full of new, well assorted dry goods.

One of the most exciting, two-ringed, double-header bicycle races ever occurred in this village was given last Wednesday afternoon. Just as the local freight train was pulling out of the switch and puffing and blowing off, on account of the extreme heat of the day, Wesley Avery and O. L. Cole crossed the track in a light democrat wagon. Directly behind came Clarence Gilmore in a heavy farm wagon driving a spirited team, one of which was a colt. The latter team became frightened, wheeled directly to the right, ran the wagon against a building, soon freeing themselves and dashed down the alley. Mr. Avery seeing the team behind was about to run, had turned into the alley and was running his team to get out of the way. He was not soon enough, for the team behind was driven by fear. They jumped onto his wagon, broke off a wheel, threw the occupants out and then his team started. They went through several fences of different makes and stopped in a field where it was too soft for good running purposes. Mr. Gilmore's team also tested a few fences, using the last wire fence as a spring board to do their final great double somersault act, both striking on their backs at the same time. Mr. Avery's wagon lost two wheels and one ho... was severely lamed. Mr. Cole was also slightly injured.

LAKE RIDGE.

The Sunday School will Give a Box Social—Various Doings.

(Delayed Letter)

Frank Lowry has hired out and commenced work for George Smith, of Britton.

Three new scholars were added last Sabbath to the Sunday school. We welcome all.

James Elliott, of Tecumseh, visited Thos. Murphy's family last week Wednesday and Thursday.

Lewis Martin and Tom Maynard are keeping bachelor's hall. Some marriageable lady might do well to apply.

George Lichard, who has been living on the old homestead the past year, has moved his family on the farm of A. McKinney near Moreville. Success go with them.

The Lake Ridge base ball team will give a party in the near future at the Lake Ridge Hotel for the benefit of the team. An orchestra from Ypsilanti will furnish music.

The Easter concert passed off very successfully, the scholars performing the part with credit. Especial mention is made of Fernice Boyd, only six years of age, who recited a piece of eight verses without a mistake.

Miss Vena Montonye has returned from Ypsilanti.

Robt. Reed visited Holloway Sunday, in company with his best girl.

Ernest Elliott and Rob Boyd visited Mr. Murphy's family over Sunday.

Miss Cinda Lowry has gone to Franklin to live in the family of Mr. Russell.

Miss Anna Murphy visited Ridgeway friends over Sunday and took in the concert.

Lizzie and James Murphy attended the Grayson concert at Ridgeway Friday evening.

Ed Easlick, who went to Toledo in search of work, has secured a situation under his old boss.

Chas. and Miss Lena Swick, of Milan, spent Tuesday of last week as the guests of Mrs. C. Hendershot.

In the absence of Robt. Reed, Miss Vena Montonye acted as superintendent of the Sabbath school last Sunday, much to her credit.

The Sunday school will hold a box social on the evening of April 25, at the home of Robt. Reed. A good attendance is desired.

They were the first to make brooms by machinery; the first to put up seeds in little packages; the first to manufacture cut nails. Now they are out with a method of curing dyspepsia by resting the stomach. Their remedy is known as the Shaker Digestive Cordial. It supplies food in an artificially digested form and at the same time aids the digestion of other foods in the stomach. In other words, by the use of the Shaker Digestive Cordial, a dyspeptic virtually gets along without the use of his stomach until it is restored to its natural strength and vigor. A single 10c bottle will oft-times give marked relief. Get a bottle from your druggist and try it.

"Martyrs of a Benevolent Home and knowing the good Dr. Miles' Nervine has done me, my wish to help others, overcomes my dislike for the publicity, this letter may give me. In Nov. and Dec., 1893, The inmates had the "La Grippe," and I was one of the first. Resuming duty too soon, with the care of so many sick, I did not regain my health, and in a month I became so debilitated and nervous from sleeplessness and the drain made on my vitality, that it was a question if I could go on. A dear friend advised me to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. I took 3 bottles and am happy to say, I am in better health than ever. I still continue its occasional use, as a nerve food, as my work is very trying. A letter addressed to Milwaukee, Wis., will reach me."

THE DOCTOR'S BILL

PARALYZING, but unnecessary. You don't have to run for a Doctor whenever you feel a little out of sorts. A few doses of Dr. F. FRENCH'S UNEQUALED BLOOD PURIFIER AND RHEUMATIC REMEDY, will make you feel all right and save you a lot of money. Some people have found this out, and this is what they say about it.

E. B. DOWNING, Grand Rapids, Mich.

J. FREE SMITH, Lansing, Mich.

"Doctors called it Bright's Disease in its early stage. One bottle of Dr F. French's Unequaled Blood Purifier and Rheumatic Remedy removed all symptoms of the disease—have felt nothing of it since."

Mrs. DIANA RIGGS, Hillsdale, Mich.

"Was sick for four years with enlargement of the Liver and Spleen, and General Prostration of the Nervous System; was attended by two of the best Doctors in the town and used no end of Patent Medicines, all who saw me thought there was no relief except by death, which seemed sure. A friend recommended Dr. F. French's Unequaled Blood Purifier and Rheumatic Remedy; in less than a week after I commenced taking it I was better. Six bottles cured me. You are welcome to use my name and this statement, and also refer anyone to me either personally or by mail, and I will tell them much more than I can write."

We have many more letters to the same effect.

This preparation is in no way to be classed among the many worthless Patent Medicines of the day, being simply a Prescription used by Dr. F. French, of Hillsdale, for many years in his practice. It is offered to the public with the full assurance of its being the Best Medicine on Earth for the cure of Rheumatism in all its various forms, Affections of the Stomach, Liver or Kidneys, Scrofula-Eruptions, and Cutaneous Diseases, Female Weakness, and all complaints arising from an Impure Condition of the Blood.

GUILTY OR NOT GUILTY
DISEASED MEN CURED
THOUSANDS of young men, middle aged men and old men can look back at their boyhood days or early manhood with a sigh of remorse. The ignorance of early youth, or later on a misspent life as "wine of the body" has sown the seeds for future suffering. SELF ABUSE is a terrible sin against nature and will bring a rich harvest. Blood and Private Diseases sap the very life and vitality of the victim. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT will positively cure all the following diseases:
VARICOCELE, EMISSIONS, NERVOUS DEBILITY, SYPHILIS, STRICTURE, GLEET, SEMINAL WEAKNESS, PIMPLES, LOST MANHOOD, UNNATURAL DISCHARGES, KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISEASES.
ARE YOU? NERVOUS and despondent; weak or debilitated; tired mornings; no ambition—lifeless; memory poor; easily fatigued; excitable and irritable; eyes sunken, red and blurred; pimples on face; dreams and night losses; restless; haggard looking; weak back, bone pains; hair loose; ulcers; sore throat; varicocele; deposit in urine and drains at stool; distrustful; want of confidence; lack of energy and strength—WE CAN CURE YOU OR ASK NO PAY.
CURES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY—CONFIDENTIAL
SNATCHED FROM THE GRAVE. A Warning from the Living. "At 15 I learned a bad habit. Tried four doctors and nerve tonics by the score without benefit; emissions and drains increased. I became a nervous wreck. A friend who had been cured by Drs. Kennedy & Kergan of a similar disease, advised me to try them. I did so and in two months was positively cured. This was eight years ago. I am now married and have two healthy children."—C. W. LEWIS, Saginaw.
VARICOCELE CURED. "Varicocele made life miserable. I was weak and nervous, eyes sunken, bashful in society, hair thin, no ambition. The 'Golden Monitor' opened my eyes. The New Method Treatment of Drs. Kennedy and Kergan cured me in a few weeks.—I. L. PETERSON, Ionia.
EMISSIONS CURED. J. P. EMERSON relates his experience. "I lived on a farm. At school I learned an early habit, which wrecked me physically, sexually and mentally. Family doctors said I was going into 'decline' (consumption.) Finally 'The Golden Monitor,' edited by Drs. Kennedy & Kergan, fell into my hands. I learned the TRUTH and the CAUSE. Self-abuse had sapped my vitality. I took the New Method Treatment and was cured. My friends think I was cured of consumption. I have sent them many patients, all of whom were cured. Their New Method Treatment supplies vigor, vitality and manhood."
SYPHILIS CURED. "This terrible blood disease was in my system for eight years. Had taken mercury for two years, but the disease returned. Eyes red, pimples and blotches on the skin, ulcers in the mouth and on tongue, bone pains, falling out of hair, weakness, etc. My brother, who had been cured of Gleet and Stricture by Drs. Kennedy and Kergan, recommended them. They cured me in a few weeks, and I thank God I consulted them. No return of the disease in six years."—W. P. M., Jackson.

Although the community was aware that A. K. Waldron was very sick with bronchial pneumonia, the people were shocked to hear of his demise, which occurred at 8 o'clock Monday forenoon. Mr. Waldron was 73 years old and was a very robust man for that age. The deceased had long been identified with the history of this place, having come here from New York in 1835. He purchased the farm, which has ever since been his home, in the following year. In the fall of the same year he was united in marriage to Miss Sarah Gunderman, of his native state. To this union were born six children, all of whom, together with the mother, survive. The funeral was held Wednesday at 2 o'clock, Rev. Varner, of the M. E. church, of which the deceased was a member, officiating. The funeral services were largely attended.

There is a sin prevalent in our households of which we take little note, which, in fact, we encourage either by an indifference to it, or by an active participation in its folly and wickedness: the use of the Word of God for the purpose of making riddles, conundrums, puzzling questions, anagrams, etc., etc., out of it. If we really believe in the Divine origin of the Bible can it be right to give it to children that they may construe its words into odd connections, and make sport and laughter and mental legerdemain from its pages? Is it likely they will reverence on other occasions what has previously been food for their amusement? It is not, and we need not be astonished if the boys and girls who have been permitted to turn the leaves of their Bibles for pastime and entertainment, turn them in after years to find pretext for their infidelity.—Amelia E. Barr in April Ladies' Home Journal.

A series of five public illustrated lectures on Practical Physiology and Hygiene will be given at Sutton's Opera House, beginning next Tuesday evening, April 21, by Dr. B. F. Beardsley, of Hartford, Con. The doctor is giving a series of lectures the present week at Croswell Opera House, Adrian. The lectures and lecturer are highly spoken of by the press and prominent men. The Adrian Times says of the lecture given there last Monday evening: "One of the most instructive lectures of the series was that delivered Monday night by Dr. B. F. Beardsley, at the opera house. There was a large attendance, the audience being chiefly composed of the more prominent people of the city. The lecture, while scientific, was so nicely explained by means of the anatomical museum and charts that it was made simple and easy to be understood by all. The wonderful structure of the eye was shown, hints given as to its care, and warnings as to its abuse."

Reform.

The Adrian Times of Saturday calls attention to the fact that the administration of Prosecuting Attorney Bird has already saved several thousand dollars to the tax payers of this county. The figures of the county treasurer show that the claims for justice's sheriff's deputy sheriff's and constable's fees allowed by the January and March sessions of the board of supervisors in 1895 exceed those of the same sessions this year by $3,000.

This saving has resulted simply by a much needed and straightforward reform in the matter of signing vagrant complaints brought by all sorts of executive officers against professional tramps. Few tax payers, unacquainted with the inside workings of the tramp business, appreciate to what extent the system of arresting, trying, sentencing and boarding professional dead beats has been carried on in this and other counties of the state. Lenawee, at least was formerly a mark for knights of the road, an asylum for vagabonds and a peaceful haven and winter resort for lake men, who sail in the summer, drink up their wages, and then seek the peaceful and well stocked county boarding house. In addition to the saving in money this shrievalty has been relieved during the past winter of a large per cent of its accustomed army of hobos, as many a housewife can thankfully testify.

Of course this plan is a little hard on the constabulary and some of the justices and particularly tough on the hobos but as the tax payers and house holders somewhat outnumber the former, the reform of Prosecutor Bird will meet with the most hearty sanction of the people.

LITERARY NOTES.

Is the expansion of the British Empire fraught with danger to the United States, and hostile to the interests of civilization at large? Is the policy of Great Britain, as "a land-grabber," and as a ruler of alien peoples in all parts of the world, one which must be execrated and opposed by Americans? These questions are considered by Mr. David A. Wells in the North American Review for April, in an article entitled, "Great Britain and the United States: Their True Relations."

The complete novel in the April issue of Lippincott's is "Flotsam," by Owen Hall. The scene shifts from England to India and Australia, following the fortunes of a heroine who through a severe experience at sea loses track of her past life, so that her identity is established only after many months and much difficulty.

"The Vivisectionist," by Carolyn Wells, describes the conduct of a novelist whom no scruples deter in the search for literary material. Lieutenant Thos. H. Wilson, in "Between Reliefs," tells of a not wholly unrighteous revenge.

"On the War-Path with Kit Carson," by William Thomson, is a true story, and so probably is "Dreaming Bob," by Dr. Charles C. Abbott. The incidents of the first occurred on the California trail in 1850, those of the other more recently in New Jersey.

It behooves every citizen in city, town and country to keep posted on the stirring events that will occur in this country and in the Old World within the next nine months. The results will affect all, personally, directly or indirectly. This nation is on the eve of the most exciting presidential campaign in its history, European politics are in a very complicated state, and scientists are applying their discoveries to many lines that will produce startling new things.

To keep abreast with the world one should read, in addition to the local or county paper, a live metropolitan newspaper, such as the Twice-a-Week Republic of St. Louis. It is the most progressive journal in the United States, and in each issue it gives the latest political news of all parties in the field, the latest general news of the world and many valuable special features besides. This model newspaper is delivered twice-a-week by mail for only $1 a year, or less than one cent a copy. The price of the Daily and Sunday Republic has recently been reduced to only $6 a year by mail.

Many people think Cuba's La Fayette will come out of America; and that he will render as much help and encouragement to the distressed but plucky islanders so near our coasts, as did the gallant French Marquis to our forefathers. If you read the impassioned cry of "Cuba to Columbia," in the April number of Every Where, Will Carleton's Newspaper-magazine, you will wonder that some one has not already rushed to the front to fill that honorable place.

The first photograph by cathode rays made in the United States was produced by Prof. John Trowbridge, of Harvard, at the Jefferson Physical Laboratory. His authority in all questions of this kind is pre-eminent, and his exposition of "The New Photography" in this number of Scribner's will be found to be the clearest for the popular mind that has yet found its way into print. His article also contains the first announcement of a very original application of the new photography to surgery—that is, a method of locating the exact position and depth of a bullet by triangulation. The illustrations that accompany the article are startling.

Rontgen rays, as one of the topics of the day, is treated in the April issue of Electric Power by Mr. Max Osterberg. It is a resume of the whole work up to the present time by Rontgen himself, his predecessors and followers. Being intended for the lay reader, all technicalities are avoided. Several other articles of general interest, such as the simple description of batteries, some hints on the management of boilers, etc., are of general interest, while the scholarly articles of Dr. Bedell, Mr. Parker and others are continued.

The April number of The Forum contains eleven timely and noteworthy articles—the results of original research and investigation in different fields of human activity,—by as many distinguished writers. The leading article is a noteworthy paper by Senator Sherman entitled, "Deficiency of Revenue the Cause of our Financial Ills." The Senator contends that the President and Secretary Carlisle mistake the cause of our present financial condition in attributing it to the demand for gold for United States Notes, and he thinks the facts which he submits in his paper will convince every one that the true financial policy is to supply the government with ample means to meet its current expenditures and to pay off each year a portion of the public debt. He criticises the Wilson bill very severely, declares that it has produced a deficiency every hour since its enactment, and attributes our financial ills—especially the continued exports of gold—largely to its workings. He says that he prefers a law that will impartially protect and encourage all home industries, and he considers the McKinley law infinitely better than the Wilson law.

In the April number of The Chautauquan begins "A Loyal Lover," by John Edgeworth, a story of unusual power and fascination. It also contains the fourth paper of Dr. Sydney A. Dunham's practical scientific discussion of "The Air We Breathe." "The Tariff in Legislation" is also treated in a concise yet masterly manner by Prof. F. A. Woodburn, Ph. D.

The March Arena introduced its readers to Prof. J. Heber Smith, M. D., who for many years has held an important chair in the Boston University School of Medicine, the leading Homœopathic Medical College in the United States. In his first paper Dr. Smith discussed the desirability of disposing of infected bodies by Cremation. In the April Arena, this eminent educator and scholarly physician of the Back Bay district of Boston, opens a series of papers on "Man in His Relation to the Solar System," as a proper subject for scientific re-examination. It is needless to say that these papers, coming from the very citadels of two of the most conservative professions is bound to create a sensation. The temperate scientific and scholarly methods employed, greatly add to the interest, while giving peculiar weight to the discussion, which indicates how deeply occultism is taking root in the most cultured minds of our time. Dr. Smith's second paper will appear in the May Arena.

For dressy afternoon functions, gay little coats of china velvet or silk are worn with skirts of black atin, brocade crepon, or other soft wools of contrasting color; and so strong is the favor which these charming coats have won that already they are being copied in batiste, lined of course, with bright taffeta. A coat of lace striped batiste over apple-green taffeta has a full blouse front of embroidered batiste, and a Louis Seize jabot of wide Lierre lace. Waistcoats or blouse-fronts of white satin complete many of the silk and velvet coats, the former being embroidered with spangles or metal braids, or finished on the edges with appliques of guipure or the Honiton lace braids, while the latter are trimmed either with insertions of the rich yellow guipure or veiled with black chiffon. Much of the chiffon used for this purpose is covered with arabesque wrought most effectively with the Honiton lace braids.—From "Review of Fashions," in Demorest's Magazine for April.

The pastor of the Universalist church over at the village of Tecumseh last Sunday evening chose his topic from Caesar's epistle to the Sophomores, "Summum Bonum." It was an Easter service, and the needs of liberal contributions compelled him before he closed to bonum all, some.—Adrian Press.

Major Seymour Howell, of the 1st batallion, made a rather unexpected call on Company C at their drill last Tuesday night. The major took command for a time, and afterward complimented the boys on their attention and proficiency, at the same time giving them some timely pointers and advice.

How about an 1896 bicycle meet? The one of last year was a pronounced success, and reflected credit on our town and our wheelmen as well. This year the interest in cycling matters has much increased as well as the number who use the wheel. This year we have the experience of last to aid us. This year we have plenty of time before us. This year let the wheelmen organize early, in fact, right away, and make arrangements, at least, for a transcendent celebration.

The blaze, which seemed to be only on the outskirts of the corporation last Monday night, was caused by the burning of the old store building in Holloway, together with the barns and sheds on the property. The structure was occupied by Rothfus Bros., whose loss is about $1000, and by Mrs. Rose Palmer and Miss Florence Thompson, milliners, loss about $500. The fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin. Dr. Nixon also had an office in the building and sustained considerable loss. No insurance.

It is doubtless due to carelessness rather than to a spirit of recklessly interfering with the rights of others, that allows some of our wheelmen to monopolize the sidewalks to a considerable extent for coasting and general purposes. Our officials and citizens are very considerate to occasionally step off the sidewalk in deference to some zealous wheelman in very muddy weather. However, this courtesy can hardly be extended when the highway offers an almost perfect track, just to please the fancy of riders. It is hoped our cyclers will all take the road before some one is hurt or the law enforced.

The suit of Chas. Collins vs. John Wiggins was tried before Justice Burridge yesterday. The case was brought to recover drain taxes of Mr. Wiggins, ex-treasurer of Macon, paid on account of the Patterson drain, under protest. There has been much difference of opinion and some trouble over this drain and this is to be a test case to settle the whole matter. A verdict of no cause for action was rendered. The case will be carried to the circuit court. Sumner Collins and W. C. Burridge appeared for the plaintiff and Jno. Bird for the defense.

We dropped into Mrs. M. A. Freeman's this morning to see what a millinery opening was like, and found there a beautiful and tastily arranged variety of everything to make a woman's heart glad this time of year. Its worth going to see anyway, even if you wear last year's hat this season. The opening continues tomorrow.

The San Jose (Cal.) Daily Mercury, of April 4, gives an extended account of the organization in that city of the Society of Wolverines, which is to be composed of Michigan people exclusively. The meeting was held at the parlors of Mr. W. H. Hunt, who is a brother of J. S. Hunt, of this village, and who attended school here some 40 years ago. Michigan people love the memories and associations of their old state, and well they should.

The following notice appears in the Gratiot County Herald of April 15, published at Ithica, Mich.: "A quiet wedding took place at the home of Rev. J. E. Long before a few invited guests, April 7. The contracting parties were Mr. A. T. Dibble, of North Star, and Miss Minnie Coon, of Washington. The groom came from Lenawee about four years ago and is a descendant of one of the pioneers of that county. Miss Coon is the daughter of M. W. Coon, of Washington, and is a graduate of our high school, and has the respect of a large circle of friends. Both are teachers and are well known throughout the county. They will be at home to receive their friends at their farm in North Star after April 20. The Herald extends congratulations."

Robert Aicken, who was a resident of Tecumseh for a number of years, and went to California sixteen years ago, and located at Walnut Creek, was kicked by a horse in such a manner as to cause his death, Friday, March 13, last. The animal was being led by a halter, when he jerked loose and planted both feet with terrific force in Mr. Aicken's abdomen, inflicting injuries that baffled medical skill. He was a man highly respected in the community where he lived. He leaves a wife, but no children to mourn his untimely taking off. Mr. Aicken was a brother of Mrs. John McKirdy and Mr. John Aicken, of Macon. Mr. Aicken had a large acquaintance among our people during his residence in Tecumseh, and all tender the bereaved wife their heartfelt sympathies.

The Maus Entertainers appeared before a Tecumseh audience Wednesday night in a popular concert of music and elocution. The program was carried out as announced in last week's issue. As a player of stringed instruments Mr. Maus has seldom been equalled by any artist appearing in our opera house and his selections were heartily appreciated and encored by the listeners. Ada Waring Maus has peculiar and well trained powers as an elocutionist, her rendition of the "Whistling Regiment" being particularly effective. Although, on account of the many attractions this week, a rather light audience greeted the entertainers, they were highly complimented by those who witnessed the entertainment and have made a favorable impression in Tecumseh. Mr. Maus contemplates giving a number of engagements in this vicinity. The merit of their concerts should certainly assure them most abundant success.

Friday, May 1, has been designated as Arbor Day by Gov. Rich.

S. W. Anderson and John Anderson have been missed from the store this week, on account of sickness.

Miss Youngs, of Marquette, who attends the University, spent the vacation this week as the guest of Miss Mary Haight.

Dickinson Bros. are now well established in their commodious shop on Evans street, and would be pleased to see their friends.

We publish this week a large batch of council proceedings which includes the committees and officers appointed by the new administration.

Nearly the whole fair population of Tecumseh has been astir for the past two days arranging the opera house for the ball tonight. Not a vile man has done a tap, and the hall resembles a fairy bower. Don't miss the concert if you don't dance

The Herald acknowledges the receipt of a beautiful pamphlet, entitled, "Her Aunt's Bequest," descriptive of the summer resorts to be reached by the C. J. & M. Ry. The copy came from the office of T. C. M. Schindler, G. P. A., Toledo, and was executed by the Blade Co., of that city.

Rev. C. A. Fulton surprised his old friends and made many new ones at the Baptist church Tuesday evening. "What will he do" was told in several ways so that a young man could take his choice. Rev. Fulton is an orator of no ordinary ability, being very original in his allusions and illustrations. Should he appear here again he would receive a larger patronage. A reception was given in his honor after the lecture.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which explain to proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

TWELVE FIREMEN ARE HURT.

Members of the Detroit Department Overcome by Smoke.

Detroit, April 12.—Fire Saturday night damaged the five-story storage warehouse owned by the Riverside Storage Warehouse company to the extent of $10,000 and destroyed and damaged the contents upward of $50,000. Twelve firemen who had entered from the front were taken out, overcome by smoke. Eight of these are in the hospitals, and the condition of one, Charles Driscoll, a pipeman, is considered critical. Nearly all the contents were household goods, some of them very valuable. It is believed that the owners in most cases carry individual insurance thereon, but the storage company is not liable for damage to these goods by fire. An extension of the burned building next adjoining escaped injury. The building is well insured. The origin of the fire is not known.

DETROIT MANUFACTURERS.

Their Club Holds Its First Annual Banquet.

Detroit, April 15.—The local manufacturers' club met in first annual banquet in the Russell house Tuesday night. The occasion marks the inauguration of a vigorous forward movement on the part of the manufacturers. Gov. John T. Rich was present and spoke on the subject: "Contract Versus State Account Labor in Our Prisons and Its Relations to Manufacturers Who Employ Free Labor." The banquet was attended by all local foreign consuls, as well as representative citizens of every class and profession. Two hundred manufacturers surrounded the heavily-spread tables. The manufacturers argued for reduced taxation on manufacturing machinery and on goods in process of manufacture.

Young Michigan Woman in Jail.

Clinton, Ia., April 13.—An accomplished young woman was arrested here late Saturday for forgery and obtaining money under false pretenses. She had been going about the city soliciting money on a paper she claimed for a society of Kings' Daughters, and is said to have forged the name of several merchants to give it influence. She secured about $20. She gave the name of Miss Wilson, and said she was trying to get money enough to go to her home in Michigan.

Detroit, April 14.—General Manager Crapo, of the Flint & Pere Marquette railroad, says that the new line of that company between Monroe and Toledo will be completed and in operation by next September, when the Flint & Pere Marquette will resume its through traffic with Ohio and eastern points. An arrangement has been consummated whereby the Wabash and Flint & Pere Marquette railroads will make a short Toledo-Detroit route

Michigan Woman Comes to Grief.

Duluth, Minn., April 11.—Mrs. Samuel D. Smith, of Detroit, Mich., was sentenced to 13 months' hard labor in the penitentiary at Stillwater, Minn., for uttering a forged instrument. Mrs. Smith and her husband succeeded in swindling Mrs. Mae Cameron, also of Detroit, out of $2,500 about a year ago. Mrs. Smith confessed to having collected the money on a certificate of deposit to which her husband forged Mrs. Cameron's name. Smith is still at large.

Girl Badly Burned.

Kalamazoo, April 14.—At St. Augustine's Catholic church, Sunday morning, a large class was receiving the first communion when the veil worn by Miss Eliza McCrory caught fire from a taper. A panic started among the congregation of 2,000 people. A man threw his coat over the girl's head and extinguished the blaze. The girl is dangerously burned.

Stabbed His Sister-in-Law.

Kalamazoo, April 13.—Mrs. Cornelius Linehan received four probably fatal stabs in the back from a knife in the hands of her brother-in-law, Dan Linehan. Her husband is also badly injured. Linehan nearly pounded his mother to death several months ago. He is at large.

AN AWFUL DEED.

S. B. Minshall, of Pentwater, Kills Five and Himself.

His Wife and Three Children and a Neighbor Are the Victims of His Rash and Insane Act.

Pentwater, April 13.—S. B. Minshall, an attorney of this town, made a successful attempt on Thursday night to assassinate William B. O. Sands, president of the Sands & Maxwell Lumber company. After leaving Sands for dead, Minshall went to his home and shot his wife and three children dead and then committed suicide by shooting himself through the head.

Sands had been working in the office of the company and had started home about 9:30 o'clock. When within a few rods of his home a man jumped out from behind a tree and fired at him. Sands broke into a run, the would-be assassin following him closely and firing at his victim every few seconds. Five shots in all were fired, two striking Sands in the arm and one in the leg. As Sands reached his door he fell, and his assailant, probably thinking he had killed him, turned and fled.

Sands Dies of His Wounds.

Sands' cries for help aroused members of his household and a physician was summoned and the police notified. Sands' right arm was so badly shattered it was found necessary to amputate it, and at seven o'clock p. m. Friday he died from the effect of his wounds.

There was no known motive for the attempt on Mr. Sands' life, as he was not known to have an enemy.

The police were unable to unearth a clew to enlist the services of S. B. Minshall, Mr. Sands' attorney. A messenger was sent to his house. Failing to arouse any of the family, he became suspicious that something was wrong and forced an entrance.

An Awful Sight.

In the main room were found the bodies of Mrs. Minshall, Ruby, a 16-year-old daughter and a promising musician, and that of Minshall himself. The murderer had evidently shot his wife first and Ruby, who had been awakened by the report, had come downstairs to investigate. The revolver which her father had turned on her after she entered the room had been held so close to her body that her night dress had caught fire. Her life blood had quenched the flames, however, when she fell to the floor. Minshall then went upstairs and shot his two young boys, George, aged four, and Frank, aged two years. Returning to the lower floor he had placed the revolver to his own head and fired the fifth fatal shot. Minshall had always been considered inoffensive.

Motives of the Crime.

Minshall's pockets were full of cartridges and a letter was found addressed to "A. Williams, Rookery building, Chicago." In it Minshall declares his purpose to kill himself because of his pressing financial difficulties, and hints at his intention to kill Mr. Sands, who, he declares, had taken advantage of him. He asks that his family be provided for if they survive him, although he says it may be better for them if they all die before being reduced to beggary.

He has felt, he says, that the resolution which led pauper fathers to kill their pauper children was Spartanlike, and that no one not so situated could understand the impulse.

In another letter he says that Sands had promised him all the business of the lumber firm, but had lately demanded a third of it as commission and had taken away a half of the insurance policies from which Minshall derived his living.

The coroner's jury rendered a verdict to the effect that Mrs. Minshall, and three children were shot and killed by the father, who afterwards killed himself, and that Minshall also inflicted fatal wounds upon Sands.

Pentwater, April 13.—The funeral of the Minshall family took place Sunday and was attended by thousands. People came to the village by train and other conveyances, anxious to view the remains. Morbid curiosity was not gratified, for the coffins were not opened. According to the laws of the Episcopal church, the regular funeral services cannot be held over a criminal or suicide, but, at the earnest request of relatives, Rev. Mr. Laws, of Grand Rapids, repeated a special combined service for adults and children. At the grave the full Episcopal service was read over the graves of Mrs. Minshall and the three children. Over the grave of Minshall the minister offered a short prayer, commending the soul of the murderer to his Maker for mercy.

Sands' funeral will take place Wednesday morning at 9. A son will arrive at that time from Salt Lake City. Sands leaves a widow and three sons and a fortune of nearly $1,000,000.

DETROIT RACES.

Many Entries and Valuable Prizes for the July Meeting.

Detroit, April 13.—The entries for the special events of the Blue Ribbon meeting of the Detroit Driving club, which will be held on the Grosse Pointe track in July, have just closed, and the number of entries received insures the success of these events and of the meeting. The great Merchants' and Manufacturers' stake, which is guaranteed for its face value of $10,000, has 29 entries, and will be worth from $13,500 to $15,000. The list of entries covers the choicest selections in the 2:24 class trotting in 13 states and the province of Ontario. The new chamber of commerce stake of $5,000 for 2:24 pacers has 21 entries. Of the other special events the 2:25 class trotting has 27, the 2:25 pacing 24 and the 2:20 pacing 13 entries.

Kalamazoo Democrats.

Kalamazoo, April 13.—The democratic county convention elected P. H. Gilkey as delegate at large to the state convention Saturday. Judge I. N. Buck was chosen chairman of the county committee. William G. Knight was chairman of the convention. Resolutions were adopted favoring the immediate restoration of silver to the place it occupied in the currency system prior to its demonetization in 1873. To this end the convention insisted on the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold on equal terms and in ratio of sixteen to one.

Died of Grief.

St. Clair, April 15.—Last fall, while en route from St. Clair to Chicago, Miss Olive Carlton mysteriously disappeared in Detroit. Her body was recovered, but whether she was murdered or committed suicide never has been ascertained. Because of this mysterious death an aged sister, Miss Helen Carlton, of Chicago, lost her mind. She was taken to a retreat, where she died Sunday. Her remains were brought to St. Clair for burial.

Masonic Home in New Hands.

Grand Rapids, April 15.—The board of managers of the Michigan Masonic Home association has reorganized by electing as directors John W. McGrath, Detroit; William Webber, Saginaw; E. L. Bowring, Grand Rapids; G. W. Catton, Flint, and Gen. O. L. Spalding, St. John's. This gave the state a larger representation on the board, instead of confining it to this city. The board is confident that means will be provided for keeping the home open.

Reorganization Necessary.

Detroit, April 13.—C. Perry, secretary and treasurer of the consolidated Grand Trunk system, who was reelected secretary of the Chicago & Grand Trunk railway, says that the high rate of running expenses during an unprofitable year is what made a reorganization of the Grand Trunk necessary. The business last year was disappointing, being a net revenue deficiency of $324,640 or $111,800 more than the deficiency carried forward for 1894.

New Lake and Rail Line.

Muskegon, April 15.—The Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad company has completed arrangements for a boat line of its own between here and Milwaukee, and will put on the steamer Lawrence of Chicago. WHEAT BADLY DAMAGED.

Cold March Winds Also Dry Weather Blighted the Plant.

Lansing, April 12.—The state monthly crop report for April shows that wheat has been injured during March, and without rain and warm weather the further damage will be serious. It says wheat made small growth in the fall, but it had a favorable winter and suffered no injury before March 20. From that date to the end of the month the ground was bare of snow and the usual March freezing and thawing caused the fields to look brown and considerably damaged. Correspondents on April 4, the date of their reports, were not without hope that warm rains would restore the plant to its normal condition, and that it was not permanently injured. Since that date, however, there has been a continuous drought, with cold north and northwest winds. This cannot continue, the report says, much longer without serious damage.

The condition of wheat now is more critical than at any previous time since sowing. The averages of crop correspondents' estimates are as follows, the comparisons being with average years: Southern counties, 84 per cent.; central, 86 per cent.; northern, 92 per cent., and for the state, 86 per cent. In 1895 it was 85 in the state, and in 1894 99 per cent. In March, 1894, the weather was cold and dry, while in 1895 it was unusually warm and moderately wet. The amount of wheat reported marketed in March was 606,118 bushels, and in eight months from August to March 7,313,236 bushels, or 1,347,079 less than in the same months last year.

The average condition of clover meadows and pastures is 68, 73, 88 and 89 in the southern, central and northern counties, and state, respectively. Live stock is in good condition and averages from 90 to 96 per cent. The outlook for fruit is good.

Self Torture! That's what it amounts to, when you attempt to do washing and cleaning, now-a-days, without Pearline. And the strange part of it is, that you should be willing to suffer, when it's only for your loss—not gain.

That needless back-breaking rub, rub, rub isn't saving you anything. It's costing you money. It is simply wearing out the things that you're washing. Why would you rather do it? That is what the women who are saving their strength and their clothes with Pearline can't understand.

NOT A SICK DAY
For Over Thirty Years!
AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was twenty I suffered almost continually—as a result of constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, neuralgia, or boils and other eruptive diseases. When I became convinced that nine-tenths of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills, with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who had been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. With my children I had no doubt that nearly all their ailments were preceded by constipation, and I soon had the pleasure of knowing that with children as with parents, Ayer's Pills, if taken in season, avert all danger of sickness."—H. What They Are Doing at the National Capital.

Important Measures Under Consideration in the Senate and House—Bills and Resolutions Now Pending.

Washington, April 9.—Senator Turpie spoke in the senate yesterday in favor of radical action on Cuba, even to the extent of sending a fleet to Cuban waters. Most of the day was given to the Indian appropriation bill, which was not completed. Unanimous consent was secured for taking up next Thursday, the resolution for a senate inquiry into recent bond issues. A bill was passed granting a pension of $50 monthly to the widow of Maj. Gen. Charles S. Hamilton.

Washington, April 10.—After being in retirement for some weeks the tariff-silver bill was brought forward in the senate yesterday as a text for a speech by Mr. Mantle (Mont.), who urged that unsectional protection should be linked with bimetallism. The naval appropriation bill ($31,279,482) was reported and every pension bill on the calendar (75 in number) was passed.

Washington, April 11.—The main portion of the session of the senate yesterday was taken up by the Indian appropriation bill, the house proposition abolishing the system of contract schools for Indian children giving rise to a long debate. A favorable report was made on the bill providing for a delegate in congress from Alaska. Adjourned to the 13th.

Washington, April 14.—In the senate yesterday a resolution to open the publication of the Patent Office Gazette to general competition was adopted and the bill to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy was reported. The appointment of Gen. Fitz-Hugh Lee as consul general to Havana was received from the president.

Washington, April 15.—A bill was introduced in the senate yesterday to prohibit the transmission of the reports of results on bets or prize fights or races from one state to another, and making such transmission a misdemeanor. Senator Squire spoke on the needs of coast defenses and Senator Chandler spoke in favor of the claim of Dupont, of Delaware, to a seat in the senate.

THE HOUSE.

Bills Introduced and Petitions and Resolutions Presented.

Washington, April 9.—The bill in the house to adopt the metric system of weights and measures was sent to the committee on coinage, weights and measures yesterday for further consideration. The conference report on the agricultural appropriation bill was adopted.

Washington, April 10.—In the house yesterday the District of Columbia appropriation bill was passed and a favorable report was made on the bill for the admission of New Mexico as a state. Mr. Hopkins (Ill.) introduced a reciprocity bill and a resolution was adopted calling on the state department for information regarding Mrs. Maybrick, imprisoned in England.

Washington, April 11. — The house spent nearly the entire time yesterday in general debate on the "filled cheese" bill. The fortifications bill ($11,384,000) was reported, as was also the bill to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors to Indians holding lands by allotments.

Washington, April 13.—After two days' debate the house Saturday, by a vote of 160 to 58, passed the Grosvenor "filled cheese" bill. The democrats voted solidly against the measure, together with 11 republicans. Practically the only amendment adopted was the one reducing the tax on retail dealers from $40, to $12.

[The bill requires the manufacturers of filled cheese to pay a tax of $400 annually, the wholesale dealers $250 and the retail dealers $12 and for failure to pay such tax imposes upon the manufacturers a fine of from $400 to $3,000, upon wholesale dealers from $250 to $1,000, and upon retail dealers from $40 to $200. It also requires the branding of "filled cheese" and its sale only from original packages. The penalty for false branding is a fine of from $50 to $500. The bill requires all retail dealers to post conspicuously a sign "Filled Cheese Sold Here." In addition it imposes a tax of one cent per pound on filled cheese, the tax to be paid by the manufacturer. Imported "filled cheese" is subjected to a duty of eight cents per pound. The act is to go into effect on the 19th day after its passage.]

Washington, April 14. — The house spent the time yesterday transacting business relating to the District of Columbia and several local bills were passed.

Washington, April 15. — Without a dissenting vote the house passed the fortification bill yesterday, making an appropriation of $11,384,000. The Arizona statehood bill was reported favorably.

SALVATION ARMY SPLIT.

[illegible] and Mrs. Booth Tell More of Its Troubles.

New York, April 12.—Commander and Mrs. Ballington Booth gave out a five-column statement Sunday night giving officially some of the reasons for having foresworn allegiance to foreign headquarters. The vital points in the statement are that at international headquarters there had come to be a positive hatred of everything American. Objections were urged by Gen. Booth against the display of the national flag upon badges and in halls and homes. He said the idea had arisen to have carrying the stars and stripes at the head of parades. He objected to the use of the flag upon certain days, and constantly spoke deprecatingly of the country and of its people and its institutions.

The statement says that the attempt was made to annex the army in the United States to that of [illegible] and that, in spite of the protestations of the writers, they were forced to make a partial annexation, and at the present time the army work in Dakota, North Montana and North Washington is governed from Toronto, and it is said that the officers hardly dare to let the citizens of these states know that their money goes to Canadian headquarters.

WET GROUNDS.

Rain Prevents the Harry Wright Memorial Ball Game at Rockford.

Rockford, Ill., April 14.—The rain stopped the most unique game in the history of baseball Monday. Veterans of the sixties, whose names were once household words, met in a contest according to the old rules that gave the pitcher nine balls, made a foul on a bound out, and caused the runner to be called out if he overrun first base. The umpire of the game was H. H. Waldo, 76 years of age, known as the "father of the Forest Citys," which team was organized here in 1865 and played until 1875, being one of the most famous clubs in the country. The game was in honor of Harry Wright, the proceeds going to the erection of a monument to him in Philadelphia. It was made a reunion of the players of the old Forest City team, and a number of players who had been prominent on other teams volunteered their services.

DISEASE GERMS KILLED.

Discovery That the X Ray Is a Deadly Foe of Diphtheria and Cholera.

Chicago, April 14.—Prof. W. P. Pratt and Prof. Hugh Wightman, the electrotherapeutist and the bacteriologist of Bennett Medical college, have practically proved that the Roentgen ray is a deadly foe to diphtheria and cholera. They have put the germs of the most deadly diseases through the test. A week has elapsed. They have been fed and nurtured with the greatest care. They have failed to propagate or spread, proving they are dead or have been stunned. Cholera was the easiest, and appears to have wiped out entirely. Diphtheria has been treated very tenderly and favorably, but after eight days has failed to show the slightest signs of life.

Forty-One Years in Congress.

Washington, April 15.—Senator Morrill, of Vermont, reached the age of 86 years yesterday, and he was in his seat in the senate chamber as active and alert as at any time within the last 25 years. When the session was opened with prayer, the chaplain, Rev. Mr. Milburn, in his invocation, made appropriate allusion to the occasion, and the prayer was ordered to be printed in the record. Twelve years as a representative in congress and 29 years as a senator, Mr. Morrill has served his state in the national legislature 41 years.

Furious Blasts Cause Great Damage in Western States.

In Colorado Buildings Were Wrecked and Some Lives Probably Lost—Texas and Nebraska Also Swept by the Wind.

Cripple Creek, Col., April 13.—The Cripple Creek district was visited by the severest and most destructive blizzard ever known Sunday. An immense amount of damage has been done, and in all probability some lives have been lost in the hills, rumors to that effect being in circulation, and general fear is entertained for the prospectors. A light snow started at 11 o'clock Saturday night and about three in the morning the storm was renewed and the velocity of the wind, which was from the north east, increased and continued to blow at the rate of 60 miles an hour all day. A score or more of buildings in this city were blown down and tents, signs and loose lumber were scattered over town. All the telephone wires out of the camp are down, and no trains arrived or departed Sunday afternoon.

Denver, Col., April 13.—The 1:30 p. m. train over the Florence & Cripple Creek road was stalled between here and Anaconda. One of the suburban trains from Victor is stuck in the snow at Elkton. On the Midland Terminal two passenger trains are blockaded at Gillett.

The Solomon house was scattered all over the block. Mr. Solomon, wife and five children had retired, and it is remarkable that any of them escaped alive.

Dallas, Tex., April 13.—All that part of the state west, southwest and northwest was visited by a severe windstorm Saturday night. The wind came from the west, and in many localities was almost a tornado. At Fort Worth a sash, door and blind factory and the grand stand at the baseball park were wrecked. At Cresson, a small town below Fort Worth, the Fort Worth & Rio Grande railway depot, the Methodist church and nine business houses and residences were demolished.

At Bates, Denton county, the Methodist church was destroyed and other buildings moved from their foundations. Along the line of the Texas Central, from Cisco to Dublin, damage to farmhouses and crops is reported. The wind was followed by a driving rain, which added to the damage.

In Nebraska.

Omaha, Neb., April 13.—The heaviest rainfall in Nebraska the last five years prevailed Saturday and Sunday. In the southern counties a violent windstorm preceded the rain, and considerable damage is reported, but no lives were lost as far as can be ascertained. A dispatch from Red Cloud says a violent gale prevailed and the sky assumed an inky darkness. Many persons rushed to their storm cellars.

Lowney, John Quinlan, Ed Shields, James Dwyer, John McVeigh, Patrick O'Rourke. None of the men, as stated at the mines, were married.

Still Talk of Harrison.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 15.—The republican state committee, the executive committee and the advisory committee—36 representatives of the party—met here Tuesday to consider informally some of the more important questions that will come before the state convention May 7. The position the convention shall take with reference to the presidential nomination was the most important subject discussed. There was a prevailing sentiment among the representatives of the party here that if McKinley fails of nomination on the first or second ballot, Gen. Harrison will be called for.

Administration Indorsed.

Tacoma, Wash., April 15.—The state democratic convention adopted a platform indorsing the present administration of President Cleveland, but differing from it upon the finacial question. The Monroe doctrine was also unqualifiedly indorsed. The free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of sixteen to one was demanded, without waiting for the action of any other nation.

HUSBAND AND WIFE

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cline's Experience and Marvelous Escape.

Life had Become a Burden and She Thought She was Going to Die.

From the Industrial News, Jackson, Mich.

Mrs. C. H. Cline, who lives on the corner of Perrine and Pearl Streets, Jackson, Mich., has for two years been troubled with indigestion and nervous prostration, her heart would apparently stop beating. She would suffer great pain, in fact, she honestly thought she was going to die. Her troubles were brought on by a severe attack of la grippe. Sleep was nearly a stranger to her for all this time, and life had become a burden to her until she was advised by friendly neighbors who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to give them a trial, which she did, and it would be hard to find a more grateful woman in Michigan than Mrs. C. H. Cline, as prominent physicians had given her up, while to-day she is able to do her own work and is as pleasant a little body as one would like to visit. She used three Pink Pills a day only, the last one just before retiring, which always insured her a good night's rest.

Mrs. Cline is only thirty years old and could ill afford to let her life slowly ebb away. It is difficult for one to describe her ailments but we can say to all afflicted that if they will call or write to Mrs. Cline they will not only be thoroughly convinced of the merits of these little friends, for she persists in calling them such, but she will also tell you of her marvelous cure, and we can guarantee that she will convince you that she owes her life today to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which she would not be without for its weight in gold.

This evidence is only a repetition of what all people say who have tried this wonderful remedy. It's as faithful a friend as one could possibly introduce into their household, never failing, always reliable in times of great suffering and danger. Now to show how sincere she was she mentioned that she induced her husband, Mr. C. H. Cline, to try the remedy, everybody around here knows the affable and efficient Charlie who for the last ten years has been in the employ of the Michigan Central Railroad and who was sorely afflicted with excruciating pains in the chest and also with one of the severest attacks of sciatic rheumatism, the most dreaded despoiler of home comforts. In one hour from being struck with one of his spells he would be as helpless as an infant ten days old, to-day Mrs. Cline assures us that now there is not a more able or healthy man standing up in Jackson employed by the Michigan Central Railroad than her husband, who never had another attack of the dreaded and painful disease and one box of the Pink Pills cured him permanently.

STRICKEN AT HIS POST.

The Mishap Which Befel a Fireman on the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R.

From the Press, New York City.

Richard Lambert is one of the most capable firemen on the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad. Though only twenty-one years old, he has earned the confidence of the men over him, and especially of the engineer for whom he fires. This engineer, John Lynch, has had a wide experience on the rail, and his head never fails him in an emergency.

One day last winter Mr. Lambert caught cold after an unusually hard run through the keen, biter cold air, and the next day, when stooping to shovel coal into the furnace, was suddenly taken with severe pains in his back. These pains increased so that work was impossible, and the young fireman had to leave his locomotive and go home. Engineer Lynch had advised his comrade to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, saying he had been entirely cured of a severe illness by them.

At last, when Mr. Lambert was so crippled with pain in his back and sides that he could scarcely drag himself about the house, he asked his mother to buy him some of the pills. This she did. Before the sufferer had taken one box he began to experience relief, and four boxes made him so well that he has worked on his locomotive every day since without once having a return of the pain which made him so great a sufferer.

Mr. Lambert told the story of his cure to a reporter who called at his home No. 555 West Forty-eighth Street, New York, saying he hoped other people would be benefited as he had been by taking Dr. Williams' wonderful medicine. He said he would never lose an opportunity to recommend these pills to his friends.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People cure all diseases arising from a vitiated condition of the blood, such as pale and sallow complexion, general muscular weakness, loss of appetite, depression of spirits, lack of ambition, anæmia, chlorosis or green sickness, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath on slight exertion, coldness of hands or feet, swelling of the feet and limbs, pain in the back, nervous headache, dizziness, loss of memory, feebleness of will, ringing in the ears, early decay, all forms of female weakness, leucorrhœa, tardy or irregular periods, suppression of menses, hysteria, paralysis, locomotor ataxia, rheumatism, sciatica, all diseases resulting from humors in the blood, causing scrofula, swelled glands, fever sores, rickets, hip-joint diseases, hunchback, acquired deformities, decayed bones, chronic erysipelas, catarrh, consumption of the bowels and lungs, and also for invigorating the blood and system when broken down by overwork, worry, disease, excesses and indiscretions of living, recovery from acute diseases, such as fevers, etc., loss of vital powers, spermatorrhœa, early decay, premature old age. These pills are not a purgative medicine. They contain nothing that could injure the most delicate system. They act directly on the blood, supplying to the blood its life-giving qualities by assisting it to absorb oxygen, that great supporter of all organic life. In this way the blood, being supplied with its lacking constituents, becomes rich and red, nourishes the various organs, stimulating them to activity in the performance of their functions, and thus eliminates diseases from the system.

Bright red cheeks, an elastic step, a clear skin and a bright eye denote health; and it is just these results which follow the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Summary of the Daily Proceedings in Congress.

Important Measures Under Consideration in the Senate and House—Bills and Resolutions Passed.

Washington, April 16.—The time in the senate yesterday was occupied in discussing the claim of Mr. Dupont to the vacant seat from the state of Delaware. In executive session the treaty with Great Britain providing for the appointment of a commission for the assessment of the damages growing out of the seizure of vessels engaged in sealing in the Behring sea was ratified.

Washington, April 17.—The resolution for an investigation of recent bond issues was taken up in the senate yesterday and Senator Hill defended Secretary Carlisle and his administration of the treasury against insinuations of irregularity. A favorable report was made on the bill for the reorganization of the army, increasing the force to 30,000 enlisted men.

Washington, April 18.—In the senate yesterday Senator Hill resumed his speech in opposition to the bond resolution and yielded for the introduction of a bill on Pacific railroads which caused a lively debate, during which Senator Allen (Neb.) charged Senator Gear (Ia.) with lying. Adjourned to Monday.

Washington, April 21.—The senate spent most of the time yesterday talking about claims for $250,000 made by agents and attorneys of the Cherokee Indians, of the Indian territory. The joint resolution for the appointment of Gen. Franklin, Representative Steele, Gen. Beale and Gen. Henderson as members of the board of managers of the National Soldiers' home was adopted.

Washington, April 22.—The Indian appropriation bill occupied the attention of the senate during the greater part of the session yesterday and the Indian school question caused a lively debate.

THE HOUSE.

Bills Introduced and Petitions and Resolutions Presented.

Washington, April 16.—In the house yesterday a joint resolution providing for the election of Gen. Franklin as a member of the board of managers of the National soldiers' home was discussed, but no action was taken.

Washington, April 17.—In the house yesterday the fight against the reelection of Gen. W. B. Franklin as a member of the board of managers of the national soldiers' home resulted in the defeat of those who opposed him.

Washington, April 18.—The contested election case in the house from the Sixteenth congressional district of Illinois resulted yesterday in favor of Mr. Rinaker, the republican. A bill was introduced to increase the internal revenue tax on cigarettes from 50 cents per 1,000 under the present law to $50 per 1,000. A bill to pay war claims caused much discussion but no results.

Washington, April 20.—The general deficiency bill ($4,791,340), the last of the regular appropriation bills for this session, was reported to the house on Saturday. Several bills to donate condemned cannon to G. A. R. posts were passed and tributes were paid to the memory of the late Representative Cogswell, of Massachusetts.

Washington, April 21.—After passing a few private bills the house spent the remainder of the session yesterday in the consideration of the general deficiency bill—the last of the general appropriation bills. A bill was introduced to restrict the sale of drugged beer.

Washington, April 22.—In the house yesterday Mr. Skinner (N. C.) introduced a bill which provides for the submitting to a vote of the people of the question whether congress shall pass a free coinage bill, and submit a constitutional amendment providing for the election of president and vice president by direct vote of the people.

Killed by Falling Rock.

Scranton, Pa., April 20.—Falling rock in the Eddy creek shaft at Olymphant about 11:30 o'clock Saturday killed four men. The victims are Ralph and James Abbott, brothers, who lived at Throop; John McHale, of Olymphant, and William Harvey, of Priceburg. The men were known as rock miners, and were driving a tunnel from one part of the mine when a rock fell and killed them.

Slain by Thieves.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 20. — Leo Hirth, a well-known and wealthy German citizen, living at 1020 West Washington street, where he conducted a large grocery business, was instantly killed at two o'clock Sunday morning by two masked men who were discovered in his bedroom, and whom he pursued into the rear of the house.

For National Arbitration.

Washington, April 22.—Members of the New York Bar association yesterday presented to President Cleveland a memorial adopted by that body recommending the creation of a national court of arbitration.

On the Brink of Revolution.

London, April 20.—It is said that Spain is on the brink of a revolution, the recent election fraud inaugurated in the government's favor having increased the number of malcontents immensely.

GROWING WEATHER.

Warmth and Abundant Moisture Pushing Crops Forward.

Chicago, April 22.—The reports as to the condition of the crops throughout the country, and the general effect of the weather on the cultivation and growth of the same, were Tuesday made by the directors of the several climate and crop sections. The reports received at Chicago were as follows:

Ohio—Excessively warm sunshiny windy and dry week, except in northern portion where rainfall was about normal. Conditions were very favorable for plowing and planting. All vegetation is improved. Apples, apricots, cherries, pears, peaches and plums are blooming.

Michigan — Abnormally high temperatures and plentiful showers have rapidly advanced all vegetation and farm work. Winter wheat, rye and grass are doing finely; plowing and oat and grass seeding in progress. Early potato planting has just begun.

Indiana—Warm weather has rapidly improved all growing crops; but few showers fell and rain is much needed. Wheat, barley, rye, clover and grass have advanced rapidly; oats nearly all sown; tobacco plants coming on well in Switzerland county. Fruit is in bloom. Plowing for corn continues.

Illinois—A hot week with showers at the beginning and ending has caused remarkable advance in all vegetation. Winter wheat, rye and grasses are greatly improved and are doing finely; grasses afford pasturage. Oats are coming up, gardens and potatoes are planted, also some corn, but preparation of corn land is general. Fruits are laden with blossoms.

Wisconsin—Warm weather and abundant rainfall has been very favorable for the rapid advancement of all crops. Wheat is greatly improved, especially in localities where it was thought to have been entirely winter killed. Oats are all sown, and work well advanced in southern section. Little plowing has been done in the central and northern sections.

Iowa—High temperature and abundant moisture have pushed vegetation rapidly and the season is now as early as usual. Grass and small grains are making a fine stand; winter wheat generally promising. Plowing for corn well advanced and planting will begin soon.

Minnesota—Warmer than usual in south portion and cooler in north portion, with excessive rainfall; seeding well advanced in south portion, but not begun in extreme north. The soil is very wet and drying weather is needed. Grass, winter and early sown grains are started nicely; fruit trees wintered well.

FLOODS IN QUEBEC.

They Cause Loss of Life, Ruin to Property and Great Distress.

Quebec, Can., April 22.—News from Beauce county brings a pitiful story of fearful damage done there by floods At St. Marie farmers are removing their belongings to the hills. At St. George five men were drowned, and there has been heavy loss of property and live stock. The loss of property in the counties of Beauce, Megantic, Compton and Dorchester will reach a million dollars. Maple sugar crops which yield $400,000 yearly, are ruined. The ice bridge over the St. Lawrence at Quebec remains solid, the only change being that vehicles now cross on wheels instead of runners.

KILLED HIS SISTER.

After Committing an Awful Murder an Iowan Attempts Suicide.

Shenandoah, Ia., April 22.—E. A. Jaggers, manager of the M. C. Johnson furniture and undertaking establishment, shot and instantly killed his sister, Mrs. M. C. Johnson, Monday night, and then turned the weapon upon his own head and sent a bullet crashing through his brain. Jaggers and his sister lived alone, and there was no one about the house to interfere to prevent the tragedy. Jaggers is still living, but cannot survive.

No motive for the deed is known, and it is supposed that Jaggers was insane.

Fell Seven Stories.

Chicago, April 20.—The first death from the skyscraper Great Northern theater and hotel addition now being built, occurred Saturday, when Fred Smith, an expert structural iron worker, lost his balance while on a narrow scaffolding and fell from the seventh floor to instant death. His fellow-workmen saw him with outstretched arms strike girder after girder, after crying once for help, but were powerless to lend a hand.

Cuban Prisoners to Be Shot.

Havana, April 21.—Prisoners of war are condemned to death as incendiaries without proof of actual guilt. Evidence that a rebel soldier belonged to a column of the enemy which burned property is sufficient to insure his death. A prisoner's conviction depends on whether he joined the offending band before or after the incendiarism occurred. It is said that nearly 100 prisoners will be shot as incendiaries within a few days.

Nine Fishermen Drowned.

New Bedford, Mass., April 20.—The fishing schooner J. W. Campbell, of Gloucester, went down in a squall back of Long Island, and nine of the ablest seamen from that port lost their lives. The vessel was bound to the Capes of Delaware for mackerel.

Sudden Death of a Banker.

Bloomington, Ill., April 20.—J. Thornton Snell died very suddenly at his home in this city Saturday from heart disease. He was aged 55 years and leaves a widow and one son and one daughter. He was engaged in banking at Clinton, Ill., and was worth a quarter of a million or more.

A Fatal Explosion.

Niehart, Mont., April 20.—An explosion occurred in the Broadwater mine by which seven men lost their lives and six others were seriously hurt. The accident took place in the magazine used for thawing powder.

TORNADO IN OHIO.

Several Lives Lost and Great Damage Done to Property.

Houses and Barns Demolished and Live Stock Killed—Wonderful Experience of a Baby—Many Persons Badly Injured.

Fremont, O., April 21.—About three o'clock Monday afternoon a terrific windstorm accompanied by a heavy downpouring of rain was seen approaching this city from a southwesterly direction. Just as it appeared to be ready to strike this city the cyclone swerved around to the west, then north in a semi-circular direction, carrying all before it. The path traversed was about one-half mile wide and about three miles northwest of this city. The tail end struck here but did no particular damage. But in the main path of the storm disaster resulted.

Two Killed.

Shortly after the passage of the storm news was brought to town of a terrible calamity by those who had been sent to gain aid and succor. When the party of physicians, reporters and others reached the scene a horrible view of ruin and injury was presented. Valuable timber lands were laid low, here and there a solitary tree remaining standing as a mute witness of the catastrophe. Farm residences, buildings, etc., were demolished; fences scattered, live stock killed, and worst of all, dead and injured people were scattered about the strip of wasted land, giving to the whole a resemblance to a battlefield. The home of W. L. Greene, a well-to-do farmer, was crushed like an eggshell. Greene was found lying mangled and dead some distance from the house. His son James, residence near by, met a like fate

Mrs. James Greene was badly injured and will probably not recover. Her infant child was peacefully sleeping in a cradle when the house was struck. The cradle and its occupant were picked up like a feather and carried quite a distance in an adjoining field. When discovered the cradle was smashed, but the babe was unharmed.

Another Fatality.

At the farm of Amos Hetrick, John Low and Hetrick were shearing sheep in a barn. The barn was leveled to the ground. Low was blown out of the barn across a 40-acre field against a tree and was instantly killed. Hetrick escaped with light injuries. A young child of Charles Tucker was badly injured by flying pieces of timber. Abraham Fought, a farmer, was struck and an arm and leg were broken. Ruins, scattered far and wide, are all that are now left of what were a few hours ago many ideal country houses and farms.

Schoolhouses Unroofed.

Fostoria, O., April 21.—A cyclone passed over the country northwest of this city Monday afternoon, destroying hundreds of gas and oil derricks and a large amount of other property. The roof of the Hatfield brick schoolhouse, three miles northwest of the city, was blown off and the gable ends fell in, while school was in session, breaking the arm of the teacher, Miss Belle Norris, a daughter of Representative Norris. She was quite badly hurt by being struck by a rafter. Several children were injured.

Later Reports.

Alliance, O., April 22.—Mrs. Edward Miller, wife of a farmer, went to the pasture after the cows before Monday's storm and did not return. Her dead body was found after the storm. It was supposed she died from fright affecting her heart.

Toledo, O., April 22.—Reports from the Sandusky county cyclone show that it was more disastrous than it was first said to be. At least five more persons are fatally injured. A Mrs. Schorf and her child was found Tuesday morning after having laid out all night wet to the skin. They were blown out of a buggy and will die. Wilson Brand, of Booktown, and Hiram Hendricks of Muscalonge, are two others fatally hurt. Hendricks had both arms and legs broken. Edward Logue, of Booktown, was crushed under a falling barn. The loss to property is estimated at $200,000.

Will Continue the Struggle.

New York, April 23.—Senor Palma, delegate of the republic of Cuba to the United States, has issued a lengthy manifesto regarding the supposed administrative reforms to be introduced in Cuba by Spain. The "reforms" he declares do not concern those who have already established an independent government in Cuba and have resolved to shrink from no sacrifice of property or life in order to emancipate the whole island from the Spanish yoke.

Murderers Given a Respite.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 21.—Frank Harris and Foster Pollard, the Kansas City murderers, were granted a further stay of execution by the governor on Monday morning, until Friday, May 15, 1896. The time is extended in order to give the governor time to examine the application for commutation.

The "Lily Whites."

Houston, Tex. April 21.—The reform republicans (lily-white) held their state convention in this city and elected unpledged delegates to the national convention. The platform favors bimetallism and the immediate calling of an international monetary and reciprocity conference.

MORE ELECTIONS.

Illinois Cities and Towns Vote on the License Question.

Chicago, April 22.—Municipal elections were held in many Illinois cities yesterday. Party lines were in many instances ignored and the fight made solely on the question of license or no license. The results on the liquor question are as follows:

For license—Assumption, Athens, Apple River, Ashland, Arcola, Aurora, Bement, Barry, Crystal Lake, Canton, Champaign, Chandlersville, Cary, DeKalb, DeWitt, Elizabeth, El Paso, Exeter, Farmer City, Fairbury, Flora, Fremont, Greenview, Hillsboro, Harvard, Jewett, Jonesboro, Keithsburg, Kenney, Keyesport, Lexington, Livingston, Marcia, McLeansboro, Marshall, Mason City, Montrose, Monmouth, Mount Carroll, Monticello, Marseilles, Naples, Nunda, North Chicago, Oregon, Piano, Pontiac, Princeton Rochelle, Rock Falls, Robinson, St. Marie, Shawneetown, Scales Mound, Saylor Springs, Stockton, Shelbyville, Tallula Tiskilwa, Tolono, Vandalia, Virginia, Warren, Weldon, Wenona, Woodstock, Wyanet.

LETTERS MADE PUBLIC.

Correspondence on the Salvation Army Split Given Out.

New York, April 21.—Commissioner Booth-Tucker, of the Salvation Army, and his wife made public Mr. and Mrs. Ballington Booth's letter of resignation, bearing date of January 31, Bramwell Booth's reply as chief of staff, dated February 15, and Gen. William Booth's letter to Ballington Booth, written in London March 13. The correspondence is very voluminous and would fill many newspaper columns. The letter of the Ballington Booths declares that they have lost confidence in Gen. Booth, and there are other reasons why it is impossible for them to take another command without violating their convictions. The correspondence sheds little new light on the subject. Gen. Booth's letter is full of expressions of affection and entreaties for further negotiations.

CUBANS MASSACRED.

Spaniards Shoot Them Down While Unarmed—Twelve Killed.

Key West, Fla., April 20.—In the suburbs of Havana on Thursday night one of the most cruel massacres of the war was perpetrated by the Spaniards. According to advices received here 12 unarmed Cubans were shot and 11 were wounded. The massacre occurred on Los Pinos farm on the outskirts of Havana. About 60 Cubans were holding a secret meeting on Thursday night in the farmhouse. A Spanish woman informed the authorities, who sent a detachment of troops to raid the place. The troops surrounded the house and ordered the Cubans to come out. As the unarmed men appeared the Spaniards fired, killing 12 outright and wounding 11. Fifteen were captured and the others escaped.

The workman often eats his lunch on the same bench where he does his work. The office man turns his desk into a dining table. Neither gets the out of door exercise he needs, neither takes the proper time for eating. It is small wonder that the digestion of both gets out of order. In such cases Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets come to their assistance by aiding nature in taking care of the food. The cause of nine-tenths of the sickness of the world is constipation. From this one cause come indigestion, disorders of the stomach, liver and kidneys; biliousness, headaches, flatulence, heartburn, impurity of the blood and the serious complications which follow. To begin with, constipation is a little thing, and a little thing will cure it. The Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated granules. They will perfectly cure the worst cases of constipation and indigestion. If the druggist tries to sell you some other pill that pays him greater profit, just think of what will best pay you. 1w

Some Natural Curiosities and an Ostrich Farm.

Next day we visited the Golgotha, or "Place of Skulls," about two miles from Koloa and almost north of the village. This is a great sandy beach on which, according to Professor Alexander, the acknowledged authority on Hawaiian history, a severe battle was fought in the fourteenth century. The beach is strewn with human bones, and many perfect skeletons have been taken from the sands. With the aid of Dr. Goodhue, I was enabled to discover one of the skeletons, and dug out a skull with all the parts perfect. The remainder of the skeleton I turned over to Dr. Crane. Though this skull has lain in the sands five hundred years it was perfect, except that the teeth were gone. It was the cranium of a large man, and in places quite thin. He had had a blow on the top of his head during his life, for there was an indentation in the skull which was strongly suggestive of trepanning. Two skeletons were exhumed by our party that day. The next day we were to start for the Hanapepe Falls.

Our road led over a beautiful country. We crossed the Lawai and Kalahao valleys, and at about eleven o'clock reached the Hanapepe valley, following it for five or six miles, when we came to the end of the carriage road. Our party, consisting of Dr. Goodhue and wife, Dr. Crane, Mr. J. K. Farley, myself, and two servants, then mounted horses and started up one of the most picturesque valleys it has ever been my pleasure to see. The path wound along the bottom of the valley, crossing the stream a number of times. The water, in places, came quite to the saddle girths, the bottom covered with stones slippery and dangerous to all horses not very sure-footed. On either side rose perpendicular bluffs to the height of several hundred feet.

The scenery along the valley, like all scenery in Hawaii, is picturesque and varied, constantly changing like the views of a kaleidoscope. The rugged hills and cliffs are ever changing in form, and adding new beauty to the scene. Mr. Farley, who was posted in the traditions of the country, pointed out the Devil's Slide on Koalalanui to us. According to tradition here lived one of the great gods or devils of the ancient Hawaiians. He had a sled on which he used to coast down the steep mountain side, at the only place possible for such a feat. Though the natives never knew what snow was, coasting was a popular sport. A place was prepared for the chiefs to coast down, and a short, slippery grass allowed to grow over it. This demon or god, for he is called both, used to glide down at night, commit depredations, and then return to his stronghold.

We reached the Henapene Falls at noon. The water rushes over a precipice about three hundred feet high, and falls into a great basin worn in the rocks below. The scene is sublime and inspiring. Miniature rainbows may be seen on the fine spray cast off from the dashing waters. The whole is enclosed by precipitous cliffs clothed with dark green moss. The shadows of the rock overhang the clear, cold pool of water which lies beneath. From this pool the plantation flume starts, carrying the water at a fall of only one foot to the thousand, to irrigate the valley below.

Among the most beautiful scenery in Kauai is the valley of Houalei, which we visited two days later. The journey was one continuous picnic. It was made by the same party in carriage and on horseback. The crossing of the ferry at Houalei was made all the more romantic by the tradition that our ferryman had been a Chinese pirate; he certainly looked enough like one.

One of the wonders of Kauai is the mirage. This wonderful optical delusion will occasionally greet the traveler three miles beyond Waiwea. The sandy tract that stretches along the road seems transformed into a lake of water, where the images of cattle are reflected as they appear to feed upon submerged vegetation, while the trunks of trees seem to rise out of the water. The natives have a tradition that at certain seasons, just before dawn, the old giant, Kamalimaloa, once a powerful chief of Maua, is seen rising from the ground, armed with his spear, and with his helmet on his head.

Another natural curiosity is the Barking Sands of Maua. A long line of low sand hills is thrown up along the beach, and as the traveler walks over these mounds, or strikes the sand, a growling, barking sound is produced. This sound seems to be a property peculiar to these sands. They only bark when dry, and if a large quantity is removed and put in a bag, the same barking will be produced by letting the sand suddenly fall from one end of the bag to the other. I witnessed an exhibition of this at the home of Mr. Turner, the manager of the ostrich farm.

The ostrich farm is situated on a sandy beach about three miles from Koloa, shut in on all sides, save one, by mountain ranges. On that side is the ocean. Accompanied by Dr. Crane, mounted on spirited horses and attended by a Portuguese guide, I set out, January 17, for the farm. We reached it in time for lunch. Mr. Turner, the manager, showed us about the place and told us of the habits of the ostrich. According to Mr. Turner this giant bird has very little sense. He never looks to step over or crawl under a fence, but will fall over it. "He is such a fool," said the manager, "that if the fence around his paddock was removed, he would be three days in making the discovery, and then he would fall over the path."

Mr. Turner says the old theory that the sun hatches the eggs of an ostrich is absurd. The ostrich is a faithful setter. The females sit by day and the males by night. They lay three times during the year, fifteen or sixteen eggs at a time. A bird has been known to yield two hundred dollars' worth of feathers at a single plucking, and they are plucked every seven months.

Ostriches may not be one of the wonders of Kauai, but they bid fair to become one of the industries of the Hawaiian Islands.

ONE MAN'S SUFFERING.

The Trials and Tribulations of a Battle Creek Citizen—How He Comes to Tell This Story.

(From the Battle Creek Moon.)

Among the moulders at the works of the Michigan foundry company can be found Mr. Amos Maynard; he has lived in Battle Creek for over ten years is honored and respected by all who know him; such is the man who makes this statement, he says: "I have had kidney trouble for years, and it has made my life miserable. The heavy lifting necessary in my business, made me worse. I have been compelled to lie in bed in a helpless condition for as long as nine days at a time; the greatest pain was from my back, which sometimes felt as though a bullet was being run through me in the region of my kidneys; many citizens of Battle Creek knew how bad I was. I could not move without the greatest caution, for as soon as I attempted to stoop over, bend to one side, or even turn in bed, the pain was simply unbearable. I wore porous plasters constantly for the little temporary relief they brought me. Whenever I caught the slightest cold it went straight to my kidneys and made me worse. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and got some. I have taken in all four boxes of them, and I now feel as active as ever. A few months ago I would have ridiculed the idea of being cured so quickly, and being able to work as I can now. All the long-standing pains are gone, and the former traces of kidney disorders found in my urine have disappeared. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to many friends who were troubled as I was, and in every case I have learned they proved as beneficial as with me. Doan's Kidney Pills would be cheap to me at almost any price."

Mrs. J. P. Bell, Ossawatomie, Kan. wife of the editor of The Graphic, the leading local paper of Miami county, writes "I was troubled with heart disease for six years, severe palpitations, shortness of breath, together with such extreme nervousness, that, at times I would walk the floor nearly all night. We consulted the best medical talent. They said there was no help for me, that I had organic disease of the heart for which there was no remedy. I had read your advertisement in The Graphic and a year ago, as a last resort, tried one bottle of Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart, which convinced me that there was true merit in it. I took three bottles each of the Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine and It completely cured me. I sleep well at night, my heart beats regularly and I have no more smothering spells. I wish to say to all who are suffering as I did; there's relief untold for them if they will only give your remedies just one trial."

Dr. Miles Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1, 6 bottles for $5, or it will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Weak

Worn out, nervous women, receive criticism where they should have sympathy. They cannot help being nervous, if their blood is impure.

When the blood fails to feed the nerves upon proper nourishment what can you expect but nervous prostration, debility and nervous headaches?

If the cause is found in impure blood, the cure must be in making the blood pure. This is just what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, and it has proved the true nerve tonic because it is the true blood purifier, and the solace, comfort and defender of thousands of housewives, teachers, clerks and other sufferers of both sexes. Just read this letter:

"I think it is my duty to tell what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me and my family. Two years ago I was in a weak, nervous condition and had dreadful palpitations or jumping of my heart, followed by sinking spells, which would last for several minutes. Sometimes it would seem as though I would never come out of them. I was treated by the best physicians, but only for a little time did they help me. I seemed to be growing worse instead of better. I would often seem hungry, but when I ate, no matter how little, it would cause me such misery that I was often wicked enough to wish myself dead. I had that languid, all-gone feeling and suffered awful distress in my stomach. I had given up all hopes of ever being well, when my mother wished me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I consented, to please her, and before I had taken the whole of one bottle I could see I was improving, and soon was indeed very much better. Its effects have been truly wonderful and I hope this letter may be the means of helping other suffering men and to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and be benefited by it. We have used Hood's Pills in our family and find them very excellent, especially for constipation. We give Hood's medicines great praise, and if anyone complains of feeling badly, I say 'You should take Hood's and only Hood's.'" MRS. KITTIE SMITH, 326 Dane Street, Waterloo, Iowa. Remember that

Tired

Women

OBITUARY.

Charlotte Ball was born March 9, 1818, in the state of New York, county of Seneca, town of Romulus. She was married to Cornelius Hoagland at Cayuga, N. Y., August 1, 1841, and with him came to Michigan in 1845 and located in a log house that stood on the turnpike about where Will Britton's house now stands. After living there a couple of years they moved onto the farm where she died, which was an entire wilderness at that time, and resided there until her death. The deceased buried her husband three years ago last November, and later one daughter, Julia Ann Patterson. She was always a devoted mother and a true neighbor, and her example is worthy of imitation by all. She leaves to mourn her loss two sons, W. H. and Ernest C. Hoagland, and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Beals, of Tecumseh, and Mrs. Warren Craft, of Manton, Mich., who were all present at the time of her death, April 17, 1896.

If asked the question "Have you got a stomach?" it would be safe on general principles to answer "Yes." But, if you are sure of it; that is, if you ever feel any distress after eating or any pains of whateyer description in the region of the stomach, you have got something more than an ordinary stomach; in other words, you have got a diseased stomach. The stomach is a powerful muscle, and the proper remedy for a tired muscle is rest. Experiments show that incandescent lamps increase in effectiveness during the first 80 or 100 hours of use, after which the light slowly fails.

Doctors Disagree as to the Cause and Treatment of Catarrh.

Nearly everyone has their head choked up, more or less, with catarrh in some form. Every physician has his own method of treating this disease. Dr. Strathmore says that the profession is singularly unsuccessful in the treatment of catarrh. He claims camphor is one of the best remedies for inflamation, such as catarrh, cold in the head, etc., and says that he prescribes Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm as it is the only preparation that contains camphor in large quantities and he has found it singularly successful in the treatment of the disease. He long ago consigned his douches and other instruments to the attic as he considers their use injurious. Mrs. Alfred Arnold, of Startle, Jefferson Co., Ohio, writes that she had catarrh for eighteen years and tried many remedies but nothing ever helped me like Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm. My head is clear and my catarrh is gone." A small sample may be obtained by sending 2 ct. stamp to Pretzinger Bros., Chemists, Dayton, Ohio. 1w

THE DOCTOR'S BILL

PARALYZING, but unnecessary. You don't have to run for a Doctor whenever you feel a little out of sorts. A few doses of Dr. F. FRENCH'S UNEQUALED BLOOD PURIFIER AND RHEUMATIC REMEDY, will make you feel all right and save you a lot of money. Some people have found this out, and this is what they say about it.

E. B. DOWNING, Grand Rapids, Mich.

J. FREE SMITH, Lansing, Mich.
"Doctors called it Bright's Disease in its early stage. One bottle of Dr. F. French's Unequaled Blood Purifier and Rheumatic Remedy removed all symptoms of the disease—have felt nothing of it since."

Mrs. DIANA RIGGS, Hillsdale, Mich.
"Was sick for four years with enlargement of the Liver and Spleen, and General Prostration of the Nervous System; was attended by two of the best Doctors in the town and used no end of Patent Medicines, all who saw me thought there was no relief except by death, which seemed sure. A friend recommended Dr. F. French's Unequaled Blood Purifier and Rheumatic Remedy; in less than a week after I commenced taking it I was better. Six bottles cured me. You are welcome to use my name and this statement, and also refer anyone to me either personally or by mail, and I will tell them much more than I can write."

We have many more letters to the same effect.

This preparation is in no way to be classed among the many worthless Patent Medicines of the day, being simply a Prescription used by Dr. F. French, of Hillsdale, for many years in his practice. It is offered to the public with the full assurance of its being the Best Medicine on Earth for the cure of Rheumatism in all its various forms. Affections of the Stomach, Liver or Kidneys, Scrofula-Eruptions, and Cutaneous Diseases, Female Weakness, and all complaints arising from an Impure Condition of the Blood.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., April, 17 '96.

President Cleveland and every member of his administration are quite as anxious that Congress should hurry up with the appropriation bills and then adjourn as are the friends of Speaker Reed and Senator Allison. Yet many have doubts about adjournment being as early as now predicted. There is no trouble about the House. It is thoroughly under Speaker Reed's control and will adjourn whenever he says the word. But the Senate is under control of neither man nor party, and if half a dozen Senators should take a notion to delay adjournment they can very easily do so for an indefinite period. That is why the Reed and Allison people were so badly frightened by a rumor that a combine of Senators had been formed to prevent adjournment until after all the national conventions had been held. No such combine has yet been formed, but there is nothing to prevent it, if Senators are so disposed. That is why the date of adjournment will not be certain until the joint resolution setting a date shall have been adopted by both House and Senate.

The Republican Presidential situation is unchanged. The McKinley men are making the most noise, but they are not so confident as they appear to be, or else they would not be constantly trying to stampede the opposition by starting stories about having received prominent recruits from his opponents. The opinion of the inexperienced is about unanimous that McKinley will get the nomination, but the old politicians, whether for or against him, doubt it very much. Those opposed to him cite long lists of precedents showing that the man who leads but does not have enough votes to win on the first ballot rarely wins. But the McKinley men insist that he will have enough to win on the first ballot. There is no question about most of the democrats wanting McKinley to win; they regard him as a weak candidate, and for that reason they are helping his boom all they can.

Although the House committee on Territories has followed the example of the Senate committee and ordered that the bills for the admission of New Mexico and Arizona as States be reported, one doesn't have to be the seventh son of a seventh son to predict that neither bill will become a law at this session of Congress. Whether it is right or wrong to keep these territories out of Statehood cuts no figure in the matter at all. The anti-silver people have made up their minds that no more silver Senators shall be provided for, and while the Senate, which is dominated by silver men, may pass both bills, neither can get through the House, which is dominated by anti-silver men. But even if the bills could get through both branches of Congress they would be promptly vetoed by President Cleveland, the bitterest anti-silver man of them all.

Notwithstanding the statement of Representative Bingham, in presenting a conference report on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, crediting the Senate amendments which the House conferees had declined to agree to, that the average cost of employes of the House for each member was $939 a year, against an average cost of Senate employes for each Senator $4,483, the House agreed to amendments providing for an addition of thirty-eight clerks, to Senators and chairmen of committees, and to an increase in the pay of all Senator's clerks from $1,200 to $1,500 a year. And now, the clerks to members of the House are only paid $100 a month while Congress is actually in session. This illustrates the truth of the adage:—"Demand deferance and you'll get it." Certainly the Senate invariably gets what it demands from the House.

Other democrats are charging that the National Association of democratic Clubs, which a Virginia man calls "an association of a few democratic clubs," is merely the tail to the Cleveland single standard gold kite. The executive committee of this association held a meeting in Washington this week and named St. Louis as the place, and September 30th, next, as the time for holding the national convention of the association.

The long string of World's Fair queries was recalled by a petition this week sent to the Senate by ex-Senator Palmer who was president of the exposition, asking the passage of a resolution to compel Mrs. Potter Palmer, president of the Board of Lady Managers; Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith, another member of that board; Pres. Higginbotham, of the Chicago board of managers; George R. Davis, Director General, and other officials of the exposition, to make their reports to him, as he claims the law directs. He says Davis made his report to Congress, Mrs. Palmer to the President, and that the others have made no reports. It is fortunate that President Palmer is an ex-Senator; otherwise his tempest in a teapot would receive little attention from Congress. It is not certain that it will get much, anyway.

The Leap Year Party.

It has been the general opinion of society people in Tecumseh for some time that the only possible way that the old time success and prestage which signalized our former Christmas and May parties could be restored to our festivities of this nature was for the ladies of our town to take hold of the matter and run it themselves. In fact, the gentry had been sure of this and had tacitly consented to calmly wait for leap year to bring about a legitimate opportunity for the fair ones to act.

The time came and they acted—acted as the ladies of Tecumseh always do under such circumstances, and their success was assured from the start. Though the decorations of the opera house was not as extensive as on some former occasions of similar character, they were arranged with fair hands and artistic skill in effect most pleasing. The entire affair was conceived by the ladies, managed by the ladies, and the work was done by the ladies.

The music for the occasion was furnished by Jackson's orchestra, of Adrian. Their concert numbers were well received by the audience in the gallery, while their dance music was voted as most excellent by those who participated in the giddy mazes.

A well appointed banquet served as a most satisfactory adjunct to the entertainment of the evening. But perhaps the most pleasing instance of the whole ball, and the one most gratifying to the fortunate gentlemen in attendance, was the impartial gallantry and courteous condescension of the lady escorts. The various offices of entertainers were performed by them with such affability, ease and grace as to set a shining example to the objects of their attention.

As to the toilets, we will only say that they were never excelled, and leave the details to those who were or should have been spectators of this brilliant event. The affair was a success financially as well as socially. 55 couples participating, with a fair gallery of spectators. The guests from abroad were as follows: The Misses Ellenore and Bertha Lehn and Mamie and Lizzie Farrel, Fred Burtless, Fred Freeman and August Nisle, of Manchester; Misses Edna Warren and Lucy Bliven and Harry Capman, of Blissfield; Miss Katherine Dillon, Messrs. Dr. Gibson, Harry Cook and W. C. Burridge, of Adrian; Miss Younge, of Ann Arbor; Miss Branch and Messrs. Wells and Soule, of Hillsdale.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father, in His infinite wisdom, has seen fit to call to his reward Mr. A. K. Waldron, an active and devoted member of the Tecumseh and Franklin Farmers' Club, and while we recognize His right and that He doeth all things well, still we desire to express our sense of loss in his death; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we extend to the members of the bereaved family our sympathy and consolation in this, their hour of sorrow and affliction, knowing that they already have the higher comfort that comes from Christ Jesus. And be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be entered upon the books of our society and also published in the Tecumseh Herald.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but, perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c and $1 per bottle at Baker & Hall's drug store. 1

OBITUARY.

FARLEY.

Phineas J. Farley was born at Edinburgh, Saratoga county, N. Y., Jan. 6, 1822, and died at his residence in Jackson, Mich., April 16, 1896. His early years were spent near the scene of his birth and at the age of 16 he went to Troy, N. Y., where he served four years at the carpenter's trade. From there he immigrated to Jefferson, Ohio, making his home with his brother there for several years. Stirred by the gold fever, he spent six years in California during the pioneer life of that state. After returning to Ohio he responded to his country's call, enlisting in Co. F, 2d Ohio Cavalry. After serving actively 18 months he was disabled and retired from the service. He had one brother, Philip Farley, and a sister, Mrs. John Wishart, then living in Tecumseh, and here he was married to Anna R. Gillespie in 1864. Here they resided untill two years ago, when they removed to Jackson. The deceased was stricken with paralysis three years ago and had been an invalid since, and for many months almost helpless. Surviving him are a widow and three children, Richard E., of Tecumseh; May J., of Jackson, and Mrs. G. W. Stacy, of Buffalo, N. Y. Of his father's family only one remains, Mrs. Wishart, of New York City. The deceased was a very energetic, active man in this locality during his residence here. He was a man of strict integrity and uprightness of character, public spirited and honorable. He united with the Episcopal church when a young man and was also closely identified with the Masonic and other secret organizations of this locality and an active member of Beers Post.

The Summer Normal School of Review begins at Adrian College, July 6, Conducted by Prof. O. L. Palmer, Adrian; Prof. M. W. Hensel, Blissfield; and Mrs. Edward Keeler, Adrian, to whom all letters of inquiry should be addressed.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Mrs. Ezra Day, living north of Brownville, drove in town Tuesday morning to visit her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Lowry. At the corner of Railroad and Cummings streets her horse became frightened at a C., J. & M. train, ran away and overturned the buggy. Mrs. Day was thrown in such a manner as to strike on her head, cutting a big gash in her forehead. A physician was at once summoned and dressed the wound, taking eight stitches to close up the cut. Aside from a slight shock, no other injuries resulted from the accident.

With some beautiful reproductions of paintings by Jean Francois Millet, in McClure's Magazine for May, Mr. Will H. Low provides an excellent study of that painter, whom he visited several times in his own studio at Barbizon, and of whose manner of life and conversation he gives some very pleasant personal recollections. In the same number Dr. W. W. Keen considers the Rontgen discovery in photography with reference to its use in medicine and surgery. Dr. Keen is one of our highest authorities in surgery; he has himself been experimenting diligently with the Rontgen X rays, and his paper is of especial value. It is illustrated from photographs taken by the new process.

Card of Thanks.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Diamondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last for hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Didcovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in resnlts." Trial bottles free at Baker & Hall's drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. 1

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Death in Hungary of Baron De Hirsch, the Philanthropist.

At Paris M. Leon Say Breathes His Last —Brief Biographical Sketches of the Careers and Services of Both Men.

Vienna, April 22.—Baron Maurice De Hirsch, the great financier and philanthropist, died Monday night on his estate at Presburg, Hungary, from a stroke of apoplexy.

[Baron Maurice De Hirsch, whose full name was Maurice De Hirsch de Gereuth, was born here in Munich 63 years ago. His father was a merchant in Barvis, who for services rendered to the state was ennobled in 1869. He was the first to plan the system of railways leading from Buda-Pest to Hungary to Varna, on the Black sea, and through his strong will and financial capabilities of the highest order his plans were carried out. In 1866 the commercial collapse of M. LaGrand Dumonceau, which shook the money world of Belgium to its foundations, gave him his opportunity. He secured the most valuable of the assets, including the Turkish railways, and by his skillful manipulation of them built up in a quarter of a century a fortune which equals that of the Rothschilds. His charities in Austria and Germany are innumerable and his scheme for transplanting his unfortunate Russian co-religionists to South America cost what an ordinary person would consider a colossal fortune. The baron was particularly fond of the sports of the turf, and he maintained large racing stables. His principal residence of late years was in Paris, but a great part of his time was spent in England.]

CARVED HIS OWN COFFIN.

An English Craftsman Puts His Art to a Strange Use.

A coffin yarn from England is this, from a Nottingham paper: "The hobby of an old gentleman, who has just departed this life in Duddlestone, was wood carving. Being of independent means he was able to devote his time to the craft and become a very artistic craftsman. After filling his house with hand-carved furniture he turned his attention to the carving of an oaken coffin, to contain his remains. Over the richly-carved panels he spent much loving care. In this coffin de luxe he was buried recently, and in accordance with minute instructions in his last will and testament, was followed to the grave by one mourner only—a young man to whom he had left the bulk of his property, ignoring all of his relatives. The coffin was conveyed to the churchyard in the old gentleman's private vehicle, drawn by his favorite pony."

Mrs. Howe's Husband.

Apropos of the "new woman," somebody resurrected an old story the other day about Mrs. Juliet Ward Howe that may or may not be true. At all events, it was worth resurrecting. The story goes that Mrs. Howe was one fine morning walking down Beacon street, Boston, when she met a friend who asked her how Dr. Howe was. "Dr. Howe?" repeated Mrs. Howe, vaguely. Then, as if suddenly recollecting herself, "Oh, he's quite well, I'm sure. I remember seeing in the morning paper that he presided at some meeting or other last evening."

Extravagant Relic Worship.

The most extravagant instance of literary relic worship on record is said to be that of a well-known Englishman, who constantly wears in a small locket attached to a chain around the neck a portion of the charred skull of Shelley.

A Restoration of the original colors, but no change in them, is all that happens with Pearline. The dirt is taken out, and that brings the colors back—but they are never taken away. If they are not hurt by water, they won't be hurt by Pearline. For washing that has been proved to be absolutely safe, without any risk, nothing costs less than Pearline. Any other kind of washing is likely to be dear, no matter what the price.

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 381 JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

Magnetic Ointment.

The worst Sores, Bruises, Cuts, Burns, Sprains, Skin Disorders, Sore Throat, Croup, Rheumatism, Lameness, Piles, and all external and internal affections characterized by INFLAMMATION, yield to its influence as if by magic. It is a purely vegetable preparation by a regular physician of eminence, and its success has been marvellous in the most obstinate cases. Sold by Druggists and Dealers at 25 and 40 cents.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

A woman's headaches may come from several causes. She may have a headache arising from nervousness, or from digestive disturbances; just the same as a man might suffer for the same reasons. Nine cases in ten, however, her headaches come from disorders peculiar to her sex. Possibly the apparent cause of the headache will be nervousness or indigestion, while the cause of these is not thought of. The organs distinctly feminine are more vital than any other organs in a woman's body. Any trouble of those affects the whole body. It may show itself in the symptoms which are characteristic of a dozen disorders. Thousands of times, women have been treated for the disorders thought to be indicated by these symptoms, when the real trouble was much deeper and more serious. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was compounded for the sole purpose of relieving womankind of the ills and pains very commonly considered the uncomfortable inheritance of her sex. It cures where really good physicians have failed. Thousands of women have testified that after taking treatment from several physicians without benefit, the "Favorite Prescription" cured them completely and quickly. It has been used for over thirty years, and has an unbroken record of success. The afflicted woman will find immediate relief and ultimate cure in the "Favorite Prescription." There is no doubt about it—there is no question about it. The woman who hesitates is invited to send 21 one-cent stamps to cover only the cost of mailing a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This celebrated work contains full information about Dr. Pierce's medicines, with the reproduced photographs of hundreds of people who have been cured by these world-famed remedies, also giving their names and addresses, besides plain, clear information about all of the organs of the human body and their functions. It has reached the unprecedented sale of 680,000 copies at $1.50 a copy. Thus the expense of preparation has been defrayed, and now 500,000 copies will be absolutely given away. Remember that this book is not a mere advertising pamphlet, but a genuine standard work of 1008 large pages, over 300 illustrations, some of them in colors. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y.

FARM & GARDEN.

BUTCHERS' WINDLASS.

Plan of One Which Is Simple, Strong and Easily Constructed.

Conveniences for butchering should be in every community. A plan of one in common use in the east is given below. First, prepare a strong timber (a) six or eight inches in diameter and nearly as long as the width of the barn. Bore a three-quarter-inch hole at each end and drive in each end an iron (b), letting it extend about two inches. Then take two pieces of old iron (c),

BUTCHERS' WINDLASS.

(I use a wagon tire) and bend in form of V, fastening each end to the beam above. The iron or roll (b) will fit in the point of the bent iron (c). With a two-inch augur bore two holes at right angles, through the roll about a foot from the end; then take eight pieces of two-by-four material, four of them made to fit the augur holes. The other four should be three or four inches shorter and nailed in between. Then take some strips of half-inch stuff four inches wide (d d) and nail to the ends of the eight pieces of two by four. Nail strips on the edge of the two by four to keep a rope in place. If a large wheel can be secured and attached to beam (a) it will be unnecessary to make one. A half-inch rope will hang any beef. Wind it several times around the wheel. Fasten two ropes (one is shown at f) to the roll about six feet apart, long enough to reach the floor. Construct a three-inch roll 15 inches long (g) about three feet from the floor, with crank attached to wind the small rope on. Attach the rope taut and the windlass is complete. I can dress and hang a 1,000-pound beef alone and can take down a quarter or side and leave the rest hanging. It is a simple, strong and cheap windlass.—E. N. Fisher, in Farm and Home.

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

Do not plant corn too deep.

Most farmers ought to be fruit eaters.

Secure seed north rather than south of you.

Be careful not to overwork the young colts.

It is a good plan to mulch newly set trees.

To profit by mistakes is the beginning of systematic effort.

Time spent in looking after the comfort of the work teams is time well spent.

When the teams are allowed to rest in the fields pull the collars away from the shoulders.

A young animal should never be allowed to fall off in condition sufficient to retard its growth.

Preserve the health, vitality and usefulness of your cows by giving them a change of food occasionally.

Never make the selection of the brood sows until a reasonable age has developed the good and bad qualities.

Teach your horses to act promptly when you speak to them, by doing so you may save yourself much annoyance.

To do the best work in keeping down the weeds the cultivation should be commenced before the weeds get well started.

When a horse has frequent fits of colic it indicates chronic indigestion, and care should be taken in feeding and watering.—Farmers' Union.

What Makes a Fertile Soil?

Soils are either fertile or barren (infertile). The fertile soil may be best described by negative properties, or the absence of any of those elements which go to make a barren soil. The more closely a soil approaches a happy mixture of the four elements, sand, clay, lime and vegetable matter, the more nearly will it approach a perfect soil, both physically and chemically. The nearer it approaches to the composition of one single element to the exclusion of others, the nearer will it approach to barrenness, or infertility. It would be useless to describe the thousand and one grades of composition which lie between these extremes, and equally useless to try to classify them.—Farmers' Voice.

Ashes Are Good for Orchards.

The man who has even a small plot of ground to tend, and throws his ashes out into the street or highway, or any where else to get wasted, has surely a "crack in his hog-trough," and in his head, too. Ashes contain potash and phosphoric acid, two valuable plant foods. They also have excellent mechanical effect, making clammy ground friable when mixed therewith, and soil naturally too loose is made more compact by their application. Apply them liberally to fruit trees and plants, garden vegetables, and, in fact, anywhere a crop of any kind is to be raised, thoroughly mixing with the soil, and grand success will result.—Jefferson D. Cheely, in Farm and Fireside.

THE FIVE-ACRE FARM.

How It Can Be Made to Yield Handsome and Certain Returns.

To make the most of a small farm it must be made to yield its fruits at such times as they are the most valuable, which means to prolong the season to the greatest possible extent consistent with economy. There is great pleasure and profit in having vegetables both early and late. There is a decided relish in very early vegetables, if of our own production, and providing they can be produced at a reasonable price. The hotbed meets all these conditions; when properly managed it will furnish many vegetables nearly two months in advance of the garden, and of much better quality, because they are grown more quickly and at a moderate cost.

But the hotbed to be profitable must be made useful the entire season, or at least from March to January. After it has furnished us with an early crop of radishes and lettuce, together with plants for early cabbage, cauliflower and tomatoes, it can be made highly useful for cucumbers, not our common garden varieties, but the English frame sorts, which do finely with us in summer when grown in a frame, which should be kept well shaded on sunny days. We have grown as large and well-shaped cucumbers in these frames as we have ever seen grown in the greenhouse.

If cucumbers are not desired, sow a few seeds of tomatoes about the 1st of June, not later than the 10th; these will ripen their first fruits upon the approach of frost, when the sash should be put on, and the season of tomatoes can be prolonged for at least a month. After these are gone the frame can be filled with lettuce plants, which should be in readiness, and, with little protection, the hotbed will furnish a supply during December.

A goodly number of cold frames should be in readiness in spring to receive the young plants of tomatoes, cabbage and cauliflower, in order to harden them off before transferring them to the garden; this will afford the lettuce all the room it will require for heading, as the other plants should be sown in alternate rows in order to make all the space useful.

The importance of this kind of farming is but little understood or appreciated. It is carried on extensively near all large cities, and is made profitable by those who understand it. But it is doubly valuable to the small farmer who grows not so much for profit as for pleasure, for those who are willing to pay to their gardeners what their vegetables and small fruits would cost them in the market, and the rental of the farm besides, for the satisfaction there is in having everything fresh and strictly first-class in every respect.—Rural Farmer.

TIGHT HAY CHUTE.

How to Prevent the Escape of Fine Dust and Chaff.

Where the hay is stored in the second story hay chutes must be provided for each stall. There is a right and a wrong way to build these. The cut shows the right way. Let them grow larger as they descend, and then the hay will not catch or clog in them. At the bottom have an incline to throw the hay toward the opening, as shown. Have a guard over the top of chutes to keep people from walking into them when moving about on the floor overhead. One sometimes sees stables where the hay is thrown down an opening over the horse's head, without the use of a chute at all. As a result the mane, foretop and hair of the horse's head is filled with dust, chaff and spears of hay—a slovenly method. Sometimes, also, one sees a chute made of slats. This is much better than a simple opening. But dust and chaff will escape through the slats and get on to the horse. Better do the work thoroughly and make a tight chute.—N. Y. Tribune.

Make Every Acre Pay.

Profit from farming is best secured by making every acre pay. It is not necessary to have large farms to make good profits, but to concentrate the labor and manure over an area that can be worked to the best advantage. If the farm is too large sell or rent a portion. The larger the field that is cultivated the less manure can be used proportionately, while more labor is required. The crops that pay are those which give the largest yields per acre and which are secured by good cultivation and liberal application of plant food.

Farming Requires Skill.

Skill is required on the farm as well as in the factory. The frequent advice that young men should go on the farms and now come into the cities is not always advisable. The man who has spent his life in the city is not competent to work on a farm and earn the wages that are paid experienced farm hands. That wages are higher on the farm than in the cities implies that the wages are only paid to those who are competent to perform any service that may be required.

Giving the pigs the run of a good clover pasture will help materially to secure a good growth at a low cost.

SINFUL HABITS IN YOUTH
MAKE NERVOUS, DISEASED MEN

THE RESULT of ignorance and folly in youth, overexertion of mind and body indulged by lust and exposure are constantly wrecking the lives and future happiness of thousand of promising young men. Some fade and wither at an early age, at the blossom of manhood, while others are forced to drag out a weary, fruitless and melancholy existence. Others reach matrimony but find no solace or comfort there. The victims are found in all stations of life:—The farm, the office, the workshop, the pulpit, the trades and the professions.

SYPHILIS EMISSIONS STRICTURE CURED

Wm. A. Walker of 16th Street says:—"I have suffered untold agonies for my "gay life." I was indiscreet when young and ignorant. As "One of the Boys" I contracted Syphilis and other Private diseases. I had ulcers in the mouth and throat, bone pains, hair loose, pimples on face, finger nails came off, emissions, became thin and despondent. Seven doctors treated me with Mercury, Potash, etc. They helped me but could not cure me. Finally a friend induced me to try Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. Their New Method Treatment cured me in a few weeks. Their treatment is wonderful. You feel yourself gaining every day. I have never heard of their failing to cure in a single case."

☞CURES GUARANTEED OR MONEY REFUNDED

Capt. Chas. Ferry says:—"I owe my life to Drs. K. & K. At 14 I learned a bad habit. At 21 I had all the symptoms of Seminal Weakness and Spermatorhœa. Emissions were draining and weakening my vitality. I married at 24 under advice of my family doctor, but it was a sad experience. In eighteen months we were divorced. I then consulted Drs. K. & K., who restored me to manhood by their New Method Treatment. I felt a new life thrill through my nerves. We were united again and are happy. This was six years ago. Drs. K. & K. are scientific specialists and I heartily recommend them."

'ROUND ABOUT US.

Clippings and Condensations From our County Contemporaries.

A Pingree club has been started in Adrian with 350 charter members.

The thunderstorm of Friday night did a great deal of damage to buildings in Jackson and Lenawee counties.

Ann Arbor Courier: The champion pitcher of the U. of M. team last season, Sexton, will be with the Seattle, Wash., team this year.

Mr. Louis J. Liesemer, of the Hausfreund, has purchased an interest in the Washtenaw Daily Times and will take active charge of the paper.

Isaac A. Hathaway, of Rollin, was buried Tuesday under masonic auspices. Mr. Hathaway was for many years a prominent man in county and local affairs. He was the father of Prof. S. R. Hathaway, of the Flint schools, and late principal of the Raisin Valley Seminary.

According to reports from Lansing, the Michigan base ball league has been born again for another year. Lansing, Adrian, Owosso, Manistee, Muskegon and Bay City are in it for sure. The case of Jackson and Saginaw, who wish to withdraw and organize a tri-state league, will be decided by the national board of arbitration.

A Tecumseh merchant tailor is authority for the statement gthat the style for trousers this season is to be "narrower legs and less spring." One can't tell. Because winter has held over a month or so, it does not follow there will be less spring.—Adrian Press. The Adrian Press will always "spring" a thing like that, or summer near it, whenever there's a chance. For some such joke Stearns may meet with an "early fall."—Monroe Democrat.

Adrian Press: Laban B. Wood, a well known farmer living near Lenawee Junction, was instantly killed by lightning about noon Monday. He was setting out shrubbery in his yard when struck on the head, the current burning his straw hat to ashes, singing his hair and whiskers, passing down his right side and blackening the flesh. A siver watch in his pocket was reduced to a molten mass. His 14 years-old son, who was only about two rods distant, received no shock whatever.

Monroe Democrat: Prominent in a Hillsdale lawsuit the other day were Hon. T. E. Barkworth, of Jackson, and ex-Mayor Bean, of Adrian. Col. March was also in the case and they fired their tragic oratory into the jury till one of the panel keeled out of his chair, apparently stone dead. He rallied a little but his physician expresses doubt about about his recovery. "One sinner doeth much harm" saith the scripture but when a trinity like Bean, Barkworth and March get at it, only an arm from heaven can pluck the victim from the jaws of disaster, and perhaps an agonizing death.

The Blissfield Advance thus speaks of Editor Faling's libel suit and strikes it just right: "About a year ago, Editor Faling, of the Petersburg Sun, printed an article stating that Dr. McDonald, of that village, had secured $100 of a woman of Ida by misrepresentation and fraud. McDonald demanded an apology and not getting it promptly started a libel suit for $10,000 damages, and last week the trial came off and he secured a verdict for 6c. We congratulate Bro. Faling on his firm stand for the principle of truth and justice, and are glad to see that he has been sustained in it by the court."

The good people of Saline have all due respect for those of their number who have gone before, probably from the fact that they will all soon follow after. The Observer says it is "bad taste" to have the lots in the cemetery so graded that some are three feet higher than others while the others are that much lower. However, it probably all arises from a desire of the local undertaker to keep the burying business at home. Anyway, the cemetery board over there has reorganized and will leave no stone in the graveyard unturned till it offers unsurpassed advantages to prospective corpses.

The Monroe Observer speaks this of the work on the Lima Northern: Many have been the rumors and much has been the speculating anent the Lima Northern, but one thing is certain—work of grading is now in actual progress in Chesterfield on the surveyed line which strikes the "territorial road" on Fred Denson's farm three miles east of Morenci. This work, extending over a stretch of four miles, is under the direction of Wm. Martell and J. D. Sullivan, the contractors whose arrival here was noted in last week's paper. They are men of large experience in railroad jobs of this kind, and will as rapidly as possible push their present contract to completion. Everything on the Lima Northern certainly looks like business.

The Monroe Democrat loves justice and is not slow to recognize its impartial administration, even when it is administered to a newspaper, as the following clipping will show: "Although the United States is the freest country in the world, in regard to the liberty of the press, it is gratifying to know that this liberty, if abused can be punished as it deserves and to the full measure of the damage. The venal Petersburg Sun lifted its hooded head and fastened the fangs of its malice in the shank of a Petersburg doctor; and at once the M. D. sought the doctors of the law and brought into the circuit court the reprobate boy-constructor which had circulated the calomel about him, and a candid, impartial jury solemnly awarded him that balm for the bite which alone could cure, and he went forth from the fane of justice with the proud consciousness of having secured a judgment of six cents.

MICROBES ON STAMPS.

The Philatelist's Collection as a Source of Danger.

Having successfully disclosed the hygienic dangers adherent to the kiss, the telephone receiver and the towel, medical science has now turned its attention to the perils that beset the philatelist's art. According to Dr. Unna, says the Science News, a patient was recently attacked by a peculiar parasitic growth in the beard. On making a minute examination of some of the hairs, the doctor recognized the disease as "piedra," which is chiefly met with in British Columbia. The doctor's friend had never been in Columbia, but he frequently received letters from correspondents there, and, being a collector of postage stamps, he was in the habit of removing them from the letters. In Dr. Unna's opinion the gum on the postage stamp is an excellent material for retaining any disease germs that it may receive from the application of the tongue, and in removing stamps—even when moistening is done with the sponge—there is always a danger that the collector's fingers may receive and communicate the contamination.

CURIOUS CHINESE CUSTOM.

Calling to Mind the Blessing of Having Written Characters.

In a work entitled "An Australian in China" occurs a description of the queer practice in China of honoring waste paper by committing it to the flames. In the center of the green stands the hollow pillar, in which Chinese waste paper is reverently burnt. "When letters were invented," the Chinese say, "Heaven rejoiced and hell trembled." "Reverence the characters," is an injunction of Confucius which no Chinaman neglects to follow. He remembers that "he who uses lettered paper to kindle the fire has ten demerits, and will have itchy sores;" he remembers that "he who tosses lettered paper into dirty water, or burns it in a filthy place has 20 demerits, and will frequently have sore eyes or become blind;" whereas, "he who gets about and collects, washes and burns lettered paper has 5,000 merits, adds 12 years to his life, and will become honored and healthy, and his children and grandchildren will be virtuous and filial." But his reverence has strict limits, and while he reverences a piece of paper upon which a moral precept is written, he often thinks himself absolved from reverencing the moral precept itself.

AT GRANT'S SHRINE.

Synopsis of the Eloquent Address Delivered by Gen. John C. Black—Notable Observances in Several Other Cities.

Galena, Ill., April 28.—Business was generally suspended here Monday and the city was in holiday garb, the occasion being the observance of the anniversary of the birth of Gen. Grant. Hundreds of visitors were present from Illinois and many from Iowa. There was a civic parade, after which a reunion of the survivors of Grant's old regiment, the Twelfth Illinois volunteers. The chief feature of the programme was the mass meeting in the afternoon in Turner hall, at which, after patriotic selections by the orchestra and audience, ex-Congressman John

GEN. ULYSSES S. GRANT.

C. Black, now United States attorney for the Northern district of Illinois, delivered an oration.

Gen. John C. Black spoke in part as follows:

Gen. Black's Oration.

"He who stands at Yorktown sees, not the lowlands and tumbling sea, but there arise before him Washington and Lafayette and the United Armies of France and America; at Bunker Hill stands Warren's slender form; at Valley Forge the worn and starving continentals; at Vicksburg, Grant and Logan, McPherson and Sheridan, McClellan and Blair, and the invincible besiegers; at Gettysburg, Hancock and Meade and Doubleday and Sickels; over against them Lee and Longstreet and Pickett and 150,000 struggling men; at Appomattox, Grant and a vast host and a gallant quarry!

Such Men Never Die.

"They will not die from among us; they throng our exalted stations; they point to glorified battle plains and to high scaffolds, where they paid the last obligations to right; they sentinel the long and growing highways of fame; they cluster around heroic epochs, made noble by their speech or written words of unselfish deed: they are the better angels of our national life, and prompt to highest purpose and noblest devotion, to love the country and her cause.

"Grant could not have conquered, nor any that I have named of any of our heroic dead have risen to glory, had our armies been of different material; but now, officer and man, they are blended one and imperishable.

Ascent to Success.

"Beginning with Donelson, to the closing campaign in Virginia, Grant trod the ascending round of success and glory, until at last he stood the embodiment of the purpose of the people in the camp, as Lincoln was in the cabinet, holding the sword of the whole union power, lifting it above the prostrate purposes and broken fortunes of a defeated people, whose every hope was gone, and forever! Ruin in their fields; ashes on their hearthstones; their social systems uprooted; their warriors dead; their sons reduced to daily toil.

"They drank the bitter cup they had brewed, and the world wondered what would be the fate of the fallen. All history contains no nobler answer than fell from the lips of the victorious general: 'Go in peace—keep your honor, observe the laws of the land, till the soil, build up anew your broken fortunes and be dutiful American citizens.'

"The surrender at Appomattox was made to an eagle—not to a vulture; to a lion, not to a prowling beast of carnage; to an American citizen, and not to a vulgar conqueror. Valor and devotion gave up the contest to sublime purpose and inflexible will; the lost cause surrendered to destiny and the manifest purposes of Almighty God. Lee, the incarnation of the highest purposes of his people, yielded to Grant, the silent, inflexible, unalterable will of the American republic.

Honors Fall Upon Him.

"A grateful country, loving comrades, admiring citizens, twice elevated him to the chief magistracy. With the traditions and forces of a great war, from which his fame had sprung all around him, what was to be the influence he should exert upon his fellow citizens and the institutions of the land? What would this soldier, bursting from camps upon the attention of the world, do with the enormous power intrusted to his hands? What he did do furnishes the best answer to the question.

"Character such as that of Grant was slow in growth; not attracting public attention, known only to the most intimate of his companions, and not fully comprehended by them; it was accretion to a rock; when the hour came for its display it was found ringed and banded by all the surroundings of his life.

Grant the Grand.

"How true he was to friends all know. His word was pledged at Appomattox to the southern soldiery, and at a later day, when it was proposed to ignore the terms he had made, he stood like a lion for those who had trusted his word—and saved them. When he discovered that his purposes were opposed by constitutional authority he bowed his crested head and let the Island of San Domingo go. He upheld the traditions of his country and announced, as the illustrious before and since him have done, that on American soil there was room only for American institutions.

"And now we have assembled about his statue three-quarters of a century after his birth, and while the recollections of him still abide with many living witnesses, to renew our regard and tell our affection for him whose ashes are treasured by our distant countrymen in historic urn at the gateway from the sea to the land he helped to keep—let them guard his ashes! Here is the threshold over which he stepped to fame! This the town that was his home, and this the state that upheld him throughout every moment of his prosperity and greatness! The thronging thousands who shall lift careful eyes to the monument at Riverside shall see beside it a figure pointing over mountain and plain and saying: 'He who sleeps here was a son of Illinois, and from her mighty nurturing arms rose to continental stature and boundless fame.'"

Tribute from a Former Foe.

Boston, April 28.—Gen. Longstreet, of Georgia, Grant's great antagonist, is the guest of the Middlesex club and on Monday night was the principal speaker at its annual Grant banquet.

Gen. Longstreet, upon rising to respond to the toast, was received with long-continued cheers, the audience standing and rapturously greeting him, and even during the first few sentences it was impossible for the general to be heard consecutively, owing to the interruption of applause. He said, among other things:

"Of all of the union commanders he was the great leader who accurately surveyed the great field of war, the elements of strength, and points of error, and considered the vast means so necessary to solve the problem.

"He stood alone as the man for the time. When it was ended the war with him was over. His heavy blows were changed to pleasant salutations. Incapable of malice, his generous heart offered all that his enemy could ask as terms for surrender, with abundance of provisions for the hungry soldiers and transportation to their distant homes.

"If he could have been in Chicago in May of last year and witnessed the unveiling of a monument over the dead confederate prisoners of war and could have been with us at the dedication of the national park at Chickamauga in September last, to witness the assembling of Gov. Morton, Gov. McKinley, Gen. Alger, Gen. Grosvenor, Gen. Bates, Gen. Gordon, and multitudes of those of the blue and the gray in cordial, fraternal greetings, he could have known that his prophecy of peace was not a delusive hope, but a happy fruition, mirrored in the expressions of all his countrymen."

Observance Elsewhere.

New York, April 28. — Under the auspices of the Grant monument commission appropriate exercises were held Monday at the great mausoleum in Riverside park. It had been hoped that the tomb would be in readiness for its final dedication, but this has been found impossible, and the event will not take place until late in the year.

Providence, R. I., April 28.—Appropriate exercises in celebration of Grant's birthday were held Monday under the auspices of the Union League club. At an expenditure of nearly $28,000 this organization has provided a heroic-sized bronze statue of the ex-president, which is to occupy the center of the plateau in front of the clubhouse.

Philadelphia, April 28.—Gen Grant's memory was honored with speech, story and good fellowship at the Union League Monday night. The guests of honor included members of congress state officials, judges of the courts and local political lights. The principal speakers of the evening were: Congressman J. P. Dolliver, of Iowa, who talked of "Grant;" Senator C. K. Davis, of Minnesota, spoke of "Progressive Republicanism," his address arousing much enthusiasm. Congressman L. E. Quigg, of New York, talked of "The Party of Grant."

BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Seasonable Weather Throughout the Country Improves Trade.

New York, April 25.—R. G. Dun & Co., in their weekly review of trade, say:

"Business has been favored by seasonable weather and the distribution of products has made fair progress, not yet reducing retail or wholesale stocks far enough, however, to materially improve the position of industries. Money markets have grown more favorable, as well as the state of foreign commerce, and until an apparently groundless revival of discussion about the Venezuela difficulty there was a brighter prospect of European investments here. The belief that agitation for cheap money will be permanently laid at rest this year is gaining ground, and in financial quarters causes more confidence for the future. Prices of commodities are on the whole lower than ever before, having declined about two per cent. since April 1 and 17 per cent. since July, 1890, or October, 1892. The fall in manufactured products is a little less than it was April 1, but in farm products greater.

"Failures for the week have been 238 in the United States, against 230 last year, and 44 in Canada, against 37 last year."

Bradstreet's says:

"The feeling is more hopeful at many trade centers, owing to continued improvement of demand in retail lines, better weather, generally favorable crop prospects and the activity which naturally follows renewed building operations, distribution of implements and farm supplies and attendant activity. More favorable reports from commercial travelers are from those representing Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha and Milwaukee houses. Moderate improvement is shown at a few other western centers, but at most of the larger distributing points throughout the country the movement of merchandise, on the whole, shows no material change."

New Commander-in-Chief.

Havana, April 27.—Calixto Garcia has been appointed commander-in-chief of the insurgents by Maximo Gomez, who in future will promote the rebel cause in another capacity.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

Awful Work of a Lunatic in the City of Rockville, Ind.

He Kills a Mother and Her Two Children, the Sheriff of Parke County and a Constable—He Then Takes His Own Life.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 27.—Dispatches from Rockville, county seat of Parke county, give fuller details of Saturday's tragedy, in which Peter Egbert, a youth of 23 years, apparently insane, killed five persons and then committed suicide. His victims were Mrs. Herman Haschke and her two children, Aggie and Herman, aged ten and eight years respectively, Sheriff W. D. Mull and Constable William Sween. The Rockville dispatch says:

Shoots Mother and Two Children.

About seven o'clock young Egbert was sent into the back yard to saw some wood for family use. Shortly afterwards, while Mrs. Haschke was out milking her cow, Egbert, secured a double-barreled breech-loading shot-gun, went into the Haschke house, as next door to his home, shot daughter, a child of ten years, and wounded the boy, two years younger, who ran out on the porch, where Egbert shot him again, killing him instantly. The murderer then went out into the alley and leveled his gun at Mrs. Haschke, who, seeing his intention, attempted to escape. He shot her, however, the charge taking effect in the top of her head, removing part of her skull. Mrs. Haschke lingered in an unconscious state for about two hours, when death ended her sufferings.

Looks for More Victims.

Having completed this work of butchery, Egbert shouldered his gun and deliberately walked up into the business part of the town. Sheriff Mull and Constable Sweem were planning a means of capturing the murderer. Egbert was walking across the north side of the square, holding his gun in position, with both barrels cocked, when he saw Mull and Sweem crossing the street towards him. He called out to them that they had better not come any nearer. The two officers retired into a stairway in the national bank building for a moment's consultation, when Egbert turned and, coming upon them suddenly, shot and instantly killed both men.

Murderer Kills Himself.

The murderer then started to run, taking a westward course towards the fair grounds, a number of citizens in close pursuit. He ran like a deer until, while crossing an open field just west of town, a shot from his pursuers took effect in his heel. This crippled him, and though he managed to scale the inclosure of the fair grounds he was unable to run further, and crawling into a stall in the fair grounds, he shot himself in the right breast. The fire from his gun ignited his clothing which was partially burned when he was found.

A FATAL GALE.

Nine Persons Killed and Many Injured in a Cyclone in Kansas.

Topeka, Kan., April 27.—A cyclone passed over Clay county Saturday at midnight. Nine persons were killed and 50 injured. The cyclone wrought great destruction of property and a great deal of live stock was killed. The dead are Frank Peterson, wife and child, Eli Balthazar and wife Julius Trembly, Jesse Hazen, Mrs. Halverson, and a grandchild of Peter Anderson.

The cyclone started about six miles south of Clifton and went in a northeasterly direction for 12 or 15 miles, and then lost its force by spreading. It passed about half way between Clifton and Morganville. Its track varied from 150 yards to a quarter of a mile in width. It tore through a farming community and left nothing standing. Houses and barns were wrecked, trees torn up or broken, fences leveled and haystacks blown in every direction. The cyclone was followed by a terrific rainstorm, which lasted several hours, flooding the devastated district. The cyclone took the people unawares.

Father and Son Kill Each Other.

Cincinnati, April 28.—A special to the Post from Gate City, Va., says: At Rosedale, Russell county, Mr. Dutter and his son quarreled over a money transaction. The father fired several shots at his son, his wife knocking down the pistol. Finally a ball took effect in the son's breast. As he fell he shot his father through the heart, killing him instantly. The son lived half an hour.

CATCHING UP.

Favorable Weather Advances Crops and Makes Up for Late Season.

Chicago, April 29.—The reports as to the condition of the crops throughout the country, and the general effect of the weather on the cultivation, growth and harvest of the same, were Tuesday made by the directors of the several climate and crop sections. The reports received at Chicago were as follows:

Illinois—Excellent week in north and west-central counties, elsewhere growing dryness has caused slow growth, hard plowing, and has retarded farm work. Wheat, rye, oats and grasses are doing well within the rain areas, elsewhere growing slowly. Corn planting continues in the southern section, and is well begun in central. Fruit is setting heavily; chinch bugs are hatching in large numbers in central and southern counties.

Wisconsin—Copious rains in all sections of the state have materially retarded farm work. The weather has been cooler, but favorable to growing crops. Winter wheat is improving, but much is winter killed and will be plowed up. Oats are up in southern section and are growing nicely. The frosts of the 21st and 22d did no damage. Sunshine is needed.

Iowa—The temperature has been above the normal and rainfall excessive, except in southern districts. The growth of plants and foliage is in advance of average season. Wheat and other small grains are doing well. Corn planting will be general the coming week. Pastures afford full feed.

Minnesota—The week has been showery and warm. Wheat and oats seeding has just begun in north; well advanced in central, and about completed in south section. Plowing for corn, flax and early gardening begun. The condition of winter wheat has improved. Rye, early sown spring wheat and grass growing nicely.

Indiana—Good rains in many localities and warm weather have advanced all vegetation most rapidly. The light frost of the 22d did no injury. Wheat and grasses are in fine condition; oats are nearly all sown, and plowing for corn in progress, with some planted.

Ohio—The weather during the week has been favorable. Wheat prospects are improved, but considerable will be plowed up for other crops. Grass is better, some oats are up, gardens are doing well, potatoes about planted, and fruit prospects are fair. Insects are numerous. Some light frosts are reported with no damage. Stock is on pasture.

Michigan—The rains have been ample, and the frosts of Wednesdy morning did no damage. Wheat, rye and grass are looking fine and are growing rapidly. Fruit buds are in good shape, and early sown oats are coming up nicely. Plowing for corn has begun.

SWEPT BY FIRE.

Cripple Creek, Colorado's Famous Mining Town, Suffers Heavily.

Cripple Creek, Col., April 27.—With the aid of dynamite and giant powder a fire which started at one o'clock p. m. Saturday, and which threatened to wipe out of existence the town of Cripple Creek, was overcome, but not before at least a million dollars' damage had been sustained by the town. The insurance will reach $250,000. The buildings occupying eight blocks of street, together with their contents, were utterly destroyed. One hundred and fifty business houses, the post office and a bank are in ashes. Five or six hundred persons will have to find new homes.

Positive evidence has been secured to prove that the fire was the work of an incendiary for the purpose of making a raid on the First national bank, which now appears to have had on deposit something over $100,000 on account of the near approach of pay day at the leading mines.

A Town Destroyed.

Mitchell, S. D., April 29.—A severe cyclone struck near Spencer Monday evening. It took a northerly course, destroying farm property and doing immense damage to crops. Three persons were fatally and 15 or more seriously injured in that immediate vicinity.

STOP IT NOW!

Stop It Quickly, Just the Same as Did Mr. Charles H. Hoffman, of 182 Ten Eyck Street, Jackson.

If you have a pain in your back, stop it! A lame back, stop it! An aching back stop it! Do you want to know how? Let us tell you! In the first place, never try to rid yourself of pain without knowing the cause. If pain or ache exist there is reason for it. Find out this reason and get after it. Strike cause a stiff blow with the right weapon, and its allies, pain and ache, will flee like chaff before the wind. To get right down to it, backache is indicative of kidney disorders, a spy placed there by nature; listen to his warnings and take up the weapon, strike before disease is reinforced with allies that can not be routed by hand of man, such as Bright's disease. Let us introduce to you this weapon! Let us prove its superiority to all others! Here is a blow it struck:

Mr. Charles H. Hoffman is a fireman on the M. C. R. R. and resides at 182 Ten Eyck Street, Jackson, Mich. He says: "I have suffered for a long time from a kidney and bladder disorder which has at times rendered me incapable of work, have been at the hospital for my complaint and discharged from there as cured, but the old complaint has invariably come back again. Some time ago I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, and I began taking them, with most gratifying results. Urinary complaints which bothered me greatly are very much improved; and the pain I suffered in my back has entirely left me, my general condition is much improved. I would not like to be without Doan's Kidney Pills, I think others should know what a valuable remedy it is."

For sale by all dealers, price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

The man who eats because he is hungry is, thus far, on a level with the brutes. The man who stops eating the moment his hunger is appeased is the wise man. Nature needs no more food than she calls for. Continued excess brings about indigestion or dyspepsia, with loss of flesh, strength, sleep, ambition and mental power; and an accumulation of aches, pains and many dangerous local maladies. The stomach now can do nothing alone. We must appeal to some artificially digested food which can also digest other foods. That is to say, we must use the Shaker Digestive Cordial. The effect is prompt and cheering. The chronic pain and distress ceases. Appetite presently revives. Flesh and vigor gradually come back, and the sufferer recovers. But he must be careful in future. A trial bottle for 10 cents.

CARPETS WERE UNKNOWN.

How the Fourteenth Century Mansions Were Furnished.

Carpets in the fourteenth century were unknown luxuries, says Good Words, but the fashion of strewing the apartments with rushes was being gradually abandoned. Rushes were still used in the retainers' hall, but for the better rooms sweet-scented herbs and fragrant twigs were usually employed.

In the fourteenth century windows were apertures filled with glass so as to admit light, but to exclude wind. The walls also were frequently hung with cloth or tapestry to protect the inmates of the room from the many currents of air that penetrated the strong but badly built walls. We learn from various ancient documents that it was the duty of the serving men and pages to sweep out the principal apartments, but as the use of water is rarely mentioned, damp and fragrant leaves and twigs must have aided not only in collecting the dust, but also toward refreshing the atmosphere in such costantly closed rooms, fresh air being only admitted through the doors opening on to the battlements or balconies.

From old inventories at Thurleigh and elsewhere we ascertain how scantily furnished were these ancient mansions, although they seem to have been abundantly supplied with flagons and drinking cups in gold, silver and finely engraved pewter, besides an infinite number of black jacks or cups made of leather.

THE FORMIDABLE UMBRELLA.

A French Tragedian Finds It Mightier Than the Sword.

The affection of the collector for the objects of his zeal has been amusingly illustrated by a story told of Melingue, a French tragedian who had a mania for gathering together great quantities of old vestments, arms and similar antique apparatus. Among his treasures was a beautiful and keen-edged sword which had belonged to Philip II., son of Emperor Charles V.

Having worn this sword in a piece in which he was performing, Melingue was making his way homeward in Paris one night. The weather was rainy, and he carried an umbrella. Under his cloak he bore the precious sword of Philip II.

Coming around a corner, Melingue was suddenly menaced by two sneak thieves. He was an expert fencer, and knew that with the sword he could quickly beat the rascals off. But he said to himself:

"What! Betray to these rascals that I have such a precious possession? No! They might be too much for me, after all, and then they would get it. I will keep it out of sight."

So saying, he placed his left hand on the hilt of the sword inside his cloak, and with the other hand let down his umbrella. With this as a weapon, he assaulted the footpads with such force and spirit that he put them to flight.

In this case the umbrella turned out to be mightier than the sword.

Something of a Change.

A French paper vouches for this dialogue, which took place in a French assize court, as being literally true:

"Why," asked the judge of a man who had been caught stealing provisions, "did you attempt to rob this poor baker?"

"It was hunger that forced me to it," answered the man. "When the forest wolf is hunted from the woods by starvation, he takes his prey where he can seize it—"

"Hush!" thundered the court, rapping on the desk. "He does nothing of the sort. He endures his ills, repents, and becomes an honest man!"

Ideas of Savages and Children.

The Cheyennes and other Indians of the plains believe that thunder is caused by the flapping of the wings of an immense bird which flies across the sky, bringing the storm. All the ideas of savage tribes are based on such simple conceptions of nature. The ideas of young children are often identical with savage myths, as a result of minds on the same plane of development attempting to explain the same thing.

"Nick" Willis, one of the best known and most respected pioneer residents of this section, died at his home near the county line last Friday. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at the Christian church, Rev. Wright officiating, and was largely attended.

The C. E. social at Chrles Kniffen's last week was quite an event. The house was well filled and everybody had a good time. The music rendered by the Misses Delia and Jennie Mills was very fine and enjoyed by all, as also was the recitations by Miss Hattie Vreeland.

One of our citizens of the absent minded order, while wheeling a push cart loaded with potatoes the other day, forgot how many he had and at once dumped the load out in the road and proceeded to count them in to the cart again, in order to gain the required information.

Joseph Daykin met with a peculiar and painful accident the other day, while hunting rats, assisted by his son, Pearly, who made a thrust at a fat one with a pitch fork, catching his father squarely between the eyes with a fork tine, which penetrated to the bone. Had it gone into the eye it would have undoubtedly been a fatal stab.

Dr. Hardy was called and set the fractured limb, and she is doing very nicely at present writing.

Monday afternoon, the 17th inst., the relatives and friends of Mrs. Lovenia Jackson, from Tecumseh, Leslie and Ridgeway, met at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Frost, of Macon, to celebrate her 80th birthday. Although it was a surprise to her, she was equal to the occasion and helped make the afternoon a time never to be forgotten. She is one of Lenawee's charter pioneers and knows full well the hardships of pioneer life. She is a native of Pennsylvania, and has raised a large family of children—Mathias, who lives at Owosso; George Washington, of Tecumseh; William, of Arkansas; John, of Macon (with whom she has made her home since the death of her husband); Mrs. George Frost, of Macon, and Mrs. John Winchel, of Leslie. Two children, Mary and an infant daughter, have gone to meet their Saviour and to welcome mother when her work here has been finished. After refreshments were served an hour was spent very pleasantly, when all left for their homes, trusting all may be spared to meet next year to celebrate one more birthday with mother.

The Overthrow of Monarchy—The Provisional Government.

The feeling is still too bitter between the Republicans or P. G.'s, as they are contemptuously called by their enemies, and the Royalists for the exact truth as to the overthrow of the monarchy to be obtained. The political feeling here is at about the same heat it was in the United States in 1866. The Royalists still call the government "Provisional," and refuse to recognize it.

To understand the cause of the overthrow of monarchy one must have some knowledge of the history of Hawaii. In the latter part of the 18th century a powerful chief of Hawaii, known as Kamehameha, captured two American sailors named Davis and Young. The latter was a boatswain on the Boston frigate Elenor, the former on a little sloop the Fair American. The latter vessel was seized, its captain and crew, with the exception of Davis, killed, and its cannon taken on shore. Young and Davis, being expert gunners, were spared to manage the artillery for Kamehameha, who at once began the conquest of the whole group of islands. The two Americans were his generals, they married the daughters of chiefs or princes, and were given high offices.

After several years of war all the Sandwich Islands were conquered, and Kamehameha declared king over all. He was succeeded by four direct descendants known as Kamehameha II., III., IV., V. The natives having abolished idolatry, in the year 1820 the missionaries sent by the American Board of Missions came to convert them. They were kindly received by the natives but by this time the islands had become a rendezvous for whaling vessels, whose officers and crews were lewd, lawless men, and they objected to the restraints of religion and decency.

The missionaries, however, had come to stay, and, in an earnest manner began the conversion of the heathen. They were often threatened by the lawless sailors, who regarded their upright lives as a standing rebuke to their own immorality. But, in spite of all threats and danger, the missionaries held their ground. They had the respect and confidence of the kings, who remained their friends, and the cause of Christianity advanced until all of the islands were brought under its sway. Missionaries who came to the islands young men, raised families of children, grew old, and died. Children born on the islands grew up, died, and left children, natural born Hawaiians, the same as any American citizen to-day is an American.

The business interests of the islands soon began to attract the attention of the world. Americans came to engage in agriculture or mercantile pursuits. These dots on the face of the globe assumed great importance, and the English, always jealous of any advance of Americans in the acquisition of territory, began to turn their attention toward the islands.

As the American Congregationalists and Presbyterians had succeeded so well, the Church of England, from purely political motives it is claimed, began a religious conquest of the islands. From this time on there was a struggle between Americans and English to control the ruling monarchs.

Kamehameha III gave the people the first liberal constitution. All the Kamehamehas seem to have been friendly to the Americans, as they were probably under the influence of Young and Davis and their descendants.

The anti-missionary party in time became the anti-American party. History shows how England has sought in the past to get control of the islands, and how she objected to the annexation of them to the United States during the Forties as the trade at that time with the United States was increasing in proportions that alarmed her.

The direct line of Kamehamehas ended with Kamehameha V. After a few short reigns, David Kalakaua was elected king. Tho a dissolute man, with many weaknesses, he seems to have an idea of justice and right. But he tried to please all parties, and, of course, failed.

By this time sugar and rice plantations had become a source of great wealth in the islands, and Americans with pluck and energy were peopling the country and getting the cream of its industries.

The lands had previously been divided among the common people in a way that was equitable to all, the assertions made on the floors of the American Congress to the contrary notwithstanding. Under the old kings all land was invested in their name, as lands were originally in Great Britain. These kings distributed them somewhat according to the feudal system, to chiefs, reserving great tracts of what are still called crown lands. At the suggestion of the missionaries large quantities of lands were set apart for the common people and these lands, tho small in acreage, composed nearly all the best soil on the islands. They were the taro patches and rice fields, some of which are to-day worth five hundred dollars per acre, while there are vast tracts of lava-strewn mountain land not worth one dollar for five hundred acres.

Among the many American emigrants to the islands were shrewd business men, who procured long leases on sugar lands and bought large tracts from the king. British influence was brought to bear on king Kalakaua. He was told to be "a real king and have an army and navy." Public improvements were neglected, roads became almost impassable, while the king secured a large loan from England, and squandered vast sums of the revenue in loans and on Hula dancing girls.

A Great Book Free.

When Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., published the first edition of his great work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after 680,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profits on which would repay him for the great amount of labor and money expended in producing it, he would distribute the next half million free. As this number of copies has already been sold, he is now giving away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to him, at above address, twenty-one (21) one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent post paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. Contains 1008 pages, profusely illustrated. The free edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth. Send now before all are given away. 1w FRENCH'S UNEQUALED BLOOD PURIFIER AND RHEUMATIC REMEDY, will make you feel all right and save you a lot of money. Some people have found this out, and this is what they say about it.

E. B. DOWNING, Grand Rapids, Mich.

"Was troubled with Rheumatism—tried several remedies with no effect. Had several doctors who did me no good—half a bottle of Dr. F. French's Unequalled Blood Purifier and Rheumatic Remedy cured me."

J. FREE SMITH, Lansing, Mich.

"Doctors called it Bright's Disease in its early stage. One bottle of Dr. F. French's Unequaled Blood Purifier and Rheumatic Remedy removed all symptoms of the disease—have felt nothing of it since."

Mrs. DIANA RIGGS, Hillsdale, Mich.

"Was sick for four years with enlargement of the Liver and Spleen, and General Prostration of the Nervous System; was attended by two of the best Doctors in the town and used no end of Patent Medicines, all who saw me thought there was no relief except by death, which seemed sure. A friend recommended Dr. F. French's Unequaled Blood Purifier and Rheumatic Remedy; in less than a week after I commenced taking it I was better. Six bottles cured me. You are welcome to use my name and this statement, and also refer anyone to me either personally or by mail, and I will tell them much more than I can write."

We have many more letters to the same effect.

This preparation is in no way to be classed among the many worthless Patent Medicines of the day, being simply a Prescription used by Dr. F. French, of Hillsdale, for many years in his practice. It is offered to the public with the full assurance of its being the Best Medicine on Earth for the cure of Rheumatism in all its various forms. Affections of the Stomach, Liver or Kidneys, Scrofula-Eruptions, and Cutaneous Diseases, Female Weakness, and all complaints arising from an Impure Condition of the Blood.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Not a Frivolous Holiday but a Time for Sacred Remembrance.

WHAT IS NOW BEING DONE.

Preparations for Its Proper Observance, Resolutions, Etc.

Memorial Day, not only "the choicest in the calendar of the Grand Army," but perhaps the dearest to a whole people, whose first instinct is patriotism and whose deepest reverance is for those who have died for them and for their country, is about to take its place again in the galaxy and the forward season reminds us of its near approach.

It would seem to be the desire of some, who live for self alone, to spread the idea that the observance of Memorial Day was simply a function of the G. A. R. and that its hold upon the popular mind was gradually waning, as the ranks of that organization, which no generation can recruit, were one by one mustered out from active duty in this life. But this should not be, and is not so. As those whose deeds have given cause for a patriotic pride and a gratitude which can never end, drop from the ranks and no longer sound the call for Memorial day, so should their benefactors continue with renewed zeal the observance of the customs which perpetuate the remembrance and foster the cultivation of the highest virtues of manhood and citizenship.

Tecumseh has never been behind in the observance of this day and already the call is sounded by the G. A. R., and our citizens have expressed a desire to make the occasion this year one of general observance by our people. The following will show what has been done, and it is hoped every one will make early preparations to keep the day in its proper spirit.

Tecumseh, Mich., April 20, '96.

To the Grand Army Post of Tecumseh:

We, the undersigned citizens of Tecumseh, desire to co-operate with your honorable organization in making preparations for and properly observing the coming Decoration Day, and will endeavor to meet any committee you may appoint for the purpose of making the necessary arrangements.

April 20, 1896.

A communication from the citizens of Tecumseh in regard to Memorial Day was received, read and approved. Motion made and carried that the officers of the post act with the citizen's committee on Memorial Day and at a special call at the council building at a future date, the citizens and soldiers will meet to make the necessary arrangements for Memorial Day.

H. W. STEVENS, Commander.
A. W. SLAYTON, Adjutant.

Headquarters G. A. R.,
Tecumseh, Mich., May 1, 1896.

The time is again at hand when inclination and duty call the Grand Army of the Republic to prepare for the solemn services of Memorial Day. In accordance with our rules and regulations, the thirtieth day of May is set apart for its reverent observance. This day is consecrated to the memory of our dead. It is the nation's festival of remembrance, when a liberty-loving and happy people, enjoying the blessings of prosperity, cease from their labors and with greateful hearts pay loving tribute to the memory of brave men who, having finished their course with honor and crossed the star-lit line, now rest peacefully under the shade of the trees on eternal camping grounds. Sweet be their sleep, unfading their glory, imperishable their fame. Cover the mounds above them with spring-time's richest offerings. Raise above them the flag they loved. Let silvered age standing by their tombs feel that with the dust of such men sleeping in our soil the Republic will stand with its glory undimmed and its power unbroken. Let trusting childhood weave garlands for them and at their graves receive inspiration that will keep them earnest in loyalty, pure in citizenship, and faithful to duty.

Special attention is called to the action of the Nineteenth National Encampment in regard to the desecration of Memorial Day by making it an occasion of amusement by games, base ball, races, etc. "Memorial Day is the choicest in the calendar of the Grand Army—a day of sweet remembrances, dear to any loyal heart, and any violation of its sacredness, by making it an occasion of frivolity and amusement, such as characterize the Fourth of July, should be treated as an indignity to the comrades who died that this country might live."

TIPTON'S TRAGEDY!

A Disconsolate Lover Shoots the Girl's Father and then Kills Himself.

INSANE LOVE THE CAUSE.

Henry Luce, the Hallucinated Perpetrator. Eugene Camburn the Victim.

Last Sunday evening at about 7:30 young Henry Luce, of Franklin, shot Eugene Camburn, perhaps fatally, and immediately sent another ball through his own brain. The tragedy occurred at the home of Mr. Camburn just east of Tipton or Franklin Center.

It appears that young Luce, who is about 19 years of age, has for some time cherished an almost insane affection for Camburn's adopted daughter, Miss Eva. This was for a time somewhat reciprocated until the suitor's attentions, despite the objections of the parents, and the better sense of the young lady, were pressed beyond the dictates of good judgment. As to the objections of Mr. Camburn, which seem to have exasperated and at times greatly depressed the misguided youth, they seem to have been made on the very reasonable opinion of the gentleman that his daughter, who has been attending school in Tecumseh, was, in view of her age and school duties not yet ready to receive the pressing attentions and offers of marriage, which were pressed upon her by the ardent Luce.

Luce, however, pressed his attentions and his jealousy only increased when the young lady tried to persuade him to break the engagement, and annoyed by his increasing attentions, tried to avoid him. Some time ago he procured a 32-calibre revolver and threatened to shoot himself should his solicitations of marriage be further rejected.

Sunday evening Mrs. Camburn attended services in Tecumseh, and Mr. Camburn went to the Congregational church at Tipton, of which he is sexton. Miss Camburn went to the adjoining house of W. J. Hampton, to get his daughter, Miss Ethel, to remain the evening with her. On the way she met Luce. He supposed she was going to church and said he would wait outside for her. Miss Camburn having of late come to fear the young man, went out by a rear door and left the store in company with Miss Hampton, and keeping it between them and Luce reached their home unobserved. Luce was appraised of this and returned to the Camburn residence. The girl, fearing him, had locked the doors and remained quiet inside, hoping he would leave on not being admitted. However, he attempted to force an entrance at the front and then at the rear door.

Meanwhile Mrs. Geo. Camburn, who lives opposite, had warned Mr. Camburn at the church, who hurried to the scene. Going round to the east side of the house he met the crazed youth just as he was descending the steps about 20 feet away. Mr. Camburn had barely time to say "Young man," when Luce fired, the ball entering Mr. Camburn's right breast, about one inch to the left of the nipple. Two shots followed, the first probably intended for Mr. Camburn and the last killing the suicide. The ball entered the right temple, the pistol being fired by the right hand, while the muzzle was held close to the head by the left, which was burned and bleeding.

Dr. O. N. Rice was immediately called and attended the wound of Mr. Camburn. Luce was found almost where he fired the shot. He remained unconscious and expired about 9 o'clock.

It has been deemed unadvisable to probe for the ball. Mr. Camburn is resting comfortably, but the outcome of his unfortunate experience cannot be foretold.

Mr. Camburn made an ante-mortem statement in which he exonerates the girl from all blame, and states that he had nothing against the marriage but the youth of the two.

Both the Camburn and Luce families, which were represented in this most unfortunate affair, are largely represented and well known in this locality. They are both well connected and hold a high reputation among their acquaintances. The young man was quiet, industrious and of excellent habits.

This sad tragedy furnishes another instance for contemplation on the unaccountable possibilities of human thought and its exact cause will probably never be fathomed in this world.

Hymenial.

About fifty of the relatives of the contracting parties gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orison West, on Locust street, Thursday evening, to witness the marriage of their daughter, Lora, to Tead Sission. At 7:30 the bride and groom-elect, preceded by Rev. L. C. Chase, Miss Imo Sisson, Mr. Lee Snedecor, Miss Lizzie Kratzer and Mr. Geo. Stover, entered the parlor and took their places beneath a beautiful floral arch which filled one corner of the room. The reverend gentleman then pronounced the words which made them man and wife. Mr. and Mrs. Sisson will make their future home in this city.—Adrian Times.

Toledo Blade, 29: The C., J. & M. Jackson extension will be open for passenger traffic May 10. The time table has not been arranged, but it is thought the Mackinac in connection with the Grand Trunk or Michigan Central, will give Toledo another line with Chicago. It will not be as good as the Lake Shore, but it will, with a differential, be able to catch considerable business. At any rate, the extension will complete an excellent route to Mackinaw, Lansing, Bay City and Saginaw.

Were it not for the fact that clouds were gathering on the political horizon, the kicker would be out of a job. It's a great pity too, for otherwise we might be able to bury a few. The weather for one month has been simply perfect. Soft showers, sweet sunshine and salubrious atmosphere. Every time it rains the kicker has said, "We'll get drowned out." "It will come off cold," "We will have a snow storm and frosts." But we didn't, and the month of April has been unprecedented for perfection. "Sic semper gloria kicker."

A large and appreciative gathering assembled to hear and witness the illustrated lecture on "The Passion Play," given last Friday night at the opera house by Rev. J. J. Lewis, of Boston. The ladies of the art club never do things by halves and their friends had confidence that this presentation would be truly meritorious and in this they were not disappointed. The theme was of the greatest scope, and the views depicted the vivid scenes of the greatest religious drama enacted since the time of Christ. The scene and characters of this wonderful play were depicted and explained in most graphic style, and the customs, devotion and genius of those humble peasants, which have turned the attention and admiration of a wondering world, were shown almost as a reality.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

HARD TUSSLE WITH BRUIN.

Oregon Hunter Attacks a Bear with an Ordinary Jackknife.

J. C. Hearing, who was hunting and trapping in the Blue mountains, a few miles west of Elgin, met with a little adventure with a bear recently that might have proved rather serious to him had it not been for the intervention of one of his dogs, says the Portland Oregonian. He was engaged in setting traps, and as he had considerable weight to carry he had no weapon with him except a jackknife, and on his rounds his dogs discovered the winter quarters of a bear in a big hollow tree. The bear was at home, and was pretty much alive, as subsequent events proved. As bear pelts are quite valuable, Jake was quite anxious to secure this one, but was afraid that if he went to camp, a mile and a half distant, bruin would escape, so he lashed his pocketknife to the end of a stick and attempted to cut the animal's throat. He only succeeded in inflicting some painful flesh wounds, which so enraged the brute that it suddenly came out of its hole, and was almost on him when one of his dogs made a sudden onslaught on the animal's rear, which diverted his attention long enough to enable Jake to dodge behind a tree, and the dogs soon made it so tropical for the bear that it was glad to take refuge in a tree, where they kept it until a gun was procured from camp, when the animal was quickly dispatched.

"FORM" IN BICYCLING.

How Society People Go a Wheeling—Attending Grooms and Maids.

The "form" of bicycling is beginning to be studied. Grooms on wheels must follow their mistresses as they did on horseback; it is probably only a question of a short time when the lady's maid will have to include wheeling with her other accomplishments to secure a situation. On the road the woman who wishes to ride a la mode has to know a number of little things that are overlooked by another woman, just as the smart set have a code for riding and driving that is as inexorable as that they should not eat with their knives or put sugar on oysters. Society insists on an upright position, with, of course, no attempt at racing pace. It also frowns upon constant ringing of the bell—that will do for the vulgar herd who delight in noise; the well-informed wheelwoman keeps eyes and ears alert and touches her bell rarely.

The White Feather.

The story runs that, during a war between the backwoods settlers of North America and the natives, a Quaker feasted the enemy and placed a white feather over the door of his house as a sign of amity. The token was respected. Hence the phrase: "Showing the white feather," which has come to mean cowardice.

A Tool for Thieves.

Thieves are using a contrivance looking like an ordinary walking stick, but which is so arranged that by pressing a spring at the handle the ferrule will spread apart and form a sort of spring clip that will take hold of anything that is within reach. The thing is called "the continental lifting stick."

BIG JOHN MORIARTY.

Said to Be the Tallest and Strongest Man in Eastern Maine.

John Moriarty, known all over eastern Maine as "Barney Kelley's Giant," died in Oldtown hospital recently of typhoid fever, says the Lewiston Evening Journal. He has been for nearly two years employed as construction hand on the Bangor & Aroostook railroad, and later on the new Ashland branch, where he became sick.

Moriarty stood 8 feet 9¾ inches in his stocking feet, and generally weighed 240 pounds. Had he been fat his weight would have been enormous. But he was very lean. "Why," said Barney Kelley, "you could feed the giant on porterhouse steak and eggs and he wouldn't gain a pound; but he was an awful tough man!"

His arms were very long and he had hands as powerful as the paws of a gorilla. All over his body the muscles stood out in lumps and cords, and his strength was immense. He could do as much work as two ordinary men, and on that account his services were always in demand at more than common wages. He was especially serviceable as a derrick man—he could turn the heavy crank all day without tiring. An ax was like a toy in his hands, a cant-dog like a walking-stick. He could up end and shoulder a small log or piece of timber that two ordinary men could barely lift, and in every department of hearty manual labor he was a very Hercules.

Many stories are told of the giant's mighty strength. Once, when two saucy woodsmen "guyed" him about his towering height, he seized them by the shoulders, one in each hand, and knocked their heads together till their teeth rattled—and they were two good-sized men.

At another time some toughs came into a barroom where he was and proceeded to "clear the place out." Moriarty took them, two at a time, and pitched them half way across the street as though they were so many ninepins.

Agony

The wonderful cure related below is by no means unusual with Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has given health to suffering children, even when health seemed impossible. The secret of its success is that it purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood.

"I wish to tell of a wonderful cure effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Five years ago my little boy was suddenly seized with a severe lameness, apparently in his right knee, which some physicians said was rheumatism, while others said it was hip disease and that it was

During the next winter and spring he became rapidly worse. We took Jimmie to a specialist, who said it was hip disease. At this time the affliction became so severe that we could not move him without causing screams of agony. He became reduced in weight to 30 pounds, and was but a shadow of his former self. We had about given up hope when we read of a cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla of a similar case. We resolved to try this medicine. Jimmie was decidedly improved after taking the first bottle. He was even after the second. We have since used over a dozen bottles of the medicine, and the change has exceeded our expectations. James is now able to walk without the aid of crutches and goes to school every day. He has been wonderfully cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla." J. O. RUNDELL, Oakley, Michigan.

Druggist C. C. Tubbs says he knows the Rundell boy has been wonderfully

by Hood's Sarsaparilla and that Mr. Rundell is thoroughly reliable. He has a good sale of Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills, both of which are giving perfect satisfaction. He says Hood's Pills seem to be the coming family cathartic.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other. Insist upon Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

TURNING GRAY AND THREATENED WITH BALDNESS

The Danger is Averted by Using

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAIGHT, Avoca, Neb.

THE workman often eats his lunch on the same bench where he does his work. The office man snatches a few minutes from his occupation and turns his desk into a dining-table. Neither gets the exercise he needs, neither takes the proper time for eating. It is small wonder that the digestion of both gets out of order.

Nature works as hard as she can, but there are some things she cannot stand. If [illegible] gets some foreign substance into the works of his watch, he doesn't expect the watch to run until the impediment is removed. But the owner of the digestive system is a thousand times more wonderful and delicate mechanism than that of his watch, and yet he neglects it and abuses it. He lets it get out of order, and refuses to help it. In the end neglect resents with terrible force upon the whole. The reaction comes on gradually, however, so that sometimes he scarcely sustains the cause.

The cause of nine-tenths of the sickness in the world is constipation—a condition which, of course. From this one [illegible] indigestion; disorders of the [illegible], liver and kidneys; biliousness, [illegible] malaria, heartburn, impurity of the blood and the serious complications [illegible]. To begin with, constipation is [illegible], and a little thing will cure it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated granules. They give to nature just the little help she needs. FARM AND GARDEN.

CONVENIENT HAY RACK.

Used for Years with Entire Success by Its Designer.

I have often wanted to haul hay, and being a lone-handed farmer and not desiring to take the bed off my wagon and put on the regular frames, I invented the hay-rack here illustrated, and have used it for years with success and satisfaction to myself and others; and for hauling shingles I never saw anything equal it.

It is made by using 6 pieces, 2x4 inches, 5 feet long, with ½-inch bolt

A CONVENIENT HAY-RACK.

20 inches from lower end (Fig. 1). Fig. 2 shows the frame in position on the end of the bed; raised marks show ends of parallel strips 1x4 or 1x6 inches. Fig. 3 shows one side of the frame when taken apart. For the ends I use a strip of plank or stud 5 feet long, laid on end-gate and floor of bed, projecting in rear and front end of wagon. Place each end back and in front of inside cleats on the bed before putting the long parallel strips on, and keep end-gate rods tight. On the center cross I put a 1-foot cleat tight against the outside of bed and on the under side of cross. This keeps the center of the bed from spreading; but all good wagon-beds have two outside braces, and ought not to spread, anyhow. However, this simple preventive makes it doubly secure.

Last, but not least, by any means, this frame folds up just like a pair of scissors, and can be hung up in a shed or against a building, and takes no space to house it. If farmers would only learn to take care of their utensils, there would be less mortgaging done than there is at present.

I never lift my wagon-bed off and throw it on the ground to lay for weeks in the rain and snow, and I never saw men work harder than I have seen them do while lifting the bed off and on the wagon, and split the tongue and groove in the bed floor.—E. J. Newkirk, in Farm and Fireside.

WHISKY FROM POTATOES.

Overproduction Likely to Give Corn an Energetic Rival.

The enormous overproduction of potatoes last summer will probably result in the establishment of potato distilleries in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan, where the tuber can be bought for five cents a bushel or less. Potato whisky is made and consumed on a large scale in Germany and Austria, and every traveler in Ireland is offered a sample of "poteen." Few, except the natives, ever have the courage to do more than look at it. However, small quantities of "poteen" are imported into the United States, and stuff bearing that name, and probably equally as effective as the genuine, can be had in every city.

The American distillers have not experimented much with potatoes. They say the potato flavor is not relished by men used to the Kentucky, Maryland, Pennsylvania or Tennessee article. A $50,000 plant is being erected at Manawa, Wis., according to press dispatches, to use up part of the surplus crop of 1895. The venture is being watched by other distillers, and if it proves successful corn will have a formidable rival. It is estimated 297,000,000 bushels of potatoes were sold or housed last year, compared with 170,000,000 bushels in 1894. Many states not specially adapted to potato raising went into the market, and as a result potatoes are now selling here to peddlers at 12 or 14 cents a bushel, and choice stock is going in small lots at 25 cents. It is believed the planting in 1896 will be less than in 1895, but not in the great potato states—New York, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Illinois and Colorado. If distillers can use potatoes they can always find refuse stock at low prices as the starch manufacturers do.

Preserving a Corn Crop.

The Vermont station tested four ways of preserving a corn crop for dairy feed; namely, 1, putting in silo, ears and all; 2, cribbing the ears and putting fodder in silo, feeding the two together after grinding the ears; 3, curing in shocks, then running through cutter, ears and all, at time of feeding; 4, curing in field, and husking and grinding ears, and running fodder through cutter at time of feeding. Of the four methods, putting into the silo, ears and all, cut in quarter inch lengths, gave the best results. This silage cost much less, handled much better, went farther and produced more milk than either of the other three feeds.

Cost of Harvesting Sugar Beets.

A record of all labor put on digging the beets was kept with the following result: Five and one-half days' team work, at 75 cents per day, $4.12; 22 days' man labor, at $1.50 per day, $33, making a total cost of $37.12 for digging 22.44 tons of beets, or $1.65 per ton. The beets were taken from the ground by plowing a deep furrow with the landslide as near as possible without cutting them, and they were then easily thrown in piles.—Colorado Experiment Station.

It is not a good plan to plow up more land than can be sufficiently fertilized and tilled to grow good crops.

Planting Them Is a Good Way of Clearing Land of Weeds.

There are crops that can be grown to take the place of pasture grass and at the same time serve to clear the ground of weeds. It is not to be expected, however, where the land is compelled to produce two or more crops, that it can do so unaided, for that would be impossible, unless the soil was very rich; yet there is a way of growing a large amount of green food and feeding it at the barn while the pasture is being renewed. It is important to keep stock off the pasture land when the grass begins to fail; yet the cows must be provided for, and with green food, as they will not thrive during the summer if compelled to subsist on hay, fodder and grain entirely. Green and succulent foods are essential to the thrift of the animals, promoting digestion, preventing bowel diseases and increasing the flow of milk as well as protecting against the heat of summer.

For cows the broadcasting of oats and peas, to be moved as wanted, and fed to the cows in the barnyard, will provide an excellent substitute for pasture grass, such food being assisted by hay and grain. It will permit of resting the pasture land. Later in the season Hungarian grass may be sown on the same land. As it is a quick-growing crop, providing a cutting every four or five weeks and of a sufficient growth for hay, it will more readily provide green food that is wanted daily, and it will continue to produce green food until it goes to seed or is overtaken by frost. This mode of feeding is styled "soiling" and applies to the practice of growing green food and carrying it to the stock instead of turning the stock on the green food. It also gives a larger amount of food, as a new crop comes up on the space just cut, thus keeping up a continued supply, while the manure saved in the barnyard is an additional item. Labor, however, must not be overlooked, as more attention to stock will be necessary, but the land will provide for twice as many cattle as the same area in pasture.

Where crops are cut frequently the weeds are also mowed down at the same time, being thus destroyed, and, aside from this, any thickly sown crop that makes rapid growth crowds the weeds out. If a piece of land can be cleared of weeds in this manner it will pay for the labor of soiling the stock.—Philadelphia Record.

TIGHT FOUNDATIONS.

A Point Often Overlooked in the Construction of Farm Buildings.

Too often farm buildings are set either on cedar posts or on posts of flat stones, the rest of the "foundation" being left open for winds to blow under the buildings, keeping the stock exceedingly cold in winter and affording a place for the harboring of rats, weasles and other pests. This plan is altogether wrong. Farm buildings should always have a tight foundation. If it is desired to ventilate beneath the buildings in summer, put in a window, covered on the inside with fine wire netting. It is not at all an expensive matter to make a stone foundation. One can do the work himself with rough rocks. Dig a trench, and if possible put in a line of tile around the bottom if an outlet can be had at one side. On dry, gravelly soil this would not be necessary. Dig the trench wider at the bottom and fill nearly to the top with loose stones, well packed. This wall should grow narrower as it rises, so the frost will not have a chance to lift the stones on the sides. From just below the surface of the ground lay the rough rocks in cement mixed with coarse, sharp sand. A foot or less is enough of height above the ground for most foundations. A loose stone foundation like this must not have water standing at the bottom among the stones or the frost will make bad work. An outlet should be found to turn the water away. If a short piece of drain can tap the foundation of loose stones at the lowest point the tile beneath the stones may not be needed, the open passage among the rocks allowing the draining away of the water to the outlet of the drain. With such foundations buildings will always stay firmly in place without sagging in any part, and will keep all stock within them much warmer than would otherwise be the case.—N. Y. Tribune.

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

One source of increased cost is in wasteful feeding.

Feeding sheep will not fatten on rough feed alone.

Before spring work opens go over the fences and see that they are in good repair.

Two essential points in securing a good oat crop are early seeding and a fine seed bed.

Now is a good time to renovate the orchard and fill the vacant places with good varieties of trees.

Too much care cannot be exercised in selecting thoroughly healthy and vigorous animals for breeding purposes.

It is a principle well settled in the practice of breeding that high bred animals cost but little more to the producers than low fed stock.

Unless warm, dry quarters can be provided for the brood sows and their young pigs there is no possible advantage in having them farrow early.—Farmers' Review.

DOG OF THE IRON MASK.

Although Only an Aristocratic Statue It Deceived the Street Mongrel.

A relative who lives in one of the one-time fashionable mansions now become students' boarding houses, in the south end, tells me a pretty good story of a dog, says a reporter for the Boston Post. In the yard, where a fountain was once known to play, but where now dust gathers, is an iron statue of a dog. The iron dog watches and guards the old fountain, but he in his turn has an admirer and adorer. The other day, hunting for another dog to go out and play tag with him, came a young street mongrel. He was unaccustomed to the ways of aristocracy, and in his simple ignorance supposed that anything that looked like a dog was a dog.

Up to the statue he bounded barking and wagging his tail. In stately immobility the iron dog gazed on out into vacancy. This did not deceive the other. He had seen plenty of dogs assume just that haughty and abstracted manner when they did not care to fight. Wishing to show his iron friend that he appreciated his attitude, but assuring him of no evil intention, the dog from the street kept on barking and wagging his tail. He even ran around his friend a number of times to show that there was no ill-will—as is the manner of dogs. But the dog of the iron mask did not budge. My relative says that he is sure that even if the street dog had brought around a cat to chase the iron dog would have remained unmoved. A red Irish setter came out finally and called the street dog away. The latter went with distinct traces of reluctance in his manner. He liked the style of that iron dog and had rather play in his yard with him.

ARRIVING AT CONCLUSIONS.

Unique Methods of Reasoning Which Some People Adopt.

Charles Daniels, a member of congress from Buffalo, served 28 years on the New York supreme court bench before he was elected to congress. Recently, in talking over old law cases with a number of lawyers, says the Troy Times, he told a story which was a dazzling illustration of the unique methods pursued by some people to arrive at conclusions. The case in question was that of a man named Greenfield, living in Oswego county, who had been convicted in the lower court of the murder of his wife. The case was carried to the court of appeals, which reversed the finding of the lower court. A special hearing was ordered by the governor. This was held at Syracuse, and Judge Daniels was called upon to preside. In examining the jurors, one man said that he was prejudiced in the matter. When asked if he had gleaned his prejudice from the papers or by talking with interested parties or by hearsay, he replied to every question that he didn't know a thing about the case, but that he was nevertheless prejudiced. He was excused, but Judge Daniels was not satisfied, and he sent the sheriff and had the juror brought to him. He asked him where he had gained his prejudice. The fellow replied: "I don't know anything about the case, but the lawyers made such idiots of themselves in examining the jurors that I knew the man must be guilty."

The Water Lily.

Several specimens of water lilies have the very curious peculiarity of blooming all day and at evening closing their blossoms, and, by retracting the stem, drawing the flour entirely under water. There is no more singular fact in the history of flowers than this oddity of the water lily.

Long Wagon Bridge in Texas.

The longest wagon bridge in the world is situated at Galveston, Tex. It is more than three miles long, and spans the Galveston bay from north to south.

What Leads You to use the imitations of Pearline? Some trifling prize, cheap prices, or because the grocer or peddler says "same as" or "as good as?" What do these amount to, if your things are ruined in the washing?

They may be. And you can't see the damage that a dangerous washing compound is doing, until the damage is done; with the poorest, that takes some time. With these imitations that nobody knows about, you have to take your own risk. Be on the safe side, and use only the original—Pearline. Millions of women can tell about that. OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., April, 23 '96.

No intelligent man could have been in Washington this week without being convinced of the truth of the adage, "Extremes meet." The delegates to the National Arbitration Conference, composed of more than 300 prominent citizens representing 38 states, who came to Washington to push along the idea of compulsory arbitration of international disputes, were met by the Venezuelan question, which has again assumed threatening proportions, by reason of Lord Salisbury's latest communication refusing the proposals of this government and the consequent renewal of war talk among belligerent Congressmen. And they also found Congressmen talking of declaring war against Spain, because of the reported secret execution of Walter Dygert, a young American who has been in a Cuban prison and whose release had been positively promised the State Department. Notwithstanding these drawbacks, the Arbitration Conference was a success, and was a long step towards the adoption of a policy of arbitration by this government wherever possible.

The A. P. A. fight in the House may be renewed when the Senate amendment allowing two years to change the Indian sectarian schools into Government schools comes up. The A. P. A. men in the House succeeded in putting in a proviso in this bill forbidding the payment of a dollar by the government to Indians which are under sectarian management, and it is said they will refuse to accept the Senate amendment as the compromise it was intended to be.

One of the most unique propositions ever submitted to Congress is contained in the resolution offered by Senator Cannon, of Utah, providing for an inquiry into the feasibility of the construction, near Washington, of a topographical map of the United States on a scale of one inch to the mile. It did not need the speech of Senator Cannon in favor of his resolution to convince anybody that such a map would give such an object lesson of the appearance of our country as could not be obtained by years of studying printed maps, but whether it is feasible to make and maintain such a map is the first thing to be considered. According to Mr. Cannon's own figures the map would cover 625 acres. As it would not be covered it would be necessary to construct the map out of some sort of weather resisting material, and as all the rivers and lakes are to be shown by real water it would have to be made of something that would not wash away. That it would be a good thing to have there is no doubt, but like some other good things, it may be too costly for every day use.

The average politician is a gullible individual, and the more prominent he is the more gullible he appears to be. This statement may appear somewhat strong, but it is fully proven by the ease with which two slick-tongued colored individuals, claiming a pull with the voters of "the race," "touched" Senators Hill and Allison, and representative Grosvenor, of Ohio, who is the custodian of the Washington end of the McKinley boom; and the queerest part of the transaction was that when the frauds were exposed and confronted by the three gentlemen they had "worked" neither of them would agree to prosecute the rascals, but all agreed in advising the chief of the Capitol police to let them go with a warning to keep away from the Capitol building. Such advice was in the nature of an order and was, of course, followed. Certainly the bare fact that two unknown colored men, with no better credentials than their own claims to control votes, could get money from these men is proof enough of the the gullibility of politicians. They called themselves democrats when they went to see Senator Hill, and claimed residence in New York. They were republicans when they saw the other gentlemen.

The most startling bit of Presidential news of the week is a story that if the democratic silver men control the Chicago convention they may nominate Senator Cameron, of Pa., for President. According to the story, Mr. Cameron has been sounded in a diplomatic way by democratic silver Senators as to whether he would accept the nomination, and the belief is that he would. Those who regard the story as probable point to Senator Cameron's recent statement to his Pennsylvania friends that he did not wish to be sent to the republican national convention as a delegate. They think this indicates a desire on his part to be left free to act as he pleases in the Presidential campaign.

They compared the business of the two towns, and it was not at all favorable for our sister village.—Blissfield Advance. It would be a sad blow, indeed, for Tecumseh to loose such astute business material as this.

If Willard Stearns has any respect for his past, present or future standing in this community he will need to sue the Evening News for libel on account of the picture appearing in that paper over his name last night. Willard is pugnacious as well as tenacious, but he doesn't look like a Russian Nihilist, as the picture would indicate.—Telegram.

A business man in Monroe looked up the railway time table printed in the Democrat in 1883. He got left, being 13 years behind hand. It cannot be that Philander was on the Democrat at that time, for with his wonderful foresight he sometimes looks into the future 13 times 13 years, and could easily write up copy for a perpetual time table.

The Monroe Democrat, thus lightly speaks of the duties performed by the overburdened and self sacrificing path master: Pathmasters may allow 25 per cent of the road work in setting out trees at 25 cents per tree. This is an easy and useful way of working out the tax and will spare the damage usually inflicted on the road by the "wayback method" of working it.

Marshal Jerry was telephoned Tuesday morning to arrest a young colored fellow named Stone. He did so and in the afternoon the sheriff from Adrian came over and took him in possession. Stone and his said to be wife had been spending the winter here with Stanley Murray, but at this juncture another lady in Lenawee finding that he was here decided she wanted him too.—Saline Observer.

What, if anything, is to be done this year about the city building site? The money is lying idle.—Ann Arbor Courier. Yes, the money and the lawyers and the railway track and newspaper men are all lying and there seems to be more lying to the square rod in Ann Arbor than in any place in America outside of Lansing. It is said figures won't lie, but several have been seen lying around in the parks summer evenings. Even the sheep have been lying down there, about the wool clip.—Adrian Press. The Press was lying more snugly to the truth than usual in the above.

From my ignorance of municipal affairs and particularly on account of my lack of experience in presiding over deliberative bodies, I realize that at times it must nave been a severe tax upon your forbearance. — Outgoing Mayor Kirkpatrick, of Adrian. I deeply regret that I am not possessed of the superior knowledge with which my predecessor is endowed that I might perform the functions of my office with that high degfee of skill and marked ability that has characterized his term.—Incoming Mayor Hunt, of Adrian. Which of these men is the liar?—Monroe Democrat. No liar in the house. Probably each man was telling the exact truth.

The state league is dead. The State Republican thus speaks most feelingly of its demise. The demise occurred last evening, a few of the sorrowing relatives and friends being present. The Michigan state base ball league was born one year ago and developed into a very healthy infant, strong of its age. It remained out late one night last fall, however, and was severely chilled by the frost. Consumption followed and the hand of death has threatened to smite the child several times. The balmy spring air seemed to put new life into the once strong constitution and a complete recovery was hoped for. About three weeks ago while playing in the back yard with visitors from Muskegon, Toledo, Saginaw, Jackson and other cities a jealous rival gave the Lansing kid a vicious stab under the fifth rib and it never recovered from the shock. The tender plant did not receive the nursing it should have received from Lansing people and a broken heart was one of the causes of death. Dr. Mumby was summoned from Owosso yesterday and a consultation was held, but it was too late and the Michigan state league was laid to rest.

A STRICT SABBATARIAN.

The Sunday Question as Solved by a Maine Farmer.

A case of unusual strictness in Sabbath observance is reported from West Auburn, Me. A farmer was waited on by one of his neighbors who asked for the loan of his team the following Sunday to take his wife and children to the cemetery. At first he flatly refused to let the team, arguing that it would be a sin to receive money for such a thing on the Sabbath day, but he finally said to the neighbor that he would think it over and let him know Saturday, remarking that he would pray over it in the meantime. Saturday the neighbor called and the farmer said that he pondered and prayed over the matter and come to the conclusion that it would be no harm to let the team, but that the neighbor must not pay for it until some week day following. So the neighbor hired the team to go to the cemetery on Sunday, paying for it on Monday, and everything was satisfactory.

HORSELESS SLEIGH INVENTED.

Will Run on Snow and Ice and Even in the Water.

Motors for horseless sleighs are among the latest novelties at the patent office. They are light, powerful affairs, and can be run by an amateur as easily as those attached to horseless carriages. The sleighs are designed, says the New York World, to run either on the snow or ice. A pair of spurred wheels is arranged between the runners, and with a little lever the driver can adjust them so that they will work on the soft snow just as smoothly as upon ice. One inventor has also provided against the danger of breaking through the ice. His sleigh is formed something like a boat, and is perfectly water tight. If the ice should break the sleigh would float, and the ice spurs would act as paddle wheels in bringing you to shore again.

One patent is for a sleigh that may be rowed across the ice. On the end of each oar is a heavy weight with a sharp steel point to cut into the ice. Another rowboat for the ice is rigged with sliding seat and legs with sharp spurs, which catch into the ice and shove the boat forward each time the rower pulls. Considerable speed is obtained by this arrangement, although the rowing is not as easy as upon the water.

SPOILED THE PERFORMANCE.

Misadventure That Befell an Actor in a Realistic Play.

Last winter a number of literary people indulged from time to time in amateur theatricals. During February they produced a comedy. One of the actors, says London Tid-Bits, played the part of a burglar and had to climb up the outside of the house in which the entertainment was given and enter through the window, which was at the rear of the improvised stage. He hurried around from the dressing-rooms and valiantly commenced to struggle up the wall, when a policeman grasped him by the neck, thinking him a veritable burglar. He started to explain, but the minion of the law would have none of it. The audience was wondering in the meantime why the play did not proceed, and the young actors and actresses on the stage were eagerly waiting for the burglar to enter and give them the cue, when they heard shrieks, yells, oaths and threats from the garden. Rushing out, they found the amateur burglar thrashing wildly about the grass, while a brawny policeman sat on his shoulders hammering his neck into the mud.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaversville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at Baker & Hall's drug store. 2

Nest of Clock Springs.

In the Museum of Natural History at Soleure, in Switzerland, there is a bird's nest made entirely of steel. There are a number of clock-making shops at Soleure, and in the yards of these there are often found lying disused or broken springs of clocks. One day a clockmaker noticed in a tree in his yard a bird's nest of peculiar appearance. Examining it, he found that a pair of wagtails had built a nest entirely of clock springs. It was more than four inches across, and perfectly comfortable for the birds. After the feathered architects had reared their brood, the nest was taken to the museum, where it is preserved as a striking illustration of the skill of birds in turning their surroundings to advantage in building their nests.

A PARALYTIC STROKE.

Physicians at the Ann Arbor Hospital Said it was Due to a Blood Clot.

BUT THEY DID NOT RELIEVE HIM.

The Paralysis Probably due to Nervous Causes. Finally Cured by a Nerve Food.

From the Gazette, Hudson, Mich.

Last week a reporter of this paper was driving in the vicinity of Round Lake and he took in as passenger a farmer who was going to Geneva. Engaging in conversation, the farmer friend, who was somewhat of a garrulous old gentleman, asked the reporter who he was and where he lived. The reporter told him that he was a newspaper man and the old gentleman said, "Well you newspaper men are always up-to-date and eager for everything new, have you heard of the news in Geneva?" The reporter confessed that he had not, but asked the farmer to tell him anything of a novel and interesting nature which had transpired in that pretty little hamlet. "Well," said the old gentleman, "Geneva has to offer in the way of wonders something entirely different from anything ever heard of before. It is the case of a man cured of paralysis." The reporter took out his note book to get the facts of the story.

"Before I begin to tell you what I know about this, I want you to promise that you will go and see the subject of this interview, so that all may be made known in the report. I know he will be pleased to see you and will tell you all about the matter." The reporter promised him he would see the man if he didn't live at too great a distance, and the old farmer told his story.

"About ten months ago, Marion G. Sales, a stalwart blacksmith of 33 years, living in North Adams, Mich., was stricken with paralysis, his legs being affected. While he was working at his trade, lifting a large tire of a wagon to set it on the wheel, he fell to the ground, helpless, and the tire fell on him. He was removed to his home, his friends thinking he was hurt by some misstep. When the doctor came he found that Mr. Sales had been the victim, not of an accident, but of a paralytic stroke, and thought from appearances the case a serious one. You know, Mr. Reporter, that oftentimes blacksmiths are subject to such disease on account of the peculiar postures they are obliged to take. Mr. Sales was a perfectly healthy man; I have known him intimately from a boy, and know that to be true; it is all the more wonderful, therefore, that he should have this visitation. Soon after this, perhaps six weeks, he came to his father's home here. He had been to Ann Arbor to seek help and the doctors there gave him no encouragement. His father, who has lived here for years, thought better care could be taken of him here than any other place. He was confined to his bed or chair for months, unable to take a step and no prospect of ever doing so again, depending upon his wife or parents to draw him in a chair from place to place. One of his friends induced him to try a remedy known as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and you would be astonished to note the progress the man has made since taking them. I have given you a rather disconnected account of this case, but every word of it is true and you will find it worth your time to see Mr. Sales and hear from his own lips the story of his recovery. It is the wonder of the town."

The reporter, making good his promise and being somewhat curious, proceeded to Mr. Sales' residence to hear more of this wonderful case. After making himself known the reporter was welcomed by Mr Sales. "I hear that your recovery from a serious paralytic stroke is due to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People?"

"Yes, I am sure that is the remedy that I am indebted to for my fast returning health," he said, "It seems odd, don't it, that after all the medical advice I have received, in the Ann Arbor Hospital, the consultations on my case and all the skilled help I could call, that I should be cured of paralysis by a little pill?"

"When were you stricken with this disease, Mr. Sales?" inquired the reporter.

"The ninth day of last October I was at work at my trade and the stroke came upon me like lightning."

"Did the doctors at any time give you encouragement that you would recover from your attack?"

"None at all on account, as they said, that it was the result of blood clot."

"To what specialists did you go?"

"Well, after all the physicians at North Adams had given me up, I went to the hospital at Ann Arbor a month after I was hurt and received the comforting news that I would never have the use of my limbs again. I went to my home with feelings that can be better imagined than described. I came to father's house helpless and remained in that condition for seven months. A friend induced me to try these pills and I began to take them May 20. I had taken three boxes before noting any improvement. On the eighth day of July I walked with the aid of crutches, the first time I had touched my legs to the floor in all that time, and within a few weeks I have been able to walk without the aid of crutches in the house and am recovering from the attack in splendid shape. I cannot speak too highly of Pink Pills for Pale People. To that simple remedy I owe my present condition, and I look for the not very future day when I shall be able to walk without the aid of crutches or cane. To those that know me and know about my case, my recovery is regarded as very wonderful I think that Pink Pills are destined to save many from suffering and pain, and I hope that those who suffer will profit by this interview."

GENEVA, MICH., Aug. 31, 1895.

I hereby certify that the foregoing interview is true in every respect, and that the reporter of the Hudson Gazette did visit me Saturday, the 31st day of August, and recorded these facts.

Signed, MARION J. SALES.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are prepared by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., of Schenectady, N. Y., a firm whose ability and reliability are unquestioned. Pink Pills are not looked upon as a patent medicine, but as a prescription, having been used as such for years in general practice, and their successful results in curing various afflictions made it imperative that they be prepared in quantities to meet the demand of the public, and place them in reach of all. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, and the tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration, all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature.

Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose form by the dozen or hundred, and the public are cautioned against numerous imitations sold in this shape) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Summary of the Daily Proceedings in Congress.

Measures of Importance That Are Under Consideration in the Senate and the House—Bills and Resolutions Passed.

Washington, April 30.—In the senate yesterday resolutions were adopted accepting from the state of Wisconsin the statue of James Marquette. The naval appropriation bill was then taken up and the remainder of the session was given up to political speeches.

Washington, May 1.—The naval appropriation bill was further discussed in the senate yesterday. A bill was favorably reported to protect free labor from convict competition by confining the scale of goods manufactured by convict labor to the state where produced. Senator Hill introduced a bill in relation to contempts of United States courts, the bill defining direct contempts to be those committed during the sitting of a court or a judge in chambers in its or his presence; all other contempts are indirect.

Washington, May 2.—During the discussion of the naval appropriation bill in the senate yesterday Senator Tillman (S. C.) made a bitter attack on the president and secretary of thetreasury and was replied to by Senator Hill (N. Y.). Senator Butler (N. C.) introduced a bill to make the Mexican silver dollar, the Japanese yen and the trade dollar equal in value to the standard dollar of the United States.

Washington, May 4.—After a week's debate, which has taken a wide range, the senate on Saturday passed the naval appropriation bill. It provides, among other things, for two battle ships and 13 torpedo boats.

Washington, May 5.—In the senate yesterday the time was occupied in discussing the resolution to investigate the issue of bonds, Senator Hill speaking against it.

Washington, May 6.—In the senate yesterday an hour was devoted to the consideration of the river and harbor bill, and then the Peffer bond resolution was taken up and Senator Hill finished his speech in opposition to the measure and Senator Pettigrew spoke in its favor. A resolution was introduced requesting the president to protest against the execution of American citizens taken on board the schooner Competitor by a Spanish gunboat. Twenty-seven pension bills were passed.

THE HOUSE.

Bills Introduced and Petitions and Resolutions Presented.

Washington, April 30.—The house spent the time yesterday in further discussion of the bankruptcy bill.

Washington, May 1.—In the house yesterday the general debate on the bankruptcy bill was concluded. A bill was introduced to provide for the purchase of the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln in Kentucky and to erect on the site a national soldiers' home, to be known as the "Lincoln Soldiers' Home."

Washington, May 2.—The house devoted the major portion of the time yesterday to debate on the bankruptcy bill. A bill to provide for a delegate in congress from the territory of Alaska was defeated, 44 to 60.

Washington, May 4.—In the house on Saturday, after five days of debate, the Henderson bill to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy was passed by a vote of 157 to 81. Under its terms there are eight acts for which a debtor can be forced into involuntary bankruptcy, as follows:

1. If a person has concealed himself with intent to defraud his creditors for 48 hours.
2. Failed for 30 days while insolvent to secure the release of any property levied upon for $500 or over.
3. Made a transfer of any of his property with intent to defraud his creditors.
4. Made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors.
5. Made, while insolvent, a transfer of any of his property for the purpose of giving a preference.
6. Procured or suffered a judgment to be entered against him with intent to defeat his creditors and suffered same to remain unpaid ten days.
7. Secreted any of his property to avoid its being levied upon under legal proceedings against himself.
8. Suffered, while insolvent, an execution for $500 or over to be returned no property found.

Washington, May 5. — In the house yesterday Mr. Woodman (Ill.) introduced a resolution requesting the president to immediately issue a proclamation recognizing the Cuban revolutionists as belligerents. The naval appropriation bill was considered and a bill was passed for the protection of American yacht owners and ship-builders.

Washington, May 6. — The naval bill was further discussed in the house yesterday and the measure was finally sent to conference.

Cut His Throat.

Rockford, Ill., May 6.—Oliver Olney, a wealthy farmer of Ogle county, committed suicide by cutting his throat from ear to ear. He had a monument erected for himself some months ago and all preparations made for his death.

Heavily Mortgaged.

Detroit, May 5.—The Ideal Manufacturing company, manufacturers of plumbers' supplies, etc., has filed a mortgage covering the real estate and personal property of the company, situated at Nos. 546 to 568 Franklin street, for $37,500 to secure a note for that amount now overdue and running to James C. Smith, Jr.

INSTALLED.

Bishop Williams, of Marquette, Assumes His Duties.

Detroit, Mich., May 2.—Rev. G. Mott Williams was consecrated bishop of the new diocese of Marquette at Grace church in this city Friday. The preacher of the day was Rt. Rev. William E. McLaren, of Chicago. The consecrator was Rt. Rev. Daniel Tuttle, of Indiana, assisted by Rt. Rev. C. T. Quintard, of Tennessee, and Rt. Rev. Francis K. Brooke, of Oklahoma, and the bishop of Michigan.

[Bishop Williams was born at Fort Hamilton, N. Y., in the quarters of his grandfather, Assistant Surgeon Joseph H. Bailey, U. S. A., February 17, 1837. He was the second child of Maj. Thomas Williams, U. S. A., afterward general, who was killed at the battle of Baton Rouge. His father's father was the first mayor of Detroit, and the family has been in Detroit since 1710.

Mr. Williams grew up after his father's death in Newburg, N. Y., where he attended the old free academy, and afterward went to Cornell university at Ithaca, N. Y. He was obliged to leave midway in his course to assume business cares in Detroit, and after studying law with Robert P. Toms was admitted to the bar in 1859. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Harris in 1880 and priest in 1882. He spent a ministry of nine years in Detroit, more than half of which was as rector of St. George's church. After a brief experience in church journalism, partly in Detroit and partly in Buffalo, where he had charge of the cathedral, he became dean of Milwaukee, and in 1891 archdeacon of the northern peninsula of Michigan.

He has traveled extensively, and is quite familiar with modern languages. He is a member of several patriotic societies, such as the Loyal Legion and Sons of the American Revolution. He is an honorary M. A. of Hobart college. He has been twice a member of the general convention and was twice within one year mentioned for the episcopacy, Indiana having nearly chosen him in February, 1894. He has served several years in the state troops. He married Miss Lillie B. Biddle, of Detroit, in 1879, and has six children.]

WOMAN CRUELLY WHIPPED.

Two "Sanctified Saints" Say They Punish by Order of God.

Allegan, May 6.—Officer Bensley, who went to the camping grounds of the "sanctified saints" near Grand Junction, for the purpose of arresting Charles Orr and Jeremiah Cole on the charge of starving and maltreating children, returned Monday night. He reported that Cole had disappeared and that Orr was in Indiana. From Clifford Lundey and Ora Strong, aged 15 and 17, he learned what he considers conclusive evidence of cruelty. They say:

"We saw the whipping of Eva Acres for denying a misdeed of which she was accused. Two women stripped her to her underwear. Cole took a whip in both hands and applied it with great force. We thought she would drop. Her 17-year-old sister pleaded in vain for mercy. Cruelty failing to bring the confession, she was made to kneel upon the altar and thank them for the whipping. In this she did not suit them and was whipped again. Pike said it was ordered by God, but Cole confessed that the whipping was harder than ordered."

Mr. Bensley thinks arrests will be made soon. The "sanctified saints" are a peculiar sect, with some strength in the southwestern portion of the state. They claim to arrive at a more than human state of holiness and to be under the direct guidance of God. At their annual world's meeting men salute each other with kisses. They are very fervent in prayer, claim to cast out evil spirits and to perform miracles by prayer.

JUMPED THE TRACK.

Accident to a Detroit Street Car—Several Hurt.

Detroit, May 4.—Motor car No. 75 of the Detroit railway, jumped the track in rounding the curve at the corner of Parquette avenue and Hastings street at an early hour Sunday morning, injuring the motorman and conductor and three passengers more or less seriously. The motorman was unfamiliar with the route and the car was running at a rapid rate of speed when it struck the curve. It jumped free of the tracks, ran 40 feet over the pavement, jumped the curbstone and crashed into an iron trolley pole, badly wrecking the body of the car. Motorman John Hart and Miss Martha Winkler, a passenger, were the most seriously hurt. They were removed to Harper hospital, and both will recover. James Miller and Samuel Sanderson received severe bruises, and Conductor Brown had one of his hands badly cut. The other occupants of the car escaped with a severe shaking up.

A Long Nap.

Saginaw, May 5.—Little Helen Breiter, the four-year-old daughter of John Breiter, has been apparently asleep since Thursday night last. She has not opened her eyes, but has answered "yes" and "no" to questions regarding her nourishment. She has been ill for five weeks from some brain affection. She shows no signs of emaciation.

Reduced the Police Force.

Saginaw, May 2.—The common council at this place is determined to reduce the expense of maintaining the police department. Thursday it convened in secret session and effected a cut of $5,000 by reducing the force by six patrolmen, and cutting the salaries of the chief, captains and sergeants.

Charged with Arson.

Saginaw, May 2.—The arrest of Mrs. William Hagen, wife of Patrolman William Hagen, and two girls, Emily Kress and Bertha Yarmouth, at this place on a charge of arson has created considerable excitement. The offense for which the women are held was an alleged attempt to set fire to the Eleventh Street Baptist mission about ten o'clock Wednesday night.

DEATH TO MANY.

This Was the Result of an Explosion in Cincinnati.

A Six Building Completely Wrecked—Six Persons Known to Be Dead, and a Number Are Missing—Many Are Wounded.

Cincinnati, May 5.—What may prove to be the most disastrous calamity of the year occurred in this city Monday night, when a five-story brick structure, filled with people, completely collapsed and fell, a conglomerate mass of brick and shattered timbers, burying the unfortunate inmates beneath its ruins. It is impossible to say how many persons have been killed, some placing the number as high as 40, other as low as 15. Up to midnight six persons were known to be dead, and eleven injured. Following is a list of the unfortunates:

The Victims.

DEAD—Rollin A. Davis, of the Columbia Carriage company, Hamilton, O.; Adolph Drach, proprietor of the saloon; Felicia Drach, his five-year-old daughter; C. B. Wells, 46 Harrison street; Ella Singleton, of Zanesville, domestic in Drach family; Mamie Kennedy, domestic in Foys family.

INJURED—Willard E. Cook, contusion of elbow and lacerated brow; Emil Drach, compound fracture of right arm and lacerated scalp; Olga Drach, contusion of head and limbs; H. E. Hunwick, right shoulder dislocated; Peter Burns, severe contusions of body; Charles Spilley, contusion of head and arm; Sidney W. Johnson, scalp lacerated; John McCarthy, contusions of head, legs and abdomen; Barbara Huddselmann, eyes injured; Joseph Spriggs, face and arms burned; J. B. Ward, of Toledo, left knee lacerated.

It is thought several of the injured will die. It is known that more victims are in the ruins. No accurate statement can be given on this point until the debris shall have been cleared away. The building was situated on the east side of Walnut street just south of Fifth street. The lower floor was occupied by Drach's saloon. The upper apartments were rented out to lodgers.

Cause of the Disaster.

The explosion was caused by the ignition of a gasoline tank. Adolph Drach, proprietor of the saloon on the lower floor had recently placed a gasoline engine in his cellar for the purpose of generating his own gasoline fuel. Best authorities agree that the commutator of the engine had burned out, setting fire to the tank of gasoline.

The explosion came like a thunderclap from a clear sky. Eyewitnesses say that the building was seen to shake for an instant and then to slump in, and almost a second later only an indiscriminate mass of ruins remained. The walls of the two adjoining buildings on either side stood up stark and naked. Upon one of these, about the third story from the ground, was left a fragment of plastering, upon which three pictures remained hanging unharmed. The streets all around the block are literally covered with pieces of glass and the shock was felt for almost a mile around.

Many Hurt on the Street.

In addition to the victims who are buried beneath the building it is estimated that fully 100 people have been more or less injured by the concussion, falling electric wires and fragments of the shattered glass, stone and timbers.

Some twenty odd of those injured on the streets were taken into the Gibson house, just across the way, and their wounds dressed. Among these was Chief of Police Joseph Pugh, of Covington, Ky., who reports the most miraculous escape of the tragedy. He states that he was just in the act of entering the saloon—in fact, one foot was upon the door sill when he was startled by the flash from a burning electric wire overhead. He sprang backward, when almost simultaneously the explosion occurred and he felt the ground leave his feet. He was blown almost into the middle of the street, and this alone saved his life.

Heavy Shortage.

Washington, May 6.—It is reported upon what is believed to be good authority that the expert accountant employed by the secretary of state has found a shortage of $127,000 in the trust-funds account of F. J. Keickhofer, until recently the disbursing officer of the state department. This amount, together with the $12,000 shortage said to be found by the auditing officers of the treasury in Mr. Keickhofer's general account, brings the total up to $139,000. What action the government will take in the matter has not been made known.

Clinton is dry for sure. However, the crescent of Pabst malt extract displayed in Randall's drug store is what an old settler would call a wet moon, especially if he were a little dry.

Clinton is becoming noted for her fruit farms and for the quantity and quality of this product which she sends to the market each fall. But the fruit farms are an important feature of this section in spring as well as autumn, and form one of the most attractive sights which go to make up the environments of one of the prettiest and most attractive villages in the state.

With the return of the spring time and the lilac, the delicious fragrance of that favorite flower leaves only one wish—that it could be prolonged throughout the season. This reminds one of the old legend concerning the lilac. In ancient times it was supposed that, if the leaves of this shrub were cut off about the second day of August, the whole plant would begin anew as in the spring time. New leaves will be put forth, new buds will form and new flowers and blossoms, with all the fragrance and delightful freshness of May, will adorn the modest bush. Although this theory of the rejuvinating qualities of the lilac has been considered as merely a pretty fable by most people, the process seems to be founded on well recognized laws of vegetable growth and developement. One of the best known flora culturists of Clinton, who is especially fond of this flower, assures us that she has tried this plan with complete success.

Sixteenth of a Series of Letters by John R. Musick.

The Overthrow of Monarchy—The Provisional Government.

Kalakaua was not a bad man. He was a weak, vain man, and easily influenced by bad surroundings. He was constantly in need of money, though his annuity was greater than the salary of the President of the United States. He found himself hampered by the constitution which limited his power, and declared his intention of giving the people another constitution which was in reality a return to absolute monarchy.

Great excitement prevailed, and a revolution was threatened by the people whose liberties were endangered, until, bowing to the popular will, Kalakaua permitted the constitution to stand.

It is said that at this time the king's sister, Princess Liliuokalani, was in England, a guest of Queen Victoria, studying royal life. She was very indignant at her brother yielding to the wishes of the American Hawaiians, and on her return to Honolulu a revolution was precipitated by some of her friends to depose the king and place her on the throne. The American settlers on the islands went to the rescue of the king, and the rebellion was put down.

King Kalakaua died January 20, 1891, and was succeeded by his sister, Liliuokalani, as queen. The queen was thoroughly English in education and sympathy. From the first she displayed intense hatred for the American missionaries. Left alone she might have made an excellent monarch, for those who know her say she possesses many good qualities; even her political enemies deny the slanders against her personal character. But the queen was ill-advised. Her race prejudices were roused by interested persons. The American missionary was held up in the light of a moral pirate, who had left his conscience at Cape Horn, and come to rob and plunder the natives as the Spaniards had done in America, and all under the guise of religion.

In various ways she kept her subjects alarmed by threats to deprive them of their constitutional liberties. Though her salary and income from crown lands exceeded the salary of the president of the United States by nearly $20,000, she was not satisfied. She was advised to be a queen in splendor as well as name. A crowd of evil designing friends were constantly about her advising her to do what they should have known would be her ruin. There were nearly two thousand Americans and over one thousand Germans, as well as many English, at this time living on the islands, who did not believe in the divine rights of kings. Many of these had, by thrift and honest toil, accumulated property amounting to millions. With them it was a business proposition. Should they, in order to maintain a tradition born in the dark days of barbarism, and cradled in ignorance and superstition, yield up the hard earnings of their lifetimes?

Among the other schemes to replenish the depleted treasury of the queen was what is known as the lottery. The originator of this was Mr. Thomas E. Evans, whose wife was a maid of honor to the queen, and who had held some offices under the kings.

After the Louisiana Lottery had been driven out of the United States, its backers and supporters began to look about for some place convenient to America where the gigantic swindle might be resuscitated. The Hawaiian Islands were regarded as the most convenient place. Mr. Evans went to Chicago, where he met the capitalists willing to engage in the enterprise. An arrangement was made whereby the Chicago capitalists, providing the franchise was granted, were to pay the Hawaiian government the sum of five hundred thousand dollars per annum for the term of twenty-five years. At the time the lottery bill was being agitated in the legislature, another bill, fully as odious to all decency and morals, known as the "Opium Bill," was brought up.

The queen's cabinet was composed of men who inspired confidence in the minds of the people, but they did not prove sufficient to check their headstrong ruler. The legislature, like the Long Parliament in Cromwell's time, was in session until the more respectable members were compelled to leave for their homes to attend to their business. They had scarcely left before the opium and lottery men, taking advantage of their absence, hurriedly passed the bills known as the "Opium" and "Lottery" bills.

The decent and respectable people of Hawaii saw the danger that menaced them. The missionaries realized that the race just rescued from heathendom was about to be exposed to all the vices of civilization, and a land today filled with churches and school houses, about to become the Monte Carlo of the Western Hemisphere. Another class of Americans looked on with alarm at the condition of affairs—those who had business interests at stake which were in jeopardy. A party of Christian ladies waited on the queen and petitioned her not to sign the odious bills. It is said she wept with them; they prayed with her and left, assured she would veto the bills, but she signed them almost as soon as they were gone.

FOR JOSEPH CANNON.

BIMETALLIST DEFINES "CHEAP" MONEY FOR HIM.

Seems That He Never Could See That "Cheap" Money Means "Dear" Prices for the Products of the Farmer and the Mechanic.

Hon. H. F. Bartine in National Bimetallist: The above named gentleman is a good fellow personally but he is a republican politician at all times and above all things. If the idea that the republican party can do any wrong or make any mistakes ever found its way into his head, it became a fast prisoner upon reaching there. Mr. Cannon has just been interviewed by an Inter-Ocean reporter, and takes occasion to sneer at "cheap money" men of all parties. This is to be regretted because Mr. Cannon has bestowed some thought upon the money question, and has certainly many times expressed a desire to have silver restored. True, he opposes every measure looking to that end, but still he claims that he wants it done. Why? How will the restoration of silver have any effect upon business? In just one way. By lessening the demand for gold. If that will not make gold "cheaper," then there is nothing in the law of supply and demand. But Mr. Cannon does not like "cheap" money. He despises it. Then we ask again why does he want silver restored?

Whether silver be restored by international agreement or by the action of the United States alone, the effect must be to make gold cheaper. That means a rise of prices. We are scarcely prepared to believe Mr. Cannon is ignorant enough to think that prices can be raised without making money cheaper, although there are people who assert that claim. Mr. Cannon is strongly opposed to the retirement of the greenbacks. But why? What harm will it do? Certainly the presence of all this mass of paper in our currency tends to make money "cheap," that is, cheaper than it would be without it. He seems to be afraid that if the greenbacks be retired, it may make money just a little too "dear" to be good. Then the questions arise what in his judgment is "cheap" money, what is "dear" money, and what is money that is neither "cheap" nor "dear," but just "sound?" He surely must know that the true test of either "cheapness" or "dearness" in money is its purchasing power. If so, perhaps he will kindly vouchsafe to inform us what quantity of products of any kind he chooses to name, it will take to buy a "cheap" dollar, what quantity a "dear dollar" and what quantity a "sound" dollar.

People who have so much to say about "cheap" money ought certainly to be able to give some definite idea of what they mean by the term "cheap" as applied to money. If by "sound" money Mr. Cannon means gold, he ought in all consistency to favor the retirement of the greenbacks, because that would bring us just so much nearer to the true value of gold. If it was a good thing to destroy silver as standard money and make things cheaper, why will it not be a good thing to destroy the greenbacks and cheapen things still more? "Ah, Joseph, Joseph! Have a care or you will never be a bishop."

WILL VETO IT.

Cleveland Against All Measures in Favor of the People.

The president appeals to congress for help in sustaining the finances of the country on a "sound basis." It is next to certain that congress will not respond in accordance with his desires. In the first place Mr. Cleveland takes it upon himself to determine what is a "sound basis," and in the second place he assumes to dictate the legislation necessary to preserve it. Such being the case, the question naturally arises. What has congress to do with the legislation of the country anyway. Mr. Cleveland seems to be under the impression that he is the government, and that the only function of congress is to come together and register his decrees. A mere matter of form, of course. His second election, coupled with his success in forcing the repeal of the "Sherman law," appears to have completely turned his head. It is more than likely that he will veto any measure that is sent to him. So far as the merits of the tariff bill are concerned it is a matter of indifference to us what he does with it. As a party measure it is neither fish nor flesh, and its merits are doubtless fairly open to dispute. But in our judgment any president makes a mistake who vetoes a bill merely because he does not approve of its details. The veto power is an extraordinary one and should only be exercised on extraordinary occasions. Unless a measure contravenes public policy, or violates the constitution, the president should not set up his judgment against the combined wisdom of both houses of congress. In the present juncture nothing will satisfy Mr. Cleveland but legislation that will fasten the golden shackles upon the limbs of his countrymen for all time. Candor forces us to admit, though, that there are large numbers of republicans in congress who would be very glad to help him. Some of them may actually do so. But some will not. Others dare not. We do not believe that there will be any legislation that will tend to sustain the gold standard. Without such legislation that standard cannot be maintained for any considerable length of time. With a war, under existing conditions, that premium is bound to come a little later, and then good bye to the gold standard with all of its oppression, extortion and wrong.

ALL ARE ONE.

Amalgamated Silver Forces Pushing on to Victory in November.

The friends of silver restoration will be pleased to learn that the three principal silver organizations of the United States have been practically consolidated for work. The details have been substantially agreed upon by representatives of The American Bimetallic League, The National Bimetallic Union, and The National Silver Committee. Nothing remains but for the different organizations to ratify, and this will no doubt be done with promptness. By the terms of the consolidation General A. J. Warner, of Ohio, will be president, Hon. R. C. Chambers, of Utah, first vice-president, and Judge Henry G. Miller, of Illinois, second vice-president. The work will go on as heretofore, except that it will be more vigorously pressed. The principal office and general headquarters will be at 134 Monroe Street (Rooms 509-510-511, Fort Dearborn Building) Chicago, Ill., with Mr. E. B. Light as general business manager.

The skies are brightening, the silver sentiment is rapidly crystalizing, and Wall street is losing its grip.

Let the bimetallists press the campaign all along the line, working in the ranks of all parties, and building up a sentiment in favor of a true American financial policy everywhere.

The overshadowing importance of the money question is daily becoming clearer. Even the manufacturers are beginning to see that they cannot prosper on the gold basis, with the competition of silver using nations destroying the American farmer, and with oriental competition now directly threatening to sap the foundations of the entire manufacturing system of the United States.

Courage and determination, coupled with intelligent and harmonious action will win the battle for silver restoration in 1896. Are you an American?

"I Am an American."

Some men boastingly proclaim: "I am a Democrat,' and others, "I am a Republican." When President Cleveland talks Americanism our hearts joyfully respond and we feel proud to say, "I am an American."

It must be exceedingly gratifying to every true American to find that our president proposes to stand up and if necessary fight for an American policy—the Monroe doctrine. It is hardly a part of the law of nations, but it is a good, sound American policy and we can enforce it without going to war.

Now that the ice is broken (so to speak) and the president finds that we can declare war "without international conference" and "without England's consent," perhaps he will progress in Americanism until it is stalwart enough to hold and maintain that we can coin an American silver dollar without "a conference" and without anybody's "consent."

As long as England can control our monetary policy (as she does now) she has no need to go to war with us to keep us down and our producers in distress. Over $3,000,000 in gold went to England to-day from our treasury by Schleheimer et al. on paper, that calls for "coin," not gold remember, but simply "coin."

The president orders all these to be paid in gold coin and so the silver is left idle in the treasury and another bond issue is imminent to replace gold in the treasury and another ten-million steal into the private contract bond syndicate composed of Englishmen, English-Americans and the president's late partner Stetson.

More than 100 years ago we declared our political independence and by a seven years' war established it. Time and again we have declared our commercial independence by tariff, almost prohibitory, without even a suggestion of "conference." And now we have proclaimed distinctly to the world the Monroe doctrine. But can we maintain the Monroe doctrine if we allow England to dictate our monetary policy, do you think? No, we can have no real independence in any respect unless we have and control our own monetary system and money supply. Independence in that respect is the one thing we need and must have or all else comes to naught. PERRY PRENTISS.

Colorado and Bimetallism.

The time has passed when Colorado as a state can have any selfish motive for urging the free coinage of silver. Her production of the precious metals for the year of 1895 will buy one-third more of the world's goods under the present single standard system than it would be able to do under honest bimetallism. And yet it will be found that her people will be just as loyal as ever to the cause of bimetallism. This fact, for fact it is, and a stubborn fact at that, will give complete answer to the gold standard, last ditch argument, that Colorado's reason for asking for free coinage is to make a market for the product of her silver mines.—Industrial Reporter, Denver.

The Reporter knows whereof it speaks.

The people of Colorado have studied the silver problem as a question of money. Although they now produce more gold than silver, they know that the destruction of silver as money means low prices, business stagnation and hard times in every gold standard country. They understand that the prosperity of Colorado is inseparably connected with that of her sister states, and even though she may enjoy exceptional advantages from her increased output of gold, they know that what deal will necessarily injure Colorado some. It is not within the range of honest figuring to show how the demonetization of silver has done the United States any good, But it can be easily shown, and has been a thousand times, that it has done the country infinite harm.

PICTURING A SEA FIGHT.

How Instantaneous Photography Figures in the Modern Painter's Art.

Instantaneous photography has made it easy to-day for men with little knowledge of seamanship to place ships and boats under sail in a picture, but in early days, says Temple Bar, the power of doing so correctly was limited to a few men like Stanfield and Capt. Beechy, R. N.

The difficulty of obtaining anything like a reliable description of a sea fight, even from those who had taken part in it, was, according to Stanfield, very great, and he told us how, when planning his picture of "The Battle of Trafalgar," he applied to Capt. Hardy for advice as to the position of the Victory, Hardy's answer being that, owing to the smoke, it was impossible during the height of the action to see beyond the ships alongside, adding: "I am about the worst man you could come to, for some time before that which your picture represents the Victory's tiller ropes had been shot away, and I was below in the steerage attending to them and the helm, and down there we knew so little of what was going on that we continued to load and fire one of her stern guns until ordered from the deck to stop because we were firing into one of our own ships."

Like Loutherbourg, Stanfield had been at sea as a young man, while both owed much of their facility and power of composing a subject to their early training in the scene loft. But I think Loutherbourg greatly surpassed Stanfield as a draughtsman and in knowledge of naval architecture.

A woman never really knows the meaning of happiness and content until she is the mother of a healthy, happy child. The health of the child depends on the health of the mother, both before and after birth. Most all of woman's weakness and particularly the weakness that most strongly influences the health of children, comes from some derangement or disease of the distinctly feminine organs. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure trouble of this nature. It should be taken regularly by every woman during the entire period of gestation. It gives strength to all the organs involved, lessens the pains of childbirth and insures the health of both mother and child.

Your Physical Condition

Needs attention at this time. If you are tired, weak and nervous, it is clear that your blood is impure, and without doubt there has been too much overwork or strain on brain or body. The course of treatment for such a condition is plain and simple. The blood must first be purified so that the nervous system, and in fact all the organs will be fed upon pure blood. Intelligent people without number have testified that the best blood purifier, nerve tonic and strength imparting medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Live at Formosa and you Wont Have Catarrh.

Among the few spots on the surface of the earth where catarrh is not, is the Island of Formosa. Here grow the camphor trees from which is obtained the camphor of commerce. The pungent odor which is exhaled from the leaves of these trees so impregnates the atmosphere that catarrh is unknown. The wonderful healing properties of camphor have been the cause of the great success of Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm, which carries in the form of salve large quantities of not only the camphor that comes from the Island of Formosa but also the more rare and delicate camphors, among which is that obtained from the Australian Blue Gum Tree, and the Japanese Camphor known as Menthol. When this salve is applied to the inflamed and diseased membrane decay is arrested at once and healing commences. There is no case of catarrh or catarrhal deafness that Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm will not heal. A small sample may be obtained by sending a two cent stamp to Pretzinger Bros., Chemists, Dayton, Ohio. Austin Gebhart, Whitefield, Ohio, says—"It gives me great pleasure to inform you that your Catarrh Balm has cured my catarrh and deafness."

Indigestion is often taken for consumption. The word consumption means wasting away, and dyspeptics often waste away as badly as consumptives. The reason people waste away is because either they don't get enough to eat, or they don't digest what they do eat. If the latter is your trouble, take Shaker Digestive Cordial. This will help you to digest your food and stop your loss of flesh. Shaker Digestive Cordial is made from herbs, barks and the juices of fruit, by the well known Shakers of Mount Lebanon. It possesses great tonic and digestive powers. Shaker has cured many supposed consumptives (who were really dyspeptics), by simply helping their stomach to digest their food, thus giving them nourishment and new strength. Sold by druggists. THE DOCTOR'S BILL

PARALYZING, but unnecessary. You don't have to run for a Doctor whenever you feel a little out of sorts. A few doses of Dr. F. FRENCH'S UNEQUALED BLOOD PURIFIER AND RHEUMATIC REMEDY, will make you feel all right and save you a lot of money. Some people have found this out, and this is what they say about it.

E. B. DOWNING, Grand Rapids, Mich.

J. FREE SMITH, Lansing, Mich.

"Doctors called it Bright's Disease in its early stage. One bottle of Dr. F. French's Unequaled Blood Purifier and Rheumatic Remedy removed all symptoms of the disease—have felt nothing of it since."

Mrs. DIANA RIGGS, Hillsdale, Mich.

"Was sick for four years with enlargement of the Liver and Spleen, and General Prostration of the Nervous System; was attended by two of the best Doctors in the town and used no end of Patent Medicines, all who saw me thought there was no relief except by death, which seemed sure. A friend recommended Dr. F. French's Unequaled Blood Purifier and Rheumatic Remedy; in less than a week after I commenced taking it I was better. Six bottles cured me. You are welcome to use my name and this statement, and also refer anyone to me either personally or by mail, and I will tell them much more than I can write."

We have many more letters to the same effect.

This preparation is in no way to be classed among the many worthless Patent Medicines of the day, being simply a Prescription used by Dr. F. French, of Hillsdale, for many years in his practice. It is offered to the public with the full assurance of its being the Best Medicine on Earth for the cure of Rheumatism in all its various forms. Affections of the Stomach, Liver or Kidneys, Scrofula-Eruptions, and Cutaneous Diseases, Female Weakness, and all complaints arising from an Impure Condition of the Blood.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., May, 1 '96.

"The jig is up with silver," said a prominent silver man, so far as the republican notional convention is concerned. That has been apparent for some time, and the recent publication of Senator Wolcott's letter declaring his intention to stand by the republican party regardless of the financial platform adopted at St. Louis, and the declaration to the same effect made by Gov. McConnell, of Idaho, are additional proof that the silver republicans are fully aware of the situation. Senator Teller openly served notice upon the republicans that he would not support a gold ticket or platform. At this time it seems almost certain that the democratic national convention will have a majority of silver men, but many of the silver democrats admit that it is very doubtful whether a pronounced silver man will be nominated or a free silver platform adopted, owing to influences which are being exerted to prevent. The populists would prefer that neither of the old parties declare in favor of silver, as they think that would enable them to draw silver men from both.

Speaker Reed got a black eye when the Vermont republicans endorsed Gov. McKinley as their first choice for the Presidential nomination, and it was entirely unexpected, too. It has, of course, resulted in making the McKinley men more jubilent than ever.

The Senate this week listened to eulogies of Father Marquette from Senators Vilas and Mitchell, of Wis., and Kyle, of South Dakota, and adopted a resolution offered by Senator Palmer, of Ill, accepting the statute of Father Marquette and returning the thanks of Congress to the State of Wisconsin for the same. The A. P. A. will probably make a fight on this resolution when it gets in the House.

No speech made at this session of Congress has attracted more attention than that of Senator Gorman attacking the large naval appropriations, not because of his opposition to the navy, but because of the fact that more money by $151,000,000 is being appropriated than it is estimated that the government will receive from all sources during the fiscal year beginning July 1, next. He said that one of three things must be done, cut down appropriations, increase taxation or issue more bonds. He called the $162,000,000 received from the sale of bonds by the present administration "blood money," but gave notice that if the naval appropriation bill was not reduced he would offer to amend it by providing for an issue of $50,000,000 in short term, low interest certificates, because of his belief that it was better to issue that form of indebtedness than the long term high interest bonds which the Treasury will otherwise have to issue. Referring to the determined purpose to put this nation on a war footing and inaugurate on this continent the principle of military control upon which the European powers are based, Mr. Gorman said: "Ours is a stronger structure, built up by a people who have no arms in their hands and who need not standing armies to defend or protect them." He presented figures showing that from 1891 to 1895 the appropriations had exceeded the receipts to the anormous extent of $398,000,000.

This excess, he said, had been met in part by the money received from the sale of bonds, and the rest had been held back by the Secretary of the Treasury, who had been compelled to prevent improvements being made and to withhold money justly due to citizens.

There should not be the slightest doubt about the House agreeing to the Senate amendment to the Naval appropriation bill, prohibiting officers of the Navy entering the employ of private firms who have contracts with the government, as it has very clearly been shown that the practice has been abused almost to the extent of a scandal. The amendment will go into effect, if agreed to by the House, June 30, 1897.

The Nicaragua Canal scheme was given a further set back by the testimony of Col. Ludlow, who was chairman of the government commission which went over the route of the canal to investigate, before the House Commerce committee. Col. Ludlow says the construction of the canal is feasible, but not upon the present plans, which he thinks are based largely upon guesswork, instead of trustworthy data.

Frosts during the last ten days are said to have partially ruined the California fruit crop.

That Runaway.

The quiet peace, which usually shrouds this office and the adjacent street on a Sabbath evening just previous to the soft peal of our church bells calling the Herald force, together with other right minded citizens, to evening vespers, was rudely broken into at that time last Sunday by a short but determined and well directed runaway. The plate glass of the sanctum, aggregating about 30 yearly subscriptions, was also broken into—into a thousand pieces.

Del Cairns had driven to town with a somewhat spirited team, one of which was a colt. After driving about he had an errand to attend to and left the team in charge of a young man, supposing that he would drive them about until he returned in a few moments.

But the young man suddenly became otherwise engaged and instead of putting the team in the shed, which Mr. Cairns was wont to do, he carelessly hitched one of them with a line to the fence in Bennet's alley, about as a hired man would hitch an old plow team to go for a drink. The team was headed toward the road. The horse that was hitched soon slipped off the bridle, broke the line and dashed across the street just as Mrs. Bennett had called her husband to better secure the restless team. They made straight across Chicago street for the alley between the Herald office and the opera house, but evidently made a miscalculation and ran the buggy against the hydrant in front of the former place, which act freed them from the vehicle. It was now only the work of a moment, so to speak, for the frightened steeds to jump on the sidewalk and plunge their heads through the plate glass. In accomplishing this, the near horse struck the brick corner of the building, was knocked down and dragged the other to the sidewalk. By this time several men appeared on the scene and secured the horses, which were taken to Bennett's barn and cared for.

The team was badly cut up over the affair. Though one has been worked since, the outcome from their injuries cannot be told at present. Mr. Cairns had nearly closed a bargain for the sale of one of the team at a good price.

Just why the team struck the Herald office instead of going into the alley will probably never be known. One fellow said in a roguish way that they wanted to get into the paper. An experienced teamster, who has successfully passed through many runaways, said that the "ni' hoss" ran faster than the off, while a student of comparative insanity mentioned spasmodic paresis.

At any rate the affair is most unfortunate for Mr. Cairns, who is a very careful and competent horseman. The sash is now glazed with opaque pine flooring, through which the still undeveloped X ray of literary light percolates with difficulty.

Tecumseh Bicycle Club Reorganized.

A rich, rare and racy invoice of sanguinary fluid has been infused within the veins of The Tecumseh Bicycle Association; in fact it has been entirely reorganized, with twenty of our most energetic young men as charter members. "There are others" and whomsoever comes within the pale of the appended regulations regarding membership, and will rise in his might and hustle for the success of our coming race meeting, will be joyously welcomed at the cycling shrine. The regulations are not severe, and read as follows, viz.,

II.

"The objects of this association shall be the promotion of improvement in our highways, the building of cycle paths, and the holding and conducting of bicycle races, base ball and foot ball games, lawn tennis tournaments and such other sports and pastimes as a majority of the members shall deem advisable, and at such times and places as a majority thereof shall elect."

V.

"Any male person, eighteen years or more of age, interested in legitimate sport and in highway improvement, shall be eligible to membership in this association, but no person shall be admitted to membership without the consent of a two thirds vote of a quorum of said association."

VI.

"Each member, at the time of his admission to membership in this association, shall pay to the treasurer the sum of one dollar, and he shall also pay a like amount to said treasurer on the date of each annual meeting of the association so long as he remains a member."

After perusing the above drop a dollar in the slot and see how you enjoy the sensation of being an associate cyclist. As soon as the boys get in shape and secure a suitable head quarters it is proposed to establish a "Uniform Rank" and possibly a "Ladies Relief Corps."

When Nature

Needs assistance it may be the best to render it promptly, but one should remember to use even the most perfect remedies only when needed. The best and most simple and gentle remedy is the Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company.

The silver question is said to have been one of the causes of the enforced resignation of P. B. Lyles, who has been chief clerk of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Agricultural Department for several years and who is now making silver speeches in Mo. He was appointed at the request of Senators Vest and Cockrell.

OBITUARY.

WALDRON.

Aaron K. Waldron was born in New York state, October 23, 1823, and died at his home near Tecumseh, Michigan, April 13, 1896. He came to Michigan in the fall of 1845, and in the spring of 1846 bought the farm west of Tecumseh on which he has since lived. In 1846 he married Miss Sarah M. Gundersman, of New York. Six children were born into their home, all of whom still live, namely, Lewis M., William J., Chas. A., Clara and Sarah H., of Tecumseh, and Mrs. Adah Payne, of New York.

Mr. Waldron was widely known among the farmers, having been a farmer himself he was especially interested in that class of men. He was always ready to assist in anything that would advance their interests. At the early age of eighteen years he became a christian and a member of the Methodist church, where he remained until the time of his death. The funeral services were held at the home, by Rev. J. P. Varner, and a very large procession followed the remains to the cemetery.

G. A. R. Resolutions.

Respects to the memory of our deceased comrade, P. J. Farley, of Jackson, Mich., who was born in New York state in 1822, and enlisted at Ashtebula, Ohio, August 20, 1861, in Co. F, 2d Ohio Cavalry, and was discharged February 4, 1863, as Sargeant Co. F, 2d Ohio Cavalry, on account of disability. He died April 18, 1896, at Jackson, Mich., and until his death was a G. A. R. in good standing and a member of Beers Post.

Resolved, That we, as an organization, extend fraternal sympathy to the grief stricken members of his family, and as comrades we mourn with those who weep over the loss of our comrade, who has responded to the sounding of the bugle to that eternal camping ground.

Lead poisoning was probably the cause of death.

A quiet but pleasant wedding ceremony occured at the home of Mrs. E. A. Remington, on Pearl street, last Wednesday at 12 o'clock noon, by which her daughter, Miss Loraine, was united to Abraham D. Hunt, of Franklin. Only the relatives and immediate friends of the interested parties were present. Rev. J. P. Varner tied the nuptial knot. The groom is a well known resident of Franklin and the bride has made many friends in Tecumseh since moving here from Macon.

A quiet, cosy bower is something to be sought after this time of year, but the silent city of the dead is too spookish a place to work a bauer successfully. The quiet spot and leafy solitude of the place is all that mortal man could devise for the bower business. But, oh! The spooks! The ghastly ghosts! A bower to be successful must have quiet. Some young men attempted to introduce one to the cemetery recently and all went well till the ghost appeared. Then chaos reigned, and flight ensued. It would have been all night if the bauer had only got used to it by degrees but the eager ghost appeared all at once instead of materializing by degrees, and before the immortal shade had seen its mistake the bower was established in the heart of the city.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

VOTES TO SPARE.

McKinley's Managers Say He Has More Than Is Needed.

Opposition Leaders Dispute Their Claims —Clarkson Says That the "Field" Candidates Are Not Disheartened, But Will Fight to the Last.

Cleveland, O., May 4.—At the McKinley headquarters in this city it is contended that the Ohioan now has 505 votes. If this prediction is verified McKinley has enough to nominate him on the first ballot, for it will require only 456 votes to nominate. The list as made up by the managers of the McKinley campaign is as follows:

Alabama	20	New York	4
Arkansas	16	Ohio	46
Arizona	6	Oklahoma	4
Florida	8	Oregon	8
Georgia	22	Pennsylvania	64
Illinois	48	North Carolina	11
Indiana	30	South Carolina	17

Manley's Estimate.

Mr. Manley, of Maine, manager of Mr. Reed's campaign, gives out the following as his estimate of the situation: Delegates elected for Mr. Reed, 162; for Gov. McKinley, 275; for all other candidates, 217; contested and doubtful, 95; Vermont, 8. Mr. Manley refuses to put the Vermont delegation in the McKinley column. He says the convention in Vermont was a surprise to the friends of Mr. Reed. They had a right to expect that Vermont would join with the rest of New England and send a delegation pledged to the support of the New England candidate.

Clarkson's View of the Situation.

Washington, May 4.—Among republicans in Washington are Mr. Fessenden, member of the republican national committee for Connecticut, and Mr. Clarkson, for Iowa. The gentlemen had conferences with Senators Quay and Allison and other friends. Mr Clarkson was asked; "Has McKinley a majority of the delegates already, and what of the claim that he will be nominated by acclamation?" He replied:

"He has not nearly a majority yet, nor will he, in my judgment, enter the convention with a majority. Indeed, he will be shorter of a majority on the first ballot at St. Louis than Blaine was in the emotional year of 1876, Grant in 1880, or Sherman in 1888, when the latter in a field of 14 candidates voted for on the first ballot had 329 votes. He will not be nominated by acclamation, because I can say positively that Allison, Quay and Morton will remain in the contest, and so surely will Reed, and I judge so will Bradley and Cullom. Allison has not the least idea of withdrawing, nor Iowa any idea of giving up the fight. I believe this is true for the other candidates and their states. McKinley will fall from 80 to 100 votes short of enough to nominate at the start, and the field will represent from 525 to 560 votes. By the field I mean Allison, Reed, Quay, Bradley, Morton and Cullom, already suggested, and such other available men as Harrison, Lincoln, Foraker, Hobart, Davis and Gen. Tracy, of New York."

Mr. Clarkson further expressed the opinion that "the field" would hold firm. Referring to his allusion to Gen. Harrison being in the available field of candidates, Mr. Clarkson said: "In one respect Harrison would give the earliest certainty of anyone who could be nominated, for the day he should be nominated, the country would know exactly what his policy as president would be on the tariff, and exactly what it would be on finance, and this would quickly bring confidence and good times behind it."

WAR ON SALOONS.

Residents of St. Joseph to Fight the Liquor Element.

St. Joseph, May 4.—If the efforts of some of the people of this city are successful this city will be a "dry" town. Recently they commenced agitating local option, and now the Law and Order league and Rev. Dr. Bready are pushing the matter. Sunday morning's service at the Methodist church was devoted entirely to criticising city officials and citizens. Rev. Mr. Bready said the city was rotten to the core, and the mayor, owing to his business, dared not enforce the law, and that the police were frequenters of the illegal places. The fight, he said, would be made against the officials, and that it had only been commenced, and if they did not enforce the laws there would be some startling exposures made.

St. Joseph, May 5.—Rev. R. H. Brady's sensational charges made against the city officials and citizens from the pulpit of the Methodist church Sunday have created a sensation, and the business men have organized to resent the charges and fight the Law and Order league. Mayor Starr has rented a large hall and will answer his charges Sunday morning.

William Stapleford Released After Serving Two Years for Murder.

Ionia, May 3.—William Stapleford, sentenced from Huron county in 1894 for three years for killing a man at a charivari, was pardoned Saturday from the state house of correction by Gov. Rich. Stapleford was known as "The Human Pincushion." Twenty years ago in Chicago he narrowly escaped death by poison, and is now strangely afflicted with paralysis of the nerves. He sticks needles and pins into any part of the body and cannot feel them. He burns his skin without pain, and is a puzzle to the doctors.

REASON RESTORED.

Remarkable Result of an Unusual Surgical Operation.

Detroit, May 3.—By removing a thick piece of bone which had grown into Benjamin Weatby's brain, as the result of an accident ten years ago, Dr. H. O. Walker has restored the man to reason after a decade of insanity, which was gradually transforming him into a raving maniac. In place of the bone removed a silver plate will be inserted, and the patient gives promise of quickly recovering. He says of the ten years during which he was without reason he recollected nothing.

Pays Big Taxes.

Lansing, May 6.—The Michigan Central Railway company Tuesday morning sent Auditor-General Turner a check for $228,000, the amount of its special tax for 1895, which the company was not required to pay until July 1. The money came just too late to be included in the apportionment of primary school interest money for May, but the districts will have just that much more coming next November.

Proposed New Road.

Niles, May 6.—An electric road will be built soon from South Bend to Benton Harbor, running through Niles, Buchanan and Berrien Springs. The power will be derived from three dams, one at Bertrand, one at Buchanan and the other at Berrien Springs. F. E. Lee, the Dowagis capitalist, is at the head of the movement.

Factory Burned.

Fife Lake, May 4.—Emmett Hagadorn's lumber and broom handle plant burned, entailing a loss of $10,000. Application for insurance had been made, but it is not known whether it was accepted. The mill had been running but a few weeeks.

Death of Capt. Ball.

Crystal Falls, May 1.—Capt. Thomas Ball, sheriff or Iron county, died in this city Thursday morning.

Firm But Peaceful.

Pretoria, May 6.—The Volksraad, the Transvaal parliament, was opened here with a speech by President Kruger, who declared for a firm but peaceful policy.

Trust Funds Missing.

Washington, May 5. — An investigation of the trust funds collected by the state department in Washington shows a shortage of $30,000.

Deficit for Ten Months.

Washington, May 2.—Official treasury figures make the government deficit for the ten months of the fiscal year $23,455,190.

THE DEMOCRATS.

Synopsis of the Proceedings of Their State Convention.

Detroit, April 30.—Sound money had won a complete victory when the Michigan democratic state convention adjourned shortly after eight o'clock Wednesday night. On the questions which were most closely contested this victory was accomplished by the narrow margin of 58 majority out of a total of some 500 votes. The administration men obtained the organization, adopted their resolutions entire and elected all their candidates at large and alternates.

After the opening prayer Alfred Murphy, of Detroit, temporary chairman, was conducted to the platform and received with applause. In his speech he reviewed the financial situation of the day, eulogized the patriotism of President Cleveland and predicted a victory for sound money in the presidential election.

The choice of the district caucuses for delegates to the national convention was confirmed, and the convention proceeded with nominations of delegates at large by roll call of the districts. Elliott G. Stevenson, sound money candidate for first delegate at large, was elected over John W. McGrath, silverite, ex-justice of the supreme court, by a vote of 473 to 310, the votes being taken by roll call of counties.

Thomas A. E. Weadock and Spencer O. Fisher, ex-congressman and silver man, both of Bay City, were the candidates for second delegates at large. Fisher was defeated by 58 votes.

Robert R. Blacker, of Manistee, war the gold men's candidate for third delegate at large, with William F. McKnight as his opponent. Before the roll call was complete Blacker was chosen by viva voce vote under suspension of the rules. Peter White, of Marquette the administration candidate, was chosen fourth delegate, no one else being nominated. Following are the alternates: W. E. Darragh, of Big Rapids; James O'Hara, of St. Joseph; C. R. Woodin, of Battle Creek, and Robert Lake, of Jackson.

Two reports were offered from the resolutions committee. The majority platform, which was adopted, commends President Cleveland's administration, especially as to its foreign policy, and urges aid to the Cuban patriots. The money plank is as follows:

"On the finance question we recognize that this administration stands upon and has consistently carried out the national democratic platform of 1892, on which it was elected by the people, and which decided that the parity of the metals in our currency shall be maintained.

"The platform of the national convention, which has carried the country overwhelmingly for our party, should be the doctrine of the democrats until a new platform is formed by another national convention. To the national convention to be held July 7 we remit this subject, with confidence in the wisdom and patriotism of that body."

An adverse resolution condemns the A. P. A. and similar societies. The minority report, which was tabled, presented a single resolution, which did not mention the administration, declared that business failures and distress were due to bad legislation and demanded remonetization and free coinage of silver at sixteen to one, without awaiting action by any other nation. At 8:17 p. m. the hungry delegates gladly adjourned sine die.

ASKS EXTENSION OF TIME.

J. L. Hudson Company, a Big Clothing Firm, Financially Embarrassed.

Detroit, Mich., May 2.—All the creditors of the J. L. Hudson company, the big clothing firm, received notice by mail Friday morning that the company is financially embarrassed and desires an extension of credits. The creditors also received a statement showing assets of $1,271,840.49 and liabilities of but $518,154.17. This leaves a surplus of $755,686.32, which Mr. Hudson says is impossible to realize on at present, necessitating an extension of credit.

The Hudson companies at Cleveland, Buffalo and St. Louis are in no way affected. Mr. Hudson says the immediate cause of the embarrassment is due to the failure of a large eastern house, which has always extended liberal credits, and the business will be carried on as usual until the 600 creditors are heard from. The Detroit company has branches at Sandusky, O.; St. Paul, Minn., and Grand Rapids, Mich.

Mine Opens Up.

Negaunee, May 2.—The Queen mine was opened Friday morning with 100 men employed, after idleness since last year. It is anticipated that other workings will start up this month, giving employment to several hundred men. The Tilden mine at Bessemer, Gogebic county, next to the Norrie, the richest and largest producer of the range, has been formally turned over to the Rockefeller syndicate by Receiver Morris, who has been in charge since the panic of 1893.

Horses Stolen for Their Hides.

St. Joseph, May 2. — Several horses have been stolen near here and no trace of the thieves could be obtained. Thursday the life-saving station patrolman found the carcasses of seven horses from which the hides had been removed very recently. They were in "Devil's Hole," just back of the lake shore, and in a desolate spot. It is thought a gang of thieves have been stealing horses and killing them for their hides.

Indians Take the Keeley Cure.

Perry, O. T., May 6.—Fifty Osage Indians, who have displayed an extraordinary fondness for whisky and its effects, are now taking the Keeley cure, and hope soon to become good Indians. Most of them are wealthy.

A Missing Will.

Boston, May 6.—The will of the late John Stetson, the theatrical manager, is missing, and there are rumors that only $500,000 of his supposed estate of $2,000,000 can be found.

A Broken Rail.

New Haven, O., May 6.—A broken rail on the Baltimore & Ohio road caused a freight wreck here, fatally injuring two persons and seriously injuring a number of others.

KISSING OF HANDS TABOOED.

Hygienic Reasons Lead to Abandonment of an Austrian Custom.

It has hitherto, says the New Orleans Picayune, been the custom of the children attending the public schools in Austria and Hungary to kiss the hands of the teacher on arrival and departure. This has now been forbidden by an order from the imperial board of education, which bases its action on the fact that sanitary investigation has shown that kissing is unhealthful and should not be practiced, except when absolutely necessary. This brings up a very nice point of law to establish when kissing is absolutely necessary. If the public school teachers of Austria and Hungary are old and ugly it is likely that the scholars will acquiesce in the new ruling without a murmur. If, on the other hand, the schoolmarms are pretty young women, like most of the New Orleans teachers, then the big boys in Austrian schools may keep up the good old custom of kissing the teacher, and plead that it was a case when kissing was absolutely necessary. Science is going too far, anyway, when it finds microbes in kisses and tries to establish a quarantine against them. Kissing goes by favor, and not by law. When the kisser is in love and the kissee is pretty, it is always a case of absolute necessity, not amenable to Austrian or any other kind of laws.

Failed for Millions.

Topeka, Kan., May 5.—The Investment Trust company of America, doing business in this city, went into the hands of receivers with liabilities of $2,800,000.

Suicide of a Newsboy.

Battle Creek, May 3.—Asa Crandall, a 14-year-old newsboy, died Saturday night from a dose of poison, taken with suicidal intention. He was backward in his studies on account of cigarette smoking and did not want to go to school any more.

Itching

If there is one thing more than another which gratifies us, it is the great volume of hearty thanks which come from grateful parents for the cures Hood's Sarsaparilla has effected upon their children. The agony of despair turns to unspeakable joy as mothers and fathers see dreadful sores and eruptions gradually yield to the potent purifying power of this great medicine, and bright boys and girls given perfect health. Read this:

"When my baby was four weeks old, scrofulous eczema broke out on his body. He became literally covered with

When six months old the breaking out healed on his body, but his head, face and arms were a terrible sight. I passed many sleepless nights holding his little hands to keep him from scratching his face. I cannot tell what he suffered with the sores. One doctor attended him a year without avail. No one thought he would ever get well. He was almost a year old when I commenced to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla. He soon grew so much better that

CANCER CURED —AND A— LIFE SAVED

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. FIELDS, Bloomfield, Ia.

DRILLING DEEP WELLS.

How the Work Can Be Done Economically and Satisfactorily.

In reply to inquiry as to drilling deep wells at as little cost as possible I submit a diagram and a few figures as to what can be done. I have seen some very expensive machinery in use, also some that is very cheap.

He will want a derrick something like the accompanying diagram. The lumber should be four 2x6s, 24 feet long and a few boards to form the ladder and brace it. This will cost not over three dollars. The roller at the base should be ten inches in diameter. This can be made mostly of wood, or any old machine roller that is strong enough and fixed so as to couple the rod on from the horse power. The rope to be wrapped around this roller raises the drill, and then when you slack it the drill will fall. One man must stand and hold the rope to keep the drill going, and it will do the work just as well as though it cost lots of money. You can raise the drill high or use short strokes as you like by letting loose sooner.

The horse power will be the hardest to get, but old ones are generally cheap. If you can fix it to run slow enough a master wheel and a pinion is all that is needed. Now as to drill rod and casing, most any hardware man can furnish them or you can get them in Chicago. Your one and one-quarter iron for drill rod will cost about seven cents per foot. Your casings will of course be two and one-half or three inches. If you want galvanized (which is best) it will cost 18 or 20 cents, according to size. You will want one large casing to start your well with—large enough so your casing for the well will slip inside of it. This you must start perfectly straight in order to have your well straight; then work inside of this until you are through. To drive this you will want a heavy block of wood with a rod four or five feet long stuck through it with a ring on the opposite side to tie your rope in. Then let the rod work inside of the casing and run this with your drill rope by raising and letting fall.

You can have your hardware man get drills. In clay you will want one expansion drill; for rock use a straight one. When drilling in clay you will need to use water from the top until you strike some water in the bottom. It will likely pay you to get some one that has had some experience to assist in starting the work, after which you will likely get along all right.—E. M. Robson, in Breeders' Gazette.

Cost of Handling Ear Corn.

A gentleman from the country says that the cost of carrying ear corn one year, or longer, is probably greater than many figure it, on account of the shrinkage. For instance, the cost of 1,000 bushels of corn at 21 cents is $210; interest at 7 per cent. for a year, $14.70; expense of crib, $20; cost of the corn at the end of one year, $244.70. But it is estimated that the shrinkage will amount to 20 per cent., or 200 bushels; therefore, there will remain but 800 bushels to sell. So $244.70 actually represents the cost of 800 bushels at the end of one year, or a fraction over 30 cents a bushel, without figuring anything for insurance or risk in holding—showing that 21 cents now is equal to about 30 cents a bushel one year from now.—Farmers' Review.

Selection of Seed Corn.

Farmers as a general rule are not careful enough in their selection and care of corn for seed. Many practice storing their seed corn in an open corn crib before it is thoroughly dry. The germ of corn being porous, absorbs moisture and being subject to hard freezing during the winter. As a result the germ is partially or wholly destroyed and the chances of its growing under the most favorable circumstances is very limited. An authority says while husking the best ears should be saved and placed in a dry room and cured by fire drying. Corn treated in this way is sure to grow and make a vigorous and healthy growth.—Drovers' Journal.

Interesting Facts About Corn.

Bulletin 33 of the Mississippi station gives details of experiments with corn, extending through six years at that station, and also summarizes results obtained at 13 other stations, north, south, east and west, covering 1,267 tests of 490 varieties. The results at the different stations are wonderfully alike, and they establish the following points beyond controversy: The most prolific white varieties out-yield the most prolific yellow varieties; white corn is slightly more nutritious than yellow; there is no appreciable difference in richness of flint and dent varieties.

BRAIN AND MUSCLE.

The Successful Farmer of To-Day Uses Both Hands and Head.

The man who uses both brains and muscle will far outstrip in the race of life the man who uses only his muscles. This is true in every calling in which men engage, but especially is it true in farming. The farmers who are getting along the easiest, other things equal, are those who mix brains with their work; who plan and systematize their work; do everything in its season, and in the most thorough manner possible. The farmer who, for instance, does not decide what crops he will plant till planting time comes; or the one who breaks his ground regardless of the condition of the soil, plants untested or doubtful seed in poorly prepared soil, cannot be said to have mixed enough brains with his work.

There is no doubt that many farmers would have better profits if they would rest, recreate and read more and work fewer hours. There is such a thing as doing too much manual labor. The farmers, as a class, certainly cannot be accused of being lazy. The majority of them work too hard, at least, during some seasons of the year. It is more than likely that many do not distribute their work well, and are, as a consequence, too busy at some seasons and have too much leisure at others. Here, again, is where the brains come in. The work should be planned with a view to doing it most economically. This can be done by a judicious distribution of work which will keep hands and teams reasonably busy during all seasons of the year, instead of hiring help and rushing at some seasons, and then taking it easy for a considerable spell.

There are times when even the most systematic farmer is thrown behind with his work as a result of long wet spells, or circumstances over which he has no control, and in order to do work in its season it becomes necessary to rush a little and work from sun to sun; but, as a rule, where sufficient thought is put into the work, eight or nine hours is enough for one day's work. Eight hours for work, eight hours for sleep and eight hours for rest, recreation, study and domestic pleasures would be a good division of the day. With this division there would be ample time for reading, thinking, planning and systematizing the work, and in addition to the increased pleasures of life on the farm, the profits would, if any difference, be increased.

The cooperation of brain and muscle on the farm, however, means more than merely to improve methods of farming; it means cooperation with brother farmers, and organization for marketing to the best advantage, and for purchasing in a way to be independent, to an extent, at least, of useless and extortionate middlemen and combines. "Improved methods" at the market end are as necessary as in the matter of production. There should be sufficient mixture of brain and muscle to drive the gamblers from the grain pits, and restore normal markets.—St. Louis Journal of Agriculture.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

After testing several varieties of flax the Mississippi station concludes that flax culture cannot be made profitable in that state.

The Swedish agricultural college finds the best time to apply nitrate of soda to spring wheat to be half at time it sprouts and half when it is heading.

Experiments with oats in Germany show that varieties most productive on one kind of soil are most productive on all kinds; but difference in food contents was found to be due to difference in soil and not to difference in variety.

The Alabama station finds more than six times as much nitrogen in cowpea vines in the fall as in the same vines the next spring, after they had lain on the ground all winter. The clear inference is that the vines should be plowed under in the fall rather than let them lie on the surface till spring.

Examinations by experiment stations show that American clover seed is clearer than European, and has equal vitality. Some European seed was found to be mixed with finely crushed quartz, colored to resemble clover seed, and other samples proved to be old seed colored bright like the new.—Journal of Agriculture.

USEFUL IMPLEMENT.

Full Description of a Homemade Clod Crusher and Harrow.

A very convenient homemade implement is shown, bottom up, in the accompanying illustration. It is made as follows: Bolt two 2x12 oak boards (a a) 8 feet long to two 4x4 crosspieces (b). On the front edge bolt a 2x4 (c), placed edgewise. This will provide a 6-inch surface, which will strike the clods and prevent them getting back on the crusher. To the back edge of the crusher bolt another 2x4 oak (d) flatwise, and bevel the upper edge. To the beveled surface bolt an old sickle bar. The guards will have slant enough to let trash escape, and yet will pulverize the ground almost as well as a disk harrow. The hooks for attaching the team can be made by a blacksmith. Use four horses and let the driver ride on the crusher.—W. B. Bolton, in Orange Judd Farmer.

When to Sow Clover Seed.

I should advise everybody to sow clover seed early as they could, even on the snow, but I would advise to put it more than half an inch deep. The best crop I ever had, the man sowed right on the furrow, as it was left by the plow, but I would advise a full inch, rather than half an inch, and if some of it is too deep, it will come up next year. One of the best farmers I know, who has raised 300 bushels a year, puts on the seed and harrows it in, just as he does his oats or his wheat.—B. S. Hoxie, in Farmers' Review.

A MOTHER'S CRIME.

She Drowns Her Two Children and Herself in Wisconsin.

Sturgeon Bay, Wis., May 5.—A sensation was created in this city yesterday by the announcement that Mrs. F. X. Sailer, the wife of a business man, had drowned her two children in the bay and then committed suicide by the same method. Mrs. Sailer was about 25 years of age and was the fourth wife of her husband, and from all reports the couple had not been living happily for a year or so past.

McCardy, republican, was chosen comptroller by 3,000, and Horst, republican, treasurer, by 1,500. The republicans elected nine assemblymen and ten of 11 aldermen.

Murder Follows a Family Feud.

Austin, Tex., May 4.—John Nixon and Dempsey Brown, brothers-in-law, met Sunday morning a few miles from the city and an old family feud led to a difficulty in which Brown was shot and killed and Nixon so badly wounded in the head with a charge of buckshot that he will die.

Will Be a Cinder Path.

Havana, May 6.—It is said here that even if Gen. Weyler succeeds in quelling the rebellion in the time he has set—two years—Cuba will be a mere cinder path between the Gulf of Mexico and the ocean. It will be laid waste as no country ever was before.

Killed by the Cars.

Burlington, Ia., May 4.—J. C. Somners, a banker of Keokuk, Ia., and said to be worth $1,000,000, was run down by the fast mail train, while crossing the tracks in Union depot. Both legs were cut off and he lived but a few hours.

Press: During the thunder storm last Monday morning, lightning killed six head of young cattle owned by the estate of Jacob VanSickle, of Seneca. The animals were under a tree, and were not found till Tuesday. There were four fine yearling Holstein heifers, a 2-year-old bull, and a yearling bull of the Holstein breed, both very fine animals.

Adrian Times: Judge Lane this morning sentenced George Allabach, who sold liquor to minors, to pay $50 fine and $10 costs, or be imprisoned in the county jail for thirty days. Allabach settled. The fact that he has gone out of business no doubt saved him from a heavier sentence. This was the case in which President Thomas of the college made the complaint.

A well directed and well nigh successful attempt at a wholesale jail delivery was discovered at the Washtenaw county jail last week by the officers just in the nick of time. A man-hole had been cut entirely through the floor and wall, a stone being left in place until all were ready. The details were very cleverly managed by the prisoners and reminded one of similar operations at Andersonville.

Lansing Republican, 30th: Fifty years ago last Monday nine Cooks settled on a farm in Raisin township, Lenawee county, six miles from Adrian. Of that family there are now four survivors, Col. W. W. KEPT AHEAD OF THE BULLETS.

Astounding Swiftness of Foot Shown by a Georgia Razor-Back.

Col. Taylor Jenkins, who lives a few miles north of Blakely, is known throughout that section as one of the most truthful men in it. At least, so says the Early County Times. Recently, while Mr. Jenkins was out hunting, his dogs began barking at something in a large, hollow log. It was a wild hog. He took the hog home and dropped it in his cornfield. It is there now. A few weeks ago Mr. Jenkins went out to kill it, thinking he could easily do so with his unerring rifle. He searched about till he "jumped" it. Down a corn row it went like lightning. He leveled his rifle and "cut down" on it, but never touched a hair. He "jumped" it again and shot again, but no hog. Again and again he "jumped" it and shot at it, with the same result. He began to wonder what could be the matter. The corn rows were as straight as moonshine whisky and his gun true as the third party to Tom Watson, yet hit it he couldn't. To shoot at the hog as it ran off down the corn rows was just like shooting at it standing, so far as getting a "bead on it" was concerned. To make sure that he didn't "wobble" off the hog he put up a small target and "cracked down" at it five times, then took his ax and chopped in and found five balls all in one hole in the middle of the spot. That settled it—that the fault was not in him or the gun, but the hog had outrun the bullets.

LONDON DOGS OUT CALLING.

Their Cards Go Up with Those of Their Mistresses.

It appears, from an article in the Figaro by M. Paul Megnin, that in London at the present time it is not only the fashion for a lady to provide her lapdog with a little wardrobe and even a handkerchief, but to have visiting cards made for it, too. When a fashionable lady pays a visit, taking her lapdog with her, she sends up the dog's card along with her own.

M. Megnin says he was visiting the editor of one of the leading sporting papers in London, when the servant brought in two cards, one that of a lady and the other as follows:

MRS. FRIVOLITY.
Collie.

Asked if he knew the name on the card, M. Megnin said he presumed it was some dog fancier. He was greatly surprised to see a lady come in, accompanied by a handsome collie.

M. Megnin went to a stationer's shop and ordered 100 cards for his little dog. He was again surprised to find that the stationer had some ready printed, neatly packed in pretty little card cases.

BEN FRANKLIN'S BIG HEAD.

How He Wore His Wig in His Pocket at the French Court.

The difficulties encountered recently by the lineal descendants of that great man, statesman, patriot and everything else that men properly hold in estimation — Benjamin Franklin — in having themselves enrolled among the Colonial Dames, recall an anecdote of him, says the Washington Post, embalmed in the family records of the sage of Monticello, but which, so far as the writer knows, has never been published. When about to present himself for the first time at the court of Versailles he was informed by the master of ceremonies that a wig was a sine qua non. Now, his head was so large that no ordinary wig would begin to fit it, and the situation was embarrassing in the extreme. However, one was found sufficiently large to pass him through the antechambers, after which he was permitted to remove the ridiculous conventional appendage and place it in his ample pocket, whence it never again emerged to public gaze.

Cox and His Brownies.

Palmer Cox says the idea of writing about the brownies came to him from reading Scotch traditions concerning these amusing little elves. They were, he says, almost unknown in America until he began writing about them, but in Scotland they had existed in the folk lore for 500 years. The Scotch brownie, according to Mr. Cox, was a beneficient sort of sprite, whose only three emotions were joy, wonder and terror. It was supposed they were never seen by human beings, but went about at night performing helpful deeds for the country folk, at the same time getting a deal of fun themselves out of kindly pranks.

Trained Goats.

In Switzerland and other mountainous countries the goat leads long strings of animals daily to and from the mountains, but it is in South Africa that it is particularly kept and employed as a leader of flocks of sheep. Should a blinding storm of rain or hail drive the silly sheep before it, or cause them to huddle together in a corner, so as to suffocate each other, the trained goat will wake them up, and by a method best known to himself will induce them to follow him to a place of safety.

Not Scientific.

A song with the title: "There's a Sigh in the Heart," was sent by a young man to his sweetheart; but the paper fell into the hands of the girl's father, a very unsentimental physician, who exclaimed:

"What wretched, unscientific rubbish is this? Who ever heard of such a case?"

He wrote on the outside:

"Mistaken diagnosis; no sigh in the heart possible. Sighs relate almost entirely to the lungs and diaphragm!"

Titled Thieves.

A princess, a countess, a duchess and the daughter of a reigning prince were among the 4,000 thieves, professional and unprofessional, arrested in Paris during the first six months of last year.

AN OLD PLOT.

But in This Case a New Heroine Was Worked In.

Young story-writers are apt to begin a literary career by telling, in some form or other, the story which follows. But it must have taken a real genius to make a tow the heroine. This particular story is attributed by the Philadelphia Times, in which we find it, to a Texas locomotive engineer.

The engineer was running his train at full speed, when, he says, his attention was attracted by a cow which seemed to be coming straight down the track to meet the train. He put his hand on the valve and pulled out three sharp whistles.

Still the cow came on, bellowing at every step, and acting altogether in an unusual manner. As much from curiosity as anything else, the engineer slowed up and sent the fireman ahead to see what was the matter with the cow.

No sooner did the cow see that the speed of the train was slackening, and that the fireman was going to investigate, than she turned and ran straight back down the track, stopping now and then, looking over her shoulder and switching her tail as much as to say: "Come on!"

The man followed, and by and by saw the cow stop short at a high trestle. Going up, he discovered another cow which had got herself fastened in the trestlework squarely across the rail.

As soon as the animal was released, the two cows lost no time in scampering away.

WIND'S WILD WORK.

Nebraska Cities Suffer from a Furious Hurricane.

Two Distinct Cyclones Create Much Damage at Elkhorn—Buildings Wrecked at Omaha and Council Bluffs.

Lincoln, Neb., May 13.—With a wind attained a velocity of 80 miles an hour, continuing for fully five minutes, Lincoln was on Tuesday evening given the worst shaking up experienced for many years. The force of the gale was terrific, and all that was needed to make a genuine cyclone was the rotary motion. As it was the damage in the city was considerable and there were a number of casualties. Those most seriously injured are: Mrs. H. Moore, thrown against a fence, arm broken and head cut; J. Jacobson, hackman, blown from hack, had cut on arm, head bruised; A. L. Woodward, struck by detached roof, injured internally; Mrs. Harry Abbott, blown from buggy, badly bruised. There were a number of minor casualties.

Buildings Badly Damaged.

In the heart of the business district the Walton block was unroofed and part of one wall blown down. The force of the wind carried heavy pieces of timber across Ninth street, one crashing through the west window of the State Journal counting-room. The Merchants' hotel was unroofed, window lights blown in and the entire house flooded by the rain that followed. Roofs on private dwellings were torn off almost without number, trees uprooted or broken down and fences leveled. The electric light plant at the hospital for the insane was blown down and a Catholic mission church near the city limits totally demolished. Wires are down and reports from country districts are meager.

A Double-Header.

Omaha, Neb., May 13.—Two separate and distinct cyclones visited the towns of Elkhorn and Bennington, in this county, late Tuesday afternoon, and owing to the fact that communication is practically shut off it is impossible to determine to what extent damage was done, but no loss of life has so far been reported. The funnel-shaped clouds appeared before the hours of three and five o'clock, following each other with only a short interval. The path of the tornadoes was only about 600 feet in width, but were swept clean, the wind cutting through groves of large trees and tearing them up by the roots. Farm houses were demolished and loss of stock was heavy. E. A. Johnson, of Omaha, was driving a team and leading another team. The wind made kindling wood of his carriage and tore the harness off the horses and stripped him of most of his clothing. He escaped with severe bruises. Dispatches from Crete state that a small cyclone visited that section of the country and did great damage to buildings. In Omaha traffic was at a standstill for over two hours and the streets ran great rivers of water. Lightning struck Cudahy's packing-house at South Omaha.

Heavy Storm in Iowa.

Des Moines, Ia., May 13.—Heavy wind and rainstorms are reported from every section of the state. At Council Bluffs an electric light tower costing $1,000 and 150 feet high was blown down. It fell in the street, but injured no one. Several hundred electric, telephone and telegraph wires were carried down with it. In the northern part of the state the wind did considerable damage, especially at Sibley and near Churdan. In the south almost a cloud-burst deluged Pacific Junction. A large fall of rain is reported from Waterloo, Hampton, Humboldt, Cedar Rapids, Ogden and Marshalltown and intermediate points. The weather bureau reported the storm to have been general.

TRAGEDY IN CHICAGO.

A Brutal Bookbinder Shoots His Wife Dead.

Chicago, May 13.—Daniel McCarthy, a bookbinder who worked for Pool Brothers, fired two bullets into his wife's head and neck in the doorway of her mother's home, 243 Illinois street, Tuesday morning, killing her instantly. The murdered woman fell into the arms of her mother, Mrs. Grover, who tried to stop McCarthy. He threatened to kill her if he was stopped, and knocking her aside, made his escape. The police have been unable to find him yet. The murderer spent his money for drink and abused his wife, 12 years his junior, so that she was compelled to leave him.

Must Go to Prison.

Findlay, O., May 13.—The motion for a new trial in the case of Rev. Joseph Ebben Powell, convicted of fraudulent registration, was on Tuesday overruled and the preacher was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. Sentence was suspended until June 26, to allow the attorneys for the defendant to take the case to the circuit court upon a petition in error. The prisoner gave bail in $750.

Pay All American Claims.

Tien Tsin, May 12. — Consul Read, the chairman of the Chengtu commission, has succeeded in securing payment in full of the Baptist Missionary union claims for property losses in the Sechuen riots. Thus all the American claims have been settled in a friendly manner, China paying the whole amount demanded.

GREATER NEW YORK ASSURED.

Bill to Effect Consolidation Is Signed by Gov. Morton.

Albany, N. Y., May 12.—Gov. Morton signed the Greater New York bill Monday.

Under the terms of the bill all the municipal corporations, and parts of municipal corporations other than county, within the county of Kings, the county of Richmond, the city of Long Island City, the towns of New Town, Flushing and Jamaica, and part of the town of Hempstead, Queen county, are consolidated with the municipal corporations known as mayor, aldermen and commonalty of the city of New York.

This consolidation, however, does not go into effect until January 1, 1898. In the meantime, however, the bill provides for a commission to frame suitable laws for the government of the municipal corporation, so that they may be submitted to the legislature by February 15, 1897.

Now that Greater New York is a reality, the city itself and the nation at large have something stupendous to contemplate. Here, in as few words as possible, is what it means:

Churches	1,100
Post offices	60
Debt	$ 170,000,000
Taxable property	2,563,324,125
Business houses	27,000
Dwellings	120,000
Parks, acres	8,000
Miles paved streets and sewers	900
Miles gas mains	1,800
Miles of street and elevated railways	1,100
Hotels	1,100
Public schools	350

Following are the area and population of the corporations to be comprised in Greater New York. The population figures are those of the census of 1892. The natural increase would make the total about 3,000,000.

	Area in sq. miles.	Population.
New York city	38.51	1,801,793
Brooklyn	77.51	995,276
Richmond county	57.19	53,542
Flushing	29 65	19,903
Port Hempstead	17.86	17,766
Jamaica	32.50	14,441
Long Island City	7.14	30,506
Newtown	21.32	17,549

Eleven Persons Killed in a Disaster on the Mississippi River.

Vicksburg, Miss., May 12.—Eleven lives were lost and more than a dozen persons seriously injured by the explosion of the boilers of the steamer Harry Brown at a point about 25 miles south of here at midnight Sunday night. So terrific was the force of the explosion that the boat was torn asunder and in less than five minutes afterwards lay at the bottom of Mississippi river. It is known that the following were killed outright, or by drowning:

Pilot Norman; Driver George W. Bardsley; Steersman William Dougherty, and the chief engineer, name unknown; Miss Annie Herd, chambermaid; Tom Judge and William Watson, the fireman, and first and second mates, William Fitzsimmons and George Kiem, and William Kelley, lamp trimmer.

Following is a list of injured so far as it can be obtained at present:

Capt. John Kiem, hip seriously injured.

William Grimme, boat's carpenter, leg broken.

John Hardy, fireman, badly scalded and otherwise seriously injured.

William G. Slatemere, deck hand, burned and scalded, seriously.

Dan Delany, second engineer, badly scalded and injured internally; will probably die.

Capt. Keim is unable to account for the explosion. The steamer had a battery of seven boilers, which were under the care of competent and careful men.

AVENGED HIS SISTER.

Young Southerner Kills a Physician Who Had Insulted Her.

Columbus, Ga., May 13.—A terrible tragedy was enacted on the streets here Tuesday afternoon, in which Walter Wright, a young man 21 years old, avenged an insult offered his sister by Dr. J. T. Blackwell. Blackwell, it is said, made improper proposals to Miss Wright a few days ago, and Tuesday was the first time her brother had seen Blackwell since. Wright emptied the contents of a five-chamber 41-caliber Colt's revolver into Blackwell's body. The latter fell upon the sidewalk and died almost instantly.

MISSOURI REPUBLICANS.

Delegates Instructed for McKinley—Synopsis of the Platform.

St. Joseph, Mo., May 13.—The republican state convention convened here Tuesday. The platform adopted demands a return to the republican policy of protection and reciprocity; opposes the free coinage of silver, and favors the use of silver as currency to the extent only and under such regulations that its parity with the present gold standard can be maintained. It eulogizes McKinley and instructs the delegates from Missouri to the national convention to vote for his nomination for the office of president.

DEVILS LAKE.

Improvements on the Hotel—Newsy Notes from the Resort.

A fishing party from Toledo was at the hotel the 8th.

Miss Mollie Barker, of Addison, was at the lake Sunday.

Mrs. J. B. Allen was at the hotel to spend Sunday at her old home.

Mr. Pratt, of Toledo, a friend of Dr. Walters, was at the hotel last Thursday.

Mr. Porter has improved his stock very much by a new supply of canned goods.

Mr. John Talmadge has his bicycle boat on the lake and in good running order. It is a little dandy. Come and take a ride on it.

Mr. Cutterback, of Toledo, was at the lake last week on business. He rented his elevator to Mr. Lewis, of Addison, who expects to buy grain here after harvest.

Dr. T. W. Walters, the new proprietor of the Devils Lake hotel, has greatly improved the place by new paint and paper. He will soon be in first class shape to entertain guests.

On May 4, when Mr. Clark Willits was coming from dinner to his blacksmith shop he got in some trouble with Dr. T. W. Walters little son of 9 years of age. Mr. Willits became angry at him and struck him with a piece of a board, hurting him quite badly. Mr. Walters had Willits arrested and he paid a fine of $15. He thinks it rather expensive to strike his neighbor's children, and says he will be careful next time and not get mad.

Mr. Marion Sales is at the Devils Lake hotel being treated by Dr. T. W. Walters, a magnetic specialist. Mr. Sales has been a great sufferer for nearly two years and his case has been considered hopeless by his friends. He has been there three weeks and is very much improved, gaining very fast. He thinks he will soon be able to walk without his cane, something he hasn't done for 20 months. He is highly esteemed by all who know him, and his friends hope to see him able to once more enjoy life.

The pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. A man's health and strength depend upon what he gets out of his food. This depends upon his digestion. Remove the obstruction by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and heartburn. The Pellets are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature. They give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain nor griping.

HAWAII, THE "PEARL OF THE PACIFIC."

Seventeenth of a Series of Letters by John R. Musick.

The Overthrow of Monarchy—The Provisional Government.

The queen announced that she was going to give her people a new constitution. The new constitution was written and signed, but she failed to get the signatures of all her cabinet. The document never came to light, but it is known that it provided for the disfranchisement of all white men not married to native women, and that only the property of the whites should be liable to taxes.

The Committee of Safety organized and formed in companies. Arms were concealed in a hardware store, and, on the morning of Jan. 17, 1893, Mr. John Good, now Captain Good, Mr. Benner, and two others, started with them to the armory of the Committee of Safety. On Fort street they were attacked by the police. Captain Good fired and wounded one man, and Mr. Benner knocked another down with the butt of his whip, and thus they escaped.

In the meanwhile Mr. John L. Stevens, United States minister to Hawaii, who was away up to this time, returned to Honolulu after the Committee of Safety had been organized. He issued the following request to Captain G. C. Wiltse, of the United States Cruiser Boston:

"Sir:—In view of the existing critical circumstances in Honolulu, indicating an inadequate force, I request you to land marines and sailors from the ship under your command for the protection of the United States Legation and United States Consulate, and to secure American life and property.

"JOHN L. STEVENS,
"Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States."

Captain Wiltse had already anticipated the request of the minister, and issued the following order:

"Honolulu, Jan. 16, 1893.

"Lieutenant Commander W. T. Swinburne, United States Navy, Executive Officer of United States Cruiser Boston.

"Sir:—You will take command of the battalion and land in Honolulu for the purpose of protecting our legation, consulate, and the lives and property of American citizens, and to assist in preserving order.

"Great prudence must be exercised by both officers and men, and no action taken that is not fully warranted by the condition of affairs and by the conduct of those who may be inimical to the treaty rights of American citizens.

"You will inform me at the earliest possible moment of any change in the situation.

"Very respectfully,
"G. C. WILTSE,
"Captain, United States Navy, Commanding United States Cruiser Boston."

The troops were landed, and during the day divided into small squads. A part were placed to guard the United States Legation, a small squad sent to the Consulate, and eight to the home of an American resident named Hopper. As the troops had no tents the minister secured quarters for them from a royalist.

There has probably been more wholesale lying, in print and out of print, about the action of Minister Stevens and Captain Wiltse than about any other subject since the days of Ananias. The day after the landing of the troops, the queen's cabinet called on Minister Stevens to ask the aid of the United States marines in sustaining the queen against the Provisional Government then in course of formation. Minister Stevens answered:

"Gentlemen, the men were landed for one purpose only, a pacific purpose, and we cannot take part in any contest. I cannot use this force for sustaining the queen or anybody else."

This remark was made and this assurance given before the queen had been deposed, and her cabinet knew that the United States troops would not interfere in the affair in any way.

Thirty-two armed citizens of the Committee of Safety marched to the government building and took possession of it. The constitution had not been formerly promulgated and, it is said, was never signed by all the cabinet. The ministers fled, the guard went to the police quarters, and the unfortunate queen was deserted by everyone save her marshal, Mr. Wilson, who through all her adversities has remained her truest friend. It is said that Mr. Wilson warned her against an attempt to promulgate the new constitution. "If you do, it will be your ruin," he declared, "but I shall stand or fall with you." If Mr. Wilson made this assertion, he kept his word. To his credit be it said he was the only friend of the queen who, in the hour of trial, displayed any pluck. But he had not a soldier or policeman to aid him, and thirty-two men seized the government.

Hon. S. B. Dole, chief justice of the supreme court, resigned his position when the trouble began, and was made a member of the Committe of Safety, and later, on the organization of the Provisional Government, became its president.

After the failure of the effort to secure annexation of the Islands to the United States, and the defeat of the project to restore the queen, the Provisional Government became a permanent government. A constitution was framed and Hon. S. B. Dole selected as president for the term of six years. A wiser choice could not have been made. Mr. Dole is a brave, honorable, conservative gentleman. He is a statesman beyond corruption, and, while dignified, is utterly devoid of any of the silly pomposity which so often characterizes men who think themselves great. He is easily approached, open and honest, and capable of being at the head of a much larger country than Hawaii.

REGISTERS HIS BOY'S NAME.

Man Displays His Grief in a Queer Sort of Way.

"Did you notice that man register," asked the clerk of an uptown hotel of a Washington Times writer, as a sad-faced man turned away from the desk. He had written his own name and another on the record. "He has been coming here for four or five years that I remember," continued the clerk. "The name that follows his own is that of his son, though the latter has been dead for three years.

"It is a case full of sadness. That man makes regular trips to the city, and he used to always bring his boy, a bright-looking youth of about 16. The father was very devoted to him, and the boy did seem to be a rattling good fellow. They always shared the same room, always went out together, and seemed chums more than father and son. But the boy died. The next time the father came to the hotel there was a marked change in his appearance. He walked silently up to the desk and registered. After writing his own name, he placed that of his son beneath it, just as he formerly did. I called his attention to it, but a tear came to his eye, and he said nothing, so I immediately changed the subject. Ever since that day he has registered in that manner when he came to the city. Once in awhile he will order an extra dinner and have it set on the table beside him, just where his boy used to sit. He never speaks of the boy."

ARMY BULLETS FOR GAME.

Objected to on Account of Their Great Penetration.

Something for sportsmen to consider seriously, if they intend to get one of the new 30-caliber army rifles, is the great penetration of the bullets. One of the bullets would kill a man through a four-foot spruce tree, or a cow a mile and more away. No ordinary tree can be depended on to stop one of these bullets, and it might easily travel half a mile through dense woods and hit a man far out of sight with deadly effect.

Field and Stream says that the next legislatures of our great game states should pass a law prohibiting the use of a jacketed bullet, because of the danger to human beings. Another argument it offers in favor of such a law will have great influence on the men who do not wish to wound without killing the game. "This class of bullets is useless for large game unless soft pointed," it says, "as it rarely kills instantly, but allows the game to die from internal hemorrhage and in terrible agony out of reach."

When such a rifle is used for big game a bullet that mushrooms should be employed. The mushrooming bullet will kill anything, as it goes clear through an elk, moose, or deer, and the force of the impact would knock a running grizzly down.

TELLTALE FORCE OF HABIT.

This Bank Clerk Unconsciously Revealed His Occupation.

They were both students at the new school of psychology, physiognomy and metaphysics. They dropped into an all-night restaurant and were talking of hypnotism, says the New York Press.

"See that young man over there near the ice-box?" asked one.

"Yes, why?" answered the other.

"What business does he follow?" judging from scientific observation?"

"He is either a night operator or a gambler."

"By what reasoning?"

"Because he is pale and nervous. The sun never shines on him. He has a vocation that keeps his nerves at a high tension."

The students left the contemplation of scientific research to investigate the merits of two clam chowders.

"I'll tell you what line of business that man follows," said the second philosopher, after a long pause.

"Well, what does he do for a living?"

"Paying teller in a bank."

"How do you know?"

"I watched him when the waiter brought his pancakes a minute ago. He dampened his fingers and ran them over to see if the count was right."

Where Criticism Is Dangerous.

A Danzig upholsterer who was recently asked to appraise a plaster bust of the German empress, and said it was worth 25 cents, was arrested at once for lese majeste. As he was able to show that the bust had no artistic merit he was released.

Enduring Heat.

The human skin can endure heat of 212 degrees, the boiling point of water, because the skin is a bad conductor, and because the perspiration cools the body. Men have withstood without injury a heat of 300 degrees for several minutes.

Stockholders of the American National Bank, at Denver, Col., are arranging a plan for the bank's resumption.

Don't think because you are sick and nothing seems to give you relief that you can't be cured. There must be a cure for you somewhere. If your doctor can't cure you, perhaps he has mistaken the cause. Anybody is liable to make a mistake sometimes.

One in three of us suffer from indigestion, and one out of three dyspeptics doesn't know it. That is, he may know he is sick, but he blames it to something else. Indigestion is the cause of half of our dangerous diseases. Shaker Digestive Cordial, made from tonic medicinal roots and herbs, is the most natural cure for indigestion. It relieves the symptoms and cures the disease gently, naturally, efficiently, giving fresh life, strength and health to sick dyspeptics. At druggists. A trial bottle for 10c. 1w

LOOKING BACKWARD.

Look after the Back: A Fall, a Strain, a Constant Sitting or Stooping Position Brings Backache—Do You Know This Means the Kidneys are Affected?

How few people realize when their back begins to ache that it is a warning provided by nature to tell you that the kidneys are not working properly. You have a severe fall, you strain yourself lifting or perhaps you are compelled to maintain a sitting or stooping position for long intervals at a time, your back begins to ache, then your head, you become listless, tired and weary, but do you understand the real cause? We think not, else you would not use plasters and liniment on the back, which only relieve but do not reach the cause. If you would rid yourself of the pain and cure the root of the trouble, at the same time save many years of suffering and perhaps life itself, you will take a kidney remedy that has been tried and proven that it will cure.

Mr. John Robsoin of 661 Russell Street, Detroit, says: "As a result of exposure during the war I have suffered ever since with rheumatism and kidney trouble. Pains would start in my hip and go around to my back. Highly colored urine denoted kidney disorder. The pain in my back was often so bad I had to give up work until the severity of the attack passed away. I have used many liniments and other things, but received very little relief. Some time ago I started using Doan's Kidney Pills and they have worked a wonderful change in me. My back is all right now and I owe it all to the almost magical influence of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Mr. Robsoin was a member of the Fifty-first Illinois Regiment, which served through the war with honor and distinction. Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers—price, 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

From LaGrippe

How Dr. Miles' Nervine Restored One of Kentucky's Prominent Men to Health.

NO DISEASE has ever presented such peculiarities as LaGrippe. No disease leaves its victims so debilitated, so sleepless, nerveless, as LaGrippe.

Mr. D. W. Hilton, state agent of the National Life Insurance Co., of Kentucky, says: "In 1889 and '90 I had two severe attacks of LaGrippe, the last one attacking the nervous system with such severity that I was despaired of. I had not slept more than two months except by the use of narcotics that stupefied me, but gave no rest. I was only conscious of intense nervous weakness, agonizing bodily pain and the fact that I was hourly growing weaker. When in this condition, I commenced using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. In a few days I began to improve and in one month from that time I was cured, much to the surprise of all who knew of my condition. I have been in excellent health since and have recommended your remedies to many of my friends."

Mrs. Henry Kehoe died last Tuesday night at midnight at the home of her father, Wm. McCarbery. The death was quite unexpected and seems a blow to her relatives and friends. The ceremony was held under charge of Wm. Osgood, Rev. Rederus officiating at the service.

Some people are always afraid of those awful cows." But at the same time an enraged bovine is not a desirable companion to meet on the public streets. A few days ago an animal was brought here to be put in the stock yards. He became infuriated from hard usage and made a rush at his owner, who barely escaped. He next made a dash at a horse hitched to a post and it took the persuasive powers of several men to make him desist.

There was a very large attendance at the village incorporation meeting at the opera house on Saturday evening, but considerable interest was manifested. Rev. Rederus made a short address explaining the law governing such cases, a committee was appointed to prepare a petition after which an expression of the sense of the voters was taken, showing 20 for and 7 against incorporating. There seems to be a mistaken idea prevalent with a number of our citizens, who obtain their information on the subject from hearsay, or the nightmare, that in case the village should be incorporated their taxes would at once be overwhelmed with taxation. Get the law and read it from beginning to end, post yourselves, get it from that source, and don't swallow all the croaking of people who can see no benefit to be derived, paramount to one dollar and eighty dollar, and who are at once troubled with pocket book colic, at the mere mention of any public improvement. We have got one of the prettiest little villages in Southern Michigan, and it can be made more attractive, by unity and uniformity of action.

Don't need to fear the approach of croup if you have Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the house. Never was a case it wouldn't relieve if used at the outset. 1w

THE DOCTOR'S BILL

PARALYZING, but unnecessary. You don't have to run for a Doctor whenever you feel a little out of sorts. A few doses of Dr. F. FRENCH'S UNEQUALED BLOOD PURIFIER AND RHEUMATIC REMEDY, will make you feel all right and save you a lot of money. Some people have found this out, and this is what they say about it.

E. B. DOWNING, Grand Rapids, Mich.

J. FREE SMITH, Lansing, Mich.

"Doctors called it Bright's Disease in its early stage. One bottle of Dr. F. French's Unequaled Blood Purifier and Rheumatic Remedy removed all symptoms of the disease—have felt nothing of it since."

Mrs. DIANA RIGGS, Hillsdale, Mich.

"Was sick for four years with enlargement of the Liver and Spleen, and General Prostration of the Nervous System; was attended by two of the best Doctors in the town and used no end of Patent Medicines, all who saw me thought there was no relief except by death, which seemed sure. A friend recommended Dr. F. French's Unequaled Blood Purifier and Rheumatic Remedy; in less than a week after I commenced taking it I was better. Six bottles cured me. You are welcome to use my name and this statement, and also refer anyone to me either personally or by mail, and I will tell them much more than I can write."

We have many more letters to the same effect.

This preparation is in no way to be classed among the many worthless Patent Medicines of the day, being simply a Prescription used by Dr. F. French, of Hillsdale, for many years in his practice. It is offered to the public with the full assurance of its being the Best Medicine on Earth for the cure of Rheumatism in all its various forms. Affections of the Stomach, Liver or Kidneys, Scrofula-Eruptions, and Cutaneous Diseases, Female Weakness, and all complaints arising from an Impure Condition of the Blood.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., May, 8 '96.

It takes two to make a bargain. In adopting a resolution providing for the adjournment of Congress on May 18th, the House has only taken the first step towards a bargain. The majority of the ways and means committee would much rather have had the first step taken by the Senate, but as that body gave no indication of doing so, the committee reported the resolution which was adopted by the House. That it will not be adopted by the Senate in that shape may be set down as certain as the Senate will not be ready to adjourn as early as that, and there are numerous things which may precipitate a discussion that will prevent an early adjournment, not the least of which is the indisposition of a number of Senators to adjourn until the President has recognized the belligerence of the Cubans. This was voiced by Senator Morgan this week when he moved that his joint resolution directing that resolution be referred to the committee on Foreign Relations, and said: "I hope firm, energetic and determined action will be taken before this Congress adjourns. I do not believe Congress can afford to adjourn leaving this question in its present state before the world."

The whole influence of the administration will be used to prevent any farther action by Congress on Cuban affairs. In fact, it is said that any further Congressional action will result in upsetting a very carefully planned scheme which President Cleveland hopes to carry through after Congress gets out of the way. Just what this scheme is has not been told by anyone who could speak by authority, but vague hints indicate that it may lead to war with Spain, and that the gathering of what is with one or two exceptions the most formidable fleet of fighting vessels afloat, by the administration in Hampton Roads, is connected with it.

Representative Amos Cummings, of N. Y. is liable to lose his well deserved reputation for level-headeness if he introduces a few more bills like the one he introduced this week, to prohibit the offering of gifts or prizes in connection with chewing or smoking tobacco or cigarettes. What right has Congress to intefere if the manufacturers of these or any other articles choose to encourage their consumption by giving away something? Now if there was any way by which Congress could absolutely stop the manufacture of the stinking paper cigarettes the average citizen would not be likely to question its Constitutionality, but the bill of Mr. Cummings is calculated to increase their manufacture by making it more profitable.

The old, old fight between the House and Senate is on again. The present point in dispute is the number of battle ships which shall be provided for by the Naval appropriation bill. The House originally said four, and the Senate by an amendment reduced the number to two. This aroused the ire of House and, after some very sarcastic references to the jingoism of the Senate a little earlier in the session, it refused by a decisive vote of 141 to 81 to accept the Senate amendment, and sent the bill to conference. The Senators are so accustomed to having their own way in these contests that they seldom take the opposition of the House seriously, but this may end differently, as there is a strong element in the Senate which sides with the House.

A bill intended to prevent Canadians coming into the United States to work during the summer months and returning to their homes in the winter has been favorably reported from the House committee on Labor. Its title is: "A bill for the protection of American labor and to establish additional regulations concerning immigration."

Ex-Senator Warner Miller is in Washington trying to stem the current of opposition which has set in against the Nicaragua Canal, or rather against any government aid for the present Nicaragua Canal company, but he doesn't seem to be making much headway. Whatever may be done after the Presidential election, it is practically certain that no Nicaragua Canal bill will be passed at this session of Congress.

Two populists Peffer and Butler, joined with 29 republican Senators in serving notice on the Finance committee that no tariff or internal revenue bill could be considered at this session that did not carry a clause providing for an adequate duty on wool.

THE METHODIST CONFERENCE.

An Account from the Pen of a Former Townsman—Other Welcome Thoughts.

The Quadrennial General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, of the U. S., met in Cleveland on the morning of May 1, 1896, and is to continue its session through the month. It adds to the dignity of a body to have it meet only once in four years. But the highest dignity of this body consists in the fact that it is composed of carefully chosen representatives of one of the largest and most influential religious denominations in Christendom. It is a little singular that so peaceably disposed an assembly should have for its place of meeting a building erected as a drilling place for soldiers and a storage place for arms and the accoutrements of war. But the conference wished to come to Cleveland and the large Central Armory building having only its walls and partitions finished, was selected as the most spacious and the best adapted in form and plan for the use of the coming assembly. At quite a heavy expense it was arranged for the ecclesiastical court that has now taken temporary possession, and is legislating in the interest of universal peace. The large hall with its arched roof is tastefully trimmed with bunting of various colors and with the flags of all the nations represented by delegates, and these come from many different parts of the globe.

Nearly a score of bishops are here and they are a body of men who for ability and learning and devotion can hardly be excelled. The delegates present number more than 500. At the pleasant reception Friday night the 2,000 or more chairs for visitors were all occupied. Mayor McKisson and others gave addresses of welcome, and in his reply to them, Bishop Fowler, after telling the people how thoroughly welcomed he felt, gave this neat and modest statement of what methodism stood for: "A profound conviction, a little heroism and some achievements." Notwithstanding this a peaceful assembly, studying the things that make for peace, Dr. Buckley, of the Christian Advocate, has put on his feathers and war paint, grasped his tomahawk and is in full pursuit of the women who have the audacity to assert their right to be delegates of the conference, as well as their lords and masters, the men. The four women, who are "holding the fort" for their disfranchised sisters, do not flinch, however, but sit and listen to the doctor's speeches as placidly as if they were in their own prayer meetings at home. They have expressed a willingness, it is reported, to give up their claims in the interests of peace. Yet, even if they do this, the controversy will go on, unless action so definite shall be taken by this conference as to close it. One German delegate was so ungracious as to say that no women wished to be delegates, except those who wished to shine or were old maids.

The month of May is the chosen one for all large religious assemblies. The Presbyterian clans will soon be gathering at Saratoga. The Baptists will hold their annual convention before the month is out. So with other denominations. It must be very discouraging to the prophets, who have been foretelling the speedy death of christianity, to find there is still so much activity and progress in christian circles, that so many new churches are constantly being formed and so many new and difficult enterprises inaugurated. But the facts in regard to the spread of the gospel throughout the world are very cheering to those who have embraced it. One of the most significant and hopeful signs of the times is the movement rapidly gathering strength in favor of the arbitration of national disputes instead of an attempt to settle them by an appeal to arms, which after all its costly sacrifices, only brings about a forced and artificial peace and gives rise to greater evils than it cures. There have been some righteous wars in the history of the world, but it is time a course should be adopted which would make righteous wars unnecessary. The gospel foretells a time when the nations will learn war no more, when the costly standing armies and navies of the civilized world shall be things of the past, and the friends of the gospel are working to hasten the arrival of that happy time.

Cleveland, except the crowded business portion of the city, is beautiful in its spring attire. But I can shut my eyes and think how beautiful fair Tecumseh is, with its shaded streets, its tasteful homes, and the apple orchards now in bloom and the fertile farms and groves surrounding it. The Herald has thanks for the weekly visit it makes us but some of its news, like that of the Tipton tragedy in a late issue, is very sad. There is a cause for the frequency of these tragedies. Would that it might be discovered and removed. —W. H. B.

J. W. Paine yesterday sold his art studio to McClure & Co., of Manchester, N. H. Mr. Paine has been in the business many years in this city and his retirement will be regretted by his many friends.—Evening Press, Jackson, May 6. The principal member of the above named firm is Robert McClure and the Co., consists of Geo. V. Schreder. The latter is now conducting the business at Jackson, and "Bob" will arrive from Vermont later on. Both members are old Tecumseh boys and their many friends wish them every success in their new enterprise.

The following concerning a well known Tecumseh boy is taken from the Adrian Times: Friends of Willis Hartson, a Lake Shore mail clerk, residing in this city, were considerably agitated by hearing of a report printed in an evening paper that he had been shot at South Bend. The item included another vague and confusing rumor that a mail agent had been killed and his body mangled beyond recognition in that place. Mr. Horton came in from his regular run on the west-bound fast mail last evening, and at once began to manifest unmistakable signs of being very much alive.

The following item taken from the Messenger shows something of what the postmasters and federal office holders did at the state convention: At the late democratic state convention when Hon. Spencer O. Fisher, of Bay City, was the candidate for delegate at large, representing the free silver wing of the party, Lenawee county cast 23 votes for him. While Mr. Fisher was denouncing the postmasters and federal office holders, he was interrupted by Postmaster L. W. Hoch, of Adrian, with the statement that his charges were unjust, that there were three postmasters in the Lenawee delegation that the chairman of the delegation was a postmaster, and yet Lenawee county had cast 23 votes for Fisher. It was a surprise to the gentleman from Bay City.

The casualties and mortalities from lightning in southern Michigan during the past two months have been unprecedented in recent years. Nearly every day destruction of live stock and property and even fatalities are reported in our own and adjoining counties. This calls to mind that we have in town one of the few successful lightning rod men in this state. Jno. F. Hicks not only sold a large quantity of this indispensable protection when it was first introduced, but he has continued and is now rodding hundreds of buildings every year. Moreover he always does work the second time for a man if he needs more rods. The secret of this success lies in the fact that Mr. Hicks deals in the best rods made, does the best work possible and warrants his jobs of rodding and the durability of the tips used. He is thoroughly responsible and can always be found at Tecumseh ready to make good his guarantees. The Farmers Mutual Insurance Co., of Lenawee Co., have not had a loss in 30 years where the building was protected by Mr. Hicks' rods.

Certain young men drive good horses, which fact is indeed much to their credit. But when their zeal and strife impells them to indulge in tests of speed on our streets it is carrying the competition a little too far. A little indulgence of this kind Sunday evening nearly resulted in a runaway. In fact one buggy was quite badly wrecked as it was. Rent a track next time boys.

There are not yet many visitors at Sand lake on Sunday but the number is on the increase. The irrepressibles, Ed. Stebbins, Fred Bury, Frank Barnum and Harry Fee, were out last Sunday. Among other visitors was Walter C. Burridge and Newberry Satterthwaite, of Tecumseh, Mr. and Mrs. Irv Finch and Dr. Mina Logue, of this city. Charles H. Haight was also there and had his sail boat out, the first one to be launched this season.—Telegram.

We are to have a little recruiting in our midst done by the members of the Salvation Army. Lieutenant McGee was over from Adrian Saturday and made arrangements for a meeting to be held in the Methodist church here on Monday evening. The Adrian papers always speak well of the branch of the army in that city and their work there receives recognition from a large class of good citizens.

Tecumseh experienced a very good shower last Monday afternoon, but the precipitation of the storm area seemed to centre near Sutton's where a veritable cloud burst took place. Two dense black clouds, one coming from the west and one from the north, seemed to meet at that point and the down pour was terrific. No rain fell at Chase's crossing and very little at Holloway. Between here and Clinton it was only a very light shower, while at Clinton again the rain fall was considerable. The storm near Sutton was accompanied by hail stones of remarkable size and quantity doing much damage to growing crops and fruit. However, the fury of the storm was wreaked on the Lake Shore track in the rear of T. G. Mead's farm, where the road bed was badly damaged for nearly half a mile and for the space of about 20 rods the ballast and grading was washed out from under the ties from one to four feet deep. Section foreman Wm. Orr and assistants were in the vicinity at the time and sought shelter in an adjoining barn. Mr. Orr discovered the damage and the night passenger train was held at Lenawee Junction till nearly midnight. In the meanwhile three section gangs and a gravel train were engaged till about 10:30 in making temporary repairs by bolstering the track up with old ties. The track has since been put in its former condition. This was one of the most remarkable down pours ever known in this section. It was, however, fortunate that the damage to the Lake Shore track was discovered in time to prevent a serious accident.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

CAUGHT IN NEW YORK.

Woman Under Arrest for Abducting a Boy at Vassar.

New York, N. Y., May 9. — Fanny Lampman, who is said by the police to be known also by the names McGee, Haig and Goodall, was arrested Thursday at 446 West Twenty-sixth street on the charge of abducting the grandson of Mrs. Goodall, of Vassar, Mich. The arrest was made at the request of Marshal John Rough, of Negaunee, Mich. The abduction is said to have taken place two years ago. The boy is now eight years old, and is named Eddie. The woman says he is her son, but he declares that she stole him from his home. She traveled about this country with him, he said, and took him to Scotland, and then back to New York. The woman asserted vehemently that the boy is her son. She said she left the boy with her mother, Mrs. Goodall, but she took the child away from her two years ago.

REUNION OF TWO SISTERS.

After Eighteen Years of Separation They Are United for a Day.

Detroit, May 13.—After a separation of 18 years Harriet and Bertha Davis, sisters, have been reunited, only to be separated by the death of the former. Harriet was adopted out of an orphan home at Birmingham, England, by the Holman opera singers. They brought her to America, where she was educated, and eventually married Harry Hague. Bertha was adopted and brought to Canada, later finding a position in this city. Through church work she became acquainted with Mrs. Hague, who was already an invalid, and brought her flowers without knowing the relationship. The resemblance between the two women attracted the attention of friends, and a long inquiry was set on foot, which resulted in proof that the two are sisters, but the reunion was a short one, for 24 hours later Harriet passed into death.

SUIT OVER A MASTODON.

Prof. John Kost Wants $20,000 Damages from a Railway.

Lansing, May 11.—A suit was commenced in the Ingham circuit court Saturday which will determine the value of the skeleton of a mastodon. Prof. John Kost, of this city, is complainant against the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railroad company in an action for $20,000 damages to valuable geological specimens which were shipped here from Tiffin, O., and which, it is claimed, were badly used in transit. He alleges that the skeleton of the mastodon was the most perfect in existence and that it was damaged to the extent of $10,000.

Students Plan a March.

Pontiac, May 9. — Capt. Frank Davidson, First Lieut. Ray and Second Lieut. Silverthorne, students at the Michigan Military academy at Orchard Lake, have in command a company of 40 cadets who are preparing for a trial for the marching record between the academy and Detroit. The distance is 30 miles, and the present record seven and a quarter hours. The company will try to cover the distance in six hours.

Strike for Eight Hours.

Detroit, Mich., May 12. Over 500 union carpenters assembled in Central Labor Union hall Monday morning instead of going to work. The strike follows the action of last Friday night, when it was unanimously determined to strike for eight hours a day at 25 cents per hour. The bosses are willing to make a minimum wage of 20 cents an hour, and promise to concede the eight-hour day January 1 next.

Barren Lake Lined with Dead Fishes.

Niles, May 12.—The shores of Barren lake, a resort four miles west of here, are lined with thousands of dead bass and blue gills. The cause is a mystery. For the past week they have been coming to the surface and are being carried away by the waves to land. Some think that dynamite was used in the lake.

L'ANSE DESTROYED.

Fire Makes a Clean Sweep and Wipes Out the Town.

L'Anse, May 11.—The fire which swept through this place Saturday afternoon and night and burned itself out at midnight. The entire town, except a few scattered houses, was destroyed. Fifty families, numbering about 300 persons, are homeless. The loss is roughly estimated at from $500,000 to $750,000. The homeless people are living in sheds hastily erected or have found refuge at Baraga, across the bay. Saloons are in operation in the open air, dry goods boxes being used as bars. The heaviest individual losses are those of the L'Anse Lumber company, about $50,000 on mill and 4,000,000 feet of lumber; South Shore & Atlantic Railway company, $43,000 on ore docks; Ruppee & Son, store and contents, $40,000; Lloyd hotel, $25,000.

The fire started in the lumber company's mill in an unaccountable manner. The mill had been idle for several days owing to a strike among employes. There are many who surmise that some hot-headed striker applied the torch. Baraga and Pequaming sent over all that could be spared from their fire department, but the flames were soon beyond control, and, fanned by a stiff southwest breeze, were driven across the old ore dock, through the lumber piles and into the business center.

Marquette, May 12.—No sooner was it known that outside aid was needed for the sufferers by the L'Anse fire than relief committees were made up in every town in the upper peninsula. Contributions of money, clothing, food and other necessaries were forwarded with dispatch in generous quantities. The Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway has offered to carry all contributions free. One car of supplies was made up here Monday morning within one hour. Over $500 in cash has been subscribed in Marquette.

CONDITION OF CROPS.

Owing to Favorable Weather Everything Is Making Progress.

Lansing, May 9.—The May crop report issued by the secretary of state says that the weather in April was favorable and that crops of all kinds made good progress. Not more than two or three per cent. of the wheat sowed will be plowed up. With few exceptions the report shows no damage by insects. The average condition of wheat at this time of the year is better than for several seasons past. In the southern counties 30 per cent., and in the state an average of 26 per cent. of the meadows will be plowed up. Owing to the drought, the seeding of last year was generally lost, and there are few clover meadows in the state. Timothy meadows are making fine growth. The average condition of meadows is 81 in the southern counties, 91 in the central, 93 in the northern and 85 for the state.

OBEY CAPT. PECK'S REQUEST.

Body of Dead Ship Owner Carried to Places Dear to Him in Life.

Detroit, May 12.—Capt. E. M. Peck, the millionaire vessel owner, died last Friday. Monday night his remains were shipped on the steamer E. M. Peck to Cleveland, where the interment will take place. Before he died Capt. Peck asked that after his death his body be conveyed into his library, his business office and other places that he liked to frequent. Monday afternoon the coffin was carried into various rooms in the handsome house. In the evening the body was taken into his office in the Parker and Miller building. Then it was placed on a long and cool piazza overlooking the busy river front. There the body rested until the time came to remove it to the boat. The funeral party occupied cabins on the steamer, which was draped in mourning from bow to stern.

Rain Quenches Forest Fires.

Houghton, May 13.—Heavy rain fell for five hours Monday night, effectually quenching the forest fires which had been burning for the last week at a number of points and which have caused great destruction. The loss by fires of the past week on the southern shore of Lake Superior between Duluth and Sault Ste. Marie will reach fully $1,000,000.

Found in Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., May 12.—After a search of nearly two months Detective Farnsworth Monday afternoon arrested Flora Lewis, at No. 1218 Wabash avenue, on a charge of being a fugitive from justice. She is wanted in Kalamazoo, Mich., on a charge of perjury. She was turned over to Deputy Sheriff Hall, of Kalamazoo.

Robbed and Burned.

Kalamazoo, May 10.—The clothing store of Jake Levy was plundered by thieves early Saturday morning and the store completely saturated with kerosene and fired. About $200 worth of goods stolen and $2,000 damage from fire. Insurance, $6,000. Burry Fry and wife, living over the store, had a narrow escape.

Asks for an Accounting.

Kalamazoo, May 10.—Lucy C. Eames, widow of Lovett Eames, who died September 6, has begun suit for an accounting. She has had Charles H. Manley et al. restrained from disposing of property valued at $100,000.

Bold Robbery in Kalamazoo.

Kalamazoo, May 13.—W. B. Wolcott's hardware store, two doors from police headquarters, was robbed of $500 worth of knives, razors, etc., Monday night. The thieves were locked in the cellar when the store closed.

Will Be Tried Again.

London, May 13.—The Standard publishes a dispatch from its Madrid correspondent saying that Spain and the United States have arrived at an amicable understanding regarding the men captured on the Competitor. The prisoners will be tried again, this time by a civil court under the provisions of the existing treaties between the two countries.

THE REPUBLICANS.

What Was Done at Their State Convention.

Detroit, May 8.—The Michigan republican state convention on Thursday elected four delegates at large and alternates to the republican national convention, two presidential electors at large, presidential electors representing the 12 congressional districts of the state and a new chairman of the state central committee, Hon. D. M. Ferry, of Detroit. Much enthusiasm was manifested for McKinley, and, as was expected, the convention instructed its delegates at large to vote for Ohio's favorite son so long as his name should remain before the St. Louis convention. Hon. O. A. James presided.

For delegates at large to the national convention Gen. R. A. Alger, of Detroit; Thomas J. O'Brien, of Grand Rapids, and John Duncan, of Calumet, were elected by acclamation, and Mark S. Brewer, of Pontiac, was elected as the fourth delegate after two ballots had been taken.

N. J. Kelsey, of Calhoun county; Henry A. Haigh, of Wayne; George H. Kemp, of Washtenaw, and I. C. Washington (colored), of St. Clair, were chosen alternate delegates at large by acclamation.

J. C. Gray, of Kalkaska, and F. W. Gilchrist, of Alpena, were elected as presidential electors at large without a contest.

The features of the convention were the address of Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, who dropped in on the delegates unexpectedly and made a ringing republican speech, and the victory of the silver men in forcing the adoption of the financial plank of the Minneapolis convention of 1892. The "hard money" men had control of the committee on resolutions, there being but two advocates of the white metal on it. The minority, however, brought the fight which they had been unable to settle in committee into the convention. They declared that the convention should at least reaffirm the plank of the last national republican convention, and on this basis they won their fight after battling for an hour. Aside from this episode and the contest over the election of the delegates at large the convention was entirely harmonious.

The platform as adopted instructs the delegates to the national convention to use all honorable means to secure the nomination of Hon. William McKinley as the republican candidate for president; reaffirms the position taken on the financial question by the platform adopted at Minneapolis in 1892; favors a return to the policy of Washington and Hamilton, which, by discriminating duties in favor of American bottoms, secured 90 per cent. of our carrying trade to American ships, and which, if now restored, would again revive our shipping and cause American freights to be paid to America.

The resolutions also expressed sympathy with the people of Cuba in their struggle for liberty. An additional resolution was presented by the committee expressing regret at the retirement of Senator James McMillan from the chairmanship of the state central committee.

NEW TRANSIT COMPANY.

Chicago Men Will Build a Road Under Benton Harbor.

Benton Harbor, May 9.—The Benton Harbor & Eastern Transit Company has been organized here by Chicago men. The company will build a new railway, and will tunnel under the city a distance of one mile. One hundred miles of road will be built and will connect with all the main lines. The company will also run a line of steamers to Chicago and Milwaukee. The city council has granted a franchise for the tunnel under the city. The capital stock of the new company is $1,000,000. Work will begin at once.

Death of a Lake Captain.

St. Joseph, May 13.—Capt. Curtis Boughton, a veteran lake vesselman, died Tuesday, aged 82. He commenced sailing out of Cleveland when 13 years old. At one time he owned 12 boats, but disposed of them all and retired with considerable wealth. He owned a half interest in the steamer Hippacampos, which was lost between St. Joseph and Chicago. He shipped the first peaches across the lake to Chicago. During his experiences as a sailor he was shipwrecked four times, and saved eight lives from wrecked boats.

End of Sparrow Insane Case.

Lansing, May 13.—The case brought by Edward W. Sparrow, a millionaire mine-owner and lumberman of this city, to have his sister Henrietta confined in an asylum for the insane came to an end Tuesday, when the supreme court decided that the order of the probate court adjudging Miss Sparrow insane and committing her to the Michigan asylum at Kalamazoo was final and could not be appealed from.

Factory at Zeeland Burns.

Holland, May 11.—The three-story brick wagon manufactory of Depree & Ellenbaas at Zeeland was totally destroyed by fire at noon Sunday, with all its machinery and most of the stock. The loss is estimated at $25,000, with no insurance whatever.

Trial of William Reeves Begins.

Ionia, May 9.—The trial of William Reeves, for assault with intent to murder Charles Hagadorn, commenced Friday evening in the circuit court.

A Heavy Failure.

Akron, O., May 11.—Ferdinand Schumacher, president of the American Cereal company, and known as the "oatmeal king," turned over his property to his nephew, Hugo Schumacher, and Attorney J. A. Arbogast, of this city, for the benefit of creditors. The assets, which consist of $1,000,000 in American Cereal company stock, other similar securities and real estate, would reach $2,000,000 if there was a market for them. The liabilities will reach $1,500,000.

THE HUMAN EYE.

Like the Arm, the One That Is Most Used Is Strongest.

You are either left-eyed or right-eyed, unless you are the one person out of every 15 who has eyes of equal strength. You also belong to the small minority of one out of every ten persons if your left eye is stronger than your right. As a rule, just as people are right-handed, they are right-eyed.

This is probably due to the generally greater use of the organs of the right side of the body, as, for example, a sportsman, using his right arm and shoulder, uses his right eye to sight his gun, thereby strengthening it with exercise.

Old sea captains, after long use of the telescope, find their right eye much stronger than the left. The law is confirmed by the experience of aurists. If a person who has ears of equal hearing has cause to use one ear more than the other for a long period, the ear brought into requisition is found to be much strengthened, and the ear which is not used loses its hearing in a corresponding degree.

Transparent Umbrellas.

Umbrella making is among the most interesting of industries. Something like 1,000 patents have been taken out during the last 20 years. The most recent inventor, who, if successful, will eclipse all rivals, is a maker who claims to have contrived a transparent umbrella, which, while being equally waterproof with silks and alpacas, will have the great advantage of allowing the wayfarer in a rainstorm to avoid collision with lamp posts and other obstacles along the way.

Correct Proportions.

Some gleaners of human family statistics say that a man or woman of correct proportions is six times as high as the right foot is long.

Blind

Sometimes persons become blind from impure blood, which develops scrofulous ulcers on the eyeballs, iritis, granulated eyelids, etc. In such cases Hood's Sarsaparilla has been marvelously successful in restoring sight. It shows its powers as a blood purifier and radical cure for scrofula, by removing the cause, thus curing the eyes and restoring all the affected parts to healthy condition. Read this:

"As an act of justice and for the benefit of other mothers who may have afflicted children, I write this. About the first of February, 1892, my daughter Zola, then three years old, contracted sore eyes of the worst form and in a few weeks was entirely blind, being unable to tolerate light of any kind. She suffered and cried until I was almost heartbroken. The best eye specialist in the county treated her for months, but the

became worse. Then I took her to a specialist in Indianapolis, who said he could do nothing. I came away with a heavy heart. I met my father's physician, Dr. Berryman, who examined Zola's eyes, and told me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I began to give it as directed and wash her eyes with warm water. Soon I began to notice improvement, and now, having given the child over a half dozen bottles, her eyes are greatly improved and she can see as well as any one. She is five years of age, and goes to school. When she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, she had to eat her meals in a darkened room, but now she is able to sit at the table with the rest of the family." MRS. OLLIE BUSHE, Colfax, Indiana.

"I would like to add my testimony to that of others who have used Ayer's Pills, and to say that I have taken them for many years, and always derived the best results from their use. For stomach and liver troubles, and for the cure of headache caused by these derangements, Ayer's Pills cannot be equaled.

When my friends ask me what is the best remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, or bowels, my invariable answer is, Ayer's Pills. Taken in season, they will break up a cold, prevent la grippe, check fever, and regulate the digestive organs. They are easy to take, and are, indeed, the best all-round family medicine I have ever known."—Mrs. MAY JOHNSON, 368 Rider Avenue, New York City.

FARM AND GARDEN.

CONVENIENT HAY RACK.

Used for Years with Entire Success by Its Designer.

I have often wanted to haul hay and being a lone-handed farmer and not desiring to take the bed off my wagon and put on the regular frames, I invented the hay-rack here illustrated, and have used it for years with success and satisfaction to myself and others; and for hauling shingles I never saw anything equal it.

It is made by using 6 pieces, 2x4 inches, 5 feet long, with ½-inch bolt

A CONVENIENT HAY-RACK.

20 inches from lower end (Fig. 1). Fig. 2 shows the frame in position on the end of the bed; raised marks show ends of parallel strips 1x4 or 1x6 inches. Fig. 3 shows one side of the frame when taken apart. For the ends I use a strip of plank or stud 5 feet long, laid on end-gate and floor of bed, projecting in rear and front end of wagon. Place each end back and in front of inside cleats on the bed before putting the long parallel strips on, and keep end-gate rods tight. On the center cross I put a 1-foot cleat tight against the outside of bed and on the under side of cross. This keeps the center of the bed from spreading; but all good wagon-beds have two outside braces, and ought not to spread, anyhow. However, this simple preventive makes it doubly secure.

Last, but not least, by any means, this frame folds up just like a pair of scissors, and can be hung up in a shed or against a building, and takes no space to house it. If farmers would only learn to take care of their utensils, there would be less mortgaging done than there is at present.

I never lift my wagon-bed off and throw it on the ground to lay for weeks in the rain and snow, and I never saw men work harder than I have seen them do while lifting the bed off and on the wagon, and split the tongue and groove in the bed floor.—E. J. Newkirk, in Farm and Fireside.

WHISKY FROM POTATOES.

Overproduction Likely to Give Corn an Energetic Rival.

The enormous overproduction of potatoes last summer will probably result in the establishment of potato distilleries in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan, where the tuber can be bought for five cents a bushel or less. Potato whisky is made and consumed on a large scale in Germany and Austria, and every traveler in Ireland is offered a sample of "poteen." Few, except the natives, ever have the courage to do more than look at it. However, small quantities of "poteen" are imported into the United States, and stuff bearing that name, and probably equally as effective as the genuine, can be had in every city.

The American distillers have not experimented much with potatoes. They say the potato flavor is not relished by men used to the Kentucky, Maryland, Pennsylvania or Tennessee article. A $50,000 plant is being erected at Manawa, Wis., according to press dispatches, to use up part of the surplus crop of 1895. The venture is being watched by other distillers, and if it proves successful corn will have a formidable rival. It is estimated 297,000,000 bushels of potatoes were sold or housed last year, compared with 170,000,000 bushels in 1894. Many states not specially adapted to potato raising went into the market, and as a result potatoes are now selling here to peddlers at 12 or 14 cents a bushel, and choice stock is going in small lots at 25 cents. It is believed the planting in 1896 will be less than in 1895, but not in the great potato states—New York, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Illinois and Colorado. If distillers can use potatoes they can always find refuse stock at low prices as the starch manufacturers do.

Preserving a Corn Crop.

The Vermont station tested four ways of preserving a corn crop for dairy feed; namely, 1, putting in silo, ears and all; 2, cribbing the ears and putting fodder in silo, feeding the two together after grinding the ears; 3, curing in shocks, then running through cutter, ears and all, at time of feeding; 4, curing in field, and husking and grinding ears, and running fodder through cutter at time of feeding. Of the four methods, putting into the silo, ears and all, cut in quarter inch lengths, gave the best results. This silage cost much less, handled much better, went farther and produced more milk than either of the other three feeds.

Cost of Harvesting Sugar Beets.

A record of all labor put on digging the beets was kept with the following result: Five and one-half days' team work, at 75 cents per day, $4.12; 22 days' man labor, at $1.50 per day, $33, making a total cost of $37.12 for digging 22.44 tons of beets; or $1.65 per ton. The beets were taken from the ground by plowing a deep furrow with the landslide as near the beets as possible without cutting them. They were then easily thrown in piles.—Colorado Experiment Station.

It is not a good plan to plow up more land than can be sufficiently fertilized and tilled to grow good crops.

Planting Them Is a Good Way of Clearing Land of Weeds.

There are crops that can be grown to take the place of pasture grass and at the same time serve to clear the ground of weeds. It is not to be expected, however, where the land is compelled to produce two or more crops, that it can do so unaided, for that would be impossible, unless the soil was very rich; yet there is a way of growing a large amount of green food and feeding it at the barn while the pasture is being renewed. It is important to keep stock off the pasture land when the grass begins to fail; yet the cows must be provided for, and with green food, as they will not thrive during the summer if compelled to subsist on hay, fodder and grain entirely. Green and succulent foods are essential to the thrift of the animals, promoting digestion, preventing bowel diseases and increasing the flow of milk as well as protecting against the heat of summer.

For cows the broadcasting of oats and peas, to be moved as wanted, and fed to the cows in the barnyard, will provide an excellent substitute for pasture grass, such food being assisted by hay and grain. It will permit of resting the pasture land. Later in the season Hungarian grass may be sown on the same land. As it is a quick-growing crop, providing a cutting every four or five weeks and of a sufficient growth for hay, it will more readily provide green food that is wanted daily, and it will continue to produce green food until it goes to seed or is overtaken by frost. This mode of feeding is styled "soiling" and applies to the practice of growing green food and carrying it to the stock instead of turning the stock on the green food. It also gives a larger amount of food, as a new crop comes up on the space just cut, thus keeping up a continued supply, while the manure saved in the barnyard is an additional item. Labor, however, must not be overlooked, as more attention to stock will be necessary, but the land will provide for twice as many cattle as the same area in pasture.

Where crops are cut frequently the weeds are also mowed down at the same time, being thus destroyed, and, aside from this, any thickly sown crop that makes rapid growth crowds the weeds out. If a piece of land can be cleared of weeds in this manner it will pay for the labor of soiling the stock.—Philadelphia Record.

TIGHT FOUNDATIONS.

Too often farm buildings are set either on cedar posts or on posts of flat stones, the rest of the "foundation" being left open for winds to blow under the buildings, keeping the stock exceedingly cold in winter and affording a place for the harboring of rats, weasles and other pests. This plan is altogether wrong. Farm buildings should always have a tight foundation. If it is desired to ventilate beneath the buildings in summer, put in a window, covered on the inside with fine wire netting. It is not at all an expensive matter to make a stone foundation. One can do the work himself with rough rocks. Dig a trench, and if possible put in a line of tile around the bottom if an outlet can be had at one side. On dry, gravelly soil this would not be necessary. Dig the trench wider at the bottom and fill nearly to the top with loose stones, well packed. This wall should grow narrower as it rises, so the frost will not have a chance to lift the stones on the sides. From just below the surface of the ground lay the rough rocks in cement mixed with coarse, sharp sand. A foot or less is enough of height above the ground for most foundations. A loose stone foundation like this must not have water standing at the bottom among the stones or the frost will make bad work. An outlet should be found to turn the water away. If a short bit of drain can tap the foundation of loose stones at the lowest point the tile beneath the stones may not be needed, the open passage among the rocks allowing the draining away of the water to the outlet of the drain. With such foundations buildings will always stay firmly in place without sagging in any part, and will keep all stock within them much warmer than would otherwise be the case.—N. Y. Tribune.

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

One source of increased cost is in wasteful feeding.

Feeding sheep will not fatten on rough feed alone.

Before spring work opens go over the fences and see that they are in good repair.

Two essential points in securing a good oat crop are early seeding and a fine seed bed.

Now is a good time to renovate the orchard and fill the vacant places with good varieties of trees.

Too much care cannot be exercised in selecting thoroughly healthy and vigorous animals for breeding purposes.

It is a principle well settled in the practice of breeding that high fed animals cost but little more to the producers than low fed stock.

Unless warm, dry quarters can be provided for the brood sows and their young pigs there is no possible advantage in having them farrow early.—Farmers' Review.

But use too little, and it's only a bit better than none at all. You'll have to work harder, and you'll have to rub—and then the wear and tear begins. The Tecumseh Star Course Committee have had in hand for some weeks the work of arranging the course for the ensuing season of 96-7. Last Wednesday they were met by a representative of the Redpath Lyceum Bureau, of Chicago, and the following attractions and lecturers were secured to fill out the 6 dates, which will comprise the course for the coming season: Redpath Grand Concert Company, London Royal Hand Bell Ringers, Boston Ideal Mandolin, Banjo and Guitar Club, Rev. F. W. Gunsaulus, of Chicago, Robert J. Burdette and Rev. Robert McIntye, of Chicago and Denver. Considering the character and popularity of this list suffice it to say at present that it comprises the most expensive and, in the best judgement of those whose experience has best fitted them to know, the best and strongest concerts and lectures ever brought to Tecumseh. The particular features of the five numbers will be given in due season. It might be fitting to say in this connection that this committee has been so far successful in securing talent both in the musical and oratorical line, that Tecumseh has been favored by as good a course for the past few years as any city in Michigan, none excepted. The faithful and conscientious work done and the enterprise evinced in securing these results merit and have received the highest commendations and most loyal support from our citizens. This year they are in the field early and have taken large responsibilities to secure the very best. Our people should early appreciate this and make arrangements accordingly.

This places the meet in practically the same hands as that of last year and its consequent success is assured, especially as the Board of Management met on Tuesday evening and appointed the following excellent committees: Reception; Smith, Patterson, Reed and Odion. Road race; B. J. Garlinghouse, Whiting, Lawrence and Hicks. Advertising; Fitzsimmons, Anderson, Field and Stacy. Track and grounds; B. A. Garlinghouse, Richter, Kyle, Hayden and Kirchgessner. Premiums and events; Satterthwaite, B. J. Garlinghouse, Anderson and Fitzsimmons. Music and special events; Anderson, Satterthwaite, Rosacrans and Wright. The management have decided that the meet will be an amateur meet and that the date will be some day in the first week of August or last week of July depending upon meets in adjacent cities.

The road race will be even more exciting than that of last year and the special attrations will be novel and of even greater interest than those provided in 1895. An expensive Chicago aggregation, which exhibits only in large cities, has consented to appear. Details of the meet will appear as rapidly as they are perfected.

Moral—Don't miss it.

When Nature

Needs assistance it may be the best to render it promptly, but one should remember to use even the most perfect remedies only when needed. The best and most simple and gentle remedy is the Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company.

Resolutions of Respect.

Again has the Woman's Foreign Missionary society been called upon to part with one of its members. Our beloved sister, Mrs. G. D. Perry, who for many years has been a highly respected member of our society, has been called "up higher." When health permitted she was always in attendance at our meetings and manifested much interest in the work. We have been encouraged by her kindly example and made better by her sweet christian influence. Little did we think when she left us to visit friends, she would return in the cold embrace of death; but so it was, yet we will not murmur, for we know our Heavenly Father doeth all things well. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That, so far as words can convey our sympathy, we as a society express to the family of the deceased our sorrow at their loss, and commend them to the Saviour she loved so well.

What They Are Doing at the National Capital.

Measures of Importance That Are Under Consideration in the Senate and the House—Bills and Resolutions Passed.

Washington, May 14.—The river and harbor bill ($75,000,000) was passed in the senate yesterday, leaving only three of the annual appropriatidion bills to be acted on. These are the District of Columbia bill, the fortification and the deficiency bill. Bills were also passed to authorize a life-saving station at Port Huron, Mich.; making one year's residence in a state requisite for a divorce, and to establish a railroad bridge across the Illinois river near Grafton, Ill.

Washington, May 15.—The Dupont case, involving the right of Henry A. Dupont to a seat in the senate from the state of Delaware, occupied the time in the senate yesterday.

Washington, May 16.—The senate yesterday rejected by a vote of 31 to 30 the claim of Henry A. Dupont (rep.) from Delaware to a seat in the senate. Senator Bacon (Ga.) spoke in favor of the bill to prohibit the issuance of government bonds without the authority of congress and Senator Gallinger (N. H.) offered a resolution declaring that a revision of the tariff laws is imperatively demanded.

Washington, May 18.—The Cuban question was revived in the senate Saturday when Senator Morgan, of Alabama, spoke in favor of further and more decisive action toward the recognition of the Cubans as belligerents. The senator declared it to be the duty of congress to adopt joint resolutions on belligerency, which, unlike the previous concurrent resolutions, would require the approval of the president, and thus fix the responsibility. At the close of the speech his resolution was agreed to instructing the committee on foreign relations to inquire into the recent arrest and condemnation of citizens of the United States captured on board the Competitor.

Washington, May 19.—The senate yesterday defeated a motion to investigate alleged election irregularities in Alabama. The fortifications bill ($10,763,888) was reported.

Washington, May 20.—The senate on Tuesday passed the District of Columbia appropriation bill, carrying approximately $7,300,000. A debate on the question of appropriations for sectarian purposes cropped out on the paragraph making appropriations for charities in the district. On a vote the senate sustained the committee in providing specific appropriations for numerous private charitable institutions, some of them of a sectarian character.

THE HOUSE.

Bills Introduced and Petitions and Resolutions Presented.

Washington, May 14.—The house yesterday sent the Rinaker-Downing contested election case from Illinois to the committee on elections with instructions to recount such part of the vote as it deemed proper. A bill was reported favorably providing for the appointment by the president of a commission of five persons, whose duty is shall be to investigate the alcoholic liquor traffic.

Washington, May 15.—In the house yesterday the whole day was devoted to private pension bills and 58 in all were favorably acted upon. A favorable report was made on a resolution authorizing preliminary proceedings looking to the adoption of international coins.

Washington, May 16.—The house occupied itself yesterday in passing private pension bills which were favorably acted upon and 100 were passed, leaving about 60 yet undisposed of.

Washington, May 19.—In the house yesterday the greater part of the session was taken up in the passage of 35 pension bills. The committee on banking and currency reported that it had adjourned until December next.

Washington, May 20.—The house yesterday entered upon a two days' debate of the immigration bills, the feature of the debate during the day being the plea of Senator Buck (La.) against any sort of restrictive legislation beyond that now on the statute books, which excluded paupers and criminals. The title of W. C. Owens (dem.) to the seat he occupies as representative of the Seventh district of Kentucky, which had been contested by George Denney, Jr. (rep.), was confirmed.

Bishops Ordained.

Wilmington, N. C., May 20.—The general conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church ordained William D. Derrick, D. D., Josiah H. Armstrong and James C. Embry as bishops.

Six Reported Killed.

Effingham, Ill., May 20.—Lightning struck a schoolhouse near Shumway, eight miles north of Effingham, and six children were reported to have been killed and several severely stunned.

A Fatal Wreck.

Chapin, S. C., May 20. — Engineer Williford, of Carlton, Ga., and two negro train hands were killed and 14 cars burned in a freight wreck near here.

Historic House Burned.

Nahant, Mass., May 19.—The historic Longfellow house and four mansions were burned here yesterday, the loss being $100,000.

THE CROPS.

Varying Conditions Prevail in Different Sections of the Country.

Chicago, May 20.—The reports as to the condition of the crops throughout the country and the general effect of the weather on the cultivation, growth and harvest of the same, were Tuesday made by the directors of the several climate and crop sections. The reports received at Chicago were as follows:

Illinois—A warm, showery week, which was beneficial to crops. Rye, oats, potatoes, gardens, meadows and pastures are generally in good condition; meadows somewhat injured by army worms in southern half of state, wheat improved in north, central and southwest counties, and generally headed out; chinch bugs very numerous. Corn coming up with good stand, early being cultivated; fruits still dropping badly.

Wisconsin—Heavy rains have fallen in all parts of the state and farm work has been greatly retarded. Damaging hail storms occurred at a few points in southern counties. Corn nearly all planted in southern and middle sections. Season ten days in advance of average. All crops are making rapid progress, but sunshine is needed.

Iowa—Farm work retarded and some damage done by excessive rains. Corn planting not completed and early planted fields becoming weedy. Grass and small grains making phenomenal growth. Oats rank and liable to damage by lodging and rust.

Indiana—Warm, several local rains. Crops in southern portion still suffering; wheat is headed low and injured by fly and rust in many fields; corn coming up nicely; rye in good condition; oats short; cut worms still active.

Ohio—Rainfall local and insufficient. Wheat heading and has made but little improvement and is damaged by the fly. Oats, timothy, meadows and gardens have done well; corn is being cultivated; pastures are fair; potatoes budding; rye heading. Some fruit dropping. Berries are promising; insects are numerous.

Michigan—Rainfall rather unevenly distributed, but very beneficial. Wheat, rye, grass and oats are in good condition. Corn planting is general and well advanced. Early potatoes are nearly all in. High wind of Sunday has done some damage to fruit.

A LETTER FROM CARLISLE.

He Writes with Reference to His Speech in Congress in 1878.

Washington, May 18.—In a letter to a friend in regard to his speech in congress on February 21, 1878, on the money question Secretary Carlisle says that a fair interpretation of his remarks would prove that he was not in favor of free coinage of silver at that time. In concluding his letter the secretary says:

"My position upon this subject is briefly this: I am opposed to the free coinage of either gold or silver, but in favor of unlimited coinage of both metals upon terms of exact equality. No discrimination should be made in favor of one metal and against the other; nor should any discrimination be made in favor of the holders of either gold or silver bullion and against the great body of the people who own other kinds of property. A great government should treat all its citizens alike, and whenever it attempts to do otherwise it will engender a spirit of discontent which sooner or later must disturb the harmony if not the peace of society. It is scarcely necessary to say that a gross discrimination would be made between the two metals if the owners of silver bullion were permitted to have 51 or 52 cents' worth of silver coined and stamped as a dollar, when the owners of gold bullion were required to present 100 cents' worth of gold in order to have their metal coined and stamped as a dollar. The two metals are coined upon terms of exact equality only when a dollars' worth of silver is contained in the silver dollar and a dollars' worth of gold is contained in the gold dollar, and when no more is charged for the coinage of one than for the coinage of the other. In the speech referred to I showed that the ratio established by the coinage act of 1792 overvalued silver and drove gold out of circulation."

SAYS IT WILL BE REED.

Gen. Grosvenor Believes the Maine Man Will Get Second Place.

Washington, May 20.—"Unless Speaker Reed takes some decided step to forestall the movement," said Congressman Grosvenor, of Ohio, the recognized leader at Washington of Mr. McKinley's canvass, "he will be nominated for vice president at St. Louis by acclamation. This is my impression, derived from communications that have poured in from all parts of the country showing that the people want the man from Maine to be on the ticket with the champion of protection."

Victim of a Live Wire.

Chicago, May 18.—Fire Marshal Isadore P. Smith, chief of the Fourteenth battalion, lost his life by coming in contact with the deadly overhead electric wire Saturday night. He was in his buggy going in response to an alarm of fire and found his way blocked by a wire hanging from an electric light post. He jumped out of his buggy to remove it, and, disregarding the warning of his driver, Frank Dielenberg, took hold of the dangling death.

Cincinnati May Festival.

Cincinnati, May 20.—The 12th May festival of music was inaugurated Tuesday night at the new Springer hall and will continue through the week. When Theodore Thomas raised his baton at 7:30 oclock the spacious hall was comfortably filled with a brilliant assemblage of lovers of music. The soloists were Mme. Lillian Nordica, Miss Marie Brema, Ben Davis and Watkin Mills. The selections were from Mozart, Beethoven and Wagner.

Queer Cause for Suicide.

Ottumwa, Ia., May 18.—Because his old maid sister married his hired man W. H. Bradshaw, living near Blakesburg, this county, committed suicide, severing his jugular vein. He was a single man of 30 years.

Killed Himself.

Dubuque, Ia., May 20.—Frederick Weigel, an old and wealthy resident of this city, committed suicide Tuesday by shooting. He was despondent on account of sickness.

CYCLONE VICTIMS.

Lives Lost by the Storms in Kansas, Texas and Nebraska.

The List of Killed and Injured Is a Long One—Property Loss Is Also Heavy—Work of the Wind Elsewhere.

Kansas City, Mo., May 20.—Twenty-eight killed outright, 50 or more injured, some of them fatally, and a property loss aggregating about $1,000,000 is now given as the estimated damage done by Sunday's cyclone in Marshall, Nemaha and Brown counties, Kan. Further reports may increase these figures, as telegraph communication with the stricken points is still imperfect and consternation prevails. The deaths and property losses are distributed as follows:

	Deaths.	Loss.
Seneca	3	$250,000
Reserve	5	50,000
Sabetha	5	50,000
Morrill	4	20,000
Oneida	6
Frankfort	—	30,000
Other points	—	500,000

More Deaths in Texas.

Sherman, Tex., May 20.—Additions to the long list of cyclone victims are being made hourly as news from remote districts arrive. At the point on Red river where the storm passed into the Indian territory two houses were carried from the Texas side and dropped on an island in midstream. The two families were in their cellars and were uninjured. Mrs. J. J. Johnson, wife of a farmer, and John Tilden, a farm hand, were killed at Nemo. At the same place a little girl named Davis was blown against a barbed wire fence and cut in two. Her mother and another child were killed in the wreck of their house. Although there are appalling evidences about Sherman of the storm's fury, something like order is being restored. There are 60 patients still in the hospitals, and as many more in private houses. Up to noon Tuesday 61 bodies had been buried here.

Driven from Their Homes.

Crookston, Minn., May 20.—The Red Lake river is still rising, and is now two feet higher than it was ever known to be. At least 200 families have been forced to leave their homes and are being cared for by their more fortunate neighbors. The bridges still hold, but it is feared that the wagon bridge will be carried away if the water rises two or three inches higher. A relief committee has been organized, which will care for the sufferers until the flood abates.

In Washington.

Washington, May 20.—A terrible storm of wind, rain and hail, which passed over Washington between twelve and one o'clock Tuesday broke up the cabinet meeting in progress at the white house. The president and his advisors went to the windows of the cabinet-room to witness the destruction. Several of the fine old trees, both in front and rear of the white house, were blown down, while wholesale destruction was worked among the growing palms. All over the city the record is one of similar disaster to arboriculture, the beautiful shade trees for which Washington is celebrated, suffering greatly, and many buildings unroofed.

In Nebraska.

Falls City, Neb., May 19. — Southeast Nebraska got the fag end of Sunday night's terrific storm, the wind sweeping up from Kansas with almost hurricane force. Many buildings in this city were demolished and the following persons injured: William Hinton, bad cut on head; Mrs. William Hinton, bruised. The house of the Hintons was torn to pieces. The Burlington depot was unroofed and the building damaged and box cars overturned all over the yards. Gedelmyer's brewery was blown down and is almost a complete wreck.

Omaha, Neb., May 19.—The dispatches from the scene of the cyclone in southwestern Nebraska indicate a heavy loss of life and property. A telegram from Humboldt says that trainmen on the Missouri Pacific report 40 persons killed by the cyclone on the Pawnee Indian reservation. Definite information cannot be secured, as wires were down at last accounts. The reservation, however, would be in the path of the cyclone, which swept Pawnee City from southwest to northeast.

Took a Vote for Senator.

New Orleans, La., May 20.—A special from Baton Rouge says: As required by law, the two houses of the legislature balloted separately for a United States senator to succeed Senator N. C. Blanchard. It resulted as follows: Blanchard, 48; Walter C. Donegree, 30; Capt. J. N. Pharr, 30; Congressman Andrew Price, 3; Judge Blackman, 3; Judge S. D. McEnery, 5; C. E. Fenner, 1. Necessary to a choice, 65. There are a total of 134 votes in the legislature, and of these 128 voted. The prospects are that there will be a long and bitter struggle.

Tobacco Barred.

Kansas City, Mo., May 19.—President Herring presided at the morning session of the Methodist Protestant conference in Kansas City, Kan., Monday. Resolutions "abhorring the use of tobacco" and forbidding members, either lay or otherwise, to use the weed or alcoholic liquors were unanimously adopted.

HAWAII, THE "PEARL OF THE PACIFIC."

Eighteenth of a Series of Letters by John R. Musick.

The Rebellion of 1895 and How it was Put Down.

(Copyrighted, 1896, by Funk & Wagnalls Company, New York.)

A feeling of uneasiness oppressed the people of Hawaii from the overthrow of Monarchy in 1893 to the attempt at its restoration in 1895. The ex-Queen fully expected that President Cleveland would restore her to power. She says the President even sent her assurances that he would do so. She represents that she was in secret communication with him, and her private diary, exhibited in court, stated she had received a present from her "great and good friend, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States."

On Dec. 19, 1893, Albert S. Willis called on President Dole, and, in the name of the United States, asked him to surrender the reins of government to the queen, who, he claimed, had been wrongfully deposed. Mr. Dole for various reasons refused, and then followed a series of movements on the part of the American minister and officers of the man-of-war Philadelphia, which were certainly mysterious. At present it looks as if they had attempted to bulldoze the Republic into abdicating in favor of the Monarchy; but, finding them men of pluck, were forced to back down.

The queen and her friends for a year past had lived in the hope that the United States would bring about their restoration to power, and finally, like the farmer in the story, resolved to cut their own barley. The police of the republic were on the alert, however, and a close watch kept on suspected parties.

In the fall of 1894 plans for the revolution were laid. The ex-Queen is supposed to have been behind it all, her agents being men who had figured in public life in the days of the Monarchy.

The revolt of 1895 was led by Sam Nowlein, a half-caste, aided by another half-caste, Robert Wilcox, who, having been educated in an Italian military school, was called the "Hawaiian Garibaldi." Among the most prominent supporters were Charles T. Gulic, a white man, and W. H. Richard, who, it is claimed, had assurances from Captain Rooké, of the British man-of-war Champion, of English aid. Other leading personages were Henry Bertelmann, Lot Lane, Carl Wideman, John Wise, all half-castes; Will Grieg, half Tahitian; Louis Marshall, and J. W. Bipihane, white men.

There is no question but there were prominent white men engaged in the scheme, and it is boldly asserted that English officials were among them. Just how the arms and ammunition were procured is not known. Some say that a wealthy sugar planter on the Islands furnished the outfit. They were evidently, however, procured on the Pacific coast and brought in a schooner to Rabbit Island off Kailaua, where they were transferred to the little island steamer Waimanalo. The arms were landed and buried in the sand a few miles from Honolulu. The number of recruits to the cause of restoration have been estimated at from four to six hundred.

Two o'clock on the morning of Jan. 7th was chosen as the time for the attack, and early on the afternoon of the 6th the leaders began to muster their clans. Bombs were made to be used at close quarters, and some of the hand-grenades were buried in the yard or parlor of the Queen's residence. The Winchester rifles and revolvers were taken up and cleaned and recruits hurried toward their headquarters. During Sunday, the 6th, a number of residents and tourists out walking were made prisoners. The rebels took possession of the signal station and destroyed the telephone, but, unfortunately for their plans, some of them secured whiskey, and the party became drunk, and began firing pistols in cowboy style.

News of the assembly of natives reached town and Deputy Marshal Brown, Captain Parker, and half a dozen native police were sent to search the house of Henry Bertelmann, where it was reported the rebels had secreted arms. A squad of the insurgents under Lot Lane were concealed at Bertelmann's house. Brown with his force reached the house, and the deputy was reading the warrant to Bertelmann, when he was interrupted by the sharp report of a pistol. It was followed by a dozen others in quick succession, mingled with the heavier detonations of Winchester rifles.

Brown ran to the yard where the battle was raging. From their concealment in the shed the insurgents were firing on the native police who were fighting nobly. J. B. Castle, Charles L. Carter and Alfred Carter, who followed the police, came up just as the fight commenced. Charles Carter soon fell pierced by two bullets from the insurgents, both wounds being mortal. Hali, a native police lieutenant, was shot in the body, and another native policeman had an arm broken. Carter was taken into the house but died two hours later. Alfred Carter started for a surgeon for the wounded men, and Brown and Parker left to call reinforcement, the latter taking with him two prisoners named Lane. They left the premises under fire. The native policemen and Mr. Castle remained in the house with the wounded, where Bertelmann was still kept as a prisoner, while a storm of bullets rained at them. At last one of the native police shouted in Hawaiian that unless the firing ceased they would kill Bertelmann. In less than an hour Alfred Carter returned with Dr. Walters, but they were fired on and driven back.

TRY NEW LURES.

All Fish Have to Feed, What Do They Eat?

If there is anything a fisherman likes to do it is to get a mess of fish where others have failed to get a bite, and no stories are more frequently told than those of big baskets filled at lakes or ponds known to be alive with fish, but in which the fish were never before known to bite. There are lots of ponds in which fish can be seen but not taken. In some lakes fish may be taken in the spring only, or in midsummer, giving rise to the belief that they do not feed at other times. In places where trolling spoons alone are used, very often big catches are made with flies of bass and pickerel, and in places where only natural baits—worms, frogs, minnows—are popular, artificial lures are often successful.

It is related of a Jefferson county village that no one ever used flies for bass fishing till a boy who knew about Adirondack trout fishing came along with a seven-ounce fly rod, with other tackle to match.

"That toothpick catch a fish?" said the native fishermen. "Why, a half-pound bass would smash it all to pieces."

A couple of them were curious to know how the thing worked, and volunteered to row the boat. They got to a big, dark pool under a cedar tree on a ledge of rocks, and a Grizzly King and Yellow Sallie dropped onto the water like natural flies. What followed was convincing to the natives. A black bass of over two pounds in weight grabbed the Grizzly King and was hooked. He put up a good fight, but at last rolled up on his side and was dipped up with the landing net. The natives didn't say very much, but they did a whole lot of thinking. Light wood rods soon became popular in that region, and bigger messes of fish were the rule.

BITS OF HISTORY.

Curious Facts About Swearing Vice Presidents Into Office.

More than once in our history the vice president has been sworn and inducted into office sooner than the president, says the St. Louis Globe Democrat. This was the case of John Adams, who took the oath and became president of the senate and vice president of the United States nearly a month before Washington's first inauguration; it was the case with Millard Fillmore, who, it is said, took the oath on Sunday, March 4, falling on that day of the week in 1849, while Taylor, the president-elect, being a rigid Sabbatarian, did not permit himself to be sworn until Monday.

It is said that in 1877, when March 4 again fell on Sunday, Wheeler, the vice president-elect, took the oath on that day, while Hayes, having religious scruples, put off the matter until Monday. Of these cases, however, the most peculiar was that of 1789, when, the government having just been put in operation, presented the curious spectacle of a vice president without a president. At the time, however, the matter seems to have attracted little attention or remark, and is now remembered only as a historical curio.

THEY HAD KNOWING HENS.

How a Proud and Sensitive Fowl Asserted Her Dignity.

He was being interviewed on the poultry business by a Wabash Times reporter when he said: "I don't want to boast, but I do think we have got the knowingest hens in the world in our end of town. I have a flock of 200, all black. It is a theory of mine that black hens lay better than those of any other color. One day I found a hen in my flock with a few white feathers in her tail. I called the hired man and told him to catch and kill her. 'You can't rely on the laying capabilities of a hen with white feathers,' I said. The hen gave me a sorrowful look, but did not say a word. Next morning the hired man told me that he could not find her. A month or two later I opened a pile of potatoes I had stored in the cellar and found a big, hollow space in the center of them. There was a bunch of black feathers in the place with three white ones standing up in a defiant sort of way. Behind the feathers were 66 eggs. I recognized at once that it was the work of the missing hen. The proud, sensitive creature had stowed herself away and worn herself out laying eggs to prove that the theory was a mistaken one."

SPORTSMEN ON BICYCLES.

Kirk Greenwood's Squirrel Hunting A-wheel—Guns for Wheelmen.

Kirk Greenwood tells in Gameland how he went squirrel hunting last fall on a bicycle, with a 22-calibre rifle. He carried the weapon on his wheel's upper bar, over the handle bars, or carbine fashion on his back. He got gray and black squirrels on Long island, Staten island, and over in New Jersey. He also killed a few rabbits and game birds. The rifle was a repeater, but some persons out for sport only would much rather have a target pistol with a barrel a foot long. Such a weapon is much easier to carry. It requires greater skill to use, however.

A Toledo wheel company has originated a device for carrying a shotgun or rifle on a wheel, which weighs a little over two pounds.

Guns for the especial use of wheelmen are being thought of—guns that shut up like jackknives. There are men getting ready, it is said, to give fancy exhibitions of shooting from bicycle saddles. One firm has a novel plate for its wheel that shows a hunter in full costume, with a dog alongside, on the way to the bird grounds on a bicycle.

An Old Loaf.

The Soar family, of Ambaston, Derbyshire, England, have a curious heirloom in the shape of a loaf of bread that is now over 600 years old. The founders of the family, it appears, were great friends of King John. When that monarch died he made several land grants to the Soars. One of these tracts, it appears, had always been conveyed with a loaf of bread along with the "writings," and the deed and the loaf are both kept to this day as sacred relics.

Bugs Injure Michigan Berries.

Benton Harbor, Mich., May 19.—Chinese bugs are doing sad work in many berry fields in this county. They attack the leaves and stems, killing the plant in a few hours. They appear in myriads in some localities. Blackberry vines are suffering from them somewhat less.

Tried to Drown Herself in Beer.

Houghton, May 20.—Anton Funk, a middle-aged German brewer, attempted suicide by throwing himself into a beer tank in Haas' brewery. He was rescued in time for resuscitation and probably will recover. The beer, 60 barrels, was withdrawn from the market.

Causes Alarm.

New York, May 19.—The decree of Gen. Weyler prohibiting the exportation of leaf tobacco from Cuba is causing considerable concern among New York dealers.

Rats as Cotton Gins.

Rats have been found very useful in cotton mills where the raw cotton has been imperfectly ginned. In a Spanish cotton mill the storeroom was invaded by swarms of rats, who pulled the bales to pieces to get at the seeds left in the cotton. They did the work thoroughly without injuring the fiber in any way.

To Carry on an Almost Helpless Fight, —At Last the Fight is Over.

(From the Battle Creek Moon.)

Our representative called at 26 Battle Creek Avenue, the residence of S. L. Robbins, and in an interview with him brought out the following facts: Mr. Robbins tells of his wife's experience in a manner that carries conviction with his words. He says: "I am sorry my wife is not at home this P. M., but no one knows better than I how she has suffered during past years. For twenty years she has been afflicted with the various forms of kidney complaint and an enlargement of the liver. She was often confined to her bed for more than two weeks at a time suffering untold agony. She has doctored constantly, and I have paid out in doctors' bills for her alone as much as $900.00, and then her relief was only such that she would be able to be around for a spell. Some time ago she felt the symptoms of another attack coming on, such as a pain in through the kidneys and back. I hardly know what induced me to get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, instead of sending for the family physician; however, I got some and she commenced their use. It was a surprise to us both to see their action; the attack was warded off, and she continued taking them with marked improvement each day of their use. She is better now than she has been in years, the pain in the back and others in the kidneys have entirely gone. Hardly a day goes by that we do not mention the great good Doan's Kidney Pills have done her. I was always opposed to patent medicines, but confess that my wife's experience with Doan's Kidney Pills has done much to change my opinions. If it were not for those pills she would not have been able to be out this afternoon.

Incorporation seems to be the important topic of discussion on our streets. As the citizens are becoming more and more acquainted with the law and workings of incorporation, they come around one by one on the side of improvement. The law requires a petition signed by only thirty voters to secure incorporation, but already over 70 names have been secured, and the projectors wish to have the majority of voters before proceeding farther. Investigate, investigate, that is all we ask.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion because it makes the whole body healthy because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds. By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients it enriches the blood and so makes solid, healthy flesh. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause, a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood. 1w

Sick stomach means sick man (or woman). Why not be well? Sick stomach comes from poor food, poor nourishment; means poor health, poor comfort. Shaker Digestive Cordial means health and a well stomach. If we could examine our stomach, we would understand why it is that so little will put it out of order. But, unless we are doctors, we never see our stomach. We only feel it. We would feel it less if we took Shaker Digestive Cordial. Shaker Digestive Cordial makes your stomach digest all the nourishing food you eat, relieves all the symptoms of indigestion, acts as a tonic and soon makes you well and strong again. The more you take, the less you will feel of your stomach. At druggists. Trial bottle 10 cents. 1w

If you use Calumet Baking Powder you will have no cause for regret, but if you use the high priced baking powders that retail at 45 to 50 cents per pound, you will have great cause for regret. These high priced powders leave more than 70 per cent of Rochelle Salts, of the quantity used, in the food; they are dangerous. Use "Calumet." It is safe. 1w

A Deception Easily Practised

Is the offer of a reward for "any case of catarrh not cured" by certain "cures" or "blood medicines." Nothing is said regarding the number of bottles required, and therein lies the deception. THE DOCTOR'S BILL

PARALYZING, but unnecessary. You don't have to run for a Doctor whenever you feel a little out of sorts. A few doses of Dr. F. FRENCH'S UNEQUALED BLOOD PURIFIER AND RHEUMATIC REMEDY, will make you feel all right and save you a lot of money. Some people have found this out, and this is what they say about it.

E. B. DOWNING, Grand Rapids, Mich.

"Was troubled with Rheumatism—tried several remedies with no effect. Had several doctors who did me no good—half a bottle of Dr. F. French's Unequalled Blood Purifier and Rheumatic Remedy cured me."

J. FREE SMITH, Lansing, Mich.

"Doctors called it Bright's Disease in its early stage. One bottle of Dr. F. French's Unequaled Blood Purifier and Rheumatic Remedy removed all symptoms of the disease—have felt nothing of it since."

Mrs. DIANA RIGGS, Hillsdale, Mich.

"Was sick for four years with enlargement of the Liver and Spleen, and General Prostration of the Nervous System; was attended by two of the best Doctors in the town and used no end of Patent Medicines, all who saw me thought there was no relief except by death, which seemed sure. A friend recommended Dr. F. French's Unequaled Blood Purifier and Rheumatic Remedy; in less than a week after I commenced taking it I was better. Six bottles cured me. You are welcome to use my name and this statement, and also refer anyone to me either personally or by mail, and I will tell them much more than I can write."

We have many more letters to the same effect.

This preparation is in no way to be classed among the many worthless Patent Medicines of the day, being simply a Prescription used by Dr. F. French, of Hillsdale, for many years in his practice. It is offered to the public with the full assurance of its being the Best Medicine on Earth for the cure of Rheumatism in all its various forms. Affections of the Stomach, Liver or Kidneys, Scrofula-Eruptions, and Cutaneous Diseases, Female Weakness, and all complaints arising from an Impure Condition of the Blood.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., May, 15 '96.

The meeting of the Supreme Council of the A. P. A., in Washington this week, had many of the features of a political convention. Every State and territory was said to be represented. It was a fight from start to finish between the McKinley and anti-McKinley men, although most of it was secret, it is evident that the McKinley men came out on top. The organization willl not oppose him either as a candidate for the nomination or after he is nominated. Some scandalous stories are told about this wrangle, but as they have no responsible vouchers your correspondent declines to repeat them.

The administration is said to have fully determined that the Americans who were sentenced to death by a court martial, and whom the Spanish government have agreed to give another trail before a civil tribunal shall not be executed, and Spain has been so notified. Spain is not likely to do anything to offend the administration, as it knows that President Cleveland in delaying recognition of Cuban belligerence is acting directly contrary to the sentiment of the United States.

The adjournment of Congress is not in sight yet, and it may not be for several weeks. The River and Harbor bill which passed the Senate this week carries more "pork" than any similar measure ever did, and Congress is very anxious that it should become a law. President Cleveland has never signed a River and Harbor bill, although he has allowed a number of them to become laws without his signature. Congress will give him a chance to do as much for this one, by remaining in session the requisite ten days after it reaches him, which is not likely to be before the middle of next week on account of the amendments added to the bill by the Senate. It is generally expected that this bill will be vetoed and passed over the veto.

The Mahon Nicaragua Canal bill has been favorably acted upon by the House committe on Interstate and Foreign Commerce and will be reported to the House. It authorizes the guarantee of $100,000,000 in bonds and directs that the canal shall be built under the supervision of U. S. army engineers. At the committee meeting which directed the bill to be favorably reported there were only eleven of the seventeen members present and four of them voted against the bill. There has been some criticism of the action of the committee in disposing of such an important matter with more than one-third of its members absent, but it is answered by the assertion that the absent members knew the vote was to be taken and could have been present if they had wished to be.

A prominent railroad man now visiting Washington, says: "The St. Louis people are going to be very much disappointed in the Republican National Convention, and the railroads which have been at work preparing for a big business will also feel the effect of a premature settlement of the Presidential nomination. Since it has developed that McKinley has practically captured the nomination, the interest in the great convention has decreased wonderfully, and the railroad officials in all parts of the country are kept busy countermanding orders for special trains and special accomodations. Clubs in New York, Pennsylvania, New England and other sections which contemplated going have abandoned the idea, this will become quite common by the time the convention meets." This is a more valuable pointer than columns of talk from prejudiced politicians.

Senator Morgan, chairman of the senate finance committee, isn't as a rule a tricky man, but he probably could'nt resist the temptation when it came to naming the subcommittee to investigate those bond issues, under the Allen resolution. He made Senator Harris, of Tenn., and gave him two democratic colleagues, Vest, of Mo., and Walthall; of Miss; one republican, Platt, of Conn., and one populist, Jones, of Nevada. Four out of the five are silver men, and the one republican is probably the most friendly towards the administration. Mr. Morrill makes the subcommittee democratic in its majority so that its findings cannot be chargeble to partisan, but selected silver democrats because of his belief that their opposition to the financial policy would prevent whitewashing. This committee is qualified to get at the truth. Whether it does is yet to be seen.

LEARNED AND HISTORIC YALE.

Graphic Description of its Puritan Origin—Developements and Progress—A Tecumseh Student's Impressions.

ED. HERALD:—In accordance with a promise made so long ago that it might perhaps, be properly considered outlawed, I send you a few facts regarding this beautiful college town, containing one of the oldest and best known institutions of learning in this country.

There are many attractive features in and about this old city and peculiar advantages afforded by situation, which the Puritan fathers were not slow to recognize in their so called New Haven. They soon closed a bargain with the Quinnipiack Indians, from whom the settlement for three years, 1637-1640, retained their name, and for 12 coats of English cloth, 12 alchemy spoons, 12 hatchets, 12 hoes, 2 dozen knives, 12 porringers and 4 cases of French knives and scissors the land was purchased. On the Green, originally the old burying ground, stands Center church, the site of the first public worship, led by John Davenport in the open air, April 15, 1639. Here we find the appropriate inscription, "The wilderness and the solitary places shall be glad for them." In the crypt lie the remains of many historical personages and we find stones erected to the memory of three Regicides—Whalley, Goffe and Dixwell, who on the restoration of Charles II. were obliged to flee the kingdom. As a royalist historian remarks of Goffe, "In 1660 he betook himself to his heels to save his neck, wandered about fearing every one that he met would slay him." They came to New Haven and for many weeks were concealed in a cave on the top of West Rock, since known as Judges' Cave.

I made mention of the Green, but I wish I might give you some idea of its beauty. Occupying as it does the heart of the city, it is a haven of rest and peace to the weary and worn. The three churches, Trinity, Center and United, are situated here, in front of which passes Temple street, lined by broad, spreading elms, which form an almost perfect archway and around the outside they stand in rows, stately and majestic in their beauty and strength. The Franklin Elm at one corner is so called because set out the day Franklin died, April 17, 1790. The story is told of a man who in an early day pastured his horse on the Green at night time, without cost to the owner. Some students took occasion to impart a lesson, painted the horse green, and in some way got him up into the bell tower of the college chapel, where he was found the next morning.

Along one side of the Green the eye is attracted to a solid row of stone buildings, about the center of which stands the new six story Phelps Memorial Arch. There we have an introduction to Yale University. The campus cannot boast of green lawns or beautiful grounds, but the buildings are massive and imposing. The Old Brick Row held in veneration for the many noted persons domiciled under its roof, is gradually giving place to modern architecture. In Vanderbilt Hall and other dormitories very comfortable quarters can be had for prices ranging from seventy-five cents to ten dollars a week. The deep cushioned window seats, where students (?) are seen reclining, with book in hand, has led to the suggestion of the following topic for a thesis: "The Influence of Cushioned Window Seats on Higher Education." The Commons or Dining Hall, near by, seats 450 and generously administers to the wants of the inner man, at least, the immense cauldrons and great old fashioned brick ovens testify to the fact. Should one happen of a morning to be on the Campus at about eight o'clock he would see the students pouring out of the Commons and making way for chapel where attendance is compulsory, and not always do they seem to be in a most reverential spirit. The general hacking and coughing often entirely drown the words of President Dwight, now quite stooped and advanced in years. As he passes out the center aisle he is paid a very low obeisance, and then follows a rush and general scattering to classes.

The big Gymnasium, 188 feet front on Elm street stands a monument to the cause of athletics and physical culture. Passing within and up the broad marble flights, we find in the trophy room the prize cups and floating banners, which speak for the triumph of the Yale Blue in the collegiate contests. On the first floor there are two rowing tanks, large enough for eight oar crews and occasionally spectators are admitted to their practice. Every movement, of course, is like clock work, and they may well be proud of the display of muscle and manly vigor and strength. Those who represent Yale in the Henley regatta, which takes place in July on the Thames, England, must pass creditable examinations in all their studies.

Not until this year have women been admitted on the gymnasium floor. Their weak efforts show a sad need of just that exercise among the candidates for the higher degree. In the advanced or graduate study ye co-ed takes her place beside the Yalensian, and now and then courageously makes her way in the class room under graduate work. I believe as yet she has not been extended the privilege of spinning tops, a pastime exclusively that of the worthy senior. A lone maiden is frequently seen wending her way in and out thro' sacred precincts of conservative old Yale, where the professors show a kindly interest in her behalf.

I must not close without mention of East Rock Park, New Haven's picturesque resort laid out by Donald G. Mitchell, better known as Ik Marvel, whose home is at Edgewood, a few miles out. The grounds at the summit, 362 feet high, are reached by winding paths and a drive leading through the natural growth and flora. Here stands the Soldier's Monument, 110 ft. high, surmounted by a statue of the Angel of Peace. A beautiful view is afforded over the Salt meadows and Mill River near its base winding its way to the harbor where the ships lie at anchor or dot its peaceful waters. These cool shades and exhilarating sea breeze attract many people to East Rock and the shore during the heated season.

Tuesday p. m. in response to an invitation by Mr. Kellogg, 16 mothers of the sixth, seventh and eighth grade pupils gathered at the office to discuss with the teachers subjects relating to the co-operation of parents with teachers.

At 3:40 Tuesday p. m. the usually quiet and peaceful walls of the C room were suddenly startled by a loud report. Could it be an attack by anarchists or were juniors having a class meeting. No one knew. However the mystery was soon explained, when a dense cloud of smoke was seen rising from the dark cavities of Raynor Brewer's pocket scattering its suffocating fumes throughout the surrounding atmosphere. An examination was immediately made, which brought to light a revolver containing a discharged cartridge. Whether it was the result of spontaneous combustion or was it acted upon by some exterior force still remains to be solved.

The Globe mill was again broken into last night, an entrance being effected by pulling the staple on the north door. The office door was then forced, several drawers pried open and the safe rifled. The safe is left unlocked and contains only papers and books. Some change and postage stamps in the money drawer and the papers in the safe were left untouched by the thief. They were evidently looking for big plunder.

Last Friday, unfortunately after this paper had gone to press, Brant Bangs, while delivering coal, drove over the large cess pool in rear of the Lilley house. The covering of plank had become quite rotten and failed to sustain the weight of one horse. The horse fell through into about 6 feet of badly diluted water. It took a gang of willing workers over two hours to rescue the horse from his ill chosen bath and they did well to ever get him out alive. The symmetry and beauty of the cess pool was sadly marred. It is feared the horse may sustain a spavin from the fall. Unless well covered, cess pools will doubtless remain in bad odor among horsemen. Mr. Bangs wishes to thank his friends for their kind assistance in rescuing his horse.

A Lake Shore work train from Detroit has been doing repair work on the track between here and Clinton this week. Yesterday, as the train was being side tracked for the night, a brakeman by the name of Wm. Rumsey, in attempting to catch on a dump car, missed his foothold. His left foot slipped and was caught and drawn between a wheel and a portion of the frame of the car. The foot was badly crushed, being almost split up the middle. The unfortunate man was quickly taken to Dr. North's office. It was found necessary to take off the end of the little toe. Several of the small tarsal bones were found broken and the parts very badly crushed. The patient was taken to Adrian and from there to Detroit. The accident was an unusual one for a brakeman and was due perhaps to the peculiar construction of the dump car.

The residence of O. P. Bills on Kilbuck street was also entered last night evidently by the same burglars, who touched the Globe mill. Entrance was gained by breaking a window lock and raising the sash. A candle was lighted and an oaken writing desk opened by using shears as a pry. The desk was considerably broken, the contents rifled and above $20 secured. Mrs. Bills did not retire till nearly 1 o'clock and heard no disturbance during the night.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

THE TARIFF CAUSE.

Convention to Meet at Detroit to Discuss the Question.

Detroit, May 18.—It develops that the attendance at the national non-partisan commercial tariff convention, which meets in this city June 2, will be considerably larger than its projectors at first anticipated. Secretary S. B. Archer, of the Tariff Commission league, has received credentials already from commercial bodies who have chosen a total of over 1,000 delegates. There will also be some delegates from laboring and agricultural organizations. At least double the number of accredited delegates is expected, representing boards of trade and chambers of commerce and other bodies of like character. Other persons who attend will be entitled to vote on all questions excepting those concerning permanent organization. From letters received the sentiment favoring holding annual non-partisan tariff conventions is almost unanimous. The Santa Fe woman's board of trade, the only organization of its kind, will send four delegates.

The convention committee, consisting of presidents of boards of trade, commercial bodies, and labor and farming organizations representing various sections of the country, will meet June 1, and arrange the final details and choose temporary officers.

Auxiliary to the convention, and designed to facilitate discussion, there will be four large committees. Their provinces respectively will be: To recommend ways and means for taking the tariff question out of partisan politics and making it a business question; to suggest ways and means for improving the consular service in the way of increasing our foreign trade, especially with the Central and South American republics; to report upon the advisability of recommending to congress the creation of a department of commerce, manufactures and labor, the chief of such department to be a member of the president's cabinet; to make recommendations as to a permanent organization and the holding of annual conventions for considering the tariff and other national questions.

The convention is to be absolutely non-political and all questions must be discussed from a purely commercial standpoint. The convention will probably continue a week or more.

Mr. Sparrow is in California, where he went before the finding of the probate court was announced. It is said that the patient is about to be married.

Seventy-five pigeons were liberated at Sidney, Ill., Sunday, and one of them, a three-year-old bird belonging to Fred Ruoff, made the distance, 300 miles, in four hours and fifty-four minutes, the average rate of speed being 1,852 yards per minute, beating the record by 146 yards per minute. Another of the birds, belonging to Bob Schemansky, of this city, also broke the record, arriving in 4 hours 54 minutes and 28 seconds.

PARDONED.

Woman Who Slew Her Children Set Free After Thirty Years.

Lansing, May 16.—The only woman in the state prison at Jackson, and the oldest prisoner in point of service save one, has been pardoned by Gov. Rich. Her name is Mrs. Sarah Haviland, and she has been in prison 30 years. She was the 20th prisoner sent to the institution. The crime for which the woman was sentenced to prison for life in 1866, when she was 38 years of age, was the murder of her own children, three in number. In urging the exercise of executive clemency the pardon board says:

"The crime was the most heinous, and we do not wish to condone it. And while there were some mitigating circumstances, we believe her sentence was just. The mitigating circumstances we believe to be that she was under the influence of a man who possessed a will much stronger than her own, and who agreed to marry her, but for the bar of so many children. The influence which the man possessed over her would now be called hypnotism, and it was while acting under it that the crime was committed."

FEARS SPLENIC FEVER.

Gov. Rich Prohibits the Importation of Texas Cattle.

Lansing, May 18.—At the suggestion of the state live stock sanitary commission, which aims to protect domestic cattle from contracting Texas or splenic fever, Gov. Rich has issued a proclamation prohibiting the importation until November 1 of Texas cattle, so-called, or cattle raised south of the 36th degree of north latitude, which have not been kept continuously at least one winter north of that latitude. The proclamation excepts such cattle as are in transit across the state, but provides that they shall be unloaded in Michigan only for the time necessary to feed and water them, and then only in Texas cattle division of the Michigan Central stock yards at Detroit. Such Texas cattle as are intended for immediate slaughter are also expected, but they are to be unloaded at the slaughterhouse or killing dock and held in strict quarantine until slaughtered.

FIRE AT SAGINAW.

High Wind Helps the Flames to Encompass Much Destruction.

Saginaw, May 18.—A terrific windstorm raged here all day, the severest ever known in this section, and when fire broke out in the rebuilt burned district created by the great fire of May 2, 1893, people were terrified. The wind was so severe that the water in the river at the intake was lowered and the water pressure was poor. But for the heavy rain of Saturday night, which soaked all the roofs, the fire would have been disastrous. Scores of families moved household possessions, but only five buildings were burned. These were the general store and residence and barn of John Guiger and the residence of W. H. Kerns, Clarence Tucker and Charles W. Bohnhoff. The loss will be $14,500, mostly covered by insurance.

The restaurant men claim that there is no money made feeding transient boarders at 15 cents a head, because their appetites are always enormous. The transients are especially numerous here in the summer in the shape of excursionists. It is claimed they have been eating up restaurant profits for several years. The regular boarders will be able to get their meals at the old rate. The trust also contemplates taking action in regard to bills of fare, help and other branches of the business.

Weak

Worn out, nervous women, receive criticism where they should have sympathy. They cannot help being nervous, if their blood is impure.

When the blood fails to feed the nerves upon proper nourishment what can you expect but nervous prostration, debility and nervous headaches?

If the cause is found in impure blood, the cure must be in making the blood pure. This is just what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, and it has proved the true nerve tonic because it is the true blood purifier, and the solace, comfort and defender of thousands of housewives, teachers, clerks and other sufferers of of both sexes. Just read this letter:

"I think it is my duty to tell what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me and my family. Two years ago I was in a weak, nervous condition and had dreadful palpitations or jumping of my heart, followed by sinking spells, which would last for several minutes. Sometimes it would seem as though I would never come out of them. I was treated by the best physicians, but only for a little time did they help me. I seemed to be growing worse instead of better. I would often seem hungry, but when I ate, no matter how little, it would cause me such misery that I was often wicked enough to wish myself dead. I had that languid, all-gone feeling and suffered awful distress in my stomach. I had given up all hopes of ever being well, when my mother wished me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I consented, to please her, and before I had taken the whole of one bottle I could see I was improving, and soon was indeed very much better. Its effects have been truly wonderful and I hope this letter may be the means of helping other suffering men and to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and be benefited by it. We have used Hood's Pills in our family and find them very excellent, especially for constipation. We give Hood's medicines great praise, and if anyone complains of feeling badly, I say 'You should take Hood's and only Hood's.'" MRS. KITTIE SMITH, 326 Dane Street, Waterloo, Iowa. Remember that

Tired

Women

Nervous Prostration

Complete Recovery by the Use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless to-day had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. HINSON, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.

THE pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. Frequently he doesn't even know whether the thing he eats is going to agree with him or not. The things that please his palate most are often the worst for him to eat. Even the simplest food is likely to cause him misery and sleeplessness. His first trouble was very slight—a simple—very easy to cure. He ate something indigestible and it stuck somewhere in his digestive system. He ate more things and they stuck. Part of his digestion stopped altogether—that is constipation.

Constipation is so common that more than half the people in America are troubled with it. It is so serious that nine-tenths of the sickness of the world is traceable directly to this common cause. Man's health and strength depend upon what he gets out of his food. This depends upon his digestion. Constipation stops digestion. Anybody can see that. The commonest kind of common sense will tell you that. When digestion stops, nutrition stops, and the whole body is thrown out of order.

The way to start digestion is to remove the obstruction. The way to do that is to use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and heartburn." They are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature. They give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping, nor discomfort of any kind.

You can get a free sample of from 4 to 7 pellets, by addressing World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

GRAPES IN SUMMER.

Hints for Those Who Have But a Few Vines to Care For.

Almost all the treatises on the practical cultivation of the grape are intended for large vineyards, where the grape is cultivated for market purposes alone. The amateur gardener who has but a few dozen grapevines to care for can get very little profit from these rules. For the benefit of the amateur we may say that the best time for pruning his grapes will be the spring and summer months. He should have a clear idea as to the number of branches, and which ones he needs to leave grow for fruiting the following season; and, soon after growth has commenced, the weaker shoots that he does not need for fruiting the following season should be taken out. All the vital power of the plants will then go into the branches that are left. They will be strong and healthy and bear fine grapes the following season. Another point to be attended to is that in the limited room of the amateur's garden it is desirable to keep the fruiting branches as low to the ground as possible, and every effort should be made to make them strong. In the summer pruning, or, rather, "pinching out," of these branches it will be found that the upper shoots are the strongest and the lower ones the weaker. If it is desirable to have the branches low toward the ground, the upper branches, although strong, should be pinched back. This will throw the strength of the plant into the weaker branches and make them as strong as if they pushed out from the upper portions of the plant. It is impossible to teach this in the few words of a paragraph. Much can be learned from actual trials, and if the amateur grower with little experience in grape-growing, and with this paragraph before him, will experiment with a single vine for one year, he will learn more from actual observation than he could by studying a whole book on grape culture for a week.—Meehan's Monthly.

GARDEN IMPLEMENT.

Scuffle Hoe That Will Destroy Hosts of Sprouting Weeds.

An improved scuffle hoe, like the one sketched, run between the garden rows, will destroy hosts of sprouting weeds, particularly if the sun is shining brightly at the time. It is easily made of a bit of old saw blade and two strips of half-round iron. Where the strips of iron curve under the frame to form the "shoe," by which the blade may be raised or lowered, the iron should be made wider than elsewhere so that the shoes will not readily sink into the soil. Lowering or raising the handle will raise or lower the blade, which should have a sharp edge to slide easily under the surface of the ground. Many cultivators do not fully realize the immense advantage of keeping the ground in a loose condition. In this way numberless weeds are destroyed, and of more importance perhaps than all, the loose soil lets in the air and sunshine, which are of the highest importance in plant growth. In field crops recourse must be had to a horse cultivator, but in the case of a garden the scuffle hoe that is here figured will serve very effectively. —Orange Judd Farmer.

Yield of Cheese from Milk.

With ordinary milk the yield is about 2.5 pounds of cured cheese for each pound of butter fat in the milk. The per cent. of butter fat in different milks very nearly determines their relative values for cheese-making. Prof. Van Slyke, of New York, found by a series of careful experiments that with milk ranging from 3.4 per cent. to 4.4 per cent. the amount to each pound of butter fat was 2.72 pounds of green cheese or 2.5 pounds cured five weeks. It was found that 5 per cent. milk made but 2.4 pounds of cured cheese for each pound of butter fat, but the better quality of the cheese from the richer milk was thought to compensate for the slight difference in quality. It will be seen that 100 pounds of 4 per cent. milk made ten pounds of cheese and 100 pounds of 5 per cent. milk made 12 pounds of cheese.

To Prevent Potato Scab.

Take 2 ounces corrosive sublimate to each 15 gallons of water, using an earthen dish. Dissolve the poison in a small amount of water, using an earthenware dish. It will dissolve faster if powdered. Add this solution to the remainder of the water in a wooden cask or barrel. If only a few potatoes are treated, a glass or earthenwear vessel may be used, but a vessel of iron, tin or copper should never be taken. Let the potatoes remain in the solution 1½ hours. Take out the potatoes and put in another lot. The same solution may be used over and over. In replenishing use the original strength and do not pour in pure water. Cut the potatoes when convenient and plant as usual. Corrosive sublimate is a deadly poison and must be used with caution.—Farm and Home.

For Beans and Peas.

If the soil is rich in readily available nitrogen, the probability is that a crop of beans and peas would gather but little of that element from the air, but would use what was already at hand in the soil. If the soil is very poor in nitrogen it may be expected that these plants will gather their supply largely from other sources than the combined nitrogen of the soil. In general it would appear to be rational to apply no nitrogenous fertilizers to these crops, but to supply an abundance of both potash and phosphoric acid.—E. H. Jenkins, Connecticut Experiment Station.

THE TREES WE PLANT.

Grander Monuments Than Those Carved from Dead Granite.

If he be a "benefactor of his race who causes two blades of grass to grow where only one blade grew before," how much more must he benefit the world who plants that which shall continue to grow in beauty and in strength, and become of still greater benefit to the world as the years go on! There is something grand, and something sad, in the planting of a tree. It is grand because it is a benefit bestowed upon, and a labor performed for, those who shall come after us; it is sad because our own eyes shall not see the results of the work we do.

And who may know the unmeasured good the planting of a single tree may do? As time goes on, and the sun smiles upon it, and the clouds weep over it, and gentle winds caress it, it shall spread out its leafy hands toward heaven as in prayer, and be to every heart "a thing of beauty and a joy forever." The birds shall build their nests among its branches, and fill the palpitating air with melody; beneath its cooling shade, when summer suns shine warm, the laugh of children shall resound; the sturdy tread of manhood shall be heard and the tottering steps of the aged shall loiter there. Perhaps, upon the soft, green carpet beneath its shade fond lovers shall plight their troth; the happy birds shall laugh out beneath its trembling leaves, in very joy to be alive, and love. Perhaps, too, beneath its shade, grown wide and deep, there may be dug, some day, a grave, in which shall lie, in dreamless sleep, the beautiful and good. Then shall the tree ward winter's storms and summer's heat from off that grave, and bend as in "perpetual benediction, above the silent dead." And so, through the chills of many winters and the heats of many summers, the tree we plant to-day shall tremble in the wind and glisten in the sun; while generations come and pass on to return no more, it shall year by year renew its vigor, and live on.

Grander than any dead granite is the more lasting monument of a living tree: sweeter than any chiseled words is the rustling of its leaves; better than the lifeless formula: "Here lies the body" is the fact that somewhere there lives a tree that some hand, now perhaps, alas for it! only dust, planted long, long ago, that the living might rejoice in its beauty and worth.—Orange Judd Farmer.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

Peach trees do better when well cultivated.

Generally there is no advantage in cultivating the orchard deep.

The gooseberry flourishes best in deep, moist, but not wet, soil.

When it can be avoided do not prune the grape vine after the sap starts.

Pears need a rich soil. Lack of fertility is often the principal cause of failure.

With care raspberries may be grown in the same soil for years and yet produce good crops.

On the production of an overcrop it costs the tree more to ripen seeds than to make the fruit.

By planting in long rows and cultivating with cultivator, strawberries can be grown as cheaply as potatoes.

Every time a tree is allowed to mature too much fruit it weakens its vitality so that it requires two or three years to recover.

Trimming makes the fruit of a much better quality, makes it keep longer and produces finer, more attractive and salable fruit.

Grapes grown in a clayey soil are darker and more glossy than those grown on gravely land, but the sweetest grapes grow in a gravely soil.

Give trees plenty of room if you would have them thrifty and vigorous and bear large, well-matured fruit.—St. Louis Republic.
